15 And hee caried away Iehoiachin into Babel, and the kings mother, and the kings wiues, and his eunuches, and the mightie of the land caried he away into captiuitie from Ierusalem to Babel.

16 And all the men of warre, even seven thousand, and carpenters, and locksmiths a thousand: all that were strong and apt for warre, did the king of Babel bring to Babel captiues.

17 And the king of Babel made Matantah his vncle king in his stead, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 Zedekiah was one and twenty yeeres old when he began to reigne, and hee reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name was also Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

19 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

20 Therefore certainly the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem: Iudah vntill hee cast them out of his sight. And Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Ierusalem is besieged of Nebuchad-nezzar, and taken, 7 The sonnes of Zedekiah are slain before his eyes, and after are his owne eyes put out, 21 Iudah is brought to Babylon, 25 Gedaliah is slaine, 27 Iehoiachin is caried.

And in the ninth yeere of his reigne, the tenth moneth, and tenth day of the moneth, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came hee, and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and they built forre against it round about it.

2 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of king Zedekiah.

3 And the ninth day of the moneth the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no bread for the people of the land.

4 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled by night, by the way of the gate, which is betwene two wals that was by the kings garden: now the Caldees were by the citie round about: and the king went by the way of the wilderness.

5 But the army of the Caldees pursued after the king, and tooke him in the deserts of Iericho, and all his hoste was scattered from him.

6 Then they tooke the king, and caried him vp to the king of Babel to Riblah, where they gaue iudgement vpon him.

7 And they slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before

8 And in the fifth moneth, and seventh day of the moneth, which was the ninetenth yeere of King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward and seruant of the king of Babel, to Jerusalem.

9 And burnt the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

10 And all the arme of the Caldees that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe the wallles of Jerusalem round about.

11 And the rest of the people that were left in the cite, and thole that were fled and fallen to the king of Babel with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward carie away captiue.

12 But the chiefe steward left of the pooze of the land to presse the vines, and to til the land.

13 * Allo the pillars of brasle that were in the house of the Lord, and the bales, and the brasen Sea that was in the house of the Lord, did the Caldees breake, and caried the brasle of them to Babel.

14 The pots also and the besomes, and the instruments of musicke, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasle that they ministered in, tooke they away.

15 And the ashe pannes, and the basens, and all that was of gold, and that was of silver, tooke the chiefe steward away.

16 With the two pillars, one Sea, and the bales, which Salomon had made for the house of the Lord: the brasle of all these vessels was without weight.

17 * The height of the one pillar was eigheteene cubites, and the chapter thereon was brasle, and the height of the chapter was with networke three cubites, and pomegranates vpon the chapter round about, all of brasle, and likewise was the second pillar with the networke.

18 And the chiefe steward tooke Seraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

19 And out of the cite hee tooke an Eunuch that had the oversight of the men of warre, and five men of them that were in the Kings presence, which were found in the cite, and Sopher captaine of the hoste, who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the cite.

20 And Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

21 And the King of Babel smote them: and slew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

22 * Howbeit there remained people in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel left, and made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan ruler ouer them. Ier. 40. 5, 9.

23 Then when all the captaines of the hoste, and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah gouernour, they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, to wit, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Iazaniah the sonne of Maachabbi, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah sware to them, and to their men, and said vnto them, Feare not to be the seruants of the Caldees: dwell in the land and serue the king of Babel, and ye shall be well.

25 * But in the seventh moneth, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah the sonne of Elishama of the kings seede came, and tenne men with him, and smote Gedaliah, and he died, and so did hee the Jewes and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 Then all the people both small and great, and the captaines of the armie arose, and came to Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldees.

27 Notwithstanding in the seuen and thirtieth yeere after Jehoiachin King of Judah was caried away, in the twelfth moneth and the seuen and twentieth day of the moneth, Evil-merodach king of Babel in the yeere that he began to reigne, did lift vp the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah out of the prison.

28 And spake kindly to him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the Kings that were with him in Babel.

29 And changed his prison garments: and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

30 And his portion was a continuall portion given him by the King, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life.

¶ The first booke of the Chronicles, or || Paralipomenon.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Jewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians, because of the length, diuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles which are so often mentioned in the bookes of the kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the Kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Jewes write, after their returne from Babylon.

This.

This first booke containeth a briefe rehearfall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iacob, and the twelue Patriarkes, chiefly of Iudah, and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his actes, both concerning ciuill gouernement, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth, and giueth thanks to the Lord,

CHAP. IIII.

1 The genealogie of the sonnes of Iudah, 5 of Asher, 9 of Iabez, and his prayer, 11 Of Chelub, 24 and Simeon: their habitations, 34 and conquests.

The sonnes of Iudah were Pharez, Zerah, and Carmi, and Iur, and Shobal.

2 And Reatah the sonne of Shobal begate Iabath, and Iabath begate Ahumai, and Lahad: these are the families of the Zorathites.

3 And these were of the father of Etam, Izreel, and Ithma, and Idbash: and the name of their sister was Hazeleponi.

4 And Oenuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Hushab: these are the sonnes of Iur the eldest sonne of Ephraim, the father of Beth-lehem.

5 But Ashur the father of Tekoa had two wiues, Heleah, and Naarah.

6 And Naarah bare him Ahuzam, and Hepher, and Temen, and Haashari: these were the sonnes of Naarah.

7 And the sonnes of Heleah were Zerah, Jezobab, and Ethnan.

8 Also Coz begate Anub, and Zobeab, and the families of Abathel the sonne of Harum.

9 But Iabez was more honourable then his brethren: and his mother called his name Iabez, saying, Because I bare him in sorrow.

10 And Iabez called on the God of Israel saying, If thou wilt bleesse me in decree, and enlarge my coastes, and if thine hand bee with mee, and thou wilt cause mee to bee deliuered from euill, that I be not hurt. And God granted the thing that he asked.

11 And Chelub the brother of Shuah begate Behir, which was the father of Esh-ton.

f Saint Matthew saith that Zorobabel was sonne of Zathiel, meaning that he was his nephew according to the Ebrew speech: for he was Pedaliahs sonne.

g So that Shechaniah was Shechaniahs natural sonne, and the other five his nephewes, and in all were sixe.

a Meaning, they came of Iudah, as nephewes and kinsmen: for onely Pharez was his naturall sonne. Gen. 38. 29. and 46. 12. chap. 2. 4.

b The first borne of his mother, and not the eldest sonne of his father.

c Otherwise called Othniel, Iudg. 1. 13.

d It is to be understood, that then he would accomplish his vow which he made.

a Hee returneth to the genealogie of Dauid, to shew that Christ came of his stocke. b Which 3. Sam. 3. 3. is called Chiealeb, borne of her that was Nabals wife the Carmelite. c Called also Bathsheba the daughter of Eliam: to they gaue them diuers names, d Elishama, or Elishua, 2. Sam. 5. 16. and Eliphalet died, and Dauid named those sonnes, which were next borne by the same names: in the booke of Kings his children are mentioned which were alieue, where both they were alieue and dead. e So called, because he was preferred to the dignitary royal before his brother Jehoiakim which was the elder. || Or, Iehoshua. 2. King. 23. 30.

12 And Ehton begate Beth-rapha, and Baeab, and Echinah, the father of the cite of Nabath: these are the men of Reebah.

13 ¶ And the sonnes of Kenaz were Dethniel, and Seratah, and the sonne of Dethniel, Harbath.

14 And Meonothai begat Ophrah. And Seratah begate Joab the father of the valley of craftmen: for they were craftsmen.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of Caleb the sonne of Jephunneh, were Iru, Elah, and Naam. And the sonne of Elah was Kenaz.

16 And the sonnes of Jehaleel were Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Azareel.

17 And the sonnes of Ezra were Jether, and Mered, and Ephraim, and Jalon, and hee begat Miriam, and Shammah, and Ishbah the father of Eshemoa.

18 Also his wife Jehudith bare Jered the father of Gedor, and Heber the father of Sorcho, and Jekuchiel the father of Zanoah: and these are the sonnes of Bithiah, the daughter of Pharaoh, which Mered took.

19 And the sonnes of the wife of Hodiah the sister of Raham the father of Keilah were the Garmites: and Eshemoa the Daachathite.

20 And the sonnes of Shimon were Amnon, and Rimnah, Ben-hanani, and Tilon. And the sonnes of Ishi were Zoheth and Ben-zoheth.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Shelah, the sonne of Judah, were Er the father of Lecah, and Laadah the father of Marehab, and the families of the households of them that wrought fine linnen in the house of Ashbea.

22 And Jokim, and the men of Chozeba, and Joash, and Saraph, which had the dominion in Moab, and Ishubi Lehem. These also are ancient things.

23 These were potters, and dwelt among plants and hedges: there they dwelt with the king for his worke.

24 ¶ The sonnes of Simeon were Nemuel, and Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul.

25 Whose sonne was Shalum, and his sonne Ishlam, and his sonne Mishma.

26 And the sonnes of Mishma, Hamuel was his sonne, Zaccur his sonne, and Shimeel his sonne.

27 And Shimeel had sixteen sonnes, and six daughters, but his brethren had not many children, neither was all their family like to the children of Judah in multitude.

28 And they dwelt at Beer-sheba, and at Moladah, and at Hazar-shual, 29 And at Bithlah, and at Ezer, and at Tolad,

30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormah, and at Ziklag,

31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and at Hazar-shual, at Beth-birei, and at Shaaraim: these were their cities unto the reigne of David.

32 And their townes were Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Toker, and Ahan, five cities.

33 And all their townes that were round about these cities unto Baal: These are their habitations, and the declaration of their genealogie.

34 And Meshobab, and Jamlech, and Joshab the sonne of Amashiah, 35 And Joel, and Jethu the sonne of Joshabiah, the sonne of Seratah, the sonne of Aziel, 36 And Eltonai, and Jaakobah, and Jeshobab, and Alatah, and Adiel, and Jesimiel, and Benaiab, 37 And Ziza the sonne of Shiphai, the son of Allon the sonne of Jedaiab, the sonne of Shimri, the sonne of Shemaiah.

38 These were famous princes in their families, and increased greatly their fathers houses.

39 And they went to the entering in of Gedor, even unto the East side of the valley, to seeke pasture for their sheepe.

40 And they found fat pasture and good, and a wide land both quiet and fruitfull: for they of Ham had dwelt there before.

41 And these described by name, came in the dayes of Uzziah king of Judah, and smote their tents, and the inhabitants that were found there, and destroyed them utterly unto this day, and dwelt in their roomes, because there was pasture there for their sheepe.

42 And besides these, five hundred men of the sonnes of Simeon went to mount Seir, and Pelattah, and Hariat, and Rophalah, and Aziel the sonnes of Ishi were their captaines.

43 And they smote the rest of Amalek that had escaped, and they dwelt there unto this day.

CHAP. V.

1 The birth of the children taken from Reuben, and given to the sonnes of Joseph. 2 The genealogie of Reuben, 11 and Gad, 23 and the half-tribe of Manasseh.

The sonnes also of Reuben, the eldest sonne of Israel (for hee was the eldest, but had defiled his fathers bed, therefore his birthright was given unto the sonnes of Joseph the sonne of Israel, so that the genealogie is not reckoned after his birthright.)

2 For Judah prevailed above his brethren, and of him came the Prince, but the birthright was Josephs.)

3 The sonnes of Reuben the eldest son of Israel, were Hanoch and Pallu, Herson, and Carmi.

4 The sons of Joel, Shemaiah his son, Sog his sonne, and Shimeel his sonne,

5 Michah his sonne, Reatah his sonne, and Baal his sonne,

6 Bereah his sonne, whom Elgarh Philistee king of Ashur carried away: he was a Prince of the Reubenites.

7 And when his brethren in their families reckoned the genealogie of their generations, Jecel and Zechariah were the chiefe.

8 And Bela the sonne of Azaz, the sonne of Shema, the sonne of Joel, which dwelt in Aroer, even unto Atboah and Baal-meon.

9 Also

1 For the tribe of Simeon was so great in number, that in the time of Ezekiah they sought new dwellings unto Gedor, which is in the tribe of Dan, k Otherwise called Baal-gad, l Thus God stirred vp the wicked, & vsed them as instruments to execute his iust iudgement against sinners, although they were led with malice and ambition.

9 Also Eastward hee inhabited vnto the entering in of the wilderness, from the riuer || Euphrates: for they had much cattell in the land of Gilead.

10 And in the dayes of Saul they warred with the Hagarenes, which fell by their hands: and they dwelt in their tents in all the East parts of Gilead.

11 And the children of Gad dwelt ouer against them in the land of Bashan, vnto Salchah.

12 Joel was the chiefeest, and Shapham the second, but Jaani and Shaphat were in Bashan.

13 And their brethren of the house of their fathers were Michael, and Meshullam, and Sheba, and Sorai, and Iacan, and Zia, and Eber, & euen.

14 These are the children of Abihail, the sonne of Huri, the sonne of Iaroah, the sonne of Gilead the sonne of Michael, the sonne of Issihai, the sonne of Jahdo, the sonne of Buz.

15 Abi the sonne of Abdeel, the sonne of Guni, was chiefe of the household of their fathers.

16 And they dwelt in Gilead in Bashan, and in the townes thereof, and in all the suburbs of Sharon by their borders.

17 All these were reckoned by genealogies in the dayes of Iotham king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam king of Israel.

18 The sonnes of Reuben and of Gad, and of halfe the tribe of Manasseh, of those that were valiant men, able to beare shield and sword, and to draw a bowe, exercised in warre, were foure and forty thousand men hundred and threescore, that went out to the warre.

19 And they made warre with the Hagarenes, with Jetur, and Naphish, and Modab.

20 And they were holpen against them, and the Hagarenes were deliuered into their hand, and all that were with them: for they cryed to God in the battell, and hee heard them, because they trusted in him.

21 And they led away their cattell, euen their camels fifty thousand, and two hundred and fifty thousand sheepe, and two thousand asses, and of persons a hundred thousand.

22 For many fell down wounded, because the war was of God. And they dwelt in their steads vntill the captiuitie.

23 And the children of the halfe tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land, from Bashan vnto Baal Hermon, and Senir, and vnto mount Hermon: for they increased.

24 And these were the heads of the households of their fathers, euen Ephraim, and Issi, and Eliel, and Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodaniah, and Jahziel, strong men, valiant and famous, heads of the households of their fathers.

25 But they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land whom God had destroyed before them.

26 And the God of Israel stirred vp the spirit of Pul king of Asshur, and the spirit of Tilgath Pilesee King of Asshur, and hee carried them away: euen the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the halfe tribe of Manasseh, and brought them vnto Palah, and Habor, and Hara, and to the riuer Gozan vnto this day.

29 Ashni, then Abiah.

30 The sonnes of Merari were Mahli Libni his sonne, Shimei his sonne, Uzai his sonne, 31 Shimea his son, Haggiah his sonne, Alaiah his sonne.

32 And these be they whom David set for to sing in the house of the Lord, after that the Arke had rest.

33 And they ministered before the Tabernacle, even the Tabernacle of the Congregation with singing, untill Salomon had built the house of the Lord in Jerusalem: then they continued in their office, according to their custome.

34 And these ministered with their children: of the sonnes of Kohath, Heman a singer, the sonne of Joel, the sonne of Shemuel, 35 The sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Jeroham, the sonne of Eliel, the sonne of Toah, 36 The sonne of Zuph, the sonne of Elkanah, the sonne of Mahath, the sonne of Amasai, 37 The sonne of Elkanah, the son of Joel, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Sephanah, 38 The sonne of Tobiah, the sonne of Ashir, the sonne of Abiasaph, the sonne of Kohath, 39 The sonne of Izhar, the sonne of Kohath, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel.

40 And his brother Alaph stood on his right hand: and Alaph was the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Shimea, 41 The sonne of Michael, the son of Baasiah, the son of Malchiah, 42 The sonne of Ethni, the sonne of Zerab, the sonne of Adaiah, 43 The sonne of Ethan, the sonne of Zimma, the sonne of Shimei, 44 The sonne of Jahath, the son of Gershon, the sonne of Leui.

45 And their brethren the sonnes of Merari were on the left hand, even Ethan the sonne of Kishi, the sonne of Abdi, the sonne of Malluch,

46 The sonne of Hashabiah, the sonne of Amaziah, the sonne of Hilkiyah, 47 The sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Bani, the sonne of Shamer, 48 The sonne of Mahli, the son of Musi, the sonne of Merari, the sonne of Leui.

49 And their brethren the Levites were appointed unto all the service of the Tabernacle of the house of God.

50 But Aaron and his sonnes burnt incense vpon the Altar of burnt offering, and on the Altar of incense, for all that was to doe in the most holy place, and to make an atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded.

51 These are also the sonnes of Aaron, Eleazar his sonne, Phinehas his sonne, Abihu his sonne, 52 Bukki his sonne, Uzzi his sonne, Zerabiah his sonne,

53 Meraioth his son, Amariah his sonne,

Abitub his sonne,

54 Zadok his sonne, and Ahimaaz his sonne.

55 And these are the dwelling places of them throughout their townes and coasts, even of the sonnes of Aaron for the family of the Kohathites, for the lot was theirs.

56 So they gave them Hebron in the land of Iudah, and the suburbs thereof round about it:

57 But the field of the citie, and the villages thereof they gave to Caleb the sonne of Iephunnah.

58 And to the sonnes of Aaron they gave the cities of Iudah for refuge, even Hebron and Libna with their suburbs, and Jattir, and Ekremoa with their suburbs,

59 And Ashan and her suburbs, & Bethshemesh and her suburbs,

60 And of the tribe of Benjamin, Geba and her suburbs, and Alemeth with her suburbs, and Anathoth with her suburbs:

61 All their cities were thirteene cities by their families.

62 And to the sonnes of Kohath the remnant of the family of the tribe, even of the halfe tribe of the halfe of Manasseh, by lot ten cities.

63 And to the sonnes of Gershon, according to their families out of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteene cities.

64 Unto the sonnes of Merari according to their families out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, by lot twelue cities.

65 Thus the children of Israel gave to the Levites cities with their suburbs.

66 And they gave by lot out of the tribe of the children of Iudah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, these cities, which they called by their names.

67 And they of the families of the sonnes of Kohath had cities, and their coasts out of the tribe of Ephraim.

68 And they gave unto them cities of refuge, Shechem in mount Ephraim, and her suburbs, and Gezer and her suburbs,

69 Jokmeam also and her suburbs, and Beth-horon with her suburbs,

70 And Alalon and her suburbs, & Gathrimmon and her suburbs,

71 And out of the halfe tribe of Manasseh, Anar and her suburbs, and Basan and her suburbs: for the families of the remnant of the sonnes of Kohath.

72 Unto the sonnes of Gershon out of the family of the halfe tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan, and her suburbs, and Ashtaroth with her suburbs,

CHAP. VII.

1 The genealogy of Issachar, 6 Beniamin, 13 Naphtali, 14 Manasseh, 20 Ephraim, 30 and Asher.

And the sonnes of Issachar were Tola, and || Duah, 2 Jashub, and Shimroni four.

2 And the sonnes of Tola, Uzzi, and Rephalah, and Jertiel, and Jahmai, and Jibsam, and Shemuel, heads in the households of their fathers. Of Tola were valiant men of warre in their generations, b whose number was in the dayes of David two and twentie thousand and five hundred.

3 And the sonne of Uzzi was Izrahiah, and the sonnes of Izrahiah, Michael, and Obadiah, and Joel, and Jothiah, c five men all princes.

4 And with them in their generations after the household of their fathers were bands of men of warre for battell, five and thirtie thousand: for they had many wives and children.

5 And their || brethren among all the families of Issachar were valiant men of war: reckoned in all by their genealogies fourescore and seven thousand.

6 The sonnes of Beniamin were Bela, and Becher, and d Jediah, e three.

7 And the sonnes of Bela, Ezbon, and Uzzi, and Uzziel, and Jerimoth, and Iri, five heads of the households of their fathers, valiant men of warre, and were reckoned by their genealogies, two and twenty thousand and thirty and foure.

8 And the sonnes of Becher, Zemirah, and Joash, and Eliezer, and Elienai, and Omri, and Jerimoth, and Abiah, and Anathoth, and Alameth: all these were the sons of Becher.

9 And they were numbered by their genealogies according to their generations, and the chiefs of the houses of their fathers, valiant men of warre, twentie thousand and two hundred.

10 And the sonne of Jediah was Bilhan, and the sonnes of Bilhan, Jeush, and Beniamin, and Ehud, and Chenaanah, and Zethan, and Charish, and Abishahar.

11 All these were the sonnes of Jediah, chiefs of the fathers, valiant men of warre, seuentee thousand and two hundred, marching in battell aray to the warre.

12 And Shuppim, and Huppim were the sonnes of || Ir, but Hushim was the sonne f of another.

13 The sonnes of Naphtali, Jahziel, and Guni, and Jezer, and || Shallum g of the sonnes of Bilhah.

14 The sonne of Manasseh, was Ashiel, whom thee bare unto him, but his concubine of Aram bare Machir the * father of Gilead.

15 And Machir tooke to wife the sister of Huppim & Shuppim, and the name of their sister was Maachah. And the name of the second sonne was Zelophehad, and Zelophehad had daughters.

16 And Maachah the wife of Machir bare a sonne, and called his name || Peresh, and the name of his brother was Sheresh: and his sonnes were Ulam and Rakem.

17 And the sonne of Ulam was Bedan. These were the sonnes of Gilead the sonne of Machir the sonne of Manasseh.

18 And h his sister Holochereth bare Ishod, and Abiezer, and Mahalah.

19 And the sonnes of Shemida were Abian, and Shechem, and Likhi, and Aniam.

20 The sonnes also of Ephraim were Shuthelah, and Bered his sonne, and Tahath his sonne, and his sonne Eladah, and Tahath his sonne, 21 And Zabad his sonne, and Shuthelah his sonne, and Ezer, and Elead: and the men of i Gath that were borne in the land, slew them, because they came downe to take away their cattell.

22 Therefore Ephraim their father mourned many dayes, and his || brethren came to comfort him.

23 And when he went in to his wife, she conceived, and bare him a sonne, and he called his name Beriah, because affliction was in his house.

24 And his || daughter was Sherah, which built Beth-horon the nether, and the upper, and Uzzen Sheerah.

25 And Ephah was his k sonne, and Re-sheph, and Elah his sonne, and Ehan his sonne, 26 Laadan his sonne, Ammiud his son, Elshama his sonne,

27 Non his sonne, Jehoahua his sonne.

28 And their possessions and their habitations were Beth-el and the villages thereof, and Eastward Maaran, and Westward Ezer with the villages thereof. Shechem also and the villages thereof, unto || Azzah, and the villages thereof.

7 And the sonnes of Benjamin, Gallu the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Hodasiah, the sonne of Hasemah.

8 And Ibneiah the sonne of Jeroham, and Elah the sonne of Uzzi, the sonne of Michi, and Meshullam, the sonne of Shephai, the sonne of Reuel, the sonne of Ibneiah.

9 And their brethren according to their generations, nine hundred fifty and five, all these men were chief fathers in the households of their fathers.

10 And of the Priests, Jedatah, and Jehoiarib, and Jachin, 11 And Azariah the sonne of Bilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, the sonne of Abitub, the chief of the house of God, 12 And Adabai the son of Jeroham, the sonne of Bakhur, the son of Balchiah, and Baalat the sonne of Adiel, the sonne of Jahzerah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Meshillemith, the sonne of Immer.

13 And their brethren the chief of the households of their fathers, a thousand seven hundred and threescore valiant men, for the worke of the service of the house of God.

14 And of the Levites, Shemaiah the sonne of Hashub, the sonne of Azrikam, the sonne of Hashabiah, of the sonnes of Merari,

15 And Bakkakkar, Doreth, and Galal, and Mattaniah the sonne of Bicha, the son of Zichri, the sonne of Alaph, 16 And Dabiah the sonne of Shematah, the sonne of Galal, the sonne of Jeduthun, and Berechiah the sonne of Ala, the sonne of Etkanah, that dwell in the villages of the Levitical cities.

17 And the porters were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, & Ahiman, and their brethren: Shallum was the chief.

18 For they were porters to this time by companies of the children of Levi unto the Kings gate Eastward.

19 And Shallum the sonne of Koz, the sonne of Eliafah the sonne of Kozah, and his brethren the Kozathites (of the house of their father) were over the worke and office to keepe the gates of the Tabernacle: for their families were over the host of the Lord, keeping the entrie.

20 And Phinehas the sonne of Eleazar was their guide, and the Lord was with him.

21 Zechariah the sonne of Meshemaiah was the porter of the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

22 All these were chosen for porters of the gates two hundred and twelve, which were numbered according to their genealogies by their townes. David established these and Samuel the Seer in their perpetuall office.

23 So they and their children had the oversight of the gates of the house of the Lord, euen of the house of the Tabernacle by wards.

24 The porters were in foure quarters, Eastward, Westward, Northward, and Southward.

25 And their brethren which were in their townes, came at seven dayes from time to time with them.

26 For these foure chiefe porters were in perpetuall office, and were of the Levites, and had charge of the chambers, and of the treasures in the house of God.

27 And they lay round about the house of God, because the charge was theirs, and they caused it to be opened euery morning.

28 And certaine of them had the rule of the ministring vessels: for they brought them in by tale, and brought them out by tale.

29 Some of them also were appointed ouer the instruments, and ouer all the vessels of the Sanctuary, and of the floure, and the wine, and the oyle, and the incense, and the sweet odours.

30 And certaine of the sons of the Priests made oymments of sweete odours.

31 And Mattithiah one of the Levites which was the eldest sonne of Shallum the Kozhite, had the charge of the things that were made in the frying pan.

32 And other of their brethren the sonnes of Kohath, had the oversight of the shewbread to prepare it euery Sabbath.

33 And these are the fingers, the chiefe fathers of the Levites, which dwell in chambers, and had none other charge: for they had to doe in that businesse day and night.

34 These were the chiefe fathers of the Levites according to their generation, and the principall which dwell at Ierusalem.

35 And in Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jeiel, and the name of his wife was Maachah.

36 And his eldest sonne was Abdon, then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Mer, and Nadab, 37 And Gedoz, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.

38 And Mikloth begat Shimeam: they also dwell with their brethren at Ierusalem, euen by their brethren.

39 And Mer begat Kish, and Kish begat Saul, and Saul begat Jonathan, and Balchisua, and Abinadab, and Eshbaal.

40 And the sonne of Jonathan, was Meribbaal: and Meribbaal begat Mirah.

41 And the sonnes of Mirah were Pithon, and Melech, and Tahzeu.

42 And Ahaz begat Jarah, and Jarah begate Alemeth, and Azmaueh, and Zimri, and Zimri begat Moza, 43 And Moza begat Binea, whose sonne was Rephatah, and his sonne was Eleasah and his sonne Azel.

44 And Azel had six sonnes, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, & Imnael, and Sheariah, and Dabiah, and Hanan: these are the sonnes of Azel.

3 After the death of Saul is Dauid anointed in Hebron. 5 The Iebusites rebell against Dauid from whom hee taketh the towne of Zion. 6 Joab is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

2. Sam. 5. 1.

a This was after the death of Iſſi-boseth Sauls sonne, when Dauid had reigned ouer Iudah seuen yeeres and fixe months in Hebron. 2. Sam. 5. 5.

¶ Then * all Israel gathered themselves to Dauid vnto Hebron, saying, Behold, we are thy bones, and thy flesh.

2 And in time past, euen when Saul was king, thou Iſſedst Israel out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt bee captaine ouer my people Israel.

3 So came all the Elders of Israel to the King to Hebron, and Dauid made a covenant with them in Hebron, before the Lord. And they anointed Dauid king ouer Israel, * according to the word of the Lord, by the hand of Samuel.

4 ¶ And Dauid and all Israel went to Ierusalem, which is Iebus, where were the Iebusites, the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Iebus sayd to Dauid, Thou shalt not come in hither. Nevertheless Dauid tooke the towne of Zion, which is the citie of Dauid.

6 And Dauid said, * Whosoever smiteth the Iebusites, first, shall bee the chiefe and captaine. So Joab the sonne of Zeruiah went first by, and was captaine.

2. Sam. 5. 8.

7 And Dauid dwelt in the towne: therefore they called it the citie of Dauid.

8 ¶ And hee built the citie on euery side, from Billo such round about: and Joab repaired the rest of the citie.

2. Sam. 5. 9.

9 And Dauid prospered and grew: for the Lord of hosts was with him.

10 ¶ These also are the chiefe of the valiant men that were with Dauid, and loyned their force with him in his kingdome with all Israel, to make him king ouer Israel, according to the word of the Lord.

2. Sam. 23. 8.

11 And this is the number of the valiant men, whom Dauid had, Iſſi-boseth the son of Achish, the chief among thirtie: hee lift vp his speare against thre hundred, whom he slew at one time.

12 And after him was Eleazar the sonne of Dodo the Ahohite, which was one of the thre valiant men.

13 He was with Dauid at Pas-dammim, and there the Philistines were gathered together to battell: and there was a parcell of ground full of barley, and the people fled before the Philistines.

14 And they stood in the mids of the field, and * saued it, and slewe the Philistines: so the Lord gaue a great victorie.

15 ¶ And thre of the * thirtie captaines went to a rocke to Dauid into the caue of Adullam. And the armie of the Philistines camped in the valley of Rephaim.

c This act is referred to Sham-mah, 2. Sam. 23. 11, which seemeth was the chiefe of these.

16 And when Dauid was in the holde, the Philistines garrison was at Beth-lehem.

17 And Dauid longed, and sayd, * Oh, that one would giue mee to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-lehem that is at the gate.

d That is, Eleazar and his two companions.
2. Sam. 23. 15.

18 Then these thre brake thorow the hold of the Philistines, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and tooke it, and brought it to Dauid: but Dauid would not drinke of it, but powred it for an oblation to the Lord.

19 And said, Let not my God suffer me to doe this: should I drinke the blood of these mens liues: for they haue brought it with the jeopardy of their liues: therefore hee would not drinke it: these things did these thre mightie me.

e That is, this water for the which they ventured their blood.

20 ¶ And Abishai the brother of Joab, he was chiefe of the thre, and hee lift vp his speare against thre hundred, and slew them, and had the name among the thre.

21 Among the thre hee was moze honorable then the two, and hee was their Captaine: * but hee attained not vnto the first thre.

2. Sam. 23. 19.

22 Benaiah the sonne of Jehoiada (the sonne sonne of a valiant man) which had done many acts, and was of Kabzeel, hee slew two strong men of Moab: he went downe also and slew a lion in the mids of a pit in time of snow.

23 And he slew an Egyptian, a man of great stature, even five cubites long, and in the Egyptians hand was a speare like a weavers beame: and hee went downe to him with a staffe, and plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hand, and slew him with his owne speare.

24 These things did Benatah the sonne of Jehoiada, and had the name among the three worthies.

25 Behold, hee was honourable among thirtie, but hee attained not unto the first three. * And David made him of his counsell.

26 These also were valiant men of war, Alabel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the sonne of Dodo of Bethle-hem,

CHAP. XII.

1 Who they were that went with David when hee fled from Saul, 14 Their valiantnesse, 23 They that came unto him unto Hebron out of every tribe to make him king.

These also are they that came to David to ^a Bzklag, while he was yet kept close, because of Saul the sonne of Kish: and they were among the valiant and helpers of the battell.

2 They were weaponed with bowes, and could vse the right and the left hand with stones and with arrowes, and with bowes, and were of Sauls ^b brethren, even of Benjamin.

3 The chiefe were Abiezer, and Joash the sonnes of Shemaah the Gibeathite, and Jeziel and Pelet the sons of Asnaueh, Berachah, and Iehu the Antochite,

4 And Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a valiant man among thirtie, and aboute the thirtie, and Jeremiah, and Jehaziel, and Iohanan, and Joshabad the Gederatite,

5 Eluzai, and Jeremoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite, 6 Elkanah, and Ishia, and Azariel, and Jozer, Jashobeam of Makozehin, 7 And Joelah, and Zebadiah the sonnes of Jeroham of ^c Gedor.

8 And of the Gadites there separated themselves some unto David into the holde of the wilderness, valiant men of warre, and men of armes, and apt for battell, which could handle ^d speare and shield, and their faces were like the faces of lions, and were like the roes in the mountaines in swiftnesse.

9 Ezer, the chiefe, Obadiah the second, Eliab the thirde,

10 ^e Ishmanah the fourth, Jeremiah the fift,

11 Attai the sixt, Eliel the seuenth,

12 Iohanan the eight, Elzabab the ninth,

13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machannai the eleuenth.

14 These were the sonnes of Gad, Captaines of the hoste: one of the least could resist an hundred, and the greatest a thousand.

15 These are they that went ouer Jordan in the ^f first moneth when hee had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, toward the East and the West.

16 And there came of the children of Benjamin, and Judah to the holde unto David.

17 And David went out to meeete them, and answered, and sayd unto them, If yee bee come peaceably vnto mee, to helpe mee, mine heart shall be knit vnto you, but if you come to betray mee to mine aduersaries, seeing there is no wickednesse in mine handes, the God of our fathers beholde it, and re-buke it.

18 And the ^g Spirit came vpon Amasai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, and hee sayd, Thine are wee, David, and with thee, O sonne of Ishai, Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace bee vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then David receiued them, and made them Captaines of the gar-rison.

19 And of Manasse some fell to Dauid, when he came with the Philistines against Saul to battell, but they helped them not: for the princes of the Philistines by aduisement sent him away, saying, He will fall to his master Saul: for our heads.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasse, Amnah, and Jozabab, and Iediel, and Michael, and Jozabab, and Elitai, and Zicai, heads of the thousands that were of Manasse.

21 And they helped Dauid against that band: for they were all valiant men, and were captaines in the hoste.

22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to helpe him, untill it was a great hoste, like the hoste of God.

23 And these are the numbers of the captaines that were armed to battell, and came to Dauid to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lord.

24 The children of Judah that bare shield and speare, were six thousand and eight hundred, armed to the warre.

25 Of the children of Simeon valiant men of warre, seven thousand and an hundred.

26 Of the children of Levi four thousand and six hundred.

27 And Jehoiada was the chiefe of them of Aaron: and with him three thousand and seven hundred.

28 And Zadok a yong man very valiant, and of his fathers household, came two and twenty captaines.

29 And of the children of Benjamin the brethren of Saul three thousand: for a great part of them vnto that time kept the ward of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thousand, and eight hundred valiant men and famous men in the household of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasse eightene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.

32 And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had vnderstanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to doe: the heads of them were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zebulun that went out to battell, expert in warre, and in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand: which could set the battell in array: they were not of a double heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaine, and with them with shield and speare seven and thirtie thousand.

35 And of Dan expert in battell, eight and twentie thousand and six hundred.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battell, and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.

37 And of the other side of Jordan of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasse with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundred and twentie thousand.

38 All these men of warre that could leade an armie, came with vpright heart to Hebron, to make Dauid King ouer all Israel: and all the rest of Israel was of one accord to make Dauid King.

39 And there they were with Dauid three dayes, eating and drinkeing: for their brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover they that were nere them vntill Issachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali, brought bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, even meat, flour, figges, and raisins, and wine and oyle, and beecus, and sheepe abundantly: for there was toy in Israel.

CHAP. XIII.

7 The Arke is brought againe from Kirjath-earim to Ierusalem. 9 Uzza dieth because he touched it.

AND Dauid counselled with the captaines of thousands and of hundreds, and with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid said to all the Congregation of Israel, It is seeme good to you, and that it proceedeth of the Lord our God, wee will send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israel (for with them are the Priestes and the Levites in the cities and their suburbs) that they may assemble themselves vnto vs.

3 And wee will bring againe the Arke of our God to vs: for wee sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 So Dauid gathered all Israel together from Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entering of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from Kirjath-earim.

6 And Dauid went vp and all Israel to Baalath, in Kirjath-earim, that was in Iudab, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betwene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzza and Ahio guided the cart.

8 And Dauid and all Israel played before God with all their might, both with songs and with harpes, and with viols, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 And when they came vnto the threshing floore of Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Uzza, and he smote him, because hee layd his hand vpon the Arke: so hee dieth there before God.

11 And Dauid was angry, because the Lord had made a breach in Uzza, and hee called the name of that place Perez: Uzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, How shall I bring in to mee the Arke of God?

13 Therefore Dauid brought not the Ark to him into the citie of Dauid, but caused

1 Hiram sendeth wood and workemen to David. 4 The names of his children. 8. 14 By the counsell of God hee goeth against the Philistines, and overcometh them. 15 God fighteth for him.

Then sent Hiram the king of Tyre messengers to David, and cedar trees, with masons and carpenters to build him an house.

2 Therefore David knew that the Lord had confirmed him King over Israel, and that his kingdom was lift up on high, because of his people Israel.

3 Also David tooke more wives at Jerusalem, and David begate more sonnes and daughters.

4 And these are the names of the children which he had at Jerusalem, Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan, and Salomon, 5 And Ithar, and Elisua, & Elpalet.

6 And Nogah, and Nephthai, and Naphtai,

7 And Elithama, and Berlekada, and Eliphalet.

8 But when the Philistines heard that David was anointed King over Israel, all the Philistines came up to seeke David. And when David heard, hee went out against them.

9 And the Philistines came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then David asked counsell at God, saying, Shall I goe up against the Philistines, and wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? And the Lord said unto him, Goe up: for I will deliver them into thine hand.

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim, and David smote them there: and David said, God hath divided mine enemies with mine hands, as waters are divided: therefore they called the name of that place, Baal-perazim.

12 And there they had left their gods: and David said, Let them even be burnt with fire.

13 Again the Philistines came and spread themselves in the valley.

14 And when David asked againe counsell at God, God said unto him, Thou shalt not goe up after them, but turne away from them, & thou shalt come upon them over against the mulberry trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noise of one going in the tops of the mulberry trees, then get thee out to battell: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the host of the Philistines.

16 So David did as God had commanded him: and they smote the host of the Philistines from Gibeon even to Gazer.

17 And the fame of David went out into all lands, and the Lord brought the feare of him upon all nations.

CHAP. XV.

David prepareth an house for the Arke. 4 The number and order of the Levites. 16 The singers are chosen out among them. 25 They bring againe the Arke with joy. 29 David dancing before it, & discomfited of his wife Michal.

And David made him houses in the citie of David, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then David said, None ought to carrie the Arke of God but the Levites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister unto him for ever.

3 And David gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem, to bring up the Arke of the Lord unto his place, which he had ordained for it.

4 And David assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Levites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath, Ariel the chiefe, and his brethren sixscore.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Asaiab the chiefe, and his brethren two hundred and twentie.

7 Of the sonnes of Gershom, Joel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and thirtie.

8 Of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundred.

9 Of the sonnes of Iedion, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren fourscore.

10 Of the sonnes of Uzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and twelue.

11 And David called Zadok and Abiathar, the Priests, and of the Levites, Ariel, Asaiab, and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab:

12 And hee said unto them, Pee are the chiefe fathers of the Levites: sanctifie your selves, and your brethren, and bring up the Arke of the Lord God of Israel unto the place that I have prepared for it.

13 For because ye were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we fought him not after due order.

14 So the Priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the sonnes of the Levites bare the Arke of God upon their shoulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded, according to the word of the Lord.

16 And David spake to the chiefe of the Levites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with instruments of musike, with viols and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a sound, and lift up their voice with joy.

17 So the Levites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, & of the sons of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kushaiah, 18 And with them their brethren in the second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Amnath, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphalet, and Mikneah, and Obed-Edom, and Jehiel the porters.

19 So Heman, Asaph, and Ethan were singers to make a sound with cymbals of brass, 23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniah, and Jehoshaphat, and Serhanai, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiab, and Eliezer the Priests did blow with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed EDOM and Itiel were porters for the Arke.

25 So David and the Elders of Israel and the captains of thousands went to bring up the Arke of the covenant of the Lord from the house of Obed EDOM with joy.

26 And because that God helped the Levites that bare the Arke of the covenant of the Lord, they offered seven bullocks and seven rammes.

27 And David had on him a linnen garment, as all the Levites that bare the Arke, and the singers, and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and upon David was a linnen Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought up the Arke of the Lords Covenant with shouting, and sound of corymb, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a sound with viols and with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the Covenant of the Lord came into the citie of David, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and saw King David dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

i The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices, 4 David ordaineth Asaph and his brethren to minister before the Lord. 8 He appointeth a notable Psalm to be sung in praise of the Lord.

So they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the mids of the Tabernacle that David had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt offering, and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord.

3 And he dealt to every one of Israel both man and woman, to every one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottell of wine.

4 And he appointed certaine of the Levites to minister before the Arke of the Lord, and to rehearse, and to thanke and praise the Lord God of Israel.

5 Asaph the chiefe, and next unto him Zechariah, Itiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Machabiah, and Eliah, and Benaiab, and Obed EDOM, each Itiel with instruments, viols and harpes, and Asaph to make a sound with cymbals, 7 Then at that time David did appoint at the beginning to give thanks to the Lord by the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

NOW afterward when Dauid dwelt in his house, he said to Nathan the Prophet, Behold, I dwell in an house of cedar trees, but the Arke of the Lords Covenant remaineth vnder curtains.

2 Then Nathan said to Dauid, Doe all that is in thine heart: for God is with thee.

3 And the same night euen the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Go, and tel Dauid my seruant, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:

5 For I have dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene from tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.

6 Wherefoerer I haue walked with all Israel, spake I one word to any of the Iudges of Israel (whom I commanded to feed my people) saying, Why haue ye not built me an house of cedar trees?

7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I tooke thee from the shep-coat, and from following the sheepe, that thou shouldst bee a Prince ouer my people Israel.

8 And I haue bene with thee whitherso- euer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 (Also I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and will plant it, that they may dwell in thir place, and mooue no more: neither shall the wicked people vex them any more, as at the beginning.)

10 And since the time that I commanded Iudges ouer my people Israel, And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will build thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled, to goe with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sons, and will establish his kingdom.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for euer.

13 I will be his father, and he shall be my sonne, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in my kingdom for euer, and his throne shall be established for euer.

15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to Dauid.

16 ¶ And Dauid the King went in, and laye before the Lord, and said, Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought mee hither to?

17 Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of high degree, O Lord God.

18 What can Dauid desire more of thee for the honour of thy seruant? for thou knowest thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

22 For thou hast ordeined thy people Israel to bee thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become thier God.

23 Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant and concerning his house, bee confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast said.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of Dauid against the Philistines, 2 and against Moab, 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 12 and Edom.

And after this Dauid smote the Philistines, and subdued them, and tooke Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistines.

2 And hee smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants, & he brought gifts.

3 And Dauid smote Hadarzer king of Zobah, vnto Hamath, as hee went to establish his border by the river Euphrates.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousand chariots, and seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen, and destroyed all the chariots, but hee reserved of them an hundred chariots.

5 Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarzer king of Zobah: but Dauid slew of the Aramites two and twenty thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts: and the Lord preserved Dauid wheresoener he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the shields of gold that were of the seruants of Hadarzer, and brought them to Jerusalem.

8 And from Tibhath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarzer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brazen Sea, and the pillars, and the vessels of brasse.

9 Then Tou king of Hamath heard how Dauid had smitten all the hoste of Hadarzer king of Zobah:

10 Therefore hee sent Hadoram his sonne to king Dauid to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because hee had fought against Hadarzer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarzer) who brought all vessels of gold, and silver, and brasse.

11 And King Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord, with the silver and gold that hee brought from all the nations, from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistines, and from Amalek.

12 And Abisai the sonne of Nerabab slew of the Edomites in the salt valley eighteen thousand.

13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lord preserved Dauid wheresoener he went.

14 So Dauid resigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Joab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoste, and Jehoshaphat the sonne of Achis Recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Abiath, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and Shaul the Scribe.

17 And Benaiab the sonne of Jehoiada was ouer the Cherethites and the Pelishtines: and the sonnes of Dauid were chiefe about the king.

CHAP. XIX.

4 Hanun King of the children of Ammon death great miserie to the seruants of Dauid, 6 He prepared an armie against Dauid, 15 and was overcome.

After this also Nabash the king of the Achilzen of Ammon died, and his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And Dauid said, I will shew kindnesse vnto Hanun the sonne of Nabash, because his father shewed kindnesse vnto me. And Dauid sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the land of the Achilzen of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the Achilzen of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Art not his seruants come to thee to search, to seek, and to spy out the land?

4 Therefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and shaued them, and cut off their garments by the halfe vnto the buttocks, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine and told Dauid concerning the men: and hee sent to meet them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King said, Tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown: then returne.

6 When the Achilzen of Ammon saw that they stank in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun and the Achilzen of Ammon a thousand talents of silver to hire them chariots and horsemen out of Aram Nabazar, and out of Aram Maachab, and out of Edom.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand chariots, and the king of Maachab and his people which came and pitched before Medeba: and the Achilzen of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to the battell.

8 And when Dauid heard, hee sent Joab and all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the Achilzen of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the cite. And the Kings that were come, were by themselves in the field.

10 When Joab saw that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, then hee chose out of all the chiefe of Israel, and set by himselfe in aray to meete the Aramites.

14 So Joab & the people that was with him, came neere before the Aramites vnto the battell, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abisai his brother, and entered into the cite: so Joab came to Jerusalem.

16 And when the Aramites saw that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers & caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the riuer: and Shobach the captaine of the host of Hadadzer went before them.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, hee gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iordan, and came vnto them, and put himselfe in aray against them: and when Dauid had put himselfe in battell aray to meet the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites seuen thousand chariots, and fortie thousand footmen, and killed Shobach the captaine of the hoste.

19 And when the seruants of Hadadzer saw that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, and serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

1 Rabbah destroyed. 3 The Ammonites tormented. 4 The Philistims are thrise overcome with their giants.

And when the yeere was expired, in the Autume that Kings goe out a warlike, Joab carried out the strength of the armie, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and beleeged Rabbah (but Dauid taried at Jerusalem) and Joab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

2 Then Dauid tooke the crowne of these king from off his head, & found it the weight of a talent of gold, with precious stones in it: and it was set on Dauids head, and hee brought away the spoyle of the cite exceeding much.

3 And hee carried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes and with barrowes of yron, and with axes: men thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people came againe to Jerusalem.

4 And after this also, there arose warre at Gazer with the Philistims: then Abhechai the Gushathite slew Gippai, of the children of Haraphah, and they were subdued.

5 And there was yet another battell with the Philistims: and Elhanan the sonne of Nair slew Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose speareasse was like a weaues beame.

6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of a great stature, and his fingers were like figes, even foure and twentie, and was also the sonne of Haraphah.

7 And when hee reuiled Israel, Jehonathan the sonne of Shimea Dauids brother did slay him.

8 These were bozne vnto Haraphah at Gath, and fell by the hand of Dauid, and by the hands of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to be numbred, 14 and there die fouentie thousand men of the pestilence.

And Satan stood by against Israel, and prouoked Dauid to number Israel. Therefore Dauid said to Joab, and to the rulers of the people, Goe, and number Israel from Beer-sheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

2 And Joab answered, The Lord encrease his people an hundred times so many as they be, O my lord the king: are they not all my lords seruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why should he be a cause of trespassse to Israel?

3 Neuertheless the Kings word preuailed against Joab. And Joab departed and went thorow Israel, and returned to Jerusalem.

4 And Joab gaue the number and summe of the people vnto Dauid: and all Israel were eleuen hundred thousand men that drew sword: and Iudah was foure hundred and seuentie thousand men that drew sword.

5 But the Levites and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the Kings word was abominable to Joab.

6 And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

7 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now I beseech thee, remooue the iniquitie of thy seruants: for I haue done very foolishly.

8 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids seer, saying,

9 Goe and tell Dauid, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse thee one of them, that I may doe it vnto thee.

10 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee

11 Either three yeeres famine, or three moneths to bee destroyed before thine aduersaries, and the sword of thine enemies to take thee, or else the sword of the Lord and pestilence in the lande three dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy without all the coastes of Israel:

Israel: Now therefore advise thee, what word I shall bring againe to him that sent me.

13 And David said unto God, I am in a wonderfull strait: let mee now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel thientie thousand men.

15 And God sent the Angel into Jerusalem to destroy it. And as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and repented of the evil, and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

16 And David lift up his eyes, and saw the Angel of the Lord stand betwene the earth & the heaven with his sword drawn in his hand, and stretched out toward Jerusalem. Then David and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell upon their faces.

17 And David said unto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is true I that have sinned and have committed evil, but these sheepe, what have they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on mee, and on my fathers house, and not on thy people for their destruction.

18 Then the Angel of the Lord commanded God to say to David, that David should goe up, and let up an altar unto the Lord in the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

19 So David went by according to the saying of God, which hee had spoken in the name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about, and saw the Angel, and his four sonnes that were with him, hid themselves, and Ornan threshed wheat.

21 And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out of the threshing floor, and bowed himselfe to David with his face to the ground.

22 And David saide to Ornan, Give mee the place of thy threshing floor, that I may build an altar therein unto the Lord: give it mee for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan said unto David, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king doe that which seemeth him good: loe, I give thee bullockes for burnt offerings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheate for meate offering, I give it all.

24 And king David said to Ornan, Not so: but I will buy it for sufficient money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

25 So David gave to Ornan for that place six hundred shekels of golde by weight.

26 And David built there an altar unto the Lord, & offered burnt offerings & peace offerings, and called upon the Lord and hee answered him by fire from heaven upon the altar of burnt offering.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, hee put up his sword againe into his sheath.

28 At that time, when David saw that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 But the tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the place at Gibeon.

30 And David could not goe before it to aske counsell at God: for he was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

1 David prepareth things necessary for the building of the Temple. 6 He commandeth his sonne Salomon to build the Temple of the Lord which thing hee himselfe was forbidden to doe. 9 Under the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

And David said, This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

2 And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and he let malons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.

3 David also prepared much yron for the nallies of the doores and of the gates, and for the turnings, and abundance of brasse passing weight.

4 And cedar trees without number: for the Idonians and they of Tyus brought much cedar wood to David.

5 And David said, Salomon my sonne is yong and tender, and wee must build an house for the Lord, magnificent, excellent, and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countries. I will therefore now prepare for him. So David prepared very much before his death.

6 Then hee called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And David said to Salomon, My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the name of the Lord my God.

8 But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, Thou hast shedde much blood, and hast made great battels: thou shalt not build an house unto my name: for thou hast shed much blood upon the earth in my sight.

9 Behold, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest: for I will give him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnesse upon Israel in his dayes.

10 He shall build an house for my name, and he shall be my sonne, and I will be his father, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom upon Israel forever.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lord shall be with thee, and thou shalt prosper, and thou shalt build an house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken of thee.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid being old, ordeineth Salomon King. 3 Hee causeth the Levites to be numbred, 4 and assigneth them to their offices, 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the high Priest, 14 The sonnes of Moyses.

SD when Dauid was old, and full of dayes, he made Salomon his sonne King ouer Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the prin- ces of Israel with the Priestes and the Le- uites.

3 And the Levites were numbred from the age of thirtie yeere and aboue, and their number according to their summe, was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these, foure and twentie thousand were set || to aduance the worke of the house of the Lord, and six thousand were ouersers and Iudges.

5 And foure thousand were porters, and foure thousand praised the Lord with instru- ments which he made to praise the Lord.

6 * So Dauid diuided offices vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leni, to * Serihon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 Of the Serihonites were || Laadan and Shimei.

8 The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Jehiel and Zethai, and Iosiah.

9 The sonnes of Shimei, Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haram: these were the chiefe fathers of Laadan.

10 Also the sonnes of Shimei were Ja- bath, Zina, Iush, and Beriah: these foure were the sonnes of Shimei.

11 And Jabath was the chiefe, and || Zi- zab the second, but Iush and Beriah had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father, counted but as one.

12 The sonnes of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, foure.

13 * The sonnes of Amram, Aaron and Moyses: and Aaron was separated to sanc- tifie the most holy place, hee and his sonnes for ever to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his Name for ever.

14 Moyses also the man of God, and his children were named with the b tribe of Leui.

15 The sonnes of Moyses were Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sonnes of * Gershom was She- bui the chiefe.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Reha- biab the c chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiab were ver- ry many.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Ieriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekiamiah the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Uzziel were Michab the first, and Jishiah the second.

21 The sonnes of Merari were Dabhi and Gushi. The sonnes of Dabhi, Eleazar and Kish.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sonnes, but daughters, & their d brethren the sonnes of Kish tooke them.

23 The sonnes of Gushi were Dabhi, and Eder, and Jeremoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui accord- ing to the house of their fathers, even the chiefe fathers according to their offices, ac- cording to the number of names and their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of twen- tie yeeres and aboue.

25 For Dauid sayd, The Lord God of Israel hath giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for ever.

26 And also the Levites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of Dauid, the Levites were numbred from twenty yeere and aboue.

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the coners, and cham- bers, & in the purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God.

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flour, for the meate offering, and for the unleavened cakes, and for the fyled things, and for that which was roasted, and for all measures and size.

31 And to offer all burnt offerings unto the Lord, in the Sabbaths, in the monthes, and at the appointed times, according to the number, and according to their custome continually before the Lord, 32 And that they should keepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the sonnes of Aaron their brethren in the service of the house of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

David assigneth offices unto the sonnes of Aaron.

These are also the divisions of the sonnes of Aaron. The sonnes of Aaron were Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Priests office.

3 And David distributed them, even Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sonnes of Ithamar, according to their offices in their ministracion.

4 And there were found more of the sonnes of Eleazar by the number of men, then of the sonnes of Ithamar, and they divided them, to wit, among the sonnes of Eleazar, sixteen heads, according to the household of their fathers, and among the sonnes of Ithamar, according to the household of their fathers, eight.

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, and so the rulers of the Sanctuary, and the rulers of the house of God, were of the sonnes of Eleazar, and of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 And Shematah the sonne of Netaneel the Scribe of the Levites, wrote them before the King and the Princes, and Zadok the Priest, and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar, and before the chiefe fathers of the Priests and of the Levites, one family being referred for Eleazar, and another referred for Ithamar.

7 And the first lot fell to Jehoiarib, and the second to Jedaiab,

8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorin,

9 The fifth to Malchiah, the sixt to Mithamim,

10 The seventh to Hakkoz, the eight to Abitab,

11 The ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah,

12 The eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim,

13 The thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Isebeab,

14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer,

15 The seventeenth to Hezer, the eighteenth to Hapizzur,

16 The nineteenth to Bethabiah, the twentieth to Isebekel,

17 The one and twentieth to Jachin, the two and twentieth to Gamul, 18 The three and twentieth to Deliah, the four and twentieth to Maaziah.

19 These were their orders according to their offices, when they entred into the house of the Lord according to their custome under the hand of Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him.

20 And of the sonnes of Levi that remained of the sonnes of Amram, was Shubael, of the sonnes of Shubael, Jedetah, 21 Of Rehabiah, even of the sonnes of Rehabiah, the first Ishiah,

22 Of Ishari, Shelomoth, of the sonnes of Shelomoth, Jahath, 23 And his sonnes, Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth.

24 The sonne of Uzziel was Michah the sonne of Michah was Shamir, 25 The brother of Michah was Ishiah, the sonne of Ishiah, Zechariah, 26 The sonnes of Merari were Mahli, and Gushi, the sonne of Jahaziah, was Beno.

27 The sonnes of Merari, of Jahaziah were Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ithi.

28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, which had no sonnes.

29 Of Kish, the sonne of Kish was Jerahmeel,

30 And the sonnes of Gushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth: these were sonnes of the Levites after the household of their fathers.

31 And these also cast lots with their brethren the sonnes of Aaron, before King David, and Zadok, and Ahimelech, and the chiefe fathers of the Priests, and of the Levites, even the chiefe of the families against their younger brethren.

CHAP. XXV.

The Singers are appointed, with their places, and lots.

David and the captaines of the armie separated for the ministry the sonnes of Alaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun, who should sing propheties with harpes, with viols, and with cymbals, and their number was even of the men for the office of their ministry, to wit,

2 Of the sonnes of Alaph, Zaccur, and Joseph, and Netaniah, and Asarelah the sonnes of Alaph, were under the hand of Alaph, which sang propheties by the commission of the King.

3 Of Jeduthun, the sonnes of Jeduthun, Gedaliah, and Zeri, and Jesatah, Ahabiah, and Mithriah, six, under the hands of Jeduthun, which sang propheties with an harpe, for to give thanks, and to bled, praise the Lord.

4 Of Heman, the sonnes of Heman, Bukiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, and Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Gidalei, and Romamti-ezer, Joshbekasah, Mallathi, Hothir, and Mahazioth.

5 All these were the sonnes of Heman the Kings seer in the words of God to lift up the name: and God gave to Heman fourteene sonnes and three daughters.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The porters of the Temple are ordained every man to the gate, which hee should keepe, 20 And ouer the treasure.

Concerning the divisions of the porters of the Kohites, Meshelminah the sonne of Koz, of the sonnes of Asaph.

2 And the sonnes of Meshelminah, Zechariah the eldest, Jedaiel the second, Zebadiah the third, Nathaniel the fourth,

3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, and Eliehoenai the seventh.

4 And of the sons of Dbed Edom, Shemaiah the eldest, Jehozabad the second, Joab the third, and Sacar the fourth, and Sachaneel the fifth,

5 Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Benichai the eighth: for God had blessed him.

6 And to Shemaiah his son, were sonnes borne that ruled in the house of their father: for they were men of might.

7 The sonnes of Shemaiah were Dethni, and Rephael, and Dbed, Elzabad and his brethren, strong men: Elihu also, and Shemachiah.

8 All these were of the sonnes of Dbed Edom, they and their sonnes and their brethren, mightie and strong to serue, even threescore and two of Dbed Edom.

9 And of Meshelminah sonnes and brethren, eigheteene mighty men.

10 And of Josiah of the sonnes of Merari the sons were Shuri the chiefe, and (though hee was not the eldest, yet his father made him the chiefe)

11 Melkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, and Zechariah the fourth: all the sonnes and the brethren of Josiah were thirteene.

12 Of these were the divisions of the porters of the chiefe men, hauing the charge against their brethren, to serue in the house of the Lord.

13 And they cast lots both small & great, for the house of their fathers, for euery gate.

14 And the lot on the East side fell to Meshelminah: then they cast lots for Zechariah his sonne, a wise counsellor, and his lot came out Northward:

15 To Dbed Edom Southward, and to his sonnes the house of Asuppim:

16 To Shuppim, and to Josiah Westward with the gate of Shallecheth by the paved streete that goeth upward, ward ouer against ward.

17 Eastward were sixe Levites, and Northward foure a day, and Southward foure a day, and toward Asuppim, two and two.

18 In Parbar toward the West were foure by the paved streete, and two in Parbar.

19 These are the divisions of the porters of the sonnes of Koz, and of the sonnes of Merari.

20 And of the Levites Ahiah was ouer the treasures of the house of God, and ouer the treasures of the dedicate things.

21 Of the sonnes of Laadan the sonnes of the Gerishmites, descending of Laadan, the chiefe fathers of Laadan, were Gerishmuni and Jehieli.

22 The sonnes of Jehieli were Zethan and Joel his brother appointed ouer the treasures of the house of the Lord.

23 Of the Amramites, of the Izharites, of the Hebronites, and of the Zethites.

24 And Shubael the son of Gerthom the sonne of Moles, a ruler ouer the treasures.

25 And of his brethren, which came of Eliezer, was Rehabiah his sonne, and Jehialab

3 Of the ſonnes of Perez was the chiefe over all the princes of the armies for the firſt moneth.

4 And over the course of the ſecond moneth, was Dodai an Ahobite, and this was his course, and Mikloth was a captaine, and in his course were foure and twentieth thouſand.

5 The captaine of the third hoſte for the third moneth was Benatah the ſonne of Jeholada the chiefe prieſt, & in his course were foure and twentieth thouſand.

6 This Benatah was mighty among the chiefe and among the thirtieth, and in his course was Amizabad his ſonne.

7 The fourth for the fourth moneth was Alabel the brother of Joab, & Zebadiah his ſonne after him: and in his course were foure and twentieth thouſand.

10 The ſeventh for the ſeventh moneth was Helez the Delonite, of the ſonnes of Ephraim, and in his course foure and twentieth thouſand.

11 The eight for the eight moneth was Sibbeai the Huſharbite of the Zarbites: and in his course foure and twentieth thouſand.

12 The ninth for the ninth moneth was Abiſzer the Anerbithite of the ſons of Benjamin: and in his course foure and twentieth thouſand.

13 The tenth for the tenth moneth was Baharat the Perophaſbithite of the Zarbites: and in his course foure and twentieth thouſand.

14 The eleventh for the eleventh moneth was Benatah the Pirathonite of the ſonnes of Ephraim: and in his course foure and twentieth thouſand.

15 The twelfth for the twelfth moneth was Heldai the Perophaſbithite, of Dohniel, and in his course foure and twentieth thouſand.

16 Moreover the rulers over the tribes of Iſrael were theſe: over the Reubenites was ruler, Eliezer the ſonne of Zichri: over the Shunonites, Shephattah the ſonne of Maachab:

17 Over the Levites, Haſhabiah the ſon of Remuel: over them of Aſaron, and Zadok:

18 Over Judah, Elihu of the brethren of David: over Iſſachar, Omri the ſonne of Michael:

19 Over Zebulun, Iſhmaiah the ſonne of Obadiah: over Naphtali, Jeremoth the ſon of Azriel:

20 Over the ſonnes of Ephraim, Hoſhea the ſonne of Azaziah: over the halfe tribe of Manaſſeh, Joel the ſonne of Pedaiab:

CHAP. XXVIII.

3 Because David was forbidden to build the Temple, he willett Salomon and the people to performe it, 9 exhorting him to feare the Lord,

NOW David assembled all the princes of Israel: the princes of the tribes, and the captaines of the bands that serued the King, and the captaines of thousands, and the captaines of hundreds, and the rulers of all the substance & possession of the king, and of his sonnes, with the eunuches, and the mighty, and all the men of power, vnto Ierusalem.

2 And king David stood vpon his feet, and said, Heare ye me, my brethren & my people: I purposed to haue built an house of rest for the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord, and for a footstool of our God, and haue made ready for the building.

3 But God layd vnto mee, Thou shalt not build an house for my name, because thou hast been a man of warre, and hast shed blood.

4 Yet as the Lord God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father, to be king ouer Israel for euer (for in Iudah would he chuse a prince, and of the house of Iudah is the house of my father, and among the sons of my father he delighted in me to make mee king ouer all Israel)

5 So of all my sonnes (for the Lord hath giuen mee many sonnes) hee hath euen chosen Salomon my sonne to sit vpon the throne of the kingdome of the Lord ouer Israel.

6 And hee said vnto mee, Salomon thy sonne, he shall build mine house & my courts: for I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I will be his father.

7 I will stablish therefore his kingdome for euer, if hee endeavour himselfe to doe my commandements, and my iudgements, as this day.

8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel the Congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of our God, keepe and seeke for all the commandements of the Lord your God, that ye may possesse this good land, & leaue it for an inheritance for your children after you for euer.

9 And thou Salomon my sonne, know thou the God of thy father, and serue him with a perfect heart, & with a willing mind: For the Lord searcheth all hearts, & vnderstandeth all the imaginations of thoughts: if thou seeke him, hee will bee found of thee: but if thou forsake him, hee will cast thee off for euer.

10 Take heed now, for the Lord hath chosen thee to build the house of the sanctuary: be strong therefore and doe it.

11 Then David gaue to Salomon his sonne the paterne of the porch and of the houses thereof, and of the closets thereof, and of the galleries thereof, and of the chambers thereof that are within, and of the house of the Mercy seate,

12 And the paterne of all that hee had in his mind for the courts of the house of the Lord, and for all the chambers round about, for the treasures of the house of God, and for the treasures of the dedicate things,

13 And for the courses of the Priests, and of the Leuites, and for all the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord, and for all the vessels of the ministrie of the house of the Lord.

14 He gaue of gold by weight, for the vessels of gold for all the vessels of all manner of seruice, and all the vessels of siluer by weight, for all manner of vessels of all manner of seruice.

15 The weight also of gold for the candlesticks, and gold for their lamps, with the weight for euery candlesticke, and for the lampes thereof, and for the candlesticks of siluer by the weight of the candlesticke, and the lampes thereof, according to the vse of euery candlesticke.

16 And the weight of the gold for the tables of shewbread, for euery table, and siluer for the tables of siluer,

18 And for the Altar of incense pure gold by weight, and gold for the paterne of the chariot of the Cherubs that spread themselves, and couered the Arke of the couenant of the Lord:

19 All said he, by writing sent to mee by the hand of the Lord, which made mee vnderstand all the workemanship of the paterne.

20 And David sayd to Salomon his sonne, Be strong & of a valliant courage, and doe it: feare not nor bee afraid: for the Lord God, euen my God is with thee: hee will not leaue thee nor forsake thee, till thou hast finished all the worke for the seruice of the house

CHAP. XXIX.

1 The offering of David and of the princes for the building of the Temple, 10 David giveth thanks to the Lord, 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same, 22 Salomon is created king, 28 David dieth, and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his stead.

Moreover, David the king said unto all the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine onely son yong and tender, and the worke is great: for this house is not for man, but for the Lord God.

a And therefore it ought to be excellent in all points,

2 Now I have prepared with all my power for the house of my God, golde for vessels of golde, and silver for them of silver, and brasie for things of brasie, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood, and Onix stones, and stones to be set, and Carbuncle stones, and of divers colours, and all precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.

b His great zeale toward the furtherance of the Temple, made him to spare no expences, but to bestow his owne peculiar treasure. c He sheweth what he had of his owne store for the Lords house, d He was not onely liberrall himselfe, but provoked others to set forth the worke of God, || Or, to offer.

3 Moreover, because I have delight in the house of my God, I have of mine owne gold and silver, which I have given to the house of my God, beside all that I have prepared for the house of the Sanctuary.

4 Even three thousand talents of gold of the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of fined silver to overlay the wallies of the houses.

5 The golde for the things of gold, and the silver, for things of silver, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is willing || to fill his hand to day unto the Lord?

6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the capitaines of thousands and of hundreds, with the rulers of the Kings worke, offered willingly.

7 And they gave for the service of the house of God seven thousand talents of gold, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of silver, and eightene thousand talents of brasie, and one hundred thousand talents of yron.

e Meaning, them that had any.

8 And they with whom precious stones were found, gave them to the treasure of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Nehiel the Gershunite.

9 And the people rejoyced when they offered willingly: for they offered willingly unto the Lord with a perfect heart. And David the King also rejoyced with great joy.

f That is, with a good courage, and without hypocrisie. Psa. 122.1. g Which didst reucale thy selfe to our father Iacob.

10 Therefore David blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, and David said, Blessed be thou, O Lord God of Israel our Father for ever and ever.

11 Thine, O Lord is greatnesse, and power, and glory, and victorie, and praise: for all that is in heauen and in earth is thine: thine is the kingdome, O Lord, and thou excellest as head ouer all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest ouer all, and in thine hand is power & strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all.

13 Now therefore our God, wee thanke thee, and praise thy glorious name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer willingly after this sort: for all things come of thee: and of thine own hand we haue given thee.

15 For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadow vpon the earth, and there is none abiding.

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that we haue prepared to build thee an house for thine holy name, is of thine hand, and all is thine.

17 I know also my God, that thou tryest the heart & hast pleasure in righteousness: I haue offered willingly in the brightness of mine heart all these things: now also haue I seene thy people which are found here, to offer unto thee willingly with joy.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Izhak and Israel our fathers, keepe this for ever in the purpose, and the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts unto thee.

19 And give vnto Salomon my sonne a perfect heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies and thy statutes, and to doe all things, and to build the house which I haue prepared.

20 And David said to all the Congregation, Now bless the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord, and the King.

21 And they offered sacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morrow after that day, they offered burnt offerings vnto the Lord, even a thousand yong bullocks, a thousand rammes, and a thousand sheepe, with their drinke offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day with great joy, and they made Salomon the sonne of David King the second time, and annointed him Prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the high Priest.

23 So Salomon sat on the throne of the Lord as King in stead of David his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of King David submitted themselves vnder king Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no king had before him in Israel.

26 Thus David the sonne of Izhak reigned ouer all Israel.

27 And the space that hee reigned ouer Israel, was fourtie yeere: seven yeere reigned hee in Hebron, and thre and therty yeere reigned

THE ARGUMENT.

THis second booke containeth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bookes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carrying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared and set forth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godly kings, when they saw the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remooued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and profess his Religion, should ioine in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, how the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set forth his Religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true Religion and word of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe acts from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yeere of Darius, and containe in the whole, three thousand five hundred threescore and eightene yeres, and fixe monethes.

CHAP. I.

6 The offering of Salomon at Gibeon. 8 He prayeth vnto God to giue him Wisdom: 11 Which hee giueth him and more. 14 The number of his charets and horsemen, 15 and of his riches.

When Salomon the sonne of Dauid was confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him highly.

2 And Salomon spake vnto all Israel, to the captiues of thousands, and of hundreds, and to the Iudges, and to all the gouernours in all Israel, euen the chiefe fathers.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the high place that was at Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wilderness.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kirith-searim: when Dauid had made preparation for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

5 Whereouer the brazen Altar that Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.

6 And Salomon offered there before the Lord vpon the brazen Altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: euen a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

7 The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, and said vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon said vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father, and hast made mee to reigne in his stead.

9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father be true: for thou hast made mee King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

10 Giue mee now wisdom and knowledge, that I may goe out and goe in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

11 And God said to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures, nor honour, nor the lives of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdom and knowledge, that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee King.

12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches, and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there bee the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the high place that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.

14 And Salomon gathered the charets and horsemen: and hee had a thousand and foure hundred charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whome hee placed in the charet cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

15 And the king gaue silver and gold at Ierusalem as stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wilde figge trees, that are abundant in the plaine.

16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and fine linnen: the Kings merchants receiued the fine linnen for a price.

17 They came vp also and brought out of Egypt some charer, worth fixe hundred shekels of silver, that is, an horse for an hundred and fixe: and thus they brought horses to all the kings of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their means.

2 The number of Solomons workmen to build the Temple. 3 Salomon sendeth to Hiram the king of Tyre for wood and workmen.

Then Salomon determined to build an house for the name of the Lord, and an house for his kingdome.

2 And Salomon told out seventy thousand that bare burdens, and fourscore thousand men to hew stones in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundred to oversee them.

3 And Salomon sent to Hiram the king of Tyre, saying, As thou hast done to David my father, and diddest send him cedar trees to build him an house to dwell in, so doe to mee.

4 Behold, I build an house unto the name of the Lord my God, to sacrifice it unto him, and to burne sweete incense before him, and for the continuall shewbread, and for the burnt offerings of the morning, and evening, on the Sabbath dayes, and in the new moneths, and in the solempne feasts of the Lord our God: this is a perpetual thing for Israel.

5 And the house which I build, is great: for great is our God above all gods.

6 Who is hee then that can bee able to build him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens cannot containe him? Who am I then that I should build him an house? but I doe it to burne incense before him.

7 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in gold, in siluer, & in brasie, and in yron, and in purple, and in crimson, and blue silke, & that can graue in grauen worke, with the cunning men that are with mee in Iudah and in Ierusalem, whom David my father hath prepared.

8 Send me also cedar trees, firre trees, and Algummim trees from Lebanon: for I know that thy seruants can skill to hew timber in Lebanon: and behold my seruants shal be with thine.

9 That they may prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I doe build, is great and wonderfull.

10 And beholde, I will giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timber, twenty thousand measures of beaten wheate, and twenty thousand measures of barley, and twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oyle.

11 Then Hiram king of Tyre answered in writing, which he sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hath loued his people, hee hath made thee king ouer them.

12 Hiram sayd moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen unto David the King a wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence, and vnderstanding to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hiram:

14 The sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyre, and he can skill to worke in gold, in siluer, in brasie, in yron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blue silke, and in fine linen, and in crimson, and can graue in all grauen worke, and brother in all brodered worke that shall be giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord David thy father.

15 Now therefore the wheat and the barley, the oyle & the wine which my lord hath spoken of, let him send vnto his seruants.

16 And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt need, and will bring it thee in raftes by the sea to Japho, so thou mayest carry them to Ierusalem.

17 And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbring that his father David had numbred them: and they were found an hundred and three and fifty thousand, and six hundred.

18 And hee set seventy thousand of them to the burden, and fourscore thousand to hew stones in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundred overseeers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

1 The Temple of the Lord and the porch are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

Salomon began to build the house of the Lord in Ierusalem, in mount Moriah which had been declared vnto David his father, in the place that David prepared in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

2 And hee began to build in the second moneth, and the second day in the fourth yere of his reigne.

3 And these are the measures wheron Salomon grounded to build the house of God: the length of cubits after the first measure was threescore cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

4 And the porch, that was before the length, in the front of the breadth was twentie cubits, and the height was an hundred and twenty, and he overlaid it within with pure gold.

5 And the greater house hee fyled with firre tree which hee overlaid with good gold, and graued thereon palme trees and chalmes.

6 And he overlaid the house with precious stone for beauty: and the gold was gold of Paruaim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, posts, and walles thereof, and the doores thereof overlaid hee with gold, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 He made also the house of the most Holy place: the length thereof was in the front of the breadth of the house, twenty cubits: and the breadth thereof twenty cubits: and he overlaid it with the best gold, of six hundred talents.

9 And the weight of the nasses was fifty shekels of gold, and he overlaid the chambers with gold.

It is also written that she was of the tribe of Naphtali, 1 King 7. 14. which may be vnderstood that by reason of the confusion of tribes, which then began to be, they married in diuers tribes, so that by her father she might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphtali. Or, shepe. Or, leppe.

10 And in the house of the most holy place, hee made two Cherubims wrought like children, and overlaid them with gold.

11 And the wings of the Cherubims were twenty cubits long: the one wing was five cubits, reaching to the wal of the house, and the other wing five cubits, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub.

12 Likewise the wing of the other Cherub was five cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing five cubits, joyning to the wing of the other Cherub.

13 The wings of these Cherubims were spread abroad twenty cubites: they stood on their feet, and their faces were toward the house.

14 Hee made also the vasse of blue silke, and purple, and crimson, and fine linnen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.

15 And hee made before the house two pillars: of fine and thirty cubits high: and the chapter that was upon the top of each of them, was fine cubits.

16 Hee made also chaines for the Dacle, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an hundred pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.

17 And hee set by the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hand, & the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Jachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

CHAP. III.

1 The altar of brasie. 2 The molten sea. 6 The candlestons. 7 The candlesticks, &c.

And hee made an altar of brasie twenty cubits long, and twenty cubits broad, and ten cubits high.

2 And hee made a molten sea of ten cubits from brym to brym, round in compasse, and five cubits high: and a line of thirty cubits did compasse it about.

3 And under it was the fashion of oren, which did compasse it round about, tenne in a cubite compassing the sea about: two rowes of oren were cast when it was molten.

4 It stood upon twelue oren: three looked toward the North, and three looked toward the West, & three looked toward the South, & three looked toward the East, and the sea stood aboue upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickness thereof was an hand breadth, and the brym thereof was like the worke of the brymme of a cup, with flowres of lillies: it contained three thousand baths.

6 Hee made also ten cauldrons, and put five on the right hand, and five on the left to wash in them, and to cleanse in them that which appertained to the burnt offerings: but the sea was for the Priests to wash in.

7 And hee made tenne candlestickes of gold, (according to the forme) and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

8 And hee made tenne tables, and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left: and he made an hundred basins of gold.

9 And he made the court of the Priests, and the great Court, and doores for the Court, and overlaid the doores thereof with brasie.

10 And hee set the Sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.

11 And Hiram made pots and besoms, and basens, and Hiram finished the worke, that hee should make for king Salomon for the house of God,

12 To wit, two pillars, and the bowles, and the chapters on the top of the two pillars, & two grates, to couer the two bowles of the chapters, which were upon the top of the pillars.

13 And foure hundred pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranates for every grate to couer the two bowles of the chapters, that were upon the pillars.

14 Hee made also basens, and made cauldrons upon the basens.

15 And a Sea, and twelue buls vnder it: 16 Pots also and besoms, and fleshhooks, and all these vessels made Hiram his father to king Salomon for the house of the Lord, of shining brasie.

17 In the plaine of Jordan did the king cast them in clay betwene Succoth and Jeredathab.

18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasie could not be reckoned.

19 And Salomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God: the golden altar also, and the tables whereon the shewbread stood.

20 Moreover, the candlesticks with their lamps to burne them after the manner, before the Dacle of pure gold:

21 And the flowres, and the lampes, and the snuffers of gold, which was fine gold:

22 And the hooks, and the basins, and the spoones, and the ashpans of pure gold: the entry also of the house and doores thereof with in, even of the most holy place: and the doores of the house, to wit, of the Temple, were of gold.

And was all the worke finished that Salomon made for the house of the Lord: and Salomon brought in the things that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the silver and the gold, and all the vessels, and put them among the treasures of the house of God.

2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel, unto Jerusalem, to bring up the Arke of the Covenant of the Lord from the citie of Dauid, which is Zion:

5 And they caried vp the Arke, and the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Levites bring vp.

6 And King Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offering sheepe and bullockes, which could not bee told nor numbered for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims covered the Arke, & the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drew out the barres, that the ends of the barres might bee seene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not seene: without: and there they are vnto this day.

CHAP. VI.

3 Salomon blesseth the people. 4 Hee praiseth the Lord. 14 Hee prayeth vnto God for those that shall pray in the Temple.

Then Salomon said, The Lord hath said, that hee would dwell in the darke cloud:

2 And I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to dwell in for euer.

3 And the King turned his face, and blessed all the Congregation of Israel, (for all the Congregation of Israel stood there)

4 And he said, Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto

Dauid my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, saying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie of all the tribes of Israel to build an house, that my Name might be there, neither chose I any man to bee a ruler ouer my people Israel:

6 But I haue chosen Jerusalem, that my Name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to build an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

8 But the Lord said to Dauid my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house vnto my Name, thou diddest well that thou wast so minded.

9 Notwithstanding thou shalt not build the house, but thy sonne which shall come out of thy loynes, he shall build an house vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that hee spake: & I am risen vp in the rourne of Dauid my father, and am set on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and haue built an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I haue set the Arke there, wherein is the Couenant of the Lord, that hee made with the children of Israel.

12 And the King stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands,

13 (For Salomon had made a brasen scaffold, and set it in the mids of the court, of five cubites long, and five cubites broad, and three cubites of height, and vpon it he stood, and knerled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands toward heauen)

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepest couenant, and mercie vnto thy seruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as appeareth this day.

16 Therefore now Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou shalt not want a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israel: so that thy sonnes take heed to their waies, to walke in my Lawe, as thou hast walked before mee.

ger calleth for vnto thee, that all the people of the earth may know thy Name, and feare thee, like thy people Israel: and that they may know that thy Name is called vpon in this house which I haue built.

5 And king Salomon offered a sacrifice of two and twenty thousand bullockes, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheepe. So the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priests waited on their offices, and the Levites with the instruments of musick of the Lord, which king David had made to prayse the Lord. 7 Moreover, Salomon hallowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there hee had prepared burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brazen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receive the burnt offering and the meat offering and the fat.

8 And Salomon made a feast at that time of seven dayes, and at Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt.

9 And in the eight day they made a solemn assembly: for they had made the dedication of the Altar seven dayes, and the feast seven dayes.

10 And the three and twentieth day of the seventh moneth, hee sent the people away into their tents, ioyous and with glad heart because of the goodnesse that the Lord had done for David and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Solomons heart, to make in the house of the Lord: and hee prospered in his house.

12 And the Lord appeared to Salomon by night, and sayd to him, I have heard thy prayer, and have chosen this place for my selfe, to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heaven that there bee no raine, or if I command the grasshopper to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people among whom my Name is called upon, doe humble themselves and pray: and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked wayes, then wil I heare in heaven, and be mercifull to their sinne, and wil I heale their land:

15 Then mine eyes shall be open, and mine eares attent unto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I have now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as David thy father walked, to doe according unto all that I have commaunded thee, and shalt observe my Statutes, and my Judgements, 18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I made the covenant with David thy father, saying, Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commaundements which I have set before you, and shall goe and serve other gods, and worship them.

20 Then will I plucke them by out of my land which I have given them, and this house which I have sanctified for my Name will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverbe and a common talke among all people.

21 And this house which is most high, shall be an astonishment to every one that passe by it, so that hee shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shall answer, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their Fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and have taken holde on other gods, and have worshipped them, and served them, therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

2 The cities that Salomon built. 7 People that were made tributaries unto him. 12 His sacrifices. 17 He sendeth to Ophir.

And after twenty yeere, when Salomon had built the house of the Lord, and his owne house,

2 Then Salomon built the cities that Huram gaue to Salomon, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobab, and overcame it.

4 And hee built Cadmoz in the wilderness, and repaired all the cities of Azoze which hee built in Hamath.

5 And hee built Beth-hozon the upper, and Beth-hozon the nether, cities defended with walles, gates, and barres:

6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of store that Salomon had, and all the charret cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and every pleasant place that Salomon had a minde to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion,

7 And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children which were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel had not consumed, even them did Salomon make tributaries untill this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no servants for his worke: for they were men of warre, and his chiefe princes, and the captaines of his charrets and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, even two hundred and fiftie that bare rule over the people.

11 Then Salomon brought by the daughter of Pharaoh out of the citie of David, into the house that hee had built for her: for hee sayd, My wife shall not dwell in the house of David King of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came unto it.

12 Then Salomon offered burnt offerings

15 And they declined not from the commandment of the King, concerning the Priests and the Levites, touching all things and touching the treasures.

CHAP. IX.

1. 9 The Queene of Sheba commeth to see Salomon, and bringeth gifts. 13 His yearly revenues. 30 The time of his reigne. 31 His death.

AD* when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, shee came to proue Salomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweete odours, and much golde, and precious stones: and when shee came to Salomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was nothing hid from Salomon, which hee declared not unto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba sawe the wisdom of Salomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meate of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the order of his waiters, and their apparell, and his butlers, and their apparell, and his burnt offerings, which hee offered in the house of the Lord, and shee was greatly astonished.

5 And she sayd to the King, It was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings and of thy wisdom:

6 Howbeit I beleue not their report, untill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisdom was not tolde mee: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 ¶ Haply are thy men, and haply are these thy servants which stand before thee alway and heare thy wisdom.

8 ¶ Blessed be the Lord thy God, which loued thee, to sit thee on his throne as King, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therefore hath hee made thee King ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

9 Then shee gaue the King fircrope talents of gold, and of sweet odours exceeding much, and precious stones: neither was there such sweet odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue unto King Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruants of Salomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought Alghummim wood and precious stones.

11 And the king made of the Alghummim wood staires in the house of the Lord, and in the Kings house, and harpes and viols, for fingers, and there was no such scene before in the land of Iudah.

12 And King Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba, euery pleasant thing that shee asked, besides for that which shee had brought unto the King: so shee returned and went to her owne country, both shee and her seruants.

13 ¶ Also the weight of gold that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundred threescore and sixe talents of gold, 14 Besides that which chapmen and merchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia, and the princes of the country brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And King Salomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold, and sixe hundred shekels of beaten golde went to one target, 16 And three hundred shields of beaten gold: three hundred shekels of golde went to one shield, and the King put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the king made a great throne of yuozy, and ouerlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had sixe steppes, with a footstool of gold fastened to the throne, and staves on either side on the place of the seate, and two Lyons standing by the staves.

19 And twelue Lyons stood there on the sixe steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure gold: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeere once came the ships of Tarshish, and brought golde, and siluer, yuozy, and apes and peacocks.

22 So King Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisdom that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of gold, and raiment, armour, and sweete odours, horses, and mules from yeere to yeere.

4. 14 The rigor of Rehoboam. 13 Hee followeth lewd counsell. 16 The people rebell.

Then * Rehoboam * went to Shechem: For to Shechem came all Israel to make him king.

2 And when Ieroboam the sonne of Ne-bat heard it, (which was in Egypt, whither hee had fled from the presence of Salomon the king) he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him: so came Ieroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying,

4 Thy father ^b made our yoke grievous:
now therefore make thou the grieuous seruitude of thy father, and his sore yoke that hee put vpon vs, lighter, and we will serue thee.

5 And hee layd to them, Depart yet thre dayes, then come againe vnto mee. And the people departed.

6 And King Rehoboam tooke counsell with the old men that had stood before Salomon his father, while hee yet liued, saying, What counsell giue yee that I may answer this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kind to this people, and please them, and speake louing words to them, they will be thy seruants for euer.

8 But he left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and tooke counsell of the yong men that were brought vp with him, and waited on him.

9 And he said vnto them, What counsell giue yee, that we may answer this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauy, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto them, My ^d least part shall bee bigger then my fathers loynes.

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I will yet increase your yoke: my father hath chastised you with rodde, but I will correct you with || scourges.

|| Or, Scorpions.

12 Then Ieroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day as the king had appointed, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the king answered them sharply:
and king Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient men,

14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God, that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken by Ahitah the Shilo-nite to Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion haue we in Dauid? for wee haue no inheritance in the sonne of Ishal. O Israel, every man to your tents: now see to thine owne house, Dauid.
So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 Doubtless Rehoboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Judah.

18 Then king Rehoboam sent Hadadum that was || ouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: then king Rehoboam made Iseede to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusa-e Which were zealous of true religion, and feared God.

17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Judah, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mighty, three yeere long: for three yeere they walked in the way of David and Salomon.

f Lo long as they feared God and set forth his word, they prospered.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Babelath the daughter of Jerimoth the sonne of David to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ithai, 19 Which bare him sonnes, Ierush, and Shemariah, and Zabam.

20 And after her hee tooke Maakah the daughter of Abisalom, which bare him Abihail, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loved Maakah the daughter of Abisalom above all his wiues and his concubines: for hee tooke eightene wiues, and threescore concubines, and begat eight and twentie sonnes, and threescore daughters.

1 Rehoboam forsaketh the Lord, and is punished by Shishak. 3 Shemariah reproveth him. 6 Hee humbleth himselfe. 7 God sendeth him succour. 9 Shishak taketh his treasures. 13 His reigne and death. 16 Abijah his sonne succeedeth him.

||Or, when the Lord had established Rehoboams kingdome.

And when || Rehoboam had established the kingdome and made it strong, hee forsooke the Law of the Lord, and ^a all Israel with him.

a For such is the inconstancie of the people, that for the most part they follow the vices of their gouernours,

2 Therefore in the fifth yeere of king Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came vp against Jerusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord.)

3 With twelue hundred charets, and threescore thousand horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him from Egypt, euen the Lubims, ^b Sukkims, and the || Ethiopians.

4 And hee tooke the strong cities which were of Judah, and came vnto Jerusalem.

5 ¶ Then came Shemariah the Prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Judah, that were gathered together in Jerusalem, because of Shishak, and sayd vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken mee, therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.

6 Then the princes of Israel, and the King humbled themselves, and sayd, The Lord is ^a iust.

7 And when the Lord saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the Lord came to Shemariah, saying, They haue humbled themselves, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will send them deliuerance shortly, and my wrath shall not be poured out vpon Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak.

8 Reuer the selfe they shall be his seruants: so shall they know my ^a seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.

9 ¶ Then Shishak king of Egypt came vp against Jerusalem, and tooke the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kings house: hee tooke euen all, and hee carryed away the shieldes of golde, ^a which Salomon had made.

10 In stead whereof King Rehoboam made shieldes of brasie, and committed them to the hands of the chiefe of the guard, that waited at the doore of the kings house.

11 And when the King entred into the house of the Lord, the guard came and bare them, & brought them againe vnto the guard chamber.

12 And because he ^a humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that hee would not destroy all together. And also in Judah the things prospered.

13 * So king Rehoboam was strong in Jerusalem, and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and fortie yeere olde, when hee began to reigne, and reigned ^a seuentene yerres in Jerusalem, the citie which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. In the eightene yere of king Ieroboam, began Abitah to reigne ouer Iudah.

2 He reigned thre yere in Ierusalem: (his mothers name also was Michajah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeon) and there was warre betweene Abitah and Ieroboam.

3 And Abitah set the battell in aray with the army of valiant men of warre, even foure hundred thousand cholen men. Ieroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundred thousand cholen men which were strong and valiant.

4 And Abitah stood vpon mount Ephraim, which is in mount Ephraim, & said,
O Ieroboam, and all Israel, heare you me,

5 Dought you not to know that the Lord
God of Israel hath giuen the kingdom ouer Israel to Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his sonnes by a couenant of salt?

6 And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen up, & hath rebelled against his lord.

7 And there are gathered to him vaine men and wicked, & made themselves strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon:
for Rehoboam was but a childe, and tender hearted, and could not resist them,

8 Now therefore ye thinke that yee be able to resist against the kingdom of the Lord which is in the hands of the sons of Dauid; and yee be a great multitude, and the golden caluices are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

9 Have ye not driuen away the Priests of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron, and the Le-uites, and haue made you priests like the people of other countreys? whosoever cometh to consecrate with a yong bullocke and seven rammes, the same may bee a priest of them that are no gods.

10 But wee belong vnto the Lord our God, and haue not forsaken him, and the Priests the sons of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lord euery morning, & euery evening: burnt offerings & sweet incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, and the candlesticke of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euery evening: for wee keepe the watch of the Lord our God: but yee haue forsaken him.

12 And behold, this God is with vs as a captaine, and his Priests with the sounding trumpets, to cry an alarme against you. O yee children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for yee shall not prosper.

13 But Ieroboam caused an ambushment to compasse, and come behinde them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambushment behinde them.

14 Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battell was before and behinde them, and they cried vnto the Lord, and the Priests blew with the trumpets,

15 And the men of Iudah gaue a shout:
and euen as the men of Iudah shouted, God smote Ieroboam and also Israel before Abitah and Iudah.

16 And y children of Israel fled before Iudah, & God deliuered them into their hand:

17 And Abitah & his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel sine hundred thousand cholen men.

18 So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah prevailed, because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abitah pursued after Ieroboam, and tooke cities from him, euen Beth-el, and the villages thereof, and Ieshanah with her villages, and Ephron with her villages.

20 And Ieroboam recouered no strength againe in the dayes of Abitah, but the Lord plagued him, and he died.

21 So Abitah waxed mighty, and mari-ed fouretene wiues, and begate two and twenty sonnes, and sixteen daughters.

22 The rest of the acts of Abitah, and his maners, and his sayings are written in the booke of the Prophet Ido.

3 Afa destroyeth idolatry, and commandeth his people to serue the true God. 11 He prayeth vnto God when hee should goe to fight. 12 Hee obtai-neth the victory.

4 Abitah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the cite of Dauid, and Afa his sonne reigned in his stead: in whose daies the land was quiet ten yeres.

2 And Afa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For hee tooke away the altars of the strange gods, and the hie places, and brake downe the images, & cut downe the groves,

4 And commaunded Iudah to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Law and the Commandment.

5 And hee tooke away out of all the cities of Iudah the hie places, & the images: therefore the kingdom was quiet before him.

6 Hee built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore hee sayd to Iudah, Let vs build these cities & make walles about, and towers, gates, and barres, whiles the land is before vs: because wee haue fought the Lord our God, we haue fought him and hee hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.

8 And Afa had an armie of Iudah that bare shields and speares, three hundred thousand, and of Benjamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundred & four score thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 And there came out against them
Zerah of Ethiopia with an host of ten hundred thousand, and three hundred characts, and came vnto Marashah.

10 Then Afa went out before him, and they set the battell in aray, in the valley of Jephathah beside Marashah.

11 And Afa cried vnto the Lord his God,

f Thus the children of God neither trust in their owne power or pollicie, neither feare the strength and subtiltie of their enemies, but consider the caule & see whether their enterprises tend to Gods glory, and thereupon assure themselves of the victorie by him, which is only almighty, and can turn all flesh into dust wth the breath of his mouth.

12 ¶ So the Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asa, and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians holste was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord, and before his holste: and they caried away a mighty great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar: for the s^c feare of the Lord came vpon them, and they spoiled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoile in them.

1 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his countrey of idolatrie. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeth his mother for idolatrie.

¶ When the Spirit of God came vpon * Azariah the Sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meet Asa, and said vnto him, O Asa, and all Judah, and Benjamin, heare ye mee. The Lord is with you, while yee bee with him: and if yee seeke him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bene without the^b true God, and without Priest to teach, and without Law.

4 But whosoever returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he^c was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be ye strong therfore, and let not your handes be weak: for your worke shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these wordes, and the prophete of Obed the Prophet, hee was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out of all the land of Judah, and Benjamin, and out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and he renewed the Altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And he gathered al Judah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for there sel many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lord his God was wth him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the third moneth, in the sixteenth yeere of the reigne of Asa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the same time of the^d spoyle, which they had brought, even seven hundred bullocks, and seven thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a covenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart and with all their soule.

13 And s^e whosoever will not seeke the Lord God of Israel, shall bee slaine, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware vnto the Lord with a lowde voice, and with shouting and with trumpets and with cornets.

15 And al Judah reioyced at the oath: for they had swoine vnto the Lord with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and he was^h found of them. And the Lord gaue them rest round about.

16 ¶ And king Asa depolished * Baachab hisⁱ mother from her regencie, because shee had made an idole in a groue: And Asa brake downe her idole, and stamped it, and burnt it at the brooke Kidzon:

17 But the hie places were not^k taken away out of^l Israel: yet the heart of Asa was^m perfit all his dayes.

18 Also hee brought into the house of God the things that his father had dedicate, and that hee had dedicate, siluer, and golde, and vessels.

19 And there was no warre vnto the fure and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Asa.

¶ In the fure and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Asa came * Baasba king of Israel vpon against Judah, and built^b Ramah, to let none passe out, or goe in to Asa king of Judah.

2 Then Asa brought out siluer and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at^c Damascus, saying,

3 There is a covenant betweene me and thee, and betweene my father, and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, breake thy league with Baasba king of Israel, that hee may depart from mee.

4 And Benhadad brakened vnto king Asa, and sent the captaines of the armies which hee had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the stoe cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasba heard it, hee left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.

6 Then Asa the king tooke all Judah, and caried away the stones of Ramah, and 11 And behold, the actes of Aha first and last, loe, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

CHAP. XVII.

¶ Iehoshaphat sisting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 Hee aboliseth idolatry, 7 and causeth the people to bee taught. 11 Hee receiveth tribute of strangers. 13 His munition, and men of warre.

AND Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and preailed against Israel.

2 And hee put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bands in the land of Iudah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Aha his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because he walked in the first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not Baalam.

4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not after the trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdom in his hand, and all Iudah brought presents to Iehoshaphat, so that he had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And hee lift vp his heart vnto the wayes of the Lord, and heeooke away moreouer the hie places and the groves out of Iudah.

7 ¶ And in the third yeeer of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiab, and Zechariah, and Zethaneel, and Mithchah, that they should teach in the cities of Iudah.

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiab, and Zethaneel, and Zebadiab, and Ahabel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adonitab, and Tobitab, and Tob-adonitab, Leuites, and with them Elishama and Jehozam Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fel vpon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Iudah, and they fought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 Also some of the Philistims brought Iehoshaphat gifts, and tribute silver, and the Arabians brought him flockes, seuen thousand and seuen hundred rammes, and seuen thousand and seuen hundred hee goats.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered and grew vp on high: and hee built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and ballant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers. In Iudah were captaine of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and with him of ballant men three hundred thousand.

15 And at his hand Iehohanan a captaine, and with him two hundred and fourescore thousand.

16 And at his hand Amaziah the sonne of Zichri, which willingly offered himselfe vnto the Lord, and with him two hundred thousand ballant men.

17 And of Benjamin, Eliada a ballant man, and with him armed men with bowe and shield two hundred thousand.

18 And at his hand Iehozabad, and with him an hundred and fourescore thousand armed men to the warre.

19 These waited on the King, besides those which the king put in the strong cities throughout all Iudah.

4 And Jehoshaphat said vnto the king of Israel, At the counsell, I pray thee, at the word of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered of prophets foure hundred men, and sayd vnto them, Shall we go to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they said, Go vp: for God shall deliuer it into the Kings hand.

6 But Jehoshaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord, that wee might enquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel said vnto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord, but I hate him: for hee doeth not prophesie good vnto me, but alway euill: it is Michajah the son of Imla. Then Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called an Eunuch, and said, Call quickly Michajah the sonne of Imla.

9 And the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat king of Iudah late either of them on his throne clothed in their apparel: they late euen in the breasting floore, at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the prophets prophesied before them.

10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him hoynes of yron, and said, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites, vntill thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, & prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

12 And the messenger, that went to call Michajah, spake to him, saying, Behold, the words of the Prophets declare good to the King with one accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michajah said, As the Lord lieth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.

14 So hee came to the King, and the King said vnto him, Michajah, shall wee goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And hee said, Goe yee vp, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the king said to him, How oft shall I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing but the truth in the Name of the Lord?

16 Then he said, I saw all Israel scattered in the mountains, as sheepe that haue no shepheard: And the Lord said, These haue no master: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would not prophesie good vnto mee, but euill?

18 Again he said, Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shall persuade Ahab King of Israel, that hee may goe vp and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and said thus, and another said that.

20 Then there came fourth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and said, I will persuade him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherewith?

21 And he said, I will got out, and bee a false spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And he said, Thou shalt persuade, & shalt also preuaile: goe fourth and doe so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a false spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill agaiust thee.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michajah vpon the cheekes, and said, By what way went the Spirit of the Lord from me to speake with thee?

24 And Michajah said, Behold, thou shalt see that day, when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel said, Take ye Michajah, and carie him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Joash the Kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus saith the King, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michajah said, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by mee. And he said, Weare all ye people.

28 So the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel said vnto Jehoshaphat, I will change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparel. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had commanded the Captaines of the charrets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but agaiust the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the Captaines of the charrets saw Jehoshaphat, they said, It is the King of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Jehoshaphat cried, and the Lord helped him, and mooued them to depart from him.

32 For when the captains of the charrets saw that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drew a bowe mightily, and smote the King of Israel betweene the ioyntes of his brigandine: therefore he said to his charret man, Turne thine hand, and carie me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

34 And the battell increased that day: and the king of Israel stood still in his charret agaiust the Aramites vntill euen, and died at the time of the Sunne going downe.

3 Nevertheless, good things are found in thee, because thou hast taken away the groues out of the land, & hast prepared thine heart to seeke God.

4 ¶ So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ierusalem, and returned, and went thow the people from Beer Sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them again vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 And he set Iudges in the land thow out all the strong cities of Iudah, city by city.

6 And said to the Iudges, Take heede what yee doe: for yee execute not the iudgements of man, but of the Lord, and hee will be with you in the cause and iudgement.

7 Wherefore now let the feare of the Lord be vpon you: take heed, and doe it: for there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, neither respect of persons, nor receiuing of reward.

5 And Iehoshaphat stood in the congregation of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the new court.

6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? and reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heathen? and in thine hands is power & might, and none is able to withstand thee.

7 Diddest not thou, our God, cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gauest it to the seed of Abraham thy friend for euer?

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue built thee a Sanctuary therein for thy Name, saying,

9 If euill come vpon vs, as the sword of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, wee will stand before this house, and in thy presence, (for thy Name is in this house) and will cry vnto thee in our tribulation, & thou wilt heare and helpe.

10 And now behold, the children of Ammon and Moab, and mount Seir, by whom thou wouldest not let Israel goe, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turned aside from them, and destroyed them not:

11 Behold, I say, they reward vs, in coming to cast vs out of thine inheritance, which thou hast caused vs to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge them? for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude: that cometh against vs, neither doe wee know what to doe: but our eyes are toward thee.

13 And all Iudah stood before the Lord with their yong ones, their wiues, and their children.

15 And hee said, Hearken yee, all Iudah, and yee inhabitants of Ierusalem, and thou, king Iehoshaphat: thus saith the Lord vnto you, Feare you not, neither bee afraid of this great multitude: for the battell is not yours, but Gods.

16 To morrow goe yee downe against them: behold, they come vp by the cleft of Sez, and ye shall finde them at the ende of the brooke before the wilderness of Ieruel.

17 Ye shal not need to fight in this battell: stand all, moue not, and behold the destruction of the Lord toward you: O Iudah and Ierusalem, feare yee not, neither bee afraid: to morrow goe out against them, and the Lord will be with you.

18 ¶ Then Iehoshaphat bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell downe before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Gershonites stood up to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loud voyce on high.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stood and said, Heare ye me, O Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lord your God, and ye shall be assured: beleue his Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when hee had consulted with the people, and appointed singers unto the Lord, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuary, in going forth before the men of armes, and saying, Praise ye the Lord, for his mercy lasteth for ever.

22 And when they began to shout and to praise, the Lord layed ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slew one another.

23 For the children of Ammon, & Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, every one helped to destroy another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Bethphat in the wilderness, they looked unto the multitude: and behold, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoile of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they tooke for themselves, till they could carry no more: they were three dayes in gathering of the spoile: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah unto this day.

27 Then every man of Iudah and Ierusalem, returned with Iehoshaphat their head, to goe againe to Ierusalem with joy: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with viols, and with harpes, and with trumpets, even unto the house of the Lord.

29 And the feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on euery side.

31 ¶ And Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was fiftie and thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne: and reigned fiftie and twentie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the high places were not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts unto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iehoshaphat first & last, behold, they are written in the booke of Iehu the sonne of Hanani, which is mentioned in the booke of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ Yet after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah ioyne himselfe with Ahaziah king of Israel, who was giuen to doe euill.

36 And he ioynd with him to make ships to goe to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Elizey the son of Dodanah of Basethab prophesied against Iehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast ioynd thy selfe with Ahaziah, the Lord hath broken thy workes, and the ships were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

Iehoshaphat then slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

5 Iehoram was two and thirtie yeere old when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned eight yeere in Ierusalem.

6 And hee walked in the way of the Kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done: for hee had the daughter of Ahab to wife, and he wrought euill in the eyes of the Lord.

h We see this example dayly practised vpon them that fall away from God, and become idolaters, and murderers of their brethren.

i There were other Arabians in Africa Southward toward Egypt.

k Called also Ahabiah, as Chap. 22. 1. or Azariah, ver. 6. following.l That is, as some write, he was not regarded, but deplored for his wickednes and idolatry: so that his son reigned 22. yeeres (his father yet liuing) without honour, and after his fathers death, he was confirmed to reigne still, as Chap. 22. 2.

rose up by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captaiues of the chariots.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudab vnto this day. Then did Libnah rebel at the same time from vnder his hand, because hee had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 Ahazer, hee made high places in the mountaines of Iudab, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Iudab thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elishah the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa King of Iudab:

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudab and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to goe a whooring, as the house of Ahab went a whooring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou.

14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy substance.

15 And thou shalt bee in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels vntill thy bowels fall out for the disease day by day.

16 So the Lord stirred vp against Iehoram the spirit of the Philistines, and the Arabians that were beside the Ethiopians.

17 And they came by into Iudab, and brake into it, and caried away all the substance that was found in the Kings house, and his sonnes also, and his wives, so that there was not a sonne left him, save Iehozab the yongest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in proceesse of time, euen after the end of two yeeres, his guts fell out with his disease: so hee died of those diseases: and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yeere old, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, and liued without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the Kings.

Ahab the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahabiah his yongest sonne king in his stead: for the armie that came with the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahabiah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudab reigned.

2 Two and fourtie yeere old was Ahabiah when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned one yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 Hee walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to doe wickedly.

4 Therefore hee did ill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellors after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsell, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Pazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 And he returned to be healed in Izrael, because of the wounds wherewith they had wounded him at Ramoth, when hee fought with Pazael king of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudab went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Izrael, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahabiah came of God in that hee went to Ioram: for when he was come, he went forth with Iehoram against Iehu the sonne of Shimeah, whom the Lord had annointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudab and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahabiah that waited on Ahabiah, he slew them also.

9 And hee sought Ahabiah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slew him, and buried him, because, said they, hee is the sonne of Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahabiah was not able to retaine the kingdom.

10 Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahabiah sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and destroyed all the kings seed of the house of Iudab.

11 But Iehoshebeath the daughter of the king, tooke Ioshaphat the sonne of Ahabiah, and scale him from among the Kings sonnes, that should bee slaine, and put him and his nurse in the bed-chamber: so Iehoshebeath the daughter of king Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for shee was the sister of Ahabiah) hid him from Athaliah: so shee slew him not.

12 And hee was with them hid in the house of God six yeeres, whilles Athaliah reigned ouer the land.

2 And they went about in Iudab, and gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudab, and the chiefe fathers of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

the sonnes of Dauid.

4 This is it that ye shall doe. The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests and the Leuites, shall bee porters of the doores.

5 And another third part toward the Kings house, and another third part at * the gate of the * foundation, and all the people shall be in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priests and the Leuites that but all the people shall keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the King round about, and every man with his weapon in his hand, and he that encreth in to the house shall bee slaine, and be you with the King, when he cometh in, and when he

8 ¶ So the Leuites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehoiada the Priest had commaunded, and tooke every man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that went out on the Sabbath:
for Jehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

9 And Jehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundredes, speares, and shields, and bucklers which had bene King Dauids, and were in the house of God.

10 And hee caused all the people to stand (every man with his weapon in his hand)

11 Then they brought out the kings son, and put vpon him the crowne, and gaue him

Jehoiada and his sonnes anointed him, and said, God saue the King.

12 ¶ But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when she looked, behold, the king stood by his pillar, at the entering in, and the priests and the trumpets by the king, and all the people of the land reioyced, and blew the trumpets, and the singers were with instruments of musick. and they that could

Haue her forth of the ranges, and be that followeth her, let him die by the sword: for the Priest had said, Slay her not in the house of the Lord.

15 So they laid hands on her: and when she was come to the entering of the booke-gate by the Kings house, they slew her there.

16 ¶ And Jehoiada made a * covenant

King, that they would bee the Lords people.

17 And all the people went to the house of Baal, and destroyed it, and brake his al-

18 And Jehoiada appointed officers for the house of the Lord, vnder the * hands of the Priests and Leuites, whom Dauid had distributed for the house of the Lord, to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord, * as it is written in the Law of Moyses, with reioycing and singing by the appointment of Dauid.

19 And he set porters by the gates of the house of the Lord, that none that was uncleane in any thing, should enter in.

20 And hee tooke the captaines of hundreds, and the noble men, and the goverland, and he caused the King to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they went kings & scribe (and one appointed by the king) came and emptied the chest, and took it, and carried it to his place again: thus they did day by day, and gathered silver in abundance.

12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to such as did the labour and worke in the house of the Lord, & hired masons and carpenters to repair the house of the Lord: they gave it also to workers of iron & brass, to repair the house of the Lord.

13 So the workmen wrought, and the worke amended through their hands: and they rejoyced the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the silver before the king, and Jehoiada, and he made thereof vessels for the house of the Lord, even vessels to minister, both molten and incense cups, and vessels of gold and of silver: and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Jehoiada.

15 But Jehoiada waxed old, and was full of dayes, and died. An hundred and thirty yere old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the city of David with the kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

17 And after the death of Jehoiada, came the princes of Judah, and did reverence to the king, and the king hearkened unto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serned groues and idoles: and wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem, because of this their trespass.

19 And God sent Prophets among them, to bring them againe unto the Lord: and they made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

20 And the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the sonne of Jehoiada the Priest, which stood before the people, and said unto them, Thus saith God, Why transgresse ye the commandments of the Lord? surely ye shall not prosper: because ye haue forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the king, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Joash the king remembered not the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his sonne. And when he died, he said, The Lord looke vpon it and requite it.

23 And when the yere was out, the hoste of Aram came up against him, and they came against Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoyle of them unto the king of Damascus.

24 Though the army of Aram came with a small company of men, yet the Lord delivered a very great army into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers, and they gave sentence against Joash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his owne servants conspired against him for the blood of the children of Jehoiada the Priest, and slew him on his bed, and he died, and they buried him in the citie of David: but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him, Zabab the sonne of Shimeath an Ammonitess, and Jehoabad the sonne of Shimeath a Moabitess.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Amaziah putteth them to death which slew his father. 10 He smiteth backe them of Israel. 11 He ouercometh the Edomites. 14 He fallsh to idolatry, 17 and Joash king of Israel ouercometh Amaziah, 27 He is slaine by a conspiracy.

Amaziah was five and twenty yere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and twentie yere in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Jehoaddan, of Jerusalem.

2 And he did wisely by the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.

3 And when the kingdome was established vnder him, he slew his servants that had slaine the king his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but euery man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 And Amaziah assembled Judah, and made them captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Judah and Benjamin: and he numbered them from twenty yere olde and aboue, and found among them thre hundred thousand chosen men to goe forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

6 He hired also an hundred thousand valiant men out of Israel for an hundred talents of silver.

7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O king, let not the army of Israel goe with thee: for the Lord is not with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

8 If not, go thou on, do it, make thy selfe strong to the battell, but God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, What shall wee doe then for the hundred talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste of Israel: Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to shew thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their way was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and sette forth his people, and went to the last valley, and smote of the children of Seir ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and carried them to the top of a rocke, and cast them downe from the top of the rocke, and they all burst to pieces.

13 But the men of the armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not goe with his people to battel, fell vpon the cities of Iudah, from Samaria vnto Beersheba, and smote three thousand of them, and rooke much spoyle.

14 Now after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and worshipped them, and burnt incense vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which said vnto him, Why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as hee talked with him, he said vnto him, Haue they made thee the Kings Counsellour? cease thou: why should they smile thee? And the Prophet ceased, but sayd, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

17 Then Amaziah king of Iudah tooke counsell, and sent to Iosiah the sonne of Jehoabaz, the sonne of Jehu King of Israel, saying, Come, let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Iosiah king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the Cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Give thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: for, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why dost thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldst fall and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Iosiah the king of Israel went vnto and he, and Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Beersheba, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they slodde every man to his tents.

23 But Iosiah the King of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Jehoabaz, the sonne of Jehoabaz in Beersheba, and brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, four hundred cubits.

24 And hee tooke all the gold and the siluer, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 And Amaziah the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah liued after the death of Iosiah sonne of Jehoabaz King of Israel, fiftene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the Booke of the Kings of Iudah and Israel?

27 Now after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lord, they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem: and when he was tied to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the citie of Iudah.

Then all the people of Iudah tooke Uzziah, which was fiftene yeere olde, and made him king in the stead of his father Amaziah.

2 Hee built Ierusalem, and restored it to Iudah, after that the king slept with his fathers.

3 Sixteene yeere olde was Uzziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned two and fiftie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Iecoliah of Ierusalem.

4 And he did mightily in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Amaziah did.

5 And hee sought God in the dayes of Zechariah which vnderstood the visions of God, and when as he sought the Lord, God made him to prosper.

6 For he went forth and fought against the Philistines, and brake downe the wall of Gath, and the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod, and built cities in Ashdod, and against the Philistines.

7 And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians that dwelt in Gibeon, and Hamath.

9 Moreover, Azziah built towers in Je-gate, and at the turning, and made them strong.

10 And hee built towers in the wildernesse, and digged many cisternes: for hee had much cattell both in the valleys and plaines, plowmen and dyers of vines in the mountaines, and in Carmel: for hee lo-

11 Azziah had also an hoste of fighting men, that went out to war by bands, according to the count of their number under the hand of Jeeiel the Scribe, and Baasiah the ruler, and under the hand of Hananiah, one of the kings captaines.

12 The whole number of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and five hundred.

13 And under their hand was the armie for war, three hundred and seven thousand, and five hundred, that fought valiantly to helpe the king against the enemy.

14 And Azziah prepared them thorowout all the house, shields, and speares, and helmetts, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also very artificiall engines in Jerusalem, to be upon the towers and upon the corners, to shooe arrows and great stones: and his name spread farre abroad, because God did helpe him marvellously, till he was mighty.

16 ¶ But when he was strong, his heart was lift up to his destruction: for hee transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense upon the altar of the incense.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him fourscore Priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstood Azziah the king, and sayd vnto him, * It pertaineth not to thee, Azziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: go forth of the Sanctuary: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 Then Azziah was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: and while hee was wroth with the Priests, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priests in the house of the Lord beside the incense Altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priests looked vpon him, behold hee was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 ¶ Azziah the King was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an house apart, because hee was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled over the kings house, & iudged the people of the land.

22 Concerning the rest of the acts of Azziah, first and last, did Isthah the Prophet the sonne of Amos write.

23 So Azziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the buriall, which pertained to the kings:

for they said, He is a leper. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Azziah did, save that hee entered not into the Temple of the Lord, and the people did pervert corrupt their wayes.

3 Hee built the high gate of the house of the Lord, and hee built very much on the wal of the castle.

4 Moreover, hee built cities in the moun-taines of Iudah, and in the foreests hee built palaces and towers.

5 And hee fought with the king of the children of Ammon, and prevailed against them. And the children of Ammon gaue him the same yeere an hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand measures of wheate, and ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him both in the second yeere and the third.

6 So Iotham became mighty, because hee directed his way before the Lord his 7 And Zichri a mighty man of Ephraim slew Baasah the kings son, and Azrikam the Governour of the house, and Elkanah the second after the king.

8 And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren, a two hundred thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, and carried away much spoile of them, & brought the spoile to Samaria.

9 ¶ But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Obed) and he went out before the hoste that came to Samaria, and sayd unto them, Behold, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, he hath delivered them into your hand, and yee haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

10 And now yee purpose to keepe vnder the children of Iudah and Jerusalem as seruants, and handmaids vnto you: but are not you such, that sinnes are with you before the Lord your God?

11 Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captiues againe, which yee haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

12 ¶ Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Ichohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Meshillemoth, and Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amala the sonne of Hadlai, stood vp against them that came from the warre, 13 And sayd vnto them, Bring not in the captiues hither: for this shal be a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: ye intend to adde more to our sinnes and to our trespasses, though our trespasses be great and the fierce wrath of God is against Israel.

14 So the army left the captiues and the spoile before the princes and all the Congregation.

15 And the men that were named by name, rose vp and tooke the prisoners, and with the spoile clothed all that were naked among them, and arrayed them, and shodde them, and gaue them meate and gaue them drinke, and anointed them, and carried all that were feeble of them vpon asses, and brought them to Iericho the city of palm-trees to their brethren: so they returned to Samaria.

16 ¶ At that time did king Ahaz send vnto the kings of Asshur to helpe him.

17 For the Edomites came moztouer, and slew of Iudah, & carried away captiues, 18 The Philistines also inuaded the cities in the low countrey, and toward the South of Iudah, and tooke Beth-hemesh, and Alalon, and Gederoth, & Shochu, with the villages thereof, and Timnah, with her villages, and Gimzo with her villages: and they dwelt there.

19 For the Lord had humbled Iudah, because of Ahaz King of Israel: for he had brought vengeance vpon Iudah, and had grievously transgressed against the Lord.

20 And Tiglath Pilneester king of Asshur came vnto him, who troubled him, and did not strengthen him.

21 For Ahaz tooke a portion out of the house of the Lord, and out of the kings house and of the princes, and gaue vnto the king of Asshur: yet it helped him not.

22 And in the time of his tribulation did he yet trespass more against the Lord, (this is king Ahaz.)

23 For he sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which plagued him, and hee sayd, Because the gods of the kings of Aram helped them, I will sacrifice vnto them, & they will helpe me: yet they were his ruine, and of all Israel.

24 And Ahaz gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in euery corner of Jerusalem.

25 And in euery citie of Iudah hee made his places to burne incense vnto other gods, and promoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers.

26 Concerning the rest of his actes, and all his wayes first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

27 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the citie of Jerusalem, but brought him not vnto the sepulchres of the kings of Israel: and Hezekiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

burnt offerings in the Sanctuary vnto the God of Israel.

8 Therefore the wrath of the Lord hath been on Iudah and Ierusalem: and he hath made them a scattering, a desolation, and an hilling, as you see with your eyes.

9 For loe, our fathers are fallen by the sword, and our sonnes, and our daughters, and our wiues are in captiuitie for the same cause.

10 Now I purpose to make a covenant with the Lord God of Israel, that hee may turne away his fierce wrath from vs.

11 Now my sonnes, be not deceived: for the Lord hath chosen you to stand before him, to serue him, and to bee his ministers, and to burne incense.

12 Then the Levites arose, Mahath the sonne of Amasai, and Joel the sonne of Asariah the sonnes of the Kohathites: and of the sonnes of Merari, Kish the sonne of Abdi, and Asariah the sonne of Nebaleel: and of the Gerishonites, Joah the sonne of Zimnah, and Eden the sonne of Joah:

13 And of the sons of Elizaphan, Shimiri, and Jehiel: and of the sonnes of Alaph, Zechariah, and Mattaniah:

14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Jehiel, and Shimei: and of the sonnes of Ieduthun, Shematah, and Uzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselves, and came according to the commandment of the King, and by the words of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.

16 And the Priests went into the inner parts of the house of the Lord, to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleannesse that they found in the Temple of the Lord, into the court of the house of the Lord: and the Leuites tooke it, to carrie it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first day of the first moneth to sanctifie it, and the eight day of the moneth, came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight dayes, and in the sixteenth day of the first moneth they made an end.

18 Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, and said, Wee haue cleansed all the house of the Lord, and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof:

19 And all the vessels which king Abaz had cast aside when hee reigned, and transgressed, haue wee prepared and sanctified:
and behold, they are before the Altar of the Lord.

20 And Hezekiah the King rose early and gathered the Princes of the citie, and went vp to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seven bullocks, and seven rammes, and seven lambs, and seven hee goats, for a sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the Sanctuary, and for Judah. And hee commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slew the bullocks, and the Priests receiued the blood, and sprinkled

it vpon the altar: they slew also the rammes, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slew the lambs, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goats for the sinne offering before the King and the Congregation, and they layd their hands vpon them,

24 And the Priests slew them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the King had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offering.

25 Wee appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbals, with vi-ols, and with harpes, according to the commandment of Dauid, and Gad the Kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the commandment was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Prophets.

26 And the Leuites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering vpon the Altar: and when the burnt offering began, the song of the Lord beganne with the trumpets, and the instruments of Dauid King of Israel.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued untill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an end of offering, the King and all that were present with him, bowed themselves and worshipped.

30 Then Hezekiah the King and the Princes commanded the Leuites to praise the Lord with the words of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer: so they prayed with joy, and they bowed themselves and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah spake, and said, Now ye haue consecrated your selues to the Lord: come neere and bring the sacrifices and offerings of praise into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and offerings of prayles, and euery man that was willing in heart, offered burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was seuenty bullockes, an hundred rams, and two hundred lambs: all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord:

33 And for sanctification six hundred bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priests were too fewe, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings, therefore their brethren the Leuites did help them, till they had ended the worke, and untill other Priests were sanctified: for the Le-uites were more upright in heart to sanc-tifie themselves, then the Priests.

35 And also the burnt offerings were many with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drinke offerings for the burnt offering:
so the seruice of the house of the Lord was set in order.

And Hezekiah sent to all Israel, and Judah, & also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And the king and his princes, and all the Congregation had taken counsell in Jerusalem to keepe the Passouer in the second moneth,

3 For they could not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priests enow sanctified, neither was the people gathered to Jerusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the King, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation thorowout all Israel from Beer-sheba enun to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, as it was written.

6 So the posts went with letters by the commission of the king and his princes, thorowout all Israel and Judah, and with the commandment of the king, saying, Pee children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel, and he will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you out of the hands of the kings of Asshur.

7 And be not yee like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate as yee see.

8 Be not yee now stiffnecked like your fathers, but giue the hand to the Lord, and come into his Sanctuary, which hee hath sanctified for ever, and serue the Lord your God, and the fiercenesse of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if yee returne vnto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall finde mercy before them: hat led them captiues, and they shall returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turne away his face from you, if yee conuert vnto him.

10 So the posts went from citie to citie
thorow the land of Ephraim & Manasseh, enun vnto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Fewertheless, diuers of Asher, and Manasseh, and of Zebulun submitted themselves, and came to Jerusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Judah, so that he gaue them one heart to doe the commandment of the King, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Jerusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the unleauened bread in the second moneth, a very great assembly.

14 And they arose, and tooke away the altars that were in Jerusalem: & all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they flew the Passouer the fourteenth day of the second moneth:
and the Priests and Levites were ashamed, and sanctified themselves, and brought the burnt offerings into the House of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their manner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the blood, receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing of the Passouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, even a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Is-sachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselves, yet did eate the Passouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The good Lord be merci-full toward him,

19 That prepareth his whole heart to seek the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though hee be not cleansed, according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Jerusalem, kept the feast of the unleavened bread seven dayes with great ioy, and the Levites and the Priests praised the Lord day by day, singing with loud instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah spake comfortably vnto all the Levites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: and they did eat in that feast seven dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke counsel to keepe it other seven dayes. So they kept it seven dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah King of Judah had gi-uen to the Congregation a thousand bul-locks, and seven thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, and ten thousand sheepe:
and many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Judah rejoyced with the Priests and the Levites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah.

26 So there was great ioy in Jerusalem:
for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel, there was not the like thing in Jerusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Levites arose, and blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came by vnto heauen to his holy habitation.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroyed idolatry. 2 Hezekiah appointed Priests and Levites, 4 and provided for their living. 13 He ordained officers to distribute to every one his portion.

And when all these things were finished, all Israel that were found in the cities of Judah, went out and brake the Images, and cut downe the grooves, and brake downe the high places, and the altars throughout all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim also and Manasse, untill they had made an end: afterward all the children of Israel returned every man to his possession, into their owne cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Levites, by their turnes every man according to his office, both Priests and Levites, for the burnt offering and peace offerings, to minister and to give thanks, and to praye in the gates of the tents of the Lord.

3 (And the Kings portion was of his owne substance for the burnt offerings, even for the burnt offerings of the morning and of the evening, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, and for the new moones, and for the solemn feastes,* as it is written in the Law of the Lord)

4 Hee commanded also the people that dwelt in Jerusalem, to give a part to the Priests, and Levites, that they might bee encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

5 And when the commandment was given, the children of Israel brought abundance of first fruits of corne, wine, and oyle, and hony, and of all the increase of the field, and the tithes of all things brought they abundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Judah that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought the tithes of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy tithes which were consecrate unto the Lord their God, and laid them on many heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the twentieth moneth.

8 And when Hezekiah and the Priests came and saw the heapes, they blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Levites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and sayde, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, wee have eaten and have beene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

11 And Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them, 12 And caried in the first fruites, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully, and over them was Conaniah the Leuite, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Nehiel, and Azariah, and Babarth, and Ishel, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Jinnachiah, and Sabath and Benaiab were officers by the appointment of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, and by the commandment of Hezekiah the King, and of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

14 And Roze the sonne of Innah the Leuite, porter towards the East, was over the things that were willingly offered unto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, and Biniamin, and Jeshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniab, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses both to the great and small,

16 Their daylie portion: besides their generation being males from three yeere old and above, even to all that entered into the house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Levites, from twentie yeere old and above, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wives, and their sonnes, and their daughters, throughout all the Congregation: for by their fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priests which were in the fields and suburbs of their cities, in every citie the men that were appointed by names, should give portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Levites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and did well and uprightly, and truly before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the works that hee began for the service of the house of God, both in the Law and in the Commandements, to seeke his God, hee did it with all his heart, and prospered.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Sancherib invaded Judah. 3 Hezekiah prepared for the warre. 7 Hee exhorted the people to put their trust in the Lord. 9 Sancherib blasphemed God. 20 Hezekiah prayeth. 21 The Angel destroyeth the Assyrians, and the King is slaine. 25 Hezekiah is not thankfull toward the Lord. 33 His death.

After these things faithfully described, Sancherib King of Assur came and entred into Judah, and besieged the strong cities, and thought to winne them for himselfe.

2 When Hezekiah saw that Sancherib was come and that his purpose was to fight against Jerusalem.

3 Then hee tooke counsell with his princes and his nobles, to stop the water of the fountaines without the citie: and they did helpe him.

4 So many of the people assembled themselves, and stoppt all the fountaines, and the the river that ranne through the midst of the countrey, saying, Why should the Kings of Assyrie come, and finde much water?

5 And he tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made up the towres, and another wall without, and repaired the citie of David, and made many darts and shields.

6 And he let captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the city, & spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and courageous: feare not, neither bee asfraid for the King of Asshur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: for there be moe with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an arme of flesh, but with vs is the Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 After this did Saneherib king of Asshur send his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah King of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah that were at Ierusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Saneherib the King of Asshur, Wherein doe ye trust, that ye will remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?

11 Dost thou not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places & his altars, and commanded Iudah and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreys? Where the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is hee of all the gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hand, that your hand should bee able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beleue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his seruant Hezekiah.

17 Hee wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreys could not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth: euen the works of mans hands.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, prayed against this, and cried to heauen, 21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and captaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur: so hee returned with shame to his owne land. And when hee was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his owne bowels, slew him there, with the sword.

22 So the Lord saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Saneherib King of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and maintained them on euery side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thence forth.

24 In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord who spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the reward bestowed vpon him: for his heart was lifted vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) hee and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and hee gate him treasures of silver & of gold, and of precious stones, and of sweet odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of storehouses for the increase of wheat and wine, and oyle, and stables for all beasts, and rows for the stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the hypper water springs of Sion, and ledde them straight vnderneath toward the citie of David Westward. So Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to try him, and to know all that was in his heart.

32 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnesse, behold, they are written in the vision of Isaiah the God who suffereth them not to be overcome by tentations, but in their weaknesse ministreth strength.

8 Neither will I * make the foot of Israel to remooue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they take heed, and doe all that I haue commanded them, according to the Lawe and statutes, and iudgements by the hand of Moses.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, and to doe worse then the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.

c Meaning, by his prophets, but their hearts were not touched to beleue and repent, without the which the preaching of the word taketh no place.

10 * And the Lord spake * to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regard.

11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them the captaiues of the hoste of the king of Asshur, which tooke Manasseh, and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and carried him to Babel.

12 And when he was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God, & humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was intreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdome: then Manasseh knew that the Lord was God.

14 Now after this, he built a wall without the citie of David, on the West side of Gihon in the valley, euen at the entry of the fish gate, and compassed about Dypel, and raised it very high, & put captaiues of warre in all the strong cities of Iudah.

15 And hee tooke away the strange gods, and the image out of the house of the Lord, and all the Altars that hee had built in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Ierusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

16 Also hee prepared the Altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings and of thanks, and commanded Iudah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

17 Nevertheless, the people did sacrifice still in the high places, but vnto the Lord their God.

18 * Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, & his prayer vnto his God, and the words of the Seers, that spake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer, and how God was intreated of him, and all his sin, and his trespass, and the places wherein hee built high places, and set groues and images (before he was humbled) behold, they are written in the booke of the Seers.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own house, and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

21 * Amon was two and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned two yeere in Ierusalem.

22 But hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, & serued them.

23 And hee humbled not himselfe before the Lord, as Manasseh his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruants * conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against King Amon, and the people of the land made Iosiah his sonne king in his stead.

4 And they brake downe in his sight the altars of Baalim, and hee caused to cut downe the images that were on high upon them: he brake also the groues, and the carved images, and the molten images, and stamp'them to powder, and strowed it upon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

5 Also he burnt the bones of the priests upon their altars, and purged Judah and Jerusalem.

6 And in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, euen vnto Naphtali, with their maules they brake all round about.

7 And when he had destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to powder the images, and had cut downe all the idoles thoroughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.

8 ¶ Then in the eighteenth yere of his reigne when he had purged the land and the Temple, hee sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the Governour of the citie, and Ioah the sonne of Johaz the Recorder, to repaire the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the doore had gathered at the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, and of all the residue of Israel, and of all Judah and Benjamin, and of the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that should doe the workes, and had the oversight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repaire and amend the house.

11 Euen to the workmen and to the builders gaue they it, to buy hewed stone and timber for couples and for beames of the houses, which the kings of Judah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the work faithfully, and the ouerscers of them were Iahaz and Obadiah the Leuites, of the children of Merari, and Zebariah, and Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Leuites, all that could skill of instruments of musick.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdens, & them that set forward all the workmen in euery worke, and of the Leuites were scribes, and officers, and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priest found the booke of the Law of the Lord given by the hand of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered, and said to Shaphan the chancellour, I haue found the Booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerscers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphan the chancellour declared to the king, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath giuen mee a booke: and Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And when the King had heard the wordes of the Law, he tare his clothes.

20 And the King commaunded Hilkiah and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chancellour, and Aiaah the Kings seruant, saying,

21 Go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the rest in Israel and Judah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord, to doe after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king had appointed, went to Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the son of Iedon keeper of the wardrobe (and she dwelt in Jerusalem within the colledge) and they communed herof with her.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell ye the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curses that are written in the booke which they haue read before the king of Judah:

25 Because they haue forsaken mee, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger mee with all the workes of their hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the King of Judah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord: so shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes which thou hast heard shal come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did melt, and thou didst humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, & humbledst thy selfe before mee, and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt bee put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill which I will bring vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King word againe.

32 And hee caused all that were found in Ierusalem and Benjamin to stand to it: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the covenant of God, even y^e God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah took away all the abomi- nations out of all the countries that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his daies they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fa- thers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Iosiah keepeth the Passouer, 2 He setteth forth Gods seruice, 20 He fighteth against the king of Egypt, and death, 24 The people bewaile him.

Moreouer, Iosiah kept a Passouer vn- to the Lord in Ierusalem, and they slew the Passouer in the foureteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord.

3 And hee sayde vnto the Leuites that b caught all Israel, and were sanctified vn- to the Lord. Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel had build: it shalbe no more a bur- den vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lord your God, and his people Israel.

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as Dauid the King of Israel hath writen, and according to the writing of Salomon his sonne.

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your bre- thren: the children of the people, and after the diuision of the family of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passouer, and sanctifie your selues, and prepare your brethren, that they may doe according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moyses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the people sheepe, lambs, and kids, all for the Passouer, euen to all that were present, to the number of thirtie thousand, and thire thousand bul- locks: these were of the kings substance.

8 And his Princes offered willingly vn- to the people, to the Priests, and to the Le- uites: Wilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Passouer, euen two thou- sand and fire hundred sheepe, and three hun- dred bullocks.

9 Conaniah also and Shemaiah, and Jerahmeel his brethren, and Hashabiah and Iziel, and Jezabab, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passouer, fure hundred sheepe, and fure hundred bul- locks.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stood in their places, also the Le- uites in their orders, according to the kings commandment:

11 And they slew the Passouer, and the Priests sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites stayed them.

12 And they took away from the burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, as offer vnto the Lord, as it is writen in the booke of Moyses, and so of the bullocks.

13 And they roasted the Passouer with fire, according to the custome, and the sancti- fied things they laid in pots, pannes, and cal- drons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for them- selues, and for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offer- ring of burnt offerings, and the fat vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselves, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the Singers the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing according to the commandment of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun the Kings Ser- uants: & porters at every gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their bre- thren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was pre- pared the same day to keepe the Passouer, and to offer burnt offerings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of King Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passouer the same time, and the feast of the vneleauened bread seven daies.

18 And there was no Passouer kept like that in Israel, from the daies of Samuells the Prophet: neither did all the kings of Israel keepe such a Passouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all Iudab and Israel that were present, and the inha- bitants of Ierusalem.

19 This Passouer was kept in the eigh- teenth yeare of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 ¶ After all this, when Iosiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt came vp to fight against Carchemish by Berath, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But he sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, thou king of Iudab? I come not against thee this day, but against the house of I mine enemy, and God commanded me to make haste: leave off to come against God, which is with me, lest he destroy thee.

22 But Iosiah would not turne his face from him, but changed his apparell to fight with him, and hearkened not vnto the words of Necho, which were of the mouth of God, but came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

23 And the snoopers shot at the king Ioshah: then the king sayde to his seruants, Carry me away, for I am very sicke.
24 So his seruantsooke him out of that charret, & put him in the second charret which hee had, and when they had brought him to Ierusalem, hee died, and was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudah and Ierusalem mourned for Ioshah.
25 And Ieremias lamented Ioshah, and all singing men and singing women mourned for Ioshah in their lamentations to this day, and made the same for an ordinance vnto Israel: and behold, they be written in the Lamentations.
26 Concerning the rest of the acts of Ioshah and his goodnesse, doing as it was written in the Law of the Lord.
27 And his dedes, first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudah.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 After Ioshah, reigned Jehoahaz. 2 After Jehoahaz, reigned Jehoachin. 3 After Jehoachin, reigned Zedekiah. 4 17 In whose time all the people were carried away to Babel for cause of their iniquities, and were restored againe the fourtieth yeere after by King Cyrus.

2. King. 33. 30.

Then the people of the land took Ioshah the sonne of Ioshah, and made him king in his fathers stead in Ierusalem.

2 Jehoahaz was three and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned thre moneths in Ierusalem.

3 And the King of Egypt took him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the land in an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.

4 And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king over Iudah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Jehoachin: and Nechoooke Jehoahaz his brother, and carried him to Egypt.

5 Jehoachin was fine and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleven yeere in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came up Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and bound him with chaines, to carry him to Babel.

7 Nebuchad-nezzar also carried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the acts of Jehoachin, and his abominations which hee did, and that which was found vpon him, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudah: and Jehoachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 Jehoachin was eight yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned thre moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when the yeere was out, King Nebuchad-nezzar sent and brought him to Babel, with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his brother king over Iudah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned eleven yeeres in Ierusalem.

12 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Ieremias the Prophet at the commandement of the Lord.

13 But he rebelled moreouer against Nebuchad-nezzar, which had caused him to swear by God: and he hardened his necke, and made his heart obstinate, that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priestes also, and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which he had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising early and sending: for he had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his wordes, and misused his Prophets, vntill the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and till there was no remedy.

17 For hee brought vpon them the King of the Caldeans, who slew their young men with the sword in the house of their Sanctuary, and spared neither young man nor virgin, ancient nor aged: God gaue all into his hand.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes: all these carried hee to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, aburnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and all the precious vessels thereof to destroy all.

20 And they that were left by the sword, carried he away to Babel, and they were seruants to him: and to his sonnes, vntill the kingdome of the Persians had rule.

21 To fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias, vntill the land had her fill of her Sabbaths: for all the dayes that shee lay desolate, he kept Sabbath, to fulfill seventy yeeres.

22 But in the first yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, (when) word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Ieremias, was fulfilled) the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a Proclamation through all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

23 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdomes of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen giuen me, and he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem that is in Iudah. Who is among you of all his people, with whom the Lord his God is? let him goe vp.

THE ARGUMENT.

As the Lord is mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not puniſh them, but to the intent they ſhould ſee their owne miſeries, and be exerciſed vnder the croſſe, that they might conſider the world and aſpire vnto the heauens: ſo after that he had viſited the Iewes, and kept them in bondage ſeventie yeres in a ſtrange countrey, among infidels and idolaters, hee remembered their mercy and their iniquities, and therefore for his owne ſake raiſed them vp a Deliverer, and moued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pittie them, and alſo by him puniſhed ſuch which had kept them in ſervitude. Notwithſtanding leſt they ſhould grow into a contempt of Gods great benefit, he keepeth them ſtill in exerciſe, and raiſeth domeſticall enemies, which endeavour as much as they can to hinder their moſt worthy enterpriſes: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by little and little till their worke was finiſhed. The author of this booke was Ezra, who was Priſt and Scribe of the Law, as Chap. 7. 6. Hee returned to Ieruſalem the ſix yeere of Darius, who ſucceeded Cyrus, that is, about ſiftie yeeres after the returne of the firſt vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. He brought with him a great company, and much treaſures, with letters to the Kings officers for all ſuch things as ſhould be neceſſary for the Temple: and at his coming hee reſtored that which was amiſſe, and ſet the things in good order.

CHAP. I.

1 Cyrus ſendeth againe the peoſe that was in captivity, 8 and reſtoreth them their holy veſſels.

Now in the firſt yere of Cyrus King of Perſia (that the word of the Lord, ſpoken by the mouth of Ieremias, might be accompliſhed) the Lord ſtirred up the ſpirit of Cyrus King of Perſia, and hee made a proclamation throughout all his kingdome, and alſo by writing, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith Cyrus king of Perſia,
The Lord God of heauen hath giuen me all theſe things. For he was chiefe Monarch, and had many nations vnder his dominion, which this heauen king con-ſeſſed to haue receiued of the liuing God.

the kingdomes of the earth, and hee had commanded me to build him an houſe in Jeruſalem, which is in Iudah.

3 Who is he among you of all his people with whom his God is: let him goe vp to Ieruſalem, which is in Iudah, and build the houſe of the Lord God of Iſrael: hee is the God which is in Ieruſalem.

4 And euery one that remaineth in any place (where hee ſolounneth): let the men of his place relieue him with ſilver and with gold, and with ſubſtance, and with careſſe, and with a willing offering, for the houſe of God that is in Ieruſalem.

5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites roſe up, with all them whose ſpirit God had rayſed to goe vp to build the houſe of the Lord which is in Ieruſalem.

the Lord. 7 They prepare for the Temple, 11 and sing vnto the Lord.

And when the seventh moneth was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities, the people assembled themselves as one man vnto Ierusalem.

2 Then stood by Iehua the sonne of Jozadak, and his brethren the Priests, and Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the Altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the Law of Moyses, the man of God,

3 And they set the Altar vpon his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreys) therefore they offered burnt offerings thereon vnto the Lord, euen burnt offerings in the morning, and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, and the burnt offering daily, by number according to the custome day by day.

5 And afterward the continuall burnt offering, both in the new moneths and in all the feast dayes that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offered vnto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seventh moneth began they to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord: but the foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not laid.

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workemen, and meate and drinke and oyle vnto them of Sidon and of Tyrus, to bring them Cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto Japho, according to the grant that they had of Cyrus king of Persia.

8 And in the second yeere of their coming vnto the house of God in Ierusalem in the second moneth, began Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehua the sonne of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the Priests and the Leuites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Ierusalem, and appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere olde and aboue, to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Iehua stood with his sonnes, and his brethren, and Kadmiel with his sons and the sonnes of Judah together to set forward the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Benadab with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

10 And when the builders laid the foundation of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priests in their apparell with Trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Alaph with Cymbals, to praise the Lord, after the ordinance of David King of Israel.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise and when they gaue thanks vnto the Lord, for he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was laide.

2 The building of the Temple is hindered, and how.
11 Letters to Artaxerxes, and the answer.

But the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard, that the children of the captivity builded the Temple unto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and sayd vnto them, We will build with you: for we seeke the Lord your God, as ye doe, and wee haue sacrificed vnto him, since the time of Esar-Haddon king of Asshur, which brought vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Ieshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, sayd vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to builde the house vnto our God: for we our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hath commanded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the land discouraged the people of Judah, and troubled them in building.

5 And they hired counsellors against them, to hinder their deuice, all the dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, euen vntill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of Ahasueros (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Ierusalem.

7 And in the dayes of Artabhashte, Methersath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Artabhashte King of Persia, & the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

8 Rehum the Chancellor, and Shimsai the Scribe wrote a letter against Ierusalem to Artabhashte the King, in this sort.

9 Then wrote Rehum the Chancellor, and Shimsai the Scribe, and their companions, Dinaie, and Apharsathcaie, Tarpe-late, Apharsate, Archenate, Bablate, Shimsanach, Dehaue, Elmaie,

10 And the rest of the people whom the great and noble Agnapper brought ouer, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyond the River, and Cheeneth:

11 This is the copie of the Letter that they sent vnto King Artabhashte, THEY SERVANTS the men beyonde the River and Cheeneth, salute thee.

12 Be it known vnto the King, that the Jewes which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Ierusalem (a city rebellious and wicked) and build, and lay the foundations of the walles, and haue toynded the foundations.

13 Be it known now vnto the king, that if this citie be built, and the foundations of the walles be layd, they will not giue toll, tribute, nor custome: so shalt thou hinder the kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because we haue bene brought vp in the Kings palace, it was not meete for vs to see the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue wee sent and certified the King.

15 That one may search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt find in the booke of the Chronicles, and perceiue that this city is rebellious and noisome vnto Kings & prouinces, and that they haue mooued sedition of old time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the King therefore, that if this citie be builded, and the foundation of the walles layd, by this meane the portion beyond the River shall not be thine.

17 The King sent an answer vnto Rehum the Chancellour, and Shimsai the Scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyond the River, Shelam, and Cheeth.

18 The letter which he sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me.

19 And I haue commanded and they haue searched, and found, that this citie of olde time hath made insurrection against Kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed therein.

20 There haue bene mighty Kings also ouer Ierusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyond the River, and toll, tribute, and custome was giuen vnto them.

21 Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not built till I haue giuen another commandement.

22 Take heede now that ye faile not to doe this: why should damage grow to hurt the king?

23 When the copie of king Artabhashtes letter was read before Rehum and Shimsai the Scribe, and their companions, they went vp in all haste to Ierusalem vnto the Jewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24 Then ceased the worke of the house of God which was in Ierusalem, and did stop vnto the second yeere of Darius king of Persia.

3 At the same time came to them Tatnai, which was captaine beyond the river, and Shether-boznai and their companions, and said thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these wals?

4 Then said wee vnto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai captaine beyond the River, and Shether-boznai and his companions, Apharhachai, (which were beyond the River) sent vnto King Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIUS the King, all peace.

8 Be it known vnto the King, that wee went into the pounce of Judea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and beames are layde in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walles?

10 Wee asked their names also, that we might certifie thee, and that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus, and said, Wee are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and build the house that was built of olde and many yeeres agoe, which a great King of Israel builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had pronounced the God of heauen vnto wrath, he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and caried the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Babel, king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

14 And the vessels of golde and siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple that was in Jerusalem, and brought them into the temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babel, and they gaue them vnto one Sheshbazzar by his name, whom he had made captaine.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels, and go thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be built in his place.

2. The building of the Temple is hindered, and how.

BUt the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard, that the children of the captivity builded the Temple unto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and sayd vnto them, We will build with you: for we seeke the Lord your God, as ye doe, and wee haue sacrificed vnto him, since the time of Sennacherib king of Asshur, which brought vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, sayd vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to builde the house vnto our God: ^b for we our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hath commaunded vs.

4 Therefore the people of the land + discouraged the people of Judah, and troubled them in building.

5 And they^e hired counsellors against them, to hinder their deuce, all the dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, euen vntill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

6 And in the reign of ^d Ahashuerosh (in the beginning of his reign) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

7 And in the dayes of Artahbafhte, Berthedath, Tabeel, and the rest of thier companions wrote when it was peace, unto Artahbafhte King of Perſia, & the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

8 Rehum the chanceller, and Shimsai the Scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artahashaste the King, in this sort.

9 Then wrote Rehum the chancelor, and Shum the scribe, and their companions, Dinaï, and Apharsathcane, Tarpe-late, Apharsate, Archeme, Babelate, Shu-shanabai, Dehauc, Elmale, tions.

13 We it knownen now vnto the king, that if this citie be buillt, and the foundations of the walles be layd, they will not giue toll, tribute, nor^k custome: so shalt thou hinder the kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because I we haue bene brought by in the Kings palace, it was not meete for vs to see the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue wee sent and certified the King.

15 That one may search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt find in the booke of the Chronicles, and perceive that this city is rebellious and noisome unto Kings & provinces, and that they have mooued sedition of old time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the King therefore, that if this citie be builded, and the foundation of the walles laide, by this means the portion beyond the River shall not be thine.

17 ¶ The King sent an answer unto Rehun the Chancellour, and Shimshai the Scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and unto the other beyond the River. Shelam, and^m Cheeth.

18 ¶ The letter which pee sent vnto vs, hath beene openly read before me.

19 And I haue commanded and they haue searched, and found, that this cite of olde time hath made insurrection against Kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed therein.

20 There haue bene mighty Kings also ouer Ierusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyond the River, and toll, tribute, and cu-

21 Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not built till I haue giuen another commandement.

22 Take heede now that yee faile not to doe this: why should damage grow to hurt the king?

23 When the copie of king Artahastates letter was read before Rehum and Shimi-shai the Scribe, and their companions, they went vp in all haste to Ierusalem vnto the Jewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24 Then ceased the worke of the house of God which was in Ierusalem, and did stay vnto the second yeere of Darius king of Persia.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walles?

10 Wee asked their names also, that we might certifie thee, and that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus, and said, Wee are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and build the House that was built of olde and many yeeres agoe, which a great King of Israel builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and caried the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Babel, king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

N^{ow} after these things in the reigne of Artahshastre king of Persia, was Ezra the sonne of Seratah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Wilkiah,

2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Abiath,

3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Meraiach,

4 The sonne of Seratah, the sonne of Uzai, the sonne of Bukki,

5 The sonne of Abishua, the sonne of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron the chiefe Priest.

6 This Ezra came by from Babel, and was a Scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the King gaue him all his request, according to the hand of the Lord his God which was vpon him.

7 And there went by certaine of the children of Israel, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Bethinims, vnto Jerusalem, in the seventh yeere of King Artahshastre.

8 And hee came to Jerusalem in the fifth moneth, which was in the seventh yeere of the King.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to goe by from Babel, and on the first day of the first moneth, came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God, that was vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to doe it, and to teach the precepts and iudgements in Israel.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that King Artahshastre gaue vnto Ezra the Priest and scribe, euen a writer of the wordes of the commaundements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Israel.

13 I haue giuen commaundement, that euerie one that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Israel and of the Priests, and Leuites to goe to Jerusalem with thee, shal goe.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the King and his seuen counsellors, to enquire in Iudah and Jerusalem, according to the Law of thy God, which is in thine hand.

15 And to carie the silver and the gold, which the king and his counsellors willingly offer vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is in Jerusalem)

16 And all the silver and gold that thou canst finde in all the prouince of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Jerusalem,

17 That thou mayest buy speedily with this silver, bullockes, rammes, lammes, with their meate offerings, and their drinke offerings, and thou shalt offer them vpon the altar of the house of your God, which is in Jerusalem.

18 And whatsoeuer it please thee and thy brethren to doe with the rest of the silver and gold, doe yee it according to the will of your God.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Jerusalem.

20 And the residue that shall bee needfull for the house of thy God, which shall bee meet for thee to bestow, thou shalt bestow it out of the Kings treasure house.

15 And I gathered them to the River that goeth toward Ahava, and there abode wee three dayes: then I viewed the people, and the Priests, and found there none of the sonnes of Leui.

16 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Artel, to Shemeiah, and to Elnathan, and to Jarib, and to Elnathan, and to Nathan, and to Zechariah, and to Meshullam the chiefe and to Jocharib, and to Elnathan, men of vnderstanding,

CHAP. IX.

1 Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themselves from God, and married with the Gentiles, 5 He prayeth vnto God.

W Hen * as these things were done, the rulers came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the Priests and the Le-uites are not separated from the people of the lands (as touching their abominations) to wit, of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the A-mozites.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselves, and to their sonnes, and they haue mixed the holy seed with the people of the lands, and the hand of the princes and rulers haue bene chiefe in this trespass.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and pluckt off the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and fate downe astonished.

4 And there assembled vnto mee all that feared the words of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of them of the cap-tiuitie. And I fate downe astonished vntill the evening sacrifice.

5 And at the euening sacrifice I arose vp from mine heavinesse, and when I had rent my clothes and my garment, I fell vpon my knees, and spread out mine hands vnto the Lord my God,

6 And said, O my God, I am confounded and ashamed to lift vp mine eyes vnto thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased ouer our head, and our trespass is grown vp vnto the heauen.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue we bene in a great trespass vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue wee, our kings, and our priests bene deliuered into the hand of the kings of the lands, vnto the sword, into captiuitie, into a spoile, and into confusion of face, as appeareth this day.

8 And now for a little space, grace hath bene shewed from the Lord our God, in causing a remnant to escape, and in giuing vs a nate in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and giue vs a little reuiuing in our seruitude.

9 For though wee were bondmen, yet our God hath not forsaken vs in our bondage, but hath inclined mercy vnto vs in the sight of the kings of Persia, to giue vs life, and to erect the house of our God, and to redresse the desolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Iudah and in Jerusalem.

10 And now, our God, what shall we say after this? for wee haue forsaken thy Com-mandements,

11 Which thou hast commanded by thy seruants the Prophets, saying, The land wherunto ye goe to possesse it, is an vncleane land, because of the filthinesse of the people of the lands, which by their abominations, and by their vnclannesse haue filled it from corner to corner.

12 Now therefore shall yee not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor seeke their peace nor wealth for euer, that yee may be strong and eate the goodnesse of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your sonnes for euer.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs for our euill deeds, and for our great trespasses, (seeing that thou our God hast scaled vs from being beneath for our iniquities, and hast giuen vs such deliuerance.)

14 Should we returne to breake thy com-mandements, and loyne in affinity with the people of such abominations? wouldst not thou be angry towards vs till thou hadst consumed vs, so that there should be no remnant nor any escaping?

1. Esdr. 8. 90.
a He confessed his sinnes and the sinnes of the people.

WHiles * Ezra prayed thus, and * confessed himselfe weeping, and falling downe before the house of God, there assembled vnto him of Israel a very great Congregation of men and women, and children: for the people wept with a great lamentation.

2 Then Shechaniah the sonne of Iehiel one of the sonnes of Elam, answered, and said to Ezra, Wee haue trespassed against our God, and haue taken strange wiues of the people of the land, yet now there is hope in Israel concerning this.

3 Now therefore let vs make a couenant with our God, to put away * all the wiues, (and such as are borne of them) according to the counsell of the Lord, and of those that feare the commandements of our God, and let it be done according to the Law.

4 Arise: for the matter * belongeth vnto thee: wee also will be with thee: bee of comfort, and doe it.

5 Then arose Ezra, and caused the chiefe Priests, the Leuites, and all Israel to sweare, that they would doe according to this word. So they sware.

6 * And Ezra rose vp from before ^h house of God, and went into the chamber of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib: hee went euen thither, but hee did eate neither bread, nor drinke water: for hee mourned because of the transgression of them of the captivity.

† Ebr sonnes of 7 And they caused a proclamation to goe throughout Iudah and Ierusalem, vnto all them of the captiuitie, that they should assemble themselves vnto Ierusalem.

8 And whosoever would not come within three dayes according to the counsell of the Princes and Elders, all his substance should bee || forfeit, and hee should bee separate from the Congregation of them of the captivity.

9 Then all the men of Iudah & Benjamin assembled themselves vnto Ierusalem within three dayes, which was the twentieth day of the * ninth moneth, and all the people sate in the street of the house of God, trembling for this matter, and for the * raine.

10 And Ezra the Priest stood by and said vnto them, Pee haue transgressed, and haue taken strange wiues, to increase the trespass of Israel.

11 Now therefore * giue prayse vnto the Lord God of your fathers, and doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

12 And all the Congregation answered, and said with a loud voyce, So will wee doe according to thy words vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a rairie weather, and we are not able to stand without, neither is it the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

14 Let our rulers stand therefore before all the Congregation, & let all them which haue taken strange wiues in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euery citie, and the Judges thereof, till the fierce wrath of our God for this matter turne away from vs.

15 Then were appointed Jonathan the sonne of Asah-el, and Iahazab the sonne of Eluah ouer this matter, and Meshullam, and Sabbertai the Leuites helped them.

16 And they of the captiuitie did so, and departed, euen Ezra the Priest, and the men that were chiefe fathers to the family of their fathers by name, and sate downe in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine the matter.

17 And vntill the first day of the first moneth they were finishing the businesse with all the men that had taken strange wiues.

18 And of the sonnes of the Priests there were men found, that had taken strange wiues: to wit, of the sonnes of Ieshua, the sonne of Iozabab, and of his brethren, Maaseiah, Eliezer, and Iarib, and Gedaliah.

THE ARGUMENT.

God doth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persons for the commoditie and profit of his Church, as now within the compasse of seuentie yeeres he raised vp diners excellent men for the preferuation of his people, after the returne from Babylon: as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Whereof the first was their captaine to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was builded: the second reformed their manners, and planted religion: and the third builded vp the wals, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. He was a godly man and in great authority with the King, so that the King honoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishment of all things which he could desire. This booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamities of Ierusalem.
 5 Hee confesseth the finnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

IN the words of Nehemiah, the sonne of Machabiah. In the moneth^a Chilleu, in the twentieth yere, as I was in the palace of Shushan, 2 Came Hanani one of my^b brethren, hee and the men of Iudah: and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto mee, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the^c prouince, are in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these words, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen,

5 And said, O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth covenant and mercy for them that loue him, and obliuie his Commandements,

6 I pray thee, let thine eares bee attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee dayly, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the finnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

7 Wee haue grievously sinned against thee, & haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements which thou commaundedst thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseech thee remember the word that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Be will transgress, and I will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commandements, and doe them, though your scattering were to the uttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen to place my name there.

10 Now these are thy seruants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eares now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants who desire to^d feare thy name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of^e this man: for I was the kings butler.

CHAP. II.

After that Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 11 Hee came to Ierusalem, 17 and builded the walles.

NOW in the moneth^a Sillan, in the twentieth yere of King^b Artahshastar, the wine flood before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. Now I was not before time sad in his presence.

2 And the king said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing but sorrow of heart. Then was I sore afraid.

3 And I said vnto the King, God saue the King for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the city and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the King said vnto me, For what thing dost thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen,

5 And said vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send me to Iudah vnto the city of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the king said vnto me, (the queen also sitting by him) How long shall thy tourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the king, and hee sent me, and I set him a time.

7 After, I said vnto the king, If it please the king, let them giue me letters to the capitaines beyond the^f River, that they may conuey me oner, till I come into Iudah, h These were three chief gouernours vnder the King of Persia, beyond Euphrates.

i Thus the wicked when they will burden the children of God, euer lay treason vnto their charge, both because it maketh them most odious to the world, and also stirreth the hatred of Princes most against them.

k Neither are ye of the number of the children of God (to whom he hath appointed this crie onely) neither did any of your predecessors euer leave God.

9 Then came I to the capitaines beyond the river, and gaue them the Kings letters. And the King had sent capitaines of the army and horsemen with me.

10 But Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieved them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Jerusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I arose in the night, I, and a few men with mee: for I told no man what God had put in my heart to doe at Jerusalem, and there was not a beast with me, save the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the Dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Jerusalem, how they were broken downe, and the ports thereof denoured with the fire.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountain, vnto the kings fishpoole, and there was no roume for the beast that was vnder me, to passe.

15 Then went I by in the night by the brooke, and viewed the wall, and turned backe, and coming backe, I entered by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I said vnto them, See see the misery that we are in, how Jerusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no more a reproch.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God (which was good ouer me) and also of the Kings wordes, that hee had spoken vnto mee. And they sayd, Let vs rise, and build. So they strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs, and despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye doe? Will ye rebell against the King?

20 Then answered I them, and said to them, The God of heauen, he will prosper vs, and wee his seruants will rise vp and build: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor memorie in Jerusalem.

CHAP. III.

The number of them that build the walles.

Then arose Estash the high Priest with his brethren the Priests, and they built the sheepgate: they repaired it, and set vpon the doores thereof: euen vnto the towre of Sheah repaired they it, and vnto the towre of Hananeel.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Jericho, and beside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fishport did the sonnes of Senaah build, which also layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Meremoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz: and next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Meshazabel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them put not their neckes to the worke of their labors.

6 And the gate of the olde fishpoole fortified Jehoiadab the sonne of Paseah, and Meshullam the sonne of Besodab: they layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Iadon the Meronothite, men of Gibeon, and of Mishpah, vnto the thorne of the Duke, which was beyond the River.

8 Next vnto him fortified Uzziel the sonne of Harhoblah || of the goldsmiths: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne of || Harakkahim, and they repaired Jerusalem vnto the broad wall.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe part of Jerusalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Iedajah the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house: and next vnto him fortified Pat-cuth, the sonne of Habbabiah.

11 Malchiah the sonne of Harim, and Hashab the sonne of Pahath Moab, fortified the second || portion, and the towre of the furnaces.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallum the sonne of Halloch, the ruler of the halfe part of Jerusalem, he, and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanan, and the inhabitants of Zannah: they built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubits on the wall vnto the dungport.

14 But the dungport fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccaram: he built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountain fortified Shallum, the sonne of Col-hoseh, the ruler of the fourth part of Mishpah: he builded it, and covered it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoole of || Shelah by the kings garden, and vnto the it: so that goe downe from the citie of David.

19 And next unto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Jeshua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer against the going vp to the corner of the armoury.

20 After him was earnest Baruch the sonne of Sacchai, and fortified another portion from the corner unto the doore of the house of Eliahib the high Priest.

21 After him fortified Merimoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz, another portion from the doore of the house of Eliahib, euen as long as the house of Eliahib extended.

22 After him also fortified the Priests, the men of the plaine.

23 After them fortified Benjamin, and Halhub ouer against their house: after him fortified Azariah the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Ananiah, by his house.

24 After him fortified Binnui, the sonne of Henadab another portion, from the house of Azariah unto the turning and unto the corner.

25 Palai, the sonne of Uzai, from ouer against the corner, and the high tower that lieth out from the Kings house, which is beside the court of the prison. After him Pedaiab, the sonne of Barosh.

26 And the Meshinims they dwell in the fortress vnto the place ouer against the water gate, Eastward, and to the tower that lieth out.

27 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion ouer against the great tower, that lieth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortress.

28 From aboue the horsegate fourth fortified the Priests, euery one ouer against his house.

29 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him fortified Shematah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, and Hanan, the sonne of Salaph, the sixth, another portion: after him fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah ouer against his chamber.

31 After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntil the house of the Meshinims, and of the merchants ouer against the gate^b Niphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

32 And betwene the chamber of the corner vnto the sheepe gate, fortified the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. III.

7 The building of Ierusalem is hindered. 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Iewes build with one hand, and hold their weapons in the other.

But when Sanballat heard that we builded the wall, then was he wroth and sore grieved, and mocked the Iewes;

2 And said before his brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus he said, What doe these weake Iewes? will they fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a force goe by, he shall euen breake downe their stone wall.

4 Heare, O our God, (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray^a in the land of their captiuitie,

5 And couer not their iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue provoked vs before the builders.

6 So we build the wall, and all the wall was toynd vnto the halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodims heard that the walles of Ierusalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to bee stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired altogether to come and to fight against Ierusalem, and to hinder them.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them day & night, because of them.

10 And Iudah said, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that wee are not able to build the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the middes of them, and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwell beside them) came and told vs ten times, 13 From all places whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

14 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the stones, and placed the people by their families with their swords, their speares and their bowes.

15 Then I beheld, and rose by, and said vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: remember the great Lord and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wives, and your houses.

16 And when our enemies heard that it was known vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and wee turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke, 17 And from that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stood behind all the house of Iudah.

that bare burdens, and they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

18 For euery one of the builders had his sword girt on his loynes, and so builded: and he that blew the trumpet was beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and wee are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore yee heare the sound of the trumpet, ^k resort ye thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

21 So wee laboured in the worke, and halfe of them held the speares from the appearing of the morning, till the starres came forth.

22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Jerusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

¹ The people are oppressed and in necessitie, 6 Nehemiah remedeth it. ¹⁴ Hee take not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest hee should grieve the people.

NOW there was a great cry of the people and of their wiues ^a against their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that said, Alce, our sons and our daughters are many, therefore wee take by ^b coine, that we may eat and liue.

3 And there were that said, Alce must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take by coine for the famine.

4 There were also that said, Alce haue borrowed money for the kings ^c tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And now our flesh is as ^d the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes and soe, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power ^e in our handes: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angry when I heard their cry and these words.

7 And I thought in my mind, and I rebuked the Princes, and the rulers, and sayd vnto them, You lay ^f burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great assembly against them.

8 And I said vnto them, Alce (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they ^g bee solde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answer.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreover, there were at my table an hundred and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an ore and fire cholen sheepe, and birds were prepared for mee, and ⁿ within ten dayes wine for all ^o in abundance. Yet, for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was greivous vnto this people.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I cannot come downe: Why should the worke cease, whyles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto mee foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and || Gashmu hath said it, that thou and the Jewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt bet their king according to these words.

7 And thou hast also ordeined the Prophets to preach of thee at Jerusalem, saying, There is a king in Judah: and now according to these words it shal come to y kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou sayest: for thou fastest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afrayed vs, saying, Their hands shall bee weakened from the worke, and it shal not be done: now therefore I encourage thou me.

10 And I came to the house of Shemaiah, the sonne of Delatah the sonne of Behebael, and he was shut vp, and hee said, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, Should such a man as I, flee? Who is hee, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to lue? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceived, that God had not sent him, but that hee pronounced this prophete against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid, and doe thus, and linne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproch me.

14 By God, remember thou Tobiah and Sanballat according vnto these their works, and Moabiah the Prophete also, and the rest of the prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the fife and twentieth day of E-lul, in two and fifty dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, even all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

i After that I had sent Sanballat his answer.

17 And in these dayes were there many of the Princes of Judah, whose letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Judah, that were sworne vnto him: for he was the sonne in law of Shebaniab, the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Jehonathan had the daughter of Shebaniab the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, and told him my wordes, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

k Thus the Church of God hath euermore enemies within it selfe, which are more dangerous, then the outward & professed enemy.

CHAP. VII

1 After the wall once builded, is the watch appointed. 6 They that returned from the captiuitie are numbered.

NOW when the wal was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters and the singers and the Leuites were appointed,

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Jerusalem (for he was doubtlesse a faith- full man, and feared God about many.)

3 And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Jerusalem bee opened, vntill the heat of the Summer: and while they stand by, let them shut the doores, and make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhab- itants of Jerusalem, euery one in his ward, and euery one ouer against his house.

4 Now the citie was large and great, but the people were few therein, and the houses were not builded.

5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the princes, and the rulers, and the people to count their genealogies: and I found a booke of the genealogie of them, which came vp at the first, and found writ- ten therein.

6 These are the sonnes of the prouince that came vp from the captiuitie that was caried away (whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away) and they return- ed to Jerusalem and to Judah euery one vnto his cite.

7 They which came with Zerubbabel, Je- shua, Nehemia, Azariah, Raamiah, Naba- man, Maadecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bi- guai, Nehum, Baanah. This is the number of the men of the people of Israel.

8 The sonnes of Parosh, two thousand, an hundred seenty and two.

9 The sonnes of Shephatiah, three hun- dret seenty and two.

10 The sonnes of Arah, sixe hundred fiftie and two.

11 The sonnes of || Pahath Moab of the sonnes of Ieshua, and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and eightene.

59 The sonnes of Shephatiah, the sonnes of Harai, the sons of Jochebed of Sebaïm, the sonnes of Amon.

60 All the Nethinims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruants were three hundred ninetie and two.

61 And these came vp from Telmelah, Tel-haresha, Chereb, Addon, and Immer: but they could not shew their fathers house, nor their seede, or if they were of Israel.

62 The sonnes of Delalah: the sonnes of Tobiah, the sonnes of Rekoda, six hundred and two and fortie.

63 And of the Priestes, the sonnes of Bahalah, the sonnes of Hakkos, the sonnes of Barzillai, which tooke one of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite to wife, and was named after their name.

64 These sought their writing of the genealogies, but it was not found: therefore they were put from the Priesthood.

65 And the Tirshatha said vnto them, That they should not eate of the most holy: till there rose vp a Priest with Urim and Thummin.

66 All the Congregation together, was two and fortie thousand three hundred and threescore.

67 Besides their seruants & their maids, which were seuen thousand three hundred and seuen and thirtie: and they had two hundred and five and fourtie singing men and singing women.

i Which contained part of September, and part of October.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Ezra gathered together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 11 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 15 They keepe the feast of Tabernacles or Boothes.

And all the people assembled themselves together in the streete that was before the water gate, and they spake vnto Ezra the Scribe, that hee would bring the booke of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seventh month.

3 And hee read therein in the streete that was before the water gate (from the morning vnto the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Paricthiah and Shema, and Ananiah, and Arisah, and Viskiah, and Paalishah on his right hand, and on his left hand Iddabab, and Misael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Sechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was above all the people: and when hee opened it, all the people stood vp.

6 And Ezra praised the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their handes: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Iehua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Iamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Malchiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabab, Hanan, Delaiah, and the Levites caused the people to vnderstand the Law, and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Levites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: moune not, neither weep: for all the people wept when they heard the words of the Law.

10 Hee sayd also vnto them, Goe, and eate of the fat, and drinke the sweet, and send part vnto them, for whom none is prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not forry therefore: for the joy of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Levites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to send away part, and to make great joy, because they had vnderstood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day, the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests & the Levites were gathered vnto Ezra the Scribe, that hee also might instruct them in the words of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Law (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in boothes in the feast of the seventh month,

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and bring olive branches, and pine branches, and branches of Myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thick trees to make boothes, as it is written.

16 So the people went forth and brought them, and made them boothes, euery one vpon the rooffe of his house, & in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street by the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the congregation of them that were come againe out of the captivity, made boothes, and sate vnder the boothes: for since the time of Iehua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great joy.

18 And hee read in the booke of the Law of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seven dayes, and on the eighth day a solenne assembly, according vnto the maner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repent, & forsake their strange wiues, 5 The Levites exhort them to praise God, 6 declaring his wonders, 16 and their ingratitude, 30 and Gods great mercies toward them.

In the foure and twentieth day of this month, the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, and with sackcloth, and earth vpon them,

2 (And they that were of the seede of Israel were separated from all the strangers) and they stood and confessed their sinnes and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they stood vp in their place and read in the booke of the law of the Lord their God foure times on the day, and they confessed and worshipped the Lord their God foure times.

4 Then stood vp vpon the staires of the Levites, Iehua, and Bani, Radmuel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cried with a loude voyce vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Levites said, euen Iehua and Radmuel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Bethabiah, Stand vp, and praise the Lord your God, for for ever and ever, and let them praise thy glorious Name, O God, which excelleth above all thanksgiving and praise.

9 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heaven, and the heaven of all heavens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas and all that are in them, and thou preservest them all, and the hoste of the heaven worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God that hast chosen Abram, and broughtest him out of Ur in Caldea, and madest his name Abraham, 8 And foundest his heart faithfull before thee, and madest a covenant with him, to give unto his seed the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Perizzites, and Jebusites, and Girgashites, and hast performed thy wordes, because thou art just.

9 Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their cry by the red sea,

10 And shewed tokens and wonders by on Pharaoh, and on all his servants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them: therefore thou madest thee a name, as appeareth this day.

11 For thou didst breake by the sea before them, and they went thorow the mids of the sea on dry land, and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottomes, as a stone in the mightie waters:

12 And leddest them in the day with a pillar of a cloud, and in the night with a pillar of fire, to give them light in the way that they went.

13 Thou camest downe also vpon mount Sinai, and spakest vnto them from heaven, and gavest them right iudgements and true Lawes, ordinances, and good commandements,

14 And declaredst vnto them thine holy Sabbath, and commandedst them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moses thy servant:

15 And gavest them bread from heaven for their hunger, and broughtest forth water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: and promisedst them that they should goe in, and take possession of the land, for the which thou hadst lift by thine hand for to give them.

16 But thy and our fathers behaued themselves proudly, and hardened their neck, so that they harkened not vnto thy commandments,

17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy marvellous workes that thou hadst done for them, but hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou O God of mercies, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering, and of great mercy, yet forsookest them not.

18 Moreover, when they made them a molten calfe (and said, This is thy God that brought thee by out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies,

19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsookest them not in the wilderness: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way whereby they should goe.

20 Thou gavest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, and withheldst not thy Manna from their mouth, and gavest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou diddest also feede them fourtie yeeres in the wilderness: they lacked nothing: their clothes waxed not olde, and their feet swelled not.

22 And thou gavest them kingdomes and people, and scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed the land of Sihon, and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Basan.

23 And thou diddest multiply their children like the starres of the heaven, and broughtest them into the land, whereof thou hadst spoken vnto their fathers, that they should goe and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, even the Canaanites, and gavest them into their handes, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards and olives, and trees for food in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and lived in pleasure through thy great goodness.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Lawe behinde their backs, and slew thy Prophets (which protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardst them from the heaven, and through thy great mercies thou gavest them saviours, who saved them out of the hand of their adversaries.

28 But when they had rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they converted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardst them from heaven, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times,

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued themselves proudly, and hardened not vnto thy Commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements (which a man should do and live in them) and pulled awaye the shoulder, and were stiffnecked, and would not heare.

30 Yet thou diddest forbeare them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, even by the hand of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them: neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Now therefore our God, thou great God, mightie and terrible, that keepst covenant, and *mercy, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a litle before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our Priests, & to our Prophets, and to our Fathers, and to all the people, since the time of the Kings of *Assur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou *hast dealt truly, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our Princes, our Priests and our Fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy Commandements, nor thy proclatations, wherewith thou hast *protected among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnesse that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and far land which thou diddest let before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill workes.

36 Behold, we are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our Fathers, to eate the *fruit thereof, and the goodnesse thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this wee make *a sure covenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Priests seale vnto it.

1 Who dwelled in Jerusalem after it was builded, 21 And who in the cities of Judah.

a Because their enemies dwell round about them, they provided that it might be replenished with men, and used this police, because there were few that offered themselves willingly.

And the rulers of the people dwell in Jerusalem: the other people also cast lots, to bring one out of ten, to dwell in Jerusalem the holy city, and nine parts to be in the cities.

2 And the people thanked all the men that were willing to dwell at Jerusalem.

3 These now are the chiefs of the province that dwell in Jerusalem, but in the cities of Judah, every one dwell in his owne possession in their cities of Israel, the priests and the Levites, and the Rechabims, and the sonnes of Salomons servants.

4 And in Jerusalem dwell certaine of the children of Judah, & of the children of Benjamin. Of the sonnes of Judah, Athaliah, the sonne of Uzziah, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Mahalael of the sonnes of Perez.

b Which came of Perez the sonne of Judah.

|| Or, of a Shulamite.

5 And Maaseiah the sonne of Baruch, the sonne of Col Hozeh, the sonne of Hazatiah, the sonne of Adajah, the sonne of Joiazib, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Shiloni.

6 All the sonnes of Perez that dwell at Jerusalem, were four hundredth threescore and eight valiant men.

7 These also are the sons of Benjamin, Shallu the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Iord, the sonne of Pedajah, the sonne of Kozabiah, the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Athiel, the sonne of Jeshatiah.

8 And after him Gabai, Gallai, nine hundred and twentie and eight.

9 And Joel the sonne of Zichai was gouernour ouer them: and Judah the sonne of Senuah was the second ouer the cite.

10 Of the Priests, Jedajah, the sonne of Joiazib, Jachin.

11 Seraiab the son of Wilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Merath, the sonne of Ahitub was chiefe of the house of God.

c That is, was the hie Priest. d That serued and ministred in the Temple.

12 And their brethren that did the work in the Temple, were eight hundred twentie and two: and Adajah the sonne of Jeroham, the sonne of Belatiah, the sonne of Amzi, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Baskur, the sonne of Balchiah:

13 And his brethren, chiefe of the fathers two hundred and two and fourtie: and Amashai, the sonne of Azareel, the sonne of Ahazai, the sonne of Meshillemoth, the sonne of Immer:

14 And their brethren, valiant men, an hundred & eight and twenty: and their ouerscer was Zabbai the sonne of Hagedolim.

|| Or, of one of the great men.

15 And of the Levites, Shemaiab the sonne of Hashub, the sonne of Azekam, the sonne of Hashabiah, the sonne of Bunni.

16 And Shabbethai, and Jozabad of the chiefs of the Levites were ouer the workers of the house of God without.

17 And Mattaniah the sonne of Michah, the sonne of Sabot, the son of Alaph was the chiefe to begin the thanksgiving and prayer: and Bakkubiah the second of his brethren, and Abda the sonne of Shammua, the sonne of Salai, the sonne of Jeduthun.

e That is, he began the Psalmes, and was the Chaunter.

18 All the Levites in the holy cite were two hundredth fourscore and four.

19 And the porters Akkub, Talmon, and their brethren that kept the gates, were an hundredth twentie and two.

f Meaning, of the Temple.

20 And the residue of Israel of the Priests, and of the Levites dwell in all the cities of Judah, every one in his inheritance.

g Of them which dwell not in Jerusalem.

21 And the Rechabims dwell in the fortress, and Ziba, and Gilead was ouer the Rechabims.

|| Or, Ophel.

22 And the ouerscer of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi the sonne of Bani, the son of Ashabiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the son of Michah: of the sons of Alaph singers were ouer the worke of the house of God.

23 For it was the kings commandment concerning them, that faithfull provision should be for the singers every day.

24 And Bethabiah the sonne of Meshazabriel, of the sonnes of Zerach the son of Judah was at the kings hand in all matters concerning the people.

h Was chiefe about the king for all his affairs.

25 And in the villages in their landes, some of the children of Judah dwell in Kirath-arba, and in the villages thereof, and in Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and in Tekabzeel, and in the villages thereof,

26 And in Jehua, and in Moladah, and in Beth-palet,

27 And in Hazer-shual, and in Beer-sheba, and in the villages thereof,

28 And in Ziklag, and in Bechonah, and in the villages thereof,

29 And in En-rimmon, and in Zarcab, and in Jarmuth,

30 Zanoah, Adullam, & in their villages, in Lachish, & in the fields thereof, at Azekah, and in the villages thereof: and they dwell from Beer-sheba unto the valley of Hinnom.

31 And the sonnes of Benjamin from Geba, in Michmash, and Aia, and Beth-el, and in the villages thereof,

32 Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah,

33 Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim,

34 Hadid, Zebulun, Bebalat,

35 Lod, & Ono in the Carpenters valley.

36 And of the Levites were diuisions in Judah and in Benjamin.

4 Jodo, Simetho, Abiiah, 5 Stamir, Maadiah, Bilgah,
6 Schematah, and Jotari, Jedatah,
7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedatah: these were the chiefe of the Priests, and of their brethren in the dayes of Ieshua.

8 And the Levites: Ieshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, Patarniah, were over the thanksgivings, hee and his brethren.

9 And Bakbukiah, and Unni and their brethren, were about them in the watches.

10 And Ieshua begat Joiakim, Joiakim also begate Eliashib, and Eliashib begate Joiada.

11 And Joiada begat Jonathan, and Jonathan begate Jaddua.

12 And in the dayes of Joiakim, were these the chiefe fathers: of the Priests; Under Seraiah was Seraiah, under Jeremiah, Hananiah,

13 Under Ezra, Meshullam, under Amariah, Jehohanan,

14 Under Helic, Jonathan, under Shebaniah, Joseph,

15 Under Harim, Adna, under Merathai, Hilkai,

16 Under Jodo, Zachariah, under Simethon, Meshullam,

17 Under Abiiah, Zichai, under Binjamin and under Maadiah, Bilgai, 18 Under Bilgah, Shamunah, under Schematah, Jehonathan, 19 Under Jotari, Pattenai, under Jedatah, Uzzi, 20 Under Sallai, Kallai, under Amok, Eber,

21 Under Hilkiah, Hashabiah, under Jedatah, Sherebiah.

22 In the dayes of Eliashib, Joiada, and Johanan, & Jaddua, were the chiefe fathers of the Levites written, and the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Persian.

23 The sonnes of Levi, the chiefe fathers, were written in the booke of the Chronicles even unto the dayes of Johanan the sonne of Eliashib.

24 And the chiefe of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Ieshua the sonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to give praise and thanks, according to the ordinance of David the man of God, ward over against ward.

25 Patarniah, and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub, were porters keeping the ward, at the thresholds of the gates.

26 These were in the dayes of Joiakim the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Jozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captaine, and of Ezra the Priest and Scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Jerusalem, they sought the Levites out of all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem, to keepe the dedication and gladnes, both with thanksgivings and with songs, cymbales,

28 Then the singers gathered themselves together, both from the plaine country about Jerusalem, and from the villages of Bethopparthi, 29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreys of Seba, and Azmaveth: for the singers had built them villages round about Jerusalem.

30 And the Priests and Levites were purified, and cleansed the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 And I brought by the princes of Judah upon the wall, and appointed two great companies to give thanks, and the one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate:

32 And after them went Hoshatah, and half of the princes of Judah,

33 And Azariah, Ezra, and Meshullam,

34 Judah, Benjamin, and Schematah, and Jeremiah,

35 And of the Priests sonnes with trumpets, Zachariah the sonne of Jonathan, the sonne of Schematah, the sonne of Patarniah, the sonne of Michai, the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Alaph, 36 And his brethren, Schematah, and Azareel, Bilgal, Galai, Maai, Netaneel, and Judah, Hanani, with the musick instruments of David the man of God, and Ezra the scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, even over against them, went they up by the staires of the city of David, at the going up of the wall beyond the house of David, even unto the water gate Eastward.

38 And the second company of them that gave thanks, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was upon the wall, and upon the towre of the fornicies, even unto the broad wall, 39 And upon the gate of Ephraim, and upon the old gate, and upon the fish gate, and the towre of Hananeel, and the towre of Sheph, even unto the shepe gate: and they stood in the gate of the ward.

40 So stood the two companies of them that gave thanks in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Benjamin, Michai, Elkenai, Zachariah, Hananiah, with trumpets:

42 And Maaseiah, and Schematah, and Elazar, and Uzzi, and Jehohanan, and Balchiah, and Elam, and Ezer, and the singers sang loud, hauing Azariah which was the overseer.

43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and rejoyced: for God had given them great joy, so that both the women and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of Jerusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed over the chambers, of the store for the offerings, for the first fruits, and for the tithes, to gather into them out of the fieldes of the cities the portions of the Law for the Priests and the Levites: for Judah rejoyced for the Priests, and for the Levites, that served.

45 And both the singers and the porters kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification, according to the commandment of David, and Salomon his sonne.

of old were chiefe fingers, and songs of praise and thanksgiuing vnto God.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did all Israel giue portions vnto the fingers and porters, euery day his portion, & they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproveth them that breake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serue God.

And on that day did they reade in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, & the Moabite should not enter into the Congregation of God.

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them; and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel all those that were mixed.

4 And before this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being kinsman to Tobiah:

5 And hee had made him a great chamber, and there had they also set time for the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the fingers, and the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of Artaxerxes the king of Babel, came I vnto the king, and after certaine dayes I obtained of the king.

7 And when I was come to Jerusalem, and understood the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieved me for that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God, with the meat offering and the incense.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers; and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God, with the meat offering and the incense.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, even the Leuites and fingers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproveth I the rulers, and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? and I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Iudah the riches of corne, and of wine and of oyle, into the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the Scribe, and of the Leuites, Bedaias, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Baranias: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember mee, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my kindness that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes saw I in Iudah, them that trode winepresses on the Sabbath, and that brought in sheaves, and which laden asses also with wine, grapes and figges and all burdens, and brought them into Jerusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they sold vic-tuals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish & all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Jerusalem.

17 Then reproveth I the rulers of Iudah, and sayd vnto them, What euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this cite? yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Jerusalem began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there should no burden bee brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twice all night without Jerusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why saye ye all night about the wall? If ye doe it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath day.

22 And I sayd vnto the Leuites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keepe the gates to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember mee, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me, according to thy great mercy.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes, that married wiues of Aethiops, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speech of Aethiops, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reproveth them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and tooke an oath of them by God, Yet shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

26 Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no king like him: for he was beloued of his God, and God had made him king ouer Israel: yet strange women caused him to sinne.

27 Shall we then obey vnto you to do all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, euen to marry strange wiues?

28 And one of the sonnes of Joiada the sonne of Eliashib the high Priest was the sonne in law of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him from mee.

29 Remember them, O my God, & defile

g I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressours of his Law to be vnpunished.

h Was not this a great cause why God plagued vs in times past? meaning that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater. i About the time that the Sunne went downe: for the Sabbath lasted from the Sunne going downe of the one day, to the setting of the other.

THE ARGVMENT.

BECAUSE of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vsed to name their Kings, and the supputation of yeeres wherein the Ebrewes and the Grecians doe varie, diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Ahashuerosh, but it seemeth, Dan. 6. 1. and 9. 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahashuerosh, which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church, who neuer faileth them in their great dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, hee neuer stirreth vp some by whom he sendeth comfort and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride, and crueltie of the wicked when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at highest: and how God preferreth and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahashuerosh maketh a royall feast, 12 wherein the Queene Vashti will not come. 19 For which cause shee is divorced. 20 The kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

a Called also Darius, who was now the soueraigne Monarch, and had the government of the Medes, Persians and Caldeans, some thinke he was Darius Hy. Raspissonne, called also Artaxerxes, d Daniel, Chap. 6. 1. maketh mention but of sixscore, leaving out the number that is vnsperfit, as the Scripture in diuers places vseth c That is had rest and quietnesse. Nehem. 1. 1. d Which they vsed in those countreys in head of tables.

IN the dayes of Ahashuerosh (this is Ahashuerosh that reigned from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahashuerosh sat on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

3 In the third yere of his reigne he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the capitaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might shew the riches & glory of his kingdom, and the honour of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundred and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, Greene, and blue clothes, fastened with cords of fine linnen and purple, in blue rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold and of silver vpon a pavement of Porphyre, and marble, and alabastrer, and blue colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessell after vessell, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the King.

8 And the drinke was by an order, none might compell: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royal house of king Ahashuerosh.

10 Vpon the seuenth day, when the king was merry with wine, he commanded Behuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen Eunuches, (that serued in the presence of king Ahashuerosh.)

11 To bring Quene Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that he might shew the people and the princes her beauty: for she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings word, which he had giuen in charge to the Eunuches: therefore the king was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king said to the wise men, that knew the times (for so was the kings manner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shetar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meris, Martana and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which saw the kings face, and sat the first in the kingdom.)

15 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vashti, according to the law, because she did not according to the word of the king Ahashuerosh by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the King and the Princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done euill against the King but against all the Princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh.

17 For the act of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The king Ahashuerosh commaunded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings princes, when they heare of the act of the queene: thus shall there bee much despightfulness and wrath.

19 If it please the King, let a royal decree proceed from him, & let it bee written among the statutes of Persia and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come no more before King Ahashuerosh: and let the King giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then shee.

20 And when the decree of the king which shall be made, shall bee published throughout all his kingdom (though it bee great) all his kingdom shall giue their husbands honour both great and small.

CHAP. II.

3 After the Queene is put away, certain young maids are brought to the king. 17 Ester pleaseth the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai discloseth unto the King those that would betray him.

After these things, when the wrath of king Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Uashti, and what shee had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, said, Let them seeke for the king beautifull young virgins.

3 And let the king appoint officers throught all the provinces of his kingdom, and let them gather all the beautifull young virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the kings Eunuch, keeper of the women, to giue them their things for purification.

4 And the maide that shall please the king, let her reigne in the stead of Uashti. And this pleased the king, and he did so.

5 In the citie of Shushan, there was a certaine Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the sonne of Jair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish, a man of Temini.

6 Which had bene caried away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was caried away with Ieconiah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caried away.)

7 And hee nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vncles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maide was faire, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father & her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement and his decree was published, and many maids were brought together to the palace of Shushan vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the kings house vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, & she found fauour in his sight: therefore hee caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her state, and seven comely maids to be giuen her out of the kings house, and he gaue change to her and to her maides of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kinned: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked every day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of every maide came, to goe in to King Ahasuerus, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the manner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrre, and sixe moneths with sweet odours, and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maides vnto the King, whatsoeuer she required, was giuen her, to go with her out of the womens house vnto the kings house.

14 In the evening she went, and on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women, vnder the hand of Shashgaz, the kings Eunuch, which kept the concubines: shee came into the king no more, except she pleased the King, and that shee were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that she should goe in to the king, she desired nothing, but what Hege the kings Eunuch the keeper of the women said, and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 So Ester was taken vnto King Ahasuerus into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seventh yeere of his reigne.

17 And the king loued Ester aboue all the women: and she found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgines: so that he set the crowne of the kingdom vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Uashti.

18 Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rest vnto the provinces, and gaue gifts according to the power of a King.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the second time, then Mordecai late in the Kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kinned, nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him.

21 In those dayes when Mordecai late in the Kings gate, two of the Kings Eunuchs, Bigthan, and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay hand on the King Ahasuerus.

22 And the thing was knowne to Mordecai, & he told it vnto Queen Ester, and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the King.

reuerenced Haman for the king had so commaunded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the kings seruants which were at the kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why traungrest thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake thus vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for hee had told them that he was a Jew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reue-rence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now hee thought it too little to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Jewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of A-hashueros, even the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth of Nisan) in the twelfth yere of king Ahasueros, they cast Pur (that is a lot) before Haman from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is, the moneth of Adar.

8 Then Haman said vnto King Ahasueros, There is a people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the King, let it bee written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the hands of them that haue the charge of this busines to bring it into the kings treasury.

10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jewes ad-uersary.

11 And the King said vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the Kings scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commaunded) vnto the kings officers, and to the Capetaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, & to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Ahashueros was it written, and sealed with the Kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent by postes, into all the Kings prouinces, to root out, to kill and to destroy all the Jewes, both young and old, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth (which is the moneth of Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should bee given a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should bee ready against the same day.

And the postes compelled by the kings commandement went forth, and the commaundement was given in the palace at Shushan: and the King and Haman late drinking, but the city of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the King against the Jewes. 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

Now when Mordecai perceiues all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the mids of the city, and cryed with a great cry and a bitter.

2 And hee came euen before the Kings gate, but hee might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince, and place, whither the Kings charge and his Commission came, there was great sorrow among the Jewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mounning, and many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 Then Esters maids & her eunuches came and told it her: therefore the Queene was very heauy, & she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he refused it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the kings Eunuches, whom he had appointed to serue her, & gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai, vnto the street of the citie which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, because of the Jewes for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue him the copy of the writing & commission that was giuen at Shushan to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester, and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she would go in to the king, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 So when Hatach came, he tolde Ester the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, and commaunded him to say vnto Mordecai,

11 All the kings seruants doe know, that whosoeuer man or woman, that cometh to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shall die, except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the king these thirty dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

13 And Mordecai said, that they should answer Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe, that thou shalt escape in the Kings house, more then all the Jewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall ap-peare to the Jewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish:

d Because they vied to drinke excessively in their banquet, they called the banquet, by the name of that which was most in vfe or esteemed.

e I will declare what thing I demand.

f Thus the wicked when they are promoted, instead of acknowledging their charge and humbling themselves, waxe ambitious, disdainfull and cruel.

and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time?

15 Then Ester commaunded to answeere Mordecai,

16 For, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast yee for mee, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night, I also and my maides will fast likewise, and so wil goe in to the king, which is not according to the lawe: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commaunded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entreth in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepareth a gallows for Mordecai.

As for the third day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the kings palace within, ouer against the kings house: and the king late vpon his roiall choyne in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the king sawe Ester the Queene standing in the court, hee found fauour in his sight: and the king held out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drew neere, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then sayd the King vnto her, What wilt thou Queene Ester: and what is thy request? it shall bee euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let the king and Haman come this day vnto the banquet, that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king sayd, Cause Haman to make haste that hee may doe as Ester hath sayd. So the king and Haman came to the banquet, that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king said vnto Ester, at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen bee performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then and answered Ester, and sayd, My petition and my request is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to giue mee my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to morrow according to the kings saying.

9 Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Mordecai in the kings gate, that hee stood not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheless Haman refrained himselfe: and when hee came home, hee sent and called for his friends, and Zereh his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things whereof the King had promoted him, and how that hee had set him above the princes and seruants of the king.

12 Haman said moeouer, Dea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banquet that shee had prepared, save mee; and to morrow am I bidden vnto her also with the king.

13 But all this doeth nothing answere, as long as I see Mordecai the Iew sitting at the kings gate.

14 Then said Zereh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fifty cubites hie, and to morrow speak thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the king vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, and he caused to make the tree.

g Meaning, the highest that could be found.

CHAP. VI.

1 The king turneth over the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelity of Mordecai. 10 and commaundeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

The same night the king slept not, and hee commaunded to bring the booke of the Records and the Chronicles: and they were read before the King.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai had told of Bigtana, and Zereh two of the kings eunuches, keepers of the doore, who sought to lay hands on the king Ahasuerus.

3 Then the king said, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, sayd, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king said, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the kings house, that hee might speake vnto the king to hang Mordecai on the tree that hee had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shall bee done vnto the man, whom the King will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king do honour more then to mee?

7 And Haman answered the king, The man whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the king vseth to weare, and the horse that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the rayment and the horse bee deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparill the man (whom the king will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse through the streets of the citie, and proclaime before him, Thus shall it bee done vnto the man whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, take the rayment and the horse as thou hast said, and do so vnto Mordecai the Iew, that sitteth at the Kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman tooke the rayment and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke through the streets of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it bee done to the man whom the King will honour.

13 And Haman told Zeresh his wife, and all his friends all that had befallen him. Then said his wife men, and Zeresh his wife unto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Jewes, before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, ^a but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches, and halted to bring Haman unto the banket that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene biddeth the king and Haman agayne, and prayeth for her people. 6 Shee accuseth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallows which he had prepared for Mordecai.

So the King and Haman came to banket with the Queene Ester.

2 And the King sayde againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banket of wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee, and what is thy request? It shall bee euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For wee are solde, I, and my people to be destroyed, to bee slaine and to perish: but if wee were solde for seruants, and for handmaidens, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersary could not recompense the Kings losse.

5 Then King Ahasuerus answered and sayde vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he? and where is he that presumeth to doe thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersary and enemye is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the King and the Queene.

7 And the King arose from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: But Haman stood vp to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for hee saw that there was a mischief prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester lay: therefore the King said, Will hee force the Queene also before mee in the house? as the word went out of the Kings mouth, they couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches saide in the presence of the King, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fifty cubits high, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the King. Then the King sayd, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree that hee had prepared for Mordecai: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman, was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Jewes.

The same day did king Ahasuerus giue the house of Haman the aduersary of the Jewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the King: for Ester tolde what he was vnto her.

2 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester let Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that hee would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuce that hee had imagined against the Jewes.

4 And the King held out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the king.

5 And said, If it please the king, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing bee acceptable before the king, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuce of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite, may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Jewes, that are in all the kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come vnto my people? or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kindred?

7 And the king Ahasuerus said vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Jew, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, because hee laid hand vpon the Jewes.

8 Write pee also for the Jewes, as it liketh you in the kings name, and seale it with the kings ring, (for the writings written in the kings name, and sealed with the kings ring, may no man reuoke.)

9 Then were the kings scribes called at the same time, euen the third moneth, that is the moneth ^a Siuan, on the thire and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commaunded vnto the Jewes, and to the princes, and capitaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and twenty prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speech, and to the Jewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the king Ahasuerus name, and sealed it with the kings ring: and hee sent letters by postes on horsebacke, and that rode on beasts of price, as ^b diomedaries, and colts of mares.

11 Wherein the king granted the Jewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselves together, and to stand for their life, and to roote out, to slay, and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that hated them, both children and women, and to spoile their goods:

13 The copy of the writing was, how there should be a commandement giuen in all and euery prouince, published amongst all the people, and that the Jewes should be ready against that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

14 So the postes rode vpon beasts of price and bondsmen, and went forth with speed, to execute the kings commaundement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blue and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Jewes was come light, and ioy, and gladnesse, and honour.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery city and place, where the kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Jewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Jewes: for the feare of the Jewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the King the Jewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Jewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

So in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Jewes had rule ouer them that hated them.)

2 The Jewes gathered themselves together into their cities, throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahasuerus, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes, and the capitaines, and the officers of the king exalted the Jewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went thorow all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Jewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword and slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Jewes and destroyed fine hundred men,

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Abatha,

8 And Boratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Lagezatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersary of the Jewes slew they: but they laid not their hands on the spoyle.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the King said vnto the Queene Ester, The Jewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed fine hundred men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy request moreover, that it may be performed?

13 Then sayd Ester, If it please the king let it be granted also to morrow to the Jewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 So the Jewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slew three hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoyle they layd not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Jewes that were in the Kings prouinces, assembled themselves and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, seuentie and five thousand: but they laid not their hand on the spoyle.

17 Thus they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Jewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fiftenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Jewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalld townes, kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Jewes that were thorough all the prouinces of the King Ahasuerus, both neere and farr,

21 Intoyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fiftenth day of the same, euerie yeere,

22 According to the dayes wherein the Jewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorrow vnto ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and ioy, and to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Jewes promised to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, 24 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Jewes aduersary, had imagined against the Jewes, to destroy them, and had cast Pur (that is, a lot) to consume and destroy them.

25 And when she came before the king, hee commanded by letters, Let his wicked deutee (which hee imagined against the Jewes) turne upon his owne head, and let them hang him, and his sonnes on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seen besides this, and of that which had come unto them.

27 The Jewes also ordained and promised for chem and for their seede, and for all that toynd unto them, that they would not faile to obserue those two dayes every yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season.

28 And that these dayes should be remembered and kept throughout every generation, and every family, and every prouince, and every cite: euen these dayes of Purim should not faile among the Jewes, and the memorie of them should not perish from their seede.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Jew, wrote with all authority (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time)

30 And he sent letters unto all the Jewes to the hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with words of peace and truth,

31 To confirme these dayes of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Jew and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for themselves, and for their seede with fasting and prayer.

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these wordes of Purim, and was written in the booke.

this feast with fasting and earnest prayer, which in Hebrew is signified by this word (their cry.)

CHAP. X.

The affirmation and authoritie of Mordecai.

And the king Ahasuerus laid a tribute upon the land, and upon the ples of the Sea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his might, and the declaration of the dignity of Mordecai, wherewith the king magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecai the Jewe was the second unto king Ahasuerus, and great among the Jewes, and accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the wealth of his people, and spake peaceably to all his seede.

r Which were letters declaring unto them quietnesse, and assistance, and putting them out of doubt and feare.

† Ebr. sonles, † That they would obserue.

a These three points are here set forth as commendable, and necessary for him that is in authority: to haue the fauour of the people, to procure their wealth, and to be gentle & loving toward them.

Iob.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this history is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement words, and subtil disputationes brought him almost to despair: for they set forth God as a seuerie Iudge, and mortall enemy vnto him which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he should seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding, he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this story we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe, his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it crautily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, wherof man knew not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but he should be contented. Moreouer, he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments and affliction, he bursteth forth into many inconueniences both of words and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which he doth not handle well. Againe, the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespasses, grounding vpon Gods providence, his iustice, and mans sinnes: yet their intencion is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despair, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example, Iames 5. 11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holmesse, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance and his children. 20 His faith and patience.

¶ Here was a man in the land of Uz, called Iob, and this man was an vpright & iust man, one a That is, of the country of Idumea, as Lamen. 4. 21. or bordering thereupon: for the land was called by the name of Uz the sonne of Dathan the sonne of Seir, Gen. 36. 28. b Forasmuch as hee was a Gentile, and not a Jew, and yet is pronounced vpright, and without hypocrisie, it declareth, that among the heathen God hath his.

c Hereby is declared what is meant by an vpright and iust man, that feared God, and eschewed euill.

2 And hee had seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

3 His substance also was seuen thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she asses, and his familie was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banquetted in their houses, every one his day, and sent and called euer three sisters to eat and to drinke with them.

5 And when the daies of their banquetting were stie, hee set forth vnto vs as a pacities may be stand that which is spoken of him.

m This declareth, that although Satan
be an aduersary to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and to doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment
he can doe nothing.

n This question is asked for our infirmity:
for God knew whence he came.

o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is ever ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8.

p Hee feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commodity that hee receiveth by thee.

q Meaning,
the grace of God,
which serued Iob as a rampart against all temptations.

r This signifieth, that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it.

s Satan noteth the vice whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperity, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersity.

t God giue him not Satan power

y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more griuously, forasmuch as hee might see that not only men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him.

z The last plague

This is the moft griuous tentati-on of the faith-full, when their faith is affayled, and when Satan goeth about to perwade them, that they truft in God in vaine.

m For death was appointed to the blafphemer, and fo the meant that he fhould be foone rid out of his paine. n That is, to be patient in aduerfite, as we reioyce when he fenderh prosperitie, and fo to acknowledge him to be both mercifull and iuft. o Hee fo bridled his affections, that his tongue thorow impatiency did not murmure againft God. p Which were men of authoritie, wife and learned, and as the Septuagint write, kings, and came to comfort him, but when they faw how he was vifited, they conceived an euil opinion of him, as though he had bin but an hypocrite, & fo iuftly plagued of God for his finnes. q This was alfo a ceremony which they vfed in thofe countreys, as the renting of their clothes in figne of forrow, &c. r And therefore thought that he would not haue hearkened to their counfell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth, and curfeth the day of his birth. 11 He defireth to die, as though death were the end of all mans miserie.

Afterward Iob opened his mouth, and curfed his day.

2 And Iob cryed out, and fayd, 3 Let the day ^a perith wherein I was borne, & the night when it was fayd, There is a man-child conceived.

4 Let that day be darkneffe, let not God regard it from above, neither let the light fhine vpon it.

5 But let darknes & the ^a shadow of death ftaine it: let the cloud remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.

6 Let darkneffe poffeffe that night, let it not be toynd vnto the dayes of the yere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, defolate be that night, and let no toy be in it.

c Men ought not to be weary of their life, and curfe it, becaufe of the infirmities that it is fubieft vnto, but becaufe they are given to fiane and rebellion againft God. d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the funne to feparate it from the night. e That is, moft obfcure darkneffe, which maketh them afraid of death that are in it.

from the fole of his foot vnto his crowne.

8 And hee tooke a portheard to fcrape him, and he fate downe among the afhes.

9 Then faid his ^a wife vnto him, Doeft thou ^a continue yet in thine vppighneffe?
10 Blafpheme God, and die.

10 But he fayd vnto her, Thou fpeakelt like a foolifh woman: what fhall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not ^a receiue euill? In all this did not Iob finne with his lips.

11 Now when Iobs three ^a friendes heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Mamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift v^a their eyes afarre off, they knew him not: therefore they lift v^a their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and fpinkled dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they fate by him vpon the ground feuen dayes, & feuen nights, and none fpake a word vnto him: for they faw that his griefe was very ^a great.

8 Let them that curfe the day (being ready to renew their mourning) curfe it.

9 Let the flars of that twilight be dimme through darkneffe of teares: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it fee the dawning of the day.

10 Becaufe it fhut not v^a the doores of my mothers wombe: nor fhould lozrow from mine eyes.

11 Why died I not in the birth? or why died I not when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me: and why did I facke the heafts?

13 For fo fhould I now haue ^a lten and bene quiet, I fhould haue fleep then, and bene at reft.

14 With the kings and counfellers of the earth, which haue builded themfelues ^a defolate places:

15 With the princes that had gold, and haue filled their houfes with filuer.

16 Why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, either as infants, which haue not feene the light?

17 The wicked ^a haue there ceafed from their tyrannie, and thence they that labourd baltantly, are at reft.

18 The ^a prifoners reft together, and heare not the voice of the oppreffour.

19 There are fmall and great, and the letuant is free from his mafter.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in mifery: and ^a life vnto them that haue deaule hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen fearch it more then treafures:

22 Which toy for gladneffe, and reioyce when they can find the grane.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is ^a hid, and whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my fighing cometh before I eate, and my roarings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing I ^a feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnes, neither had I reft, yet trouble is come.

1 That is, by death, the cruelty of tyrants haue ceafed. m All they that fufteine any kind of calamity and miserie in this world: which he fpeaketh after the iudgement of the flefh. n He fheweth that the benefits of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyful and the confcience quieted. o That feeth not how to come out of his miferies, becaufe hee dependeth not on Gods providence.
p In my prosperity I euer looked for a fall, as is come now to paffe.
q The feare of troubles that fhould enfue, caufed my prosperity to feeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatiencie, 7 and vniuflice, 17 and of the prefumption of his owne righteoufneffe.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and faid,

2 If wee affay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued: but ^a who can withhold himfelfe from fpeaking?

3 Behold, thou haft taught many, and haft

f Which curfe

ture, and build in moft barren places, becaufe they would hereby names immortal.

l Seeing this thine impati-encie.

b Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, & canst not now comfort thy selfe?

c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, and had no true feare nor trust in God.

d He concludeth that Iob was reproved, seeing that God handled him so extremely, which is the argument that the carnall men make against the children of God.

e They that doe euill, cannot but receive euill.

f Hee sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can doe it with the blast of his mouth.

g Though men according to their office doe not punish tyrants (whom for their cruelty he compareth to lions, and their children to their whelps) yet God both is able, and his iustice will punish them.

h A thing that I knew not before, was declared vnto mee by vision: that is, that whosoever thinketh himselfe iust, shall be found a sinner, when hee commeth before God.

i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is ever a certaine feare ioyned, that the authority thereof might bee had in greater reuerence.

k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat asswaged, as God appeared to Eliash, 1. Kin. 19.

l Hee proueth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemy.

m If God find imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintained by his power, how much more shall hee lay folly to mans charge, when he would iustifie himselfe against God?

n That is, in his mortall body subiect to corruption, 1. Cor. 5. 1.

o They see death continually before their eyes, and daily approaching toward them.

p No man for all this doeth consider it.

q That is, before: but any of them were so wise as to thinke on death.

hast strengthened the weary hands.

4 Thy words haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weak knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieved: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightnesse of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished being an innocent? or where were the vpright destroyed?

8 As I haue seene, they that plow iniquitie, and sow wickednesse, reape the same.

9 With the blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his wrath are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the elion, and the voice of the lionnesse, and the teeth of the lions whelps are broken.

11 The lion perisheth for lacke of pray, and the lions whelps are scattered abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to mee secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread, which made all my bones to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before mee, and made the haire of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then stood one, & I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in silence heard I a voice, saying, 17 Shall man be more iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his maker?

18 Behold, he found no steadfastnes in his seruants, and laid folly vpon his Angels:

19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall bee destroyed before the month?

20 They be destroyed from the morning vnto the evening: they perish for euer without regard.

21 Worth not their dignity go away with them? doe they not die, and that without wisdom?

CHAP. V.

1. 2 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power, who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth him.

All now, if any will answer thee, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?

2 Doubtlesse anger killeth the foolish, and enuy slayeth the idot.

3 I haue seene the foolish well rooted, and suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying,

4 His children shall farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eate vp his haruest: yea, they shall take it from among his thornes, and the thristie shall drinke vp their substance.

6 For misery commeth not forth of the dust, neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto trauell, as the sparkes flie vprward.

8 But I would enquire at God, and turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which doeth great things and vnsearchable, and marvellous things without number.

10 He giueth raine vpon the earth, and pouereth water vpon the streets, 11 And setteth vp on high them that bee low, that the sorrowfull may be exalted to saluation.

12 He scattereth the deuices of the crafty: so that their hands cannot accomplish that which they doe enterprise.

13 He taketh the wife in their craftines, & the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They meete with darkenesse in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.

15 But hee saneth the poore from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the violent man.

16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquity shall stop her mouth.

17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.

18 For hee maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his hands make whole.

19 He shall deliuer thee in fire troubles, and in the seventh the cuill shall not touch thee.

20 In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of a He willeth Iob to consider the example of all them that haue liued, or doe liue godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as hee doeth.

b Murmuring against God in afflictions, increaseth the paine, and vttereth many folly.

c That is, the sinner that hath not the feare of God.

d I was not moued with his prosperity, but knew that God had cursed him and his.

e Though God sometime suffer the father to passe in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.

f By publike iudgement they shall be condemned, and none shall pity them.

g Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedge, yet these shall be taken from him.

h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse, and mans misery, but his owne sinne.

i Which declareth that sinne is ever in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction. k If I suffered as thou doest I would seeke vnto God. l He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe to God to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose works declare that man is inexcusable, except hee glorifie God in all his works. m He sheweth by particular examples what the works of God are. 1. Cor. 3. 19. n In things plaine and euident they shew themselves fooles in stead of wise men. o This declareth in God punisheth the worldly wise as he threatened Deut. 28. 29. p That is, he that humbleth him selfe before God. q He compareth the slander of the wicked to sharpe swordes. r If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to stop their mouthes, much more they that professe God. s He will send trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shall haue a comfortable issue, even in the greatest and the least, which is here called the seventh.

Whereas the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt have occasion to reioyce.

When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall serue vs.

God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt have occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.

Though the children of God haue not alwaies this promise performed, yet God doeth recompense it other wise to their aduantage. Wee haue learned these points by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man lusteineth, commeth for his owne sinne.

the tongue, and thou shalt not bee afraid of destruction when it commeth.

But thou shalt laugh at destruction, and death, and shalt not bee afraid of the beast of the earth.

For the stones of the field shall bee in league with thee, and the beastes of the field shall be at peace with thee.

And thou shalt know that peace shall be in thy Tabernacle, and thou shalt visit thine habitation, and shalt not sinne.

Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seed shall be great, and thy posterity as the grasse of the earth.

Thou shalt go to thy graine in a full age, as a rich of corne commeth in due season into the barn.

Lo thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this, and know it for thy selfe.

CHAP. VI.

Job answereth, that his paine is more grievous then his fault. He wisheth death. He complaineeth of his friends.

At Job answered, and said, That my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were laid together in the balance!

For it would bee now heavier then the sand of the sea: therefore my words are swallowed vp.

For the arrows of the Almighty are in me, the venom wherof doeth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrors of God fight against me.

Doeth the wilde asse bray when he hath grasse? or loweth the ore when he hath fodder?

That which is vnseasonable, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meat.

Wherfore I might haue my desire, and that God would grant mee the thing that I long for!

That is, that God would destroy me: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.

Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorrow, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.

What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life?

Is my strength the strength of stones?

Herein hee sinneth double, both in wishing thowrowe impatientie to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

That is, let me die at once before I come to distrust in Gods promise through mine impatientie.

Hee feareth lest hee should be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes should continue.

or is my flesh of brass?

Is it not so y there is in me no helpe: and that strength is taken from me?

He that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

My brethren haue deceiued me as a brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

Which are blackish with yce, and wher in the snow is hid.

But in time they are dried by with heat, and are consumed: and when it is hot, they faile out of their places.

Or they depart from their way and course, yea they vanitie and perish.

They that goe to Tema, considered them, and they that goe to Sheba, waited for them.

But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

Surely now are ye like vnto it: yee haue seene wy fearefull plague, and are afraid.

Was it because I said, Bring vnto mee? Or giue a reward to me of your libtance?

And deliuer me from enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?

Teach mee, and I will holde my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand wher in I haue erred.

How steadfast are the words of righteousness: and what can any of you iustly reprove?

Do ye imagine to reprove words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the wind?

Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.

Now therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.

Turne, I pray you, let there bee none iniquitie, returne, I say, and yee shall see yet my righteousness in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not my mouth seele sorowes?

Shew me wher in I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault.

Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they bee able to perswade him by reason.

Do you cauilt at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in misery?

Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatientie through very sorrow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

CHAP. VII.

Job sheweth the shortnes and misery of mans life.

Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his daies as the daies of an hireling?

As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, and as an hireling looketh for the end of his worke:

So haue I had as an inheritance the months of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

If I layd mee downe, I said, When shall I arise againe?

From moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

Haue I not sought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible.

Or, wisdom, or law.

He compareth those friends which comfort vs not in misery, to a brook which in summer when we need waters, is drie, in winter is hard frozen, and in the time of raine, when we haue no need overfloweth with water.

They that passe thereby to goe into the hore countreies of Arabia, thinke to find water there to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

That is, like to this brooke, which deceiue them that thinke to haue water there in their need, as I looked for consolation at your hands.

He toucheth the worldlings, which for no necessity will giue part of their goods, and much more these men, which would not giue him comfort.

Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they bee able to perswade him by reason.

Do you cauilt at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in misery?

Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatientie through very sorrow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

Shew me wher in I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault.

Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they bee able to perswade him by reason.

Do you cauilt at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in misery?

Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatientie through very sorrow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

Shew me wher in I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault.

Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they bee able to perswade him by reason.

Do you cauilt at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in misery?

Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatientie through very sorrow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

Shew me wher in I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault.

Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they bee able to perswade him by reason.

Do you cauilt at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in misery?

Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatientie through very sorrow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

Shew me wher in I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault.

Hee that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they bee able to perswade him by reason.

e This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible. d Thus he speaketh in respect of the breuitie of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof, he desireth God to haue compassion on him. e If thou beholdest me in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy pieleness. f Shall no more enjoy this mortal life. g Seeing I can by no other means comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words, and thus he speaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde. h Am not I a poore wretch? what needest thou then to lay so much paine on me? i So that I can haue no rest night nor day. k He speaketh as one ouercome with sorrow and not of judgement, or of the examination of his faith. l Seeing my terme of life is so short, let me haue some rest and ease. m Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why doest thou giue him that honor to contend against him? Iob vseth all kindes of perswasion with God, that he might stay his hand. n After all temptations, saith burleth forth, and leaue Iob to repentance: yet it was not in such perfection, that he could bridle himselfe from reasoning with God, because that he still tryed his faith. o That is, I shall be dead.

shall I arise? and measuring the evening, I am euen full with toiling to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust, my skinne is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a weauers shuttle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a wind, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye that hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no longer.

9 As the cloude vanissheth and goeth away, so bee that goeth downe to the graue shall come vp no more.

10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not spare my mouth but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and muse in the bitterness of my minde.

12 Am I a sea? or a whale fish, that thou keepest me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall releeue me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then fearest thou me with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule chuseth rather to bee strangled and to die, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not line alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie.

17 What is man that thou dost magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?

18 And dost visite him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?

19 How long will it be yet thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.

20 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? Thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?

21 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

22 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? Thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?

23 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

24 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

25 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

26 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

27 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

28 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie.

5 Yet if thou wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almighty,

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and hee will make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 Enquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow.)

10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and utter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush grow without myre? or can the grass grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe:

13 So are the pathes of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shall be cast off, and his trust shall be as the house of a spider.

15 He shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The tree is greene before the Sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The roots thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are selded about the house of bones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it deny, saying, I haue not seene thee,

19 Behold, it will reioyce by this meanes, that it may grow in another moose:

20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand.

21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee, shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

23 They that hate thee, shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

b That is, hath rewarded them according to their iniquity: meaning that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God. c That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance. d Though thy beginnings be not so pleasant as thou wouldest desire, yet in the end thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content thy selfe. e He will examine all antiquities, and he shall finde it true which he here saith. f Meaning, that it is not enough to haue the experience of our felices, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs. g As a rush cannot grow without myrre, so cannot the hypocrite, because he hath not faith which is moistened with Gods

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner because God punissheth the wicked, and preserueth the good.

2 When answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

3 How long wilt thou talke of these things: and how long shall the words of thy mouth be as a mightie wind?

4 Dost thou peruerse iudgement? or dost thou the Almighty subuert iustice?

5 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him,

7 And if thou hast hated the word of the Lord, ner, that is ouercome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection. u No distinction betweene light and darkenesse, but where all is very darkenesse in selfe.

CHAP. XI.

1 Job is vniuersally reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly.
Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayd,
2 Should not the multitude of wordes bee answered? or should a great talker bee iustified?
3 Should men holde their peace at thy reproch? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?
4 For thou hast sayd, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.
5 But oh, that God would speake and open his lips against thee!
6 That he might shew thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast desired double, according to right knowledge: that thou shalt knowe that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God?
canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?
8 The heauens are his, what canst thou doe? it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it?
9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.
10 If he cut off and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?
11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.
12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wilde asse colt.
13 If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him:
14 If iniquitie be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy tabernacle.
15 Then truly shalt thou lift up thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.
16 But thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that are past.
17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.
18 And thou shalt be holde, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pits, and shalt lie downe safely.
19 For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make sure vnto thee.
20 But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shall be as the smoke of a pipe.

CHAP. XII.

1 Job accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 He declareth the might and power of God, 17 and how he changeth the course of things.
Then Job answered and sayd, 2 In deede because that yet are the people onely, wisdom must die with you.
3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?
4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he hear-eth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.
5 Yee that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

Pro. 14. 3. b He reproveth these his friends of two faults: the one, that they thought they had better knowledge then indeed they had and the other, that in stead of true consolation, they did deride and despise their friend in his aduersitie. c The which neighbour being a mocker, & a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because hee hath all things that he desireth. d As the rich esteemeth not a light or torch, that goeth out, so is he despised that fallenth from prosperitie to aduersitie.

d That is, this perfection of God: and if man bee not able to comprehend the height of the heaven, the depth of hell, the length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?
e If God should turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controll him?
f That is, without vnderstand-ing to that whatsoever gifts he hath afterward, come of God, &
not of nature.
g If thou repent,
pray vnto him,
h Renounce thine owne euill workes, and see that they offend not God, ouer whom thou hast charge. i He declareth what quietnesse of conscience and successe in all things such shall haue, which turneth to God by true repentance. Luit. 26. 5, 6. k Hee sheweth that contrary things shall come vnto them that do not repent.

a Because you seele not that which you speak you thinke the whole standeth in words and so flatter your selues
as though none knew any thing, or could know
but you.

24 Hee taketh away the heares of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wiſedome out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to ſtagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experi- ence of his friends. 16 The penitent ſhal be ſaued and the hypocrite condemned. 20 Hee prayeth vnto God that he would not handle him rigorouſly.

L De, mine eye hath ſeene all this: mine eare hath heard and vnderſtood it.

2 I know alſo as much as you know: I am not inferiour vnto you.

3 But I will ſpeake to the Almighty, and I deſire to diſpute with God.

4 For indeede reſorſe lies, and all you are phyſicians of no value.

5 O, that you would hold your tongue that it might bee imputed to you for wiſe- dome.

6 Now heare my diſputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye ſpeake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cauſe?

8 Will ye accept his perſon? or will ye contend for God?

9 Is it well that he ſhould ſeek of you? will ye make a lie for him, as one lieth for a man?

10 We will ſurely reprove you, if ye doe ſecretly accept any perſon.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Pour memories may bee compared vnto aſhes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

13 Holde your tongues in my preſence, that I may ſpeake, and let come vpon what will.

14 Wherefore do I take my fleſh in my teeth, and put my ſoule in mine hand?

15 For, though he ſlay me, yet will I truſt in him, and I will reprove my wayes in his ſight.

16 He ſhall be my ſaluation alſo: for the hypocrite ſhall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke.

18 Beholde now: if I prepare mee to iudgement, I know that I ſhall bee iuſti- fied.

19 Who is he that will pleade with me: for if I now hold my tongue, I die.

20 But do not theſe two things vnto me: then will I not hide my ſelfe from thee:

CHAP. XIII.

1 Job describeth the shortnesse and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope sustineth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

a Taking occasion of his aduersaries words, he describeth the state of mans life from his birth to his death.

Chap. 8. 9.

Psal. 144. 4.

b His meaning is, that seeing that man is so fraile a creature, God should not handle him so extremely: wherein Iob sheweth the wickednes of the flesh, when it is not subiect to the Spirit.

Psal. 51. 5. 7.

c Vntill the time that thou hast appointed for him to die, which he desireth as the hireling waiteth for the end of his labour to receive his wages d He speaketh not here, as though he had not hope of h: immortalitie, but as a man in extreme paine, when reason is overcome by afflictions and torments.

e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was the cause why he desired to die.

f That is, release my paines, and take me to mercie.

g Meaning vnto the day of the resurrection when he should be changed and renewed.

h Though I be afflicted in this life, yet in the resurrection I shall feele thy mercies, and answer when thou callest me.

Proverbs 5. 21. i Thou layest them altogether, and sufferest none of my sinnes unpunished.

k He murmureth through the impaciency of the flesh against God, as though he used as great severity against him as against the hard rocks, or waters that overflow, so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.

M An that is boine of woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

2 Hee shooreth forth as a flower, and is cut downe: he vanissheth also as a shadow, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds, which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from I & n that he may cease vntill his desired day, as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the roote of it waxe old in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground,

9 Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant.

10 But man is like, and dieth, and man perissheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and dryeth vp,

12 So man sleepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe mee secret, vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldest giue mee terme, and remember me:

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I wait, till: my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call mee, and I shall answer thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou numbrest my steps, and doest not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the rocke that is remoued from his place;

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou overflowest the things which growe in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou callest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sinnes shall be honourable, neither shall hee understand concerning them, whether they shall bee of low degree, 22 But while his flesh is vpon him, hee shall be sorrowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because hee ascribeth wisdom and purenesse to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckning Iob to bee one of the number.

T Ven answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and sayd,

2 Shall a wise man speake words of the winde, and fill his belly with the East winde?

3 Shall he dispute with words not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen the tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testify against thee.

7 Art thou the best man that was boine, and wast thou made before the hills?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God, and doest thou restraîne wisdom to thyselfe?

9 What knowest thou that wee know not? and understandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seeme the consolations of Gods small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doest thine heart take thee away, and what doe thine eyes mean, 13 That thou answerest to God at thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth?

14 What is man, that he should be cleane? and he that is boine of woman, that he should be iust?

15 Behold, he found no stedfastnesse in his iaints: yea the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue scene:

18 Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret.

19 To whom alone the land was giuen, and no stranger passed through them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that travaileth of child, and the number of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 Hee beleeueth not to returne out of darkenes: for he seeth the sword before him.

23 He wandereth to and fro for bread,

1 Yet whiles he liueth, he shall be in paine and miserie.

a That is, vaine words, and without consolation.

b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance, which are forgotten as soon as they are vttered, as the East wind drieth vp the moisture as soon as it falleth.

c He chargeth Iob as though his talke caused men to cast off the feare of God and prayer.

d Thou speakest as doe the mockers & contemners of God.

e That is, the most ancient and so by reason the most wise?

f Art thou onely wise?

g He accuseth Iobs pride and ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God, nor by their counsell.

h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceit?

i Elv. in thy spirit. His purpose is to proue that Iob as an vnjust man and an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as hee did before Chap.

4. 18.

k Which hath a desire to sinne, as he that is thirstie to drinke. l Who by their wisdom so gouerned, that no stranger inuaded them, and so the land seemed to be giuen to them alone. m The cruell man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience. n Out of that miserie whereinto he once falleth. o God doeth not onely impoverish the wicked oftentimes: but even in their prosperitie hee punisheth them with a greedinesse euermore to gather: which is a beggerie.

p Hee sheweth what weapons God useth against the wicked which lift vp themselves against him, to wit, terror of conscience, and outward afflictions.

q That is, he was so puffed up with great prosperitie and abundance of all things that he forgat God: noting that Job in his felicitie had not this true feare of God.

r Though he build and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shal bring all to nought, & turne his great prosperitie into extreme misery.

s Meaning, that his sumptuous building should neuer come to perfection.

t He standeth so in his owne conceit, that he will giue no place to good counsel, therefore his own pride shal bring him into destruction.

u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe.

x Which were built or maintained by pawning and bribery.

y And therefore all their vaine deuices shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Job mooued by the importunitie of his friends, Counteth in what extremitie hee is, 19 And taketh God to witnesse of his innocencie.

B Ut Job answered, and sayd, I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there be none end of wordes of winde? or what maketh thee bolde so to answer?

4 I could also speake as yee doe (but would God your soules were in my sockets stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should allwaie your sorrow.

6 Though I speake, my sorrow cannot be allwaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

7 But now he maketh mee wearie: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate, where hee may: he knoweth that the pay of darkenesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and anguish shall make him afraid: they shall preuaile against him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For hee hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, even vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath couered his face with his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flanke.

28 Though hee dwell in desolate cities and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become haapes.

29 He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darkenesse: the flame shall die by his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He beleueth not that hee erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall bee his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shal be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine her soueraine grape, and shall cast him off, as the olive doeth her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall bee desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of ribbes.

35 For they conceale mischief, and bring forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared deceit.

a Which serue for vain ostentation, and for no true comfort.

b Or Eliphaz did reply against Jobs answer.

c I would you felt that which I doe.

d That is, make at your miserie, as you do at mine.

e If this were in my power yet would I comfort you, and not doe as yee doe to mee.

f If they would say, Why dost thou not then comfort thy self? he answereth that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then hee is able to allwaie either by words or silence.

g Meaning God.

h That is, destroyed most of my family.

8 And hast made mee full of winckles, which is a witnesse thereof, and my leannes riseth vp in mee, testifying the same in thy face.

9 His wrath hath torne mee, and he hateth mee, and gnaweth vpon mee with his teeth: mine enemies hath sharpened his eyes against mee.

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon mee, and smitten mee on the cheeke in reproch: they gathered themselves together against mee.

11 God hath deliuered me to the vnjust, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought mee to nought: hee hath taken mee by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.

13 His archers compass me round about: hee cutteth my remedies, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken mee with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon mee like a gyant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinne, and haue abased mine house vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes.

17 Though there bee no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no place.

19 For loe, now my witnesse is in the heauen, and my record is on hie.

20 My friends speake eloquently against mee: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might pleade with God, as a man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeres accounted come, and I shall goe the way, whence I shal not returne.

condemne mee, yet God is witnesse of my cause.

u Vse painted words in stead of true consolation.

x Thus by his great torments he is caried away, and brauesth our into passions, and speaketh vnadvisedly, as though God should intreate man more gently, seeing he hath but a short time here to liue.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Job saith that hee consumeth away, and yet doeth patiently abide it.

10 Hee exhorteth his friends to repentance.

13 Shewing that he looketh but for death.

My breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

2 There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness.

3 Lay downe now and put me in surety for thee: who is hee, that will touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not let them vp on hie.

vexe me.

c He reasoneth with God as a man becometh himselfe, to the intent that his cause might be brought to light.

d And answers for thee?

e That these mine afflictions are thy iust iudgements, though man know not the cause.

i In token of sorrow and griefe.

k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of words and his stile, he expresseth how grievous the hand of God was vpon him.

l That is, hath handled me most concepnously for so limiting on the cheeke signified, 1. King. 22. 24. mar. 14. 65.

m They haue led me whither they would.

n His manifold afflictions.

o I am wounded to the heart.

p Meaning, his glory was brought low.

q Signifying, that he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grievous punishment.

r That is, vnfaired, and without hypocrisie.

s Let my sinne be knownen, if I be such a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, and let me finde no fauour.

t Though man

u Vse painted words in stead of true consolation.

a In stead of comfort, being now at deaths doore, hee had but them that mocked at him, and discouraged him.

b I see still that they seeke but to deuide himselfe, to the end that his cause might be brought to light.

d And answers for thee?

e That these mine afflictions are thy iust iudgements, though man know not the cause.

f He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happye in his prosperitie, shall not himselfe onely, but in his posteritie be punished. g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions, h That is, as a continual sound in their eares. i To wit, when they see the godly punished: but in the end they shall come to vnderstanding, and know what shall be the reward of the hypocrite. k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked. l Iob speaketh to them three that came to comfort him. m That is, haue brought mee sorrow in stead of comfort. n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie, as your discourse pretendeth. o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shall be to me in stead of them. p All worldly hope and prosperitie faile, which you say, are only signes of Gods fauour: but seeing, that these things perish, I set my hope in God, and in the life euermlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearseth the paines of the vnfaithfull and wicked.

a Which count your selues iust, as Chap. 12. 4. b Who you take to be but beasts, as Chap. 12. 7. c That is, like a mad man, d Shall God change the order of nature for thy sake, by dealing with thee otherwise then he doeth with all men? e When the wicked is in his prosperitie then God changeth his state: and this is his ordinarie working for their finnes. f Meaning, that the wicked are in continual danger. Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said, 2 When will ye make an end of your words? 3 Cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake. 4 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight? 5 Thou art as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place? 6 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine. 7 The light shall bee darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him. 8 The steps of his strength shall bee restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe. 9 For hee is taken in the net by his secte, and hee walketh vpon the snares. 10 The green shall take him by the heele, and the thistle shall come vpon him. 11 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way. 12 Fearfullnesse shall make him afraid on euery side, and shall distress him to his feet.

13 His strength shall bee as famine: and destruction shall be ready at his side. 14 He shall denoure the inner parts of his skinne, and the first borne of death shall denoure his strength. 15 His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the King of feare. 16 Hee shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) and bymestone shall be scattered vpon his habitation. 17 His rootes shall be dried vpon beneath, and about shall his branch be cut downe. 18 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and hee shall haue no name in the streets. 19 They shall drue him out of the light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world. 20 Hee shall neither haue sonne nor nephew among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings. 21 The posteritie shall be astonished at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient. 22 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reprooueth his friends, 15 and reciteth his miseries and grievous paines. 25 Hee affirmeth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

But Iob answered, and sayd, 1 How long will ye vex my soule, and torment me with words? 2 Yee haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: yee are impudent toward me. 3 And though I had indeed erred, mine error remaineth with me. 4 But indeed if you will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke mee for my reproch, 5 Knowe now, that God hath overthrown me, and hath compassed mee with his net. 6 Behold, I cry out of violence, but I haue none answer: I crye, but there is no iudgement. 7 Hee hath hedged by my way that I cannot passe, and hee hath let darkenesse in my paths. 8 Hee hath spoiled me of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from mine head. 9 Hee hath destroyed mee on euery side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree. 10 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and cometh me as one of his enemies. 11 His armies came together, and made their way vpon mee, and camped about my tabernacle. 12 Hee hath remoued my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintances were strangers vnto me. 13 My neighbours haue forsaken mee, and my familiars haue forgotten me. 14 They that dwell in mine house, and my maydes tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their light. 15 I called my seruant, but he would not answer, 16 I called my seruant, but he would not

g That which should nourish him, shall be consumed by famine. h That is, some strong & violent death shall consume his strength, or as the Hebrew word signifieth, his members or parts. i That is, with most great feare. k Meaning, not true y come by. l Though all the world would fauour him, yet God would destroy him & his. m He shall fall from prosperitie to aduersitie. n When they shall see what came vnto him.

a That is, many times, as Nehe. 4. 12. b That is, I myselfe shall be punished for it, or you haue not yet comforted it. c He brasteth out againe into his passions, and beareth still, that his affliction cometh of God though he be not able to feele the cause in himselfe. d Meaning, out of his afflictions. e Meaning his children, and whatsoeuer was deare vnto him in this world. f Which is plucked vp, and hath no more hope to grow. g His manifold afflictions. h Mine household seruants: by all these losses Iob sheweth, that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be moued.

l Which were hers and mine.
k Besides these great losses and most cruell vnkindnesse, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
l All my flesh was consumed, m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite, especially ye which should comfort me. n Is it not enough that God deeth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorrow?
o To see my body punished, except yet trouble my minde?
p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore passions, his religion is perfect, and that he is not a blasphemer, as they judged him.

q I doe not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I knowe that I shall come before the great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer, and sauiour. r Herein Iob declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection. s Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his sins, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the triall of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others. t God will be reuenged of this hastie iudgement, whereby yee condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth that the wicked and the courteous shall haue a short end, 22 Though for a time they flourish.

a He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed to touch him, & because he thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.

b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man & an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie,

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said.

2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answer, and therefore I make hast.

3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answer.

4 Knowest thou not this of olde? and since God placed man vpon the earth,

5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes,

7 Yet shall hee perish for euer, like his downe, and they which haue seene him shall say, Where is he?

8 Hee shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe a way as a vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall see no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednesse was sweet in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but keepe it close in his mouth:

14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him.

15 Hee hath deuoured substance, and hee shall vomit it: for God shall drawe it out of his belly.

16 Hee shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.

17 Hee shall not see the rivers, nor the floods and streames of honey and butter.

18 Hee shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: even according to the substance shall be his exchange, and he shall enioy it no more.

19 For hee hath vndone many: hee hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoiled houses which he builded not.

20 Surely hee shall seeke no quietnesse in his body, neither shall hee desire of that which he desired.

21 There shall none of his meat be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When hee shall be filled with his abundance, hee shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall assaile him.

23 Hee shall be about to fill his belly, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to raine vpon him, even vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the vpon weapons, & the bow of Steele shall strike him through.

25 The arrow is drawen out, and cometh forth of the body, and shinerh of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.

26 All darkenesse shall be hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blown, shall deuoure him, & that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The increase of his house shall goe away: it shall flowe away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that hee shall haue of God for his words.

after God will take it from them, and cause them to make restitution, so that it is but an exchange. k Hee shall leave nothing to his posteritie. l The wicked shall never be at rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to destroy another. m Some read, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten with a scab. n Some reade of the quier. o All feare and sorrow shall light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape. p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath. q Meaning the children of the wicked shall flow away like rivers, and be disperfed in diuers places. r Thus God will plague the wicked. s Against God, thinking to excuse himselfe, and to escape Gods hand.

c Whereas the father through ambition and ranny oppressed the poore, children through pouerty and misery shall seeke fauour at the poore.

d So that the thing which he hath taken away by violence shall be restored againe by force.

e Meaning, that he shall cary nothing away with him, but his sin.

f As poison that is sweete in the mouth, bringeth destruction, when it cometh into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.

g He compareth euil gotten goods to the venime of Aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truly come by, and therefore God did plague him iustly for the same.

h Though God giue to all other abundance of his blessing yet he shall haue no part thereof.

i That is, these raueners and spoylers of the poore shall enioy their theft but for a time: for a Your diligent marking of my words shall be to me a great consolation. b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man but with God, who will not answer me, and therefore my mind must needs be troubled. c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence. d Iob proveth against his aduersaries, that God punisheth not straightway the wicked, but oftentimes giueth them long life & prosperitie so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye. e They haue store of children, lusty and healthfull: and in these points he answereth to that which Zophar alledged before. f Not being tormented with long sicknesse. g They desire nothing more then to be exempt from all subiection that they should beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason onely by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt with all, then they that loue him. h It is not their own, but God onely lendeth it vnto them. i God keepe me from their prosperitie. k When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shall know that his prosperitie was but vanity. l Whosendeth to the wicked prosperitie, and punisheth the godly. m Meaning, the wicked.

B At Iob answered, and sayd, 2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this shall be in stead of your consolations. 3 Suffer mee that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on. 4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled? 5 Marke mee, and bee abashed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth. 6 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh hold on my flesh. 7 Wherefore doe the wicked liue, and waxe old, and grow in wealth? 8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes. 9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them. 10 Their bullocke gendereth, and faileth not: their cow calueth, and casteth not her calfe. 11 They send forth their children like sheepe, and their sonnes daunce. 12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the Organs. 13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they goe downe to the graue. 14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes. 15 Who is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him? 16 For their wealth is not in their hand, therefore let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me. 17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked bee put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he will diuide their liues in his wrath. 18 They shall bee as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carrieth away. 19 God will lay by the sorrow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall know it. 20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty. 21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his monthes is cut off? 22 Shall any teach God knowledge, who indgeth the highest things? 23 One dieth in his full strength, bring in all ease and prosperitie.

28 For ye say, Where is the Princes house? and where is the Tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?

29 May ye not aske them that goe by the way? and ye cannot denie their signes.

CH AP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 Hee accuseth him of vnicuersalnesse, 13 And that he denied Gods providence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayd,

2 May a man be profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe?

3 Is it any thing vnto the almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes upright?

4 Is it for feare of thee that he will excuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the pledge from thy brother for naught, & spoiled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as were weary, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungry.

8 But the mighty man had the earth, and he that was in authority dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widows empty, & the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.

10 They for shares were round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee:

11 Darkness that thou shouldst not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Ask not God on his side in the heauen: and Thou hadst bin cruell and without chauntie, and wouldest do nothing for the poore, but for thine owne advantage.

When thou wast in power & authority thou didst not iustice,

h. That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reverence him.

i. He reproveth Job as though he denied Gods providence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world.

k. How God hath punished them from the beginning?

l. He prooveth Gods providence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe.

m. He answereth to that which Job had sayd, Chap. 21. 7. that the wicked have prosperitie in this world: desiring that he might not be partaker of the like.

n. The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first because God sheweth himselfe Iudge of the world, and by this meanes continueth his honour and glory.

secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care over his, in that he punisheth their enemies.

o. That is, the state and preservation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings.

p. Meaning, of the wicked.

q. He exhorteth Job to repentance and to returne to God.

r. God will restore vnto thee all thy substance.

s. Which shall bee in abundance like dust.

t. That is, the fauour of God.

u. God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood and in Sodome.

x. God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Job affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge.

10 And that he is not punished onely for his finnes.

B. At Job answered and said,

2 Though my talke bee this day in bitterness, and my plague greater then my groining,

a. He sheweth the iust cause of his complaining, and as touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God chap. 22. 21, hee declareth that hee desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God would not be found of him, 13 But thou sayest, How should God know? can see Iudge through the darke cloude?

14 The cloudes hide him that he cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that overflowed:

17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could doe for them.

18 Yet he filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorn.

20 Surely our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.

22 Recline, I pray thee, the Law of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquity farre from thy Tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp gold for dust, and the golde of Aphyz, as the flint of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almighty, and lift vp thy voice vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall save the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the wretch, and it shall be preserved by the purenesse of thine hands.

3 Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would know the wordes that hee would answer mee, and would understand what he would say vnto me.

6 Would hee pleade against me with his great power? No, but hee would put strength in me.

7 There the righteous might reason with him, so I should bee deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

8 Behold, if I goe to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If to the North where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him: he will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.

10 But hee knoweth my way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the golde.

11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandment of his lips, & I haue esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed foode.

13 Yet hee is in one minde, and who can turne him? yea, hee doeth what his minde desireth.

14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and many such things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

16 For God hath loosened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in darknesse, but he hath hid the darknesse from my face.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Job describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked.

12 How all things are gouerned by Gods providence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

H. How should not the times be hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him, see not his dayes?

2 Some remooue the land markes, that rob the flockes, and feede thereof.

3 They leade away the asse of the fatherlesse, and take the widowes ore to pledge.

the worime shall feele his sweetnesse: he shall be no more remembered, and the wicked shall be broken like a tree.
21 Hee doeth euill intreat the barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth hee good to the widow.
22 He draweth also the mighty by his power, and when he riseth vp, none is sure of life.
23 Though men giue him assurance to be in safety, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.
24 They are exalted for a little, but they are gone, and are brought low as all others:
they are destroyed, and cut off as the top of an care of coyme.

25 But if it be not so, where is he or who will prouoe me a liar, and make my words of no vaine?

a perfect reason of Gods iudgements, let mee bee reprooued.

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

2 Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his high places.

3 Is there any number in his armies?
and vpon whom shall not his light arise?

4 And how may a man be iustified with God: or how can he be cleane, that is hoine of woman?

5 Behold, hee will giue no light to the moone, and the starres are vncleane in his light.

6 How much more man a worime, euen the sonne of man, which is but a worime?

preference? c That is, be iust in respect of God? d If God shew his power, the moone and starres cannot haue that light, which is giuen them, much lesse can man haue any excellency, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and pro-ueth it by his miracles.

At Iob answered, and sayd, 2 Whom helpest thou: him that hath no power? lauest thou the arme that hath no strength?

3 Whom counselest thou: him that hath no wisdom: thou shewest right well as the thing is.

4 To whom doest thou declare these words: or to whose spirit commeth out of thee?

5 The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and heere vnto them.

6 The graue is naked before him, and there is no couering for destruction.

7 He stretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

8 He bindeth the waters in his clouds, and the cloud is not broken vnder them.

9 He holdeth back the face of his throne:
and spreadeth his cloud vpon it.

10 He hath set bounds about the waters vntill the day and night come to an end.

11 The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding hee limiteth the pride thereof.

13 His spirit hath garnished the hea-uens, and his hand hath formed the crooked serpent.

14 Lo, these are part of his wayes: but how little a portion heare we of him: and Hee causeth the whole heauen to turne about the North pole, h That is, hee hideth the heauens, which are called his throne, i So long as this world endureth k Not that heauen hath pillars to vphold it, but hee speaketh by a similitude, as though hee would say, The heauen it selfe is not able to abide his reproofe.

l Which is a figure of it, fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednesse. m If these few things, which we see daily with our eyes, declare his great power & prouidence, how much more would they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

3 The constancie and perfectiōne of Job. 4 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

M Discover Job proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The living God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterneſſe.

3 Yet ſo long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my noſtreils, 4 My lippes ſhall ſpeake no wickedneſſe, and my tongue ſhall utter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I ſhould iuſtifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my ſelfe.

6 I will keepe my rightcouſneſſe, and will not forſake it: mine heart ſhall not reprocue me of my dayes.

7 Mine enemy ſhall bee as the wicked, and he that riſeth againſt me, as the vnrigh- teous.

8 For what hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped up riches, if God take away his ſoule?

9 Will God heare his cry, when trouble cometh vpon him?

10 Will he ſet his delight on the Almighty: will he call vpon God at all times?

11 I will teach you what is in the hand of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

12 Behold, all ye your ſilues haue ſeene it: why then doe you thus vaniſh in vanti- tie.

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they ſhall receiue of the Almighty.

14 If his children bee in great number, the ſword ſhall deſtroy them, and his poſteri- tie ſhall not be ſatiſfied with bread.

15 His remnant ſhall be buried in death, and his widowes ſhall not weep.

16 Though he ſhould heape up ſiluer as the duſt, and prepare rayment as the clay, 17 Hee may prepare it, but the iuſt ſhall put it on, and the innocent ſhall diuide the ſiluer.

18 Hee buildeth his houſe as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man ſleeperh, he ſhall not bee gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrours ſhall take him as waters, and a tempeſt ſhall cary him away by night.

21 The Eaſt wind ſhall take him away, and hee ſhall depart: and it ſhall hurle him out of his place.

22 And God ſhall caſt vpon him and not ſpare: though hee would ſaine ſlee out of his hand.

23 Euery man ſhal clap their hands at him, and hiſſe at him out of their place.

a He hath ſo ſore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine vprightneſſe: for they iudge onely by outward ſignes.

b Howſoeuer men iudge of me, yet will I not ſpeake contrary to that which I haue ſaid, and ſo doe wickedly in betraying the truth.

c Which condemne me as a wicked man, be- cauſe I haue ſaid of God is vpon me.

d I will not confeſſe that God doth thus puniſh me for my finnes.

e Of my life paſt. f What aduan- tage hath the diſſembler to gaine neuer ſo much, ſeing hee ſhall loſe his owne ſoule?

g That is, what God reſerueth to himſelfe, and whereof he gi- ueth not the knowledge to all.

h That is, the ſecrer iudge- ments of God, and yet doe not vnderſtand them.

i Why main- taine you then this error?

k Thus will God order the wic- ked, and puniſh him euen vnto his poſterity.

l None ſhall ſa- ment him.

m Which bree- deth in another mans poſſion or garment, but is ſoone ſhaken out. n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants ſhal not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

The ſiluer ſhall bath his brine, and the gold his place, where they take it.

9 Iron is taken out of the quæ, and braſſe is molten out of the ſtone.

3 God putteth an end to darkneſſe, and he trieth the perfection of all things: he ſet- teth a bond of darkneſſe, and of the ſhadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out againſt the in- habitant, and the waters forgotten of the foot, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the ſame earth cometh bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The ſtones thereof are a place of ſap- phires, and the duſt of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no ſoule hath known, neither hath the kites eue ſene it.

8 The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lion paſſed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the rocks, and ourtcheweth the mountaines by the roots.

10 He breaketh rivers in the rocks, and his eye ſeech every precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods that they do not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid: bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wiſedome found? and where is the place of vnderſtanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the living.

14 The depth ſaith, It is not in me: the ſea alſo ſaith, It is not with me.

15 Gold ſhall not be giuen for it, neither ſhall ſiluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It ſhall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the ſapphir.

17 The gold nor the chriſtal ſhall be equal vnto it, nor the exchange ſhall be for plate of fine gold.

18 No mention ſhall be made of coral, nor of the gabili: for wiſdome is more precious then pearles.

19 The topaz of Ethiopia ſhall not bee equal vnto it, neither ſhall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold.

20 Whence then cometh wiſdome: and where is the place of vnderſtanding, 21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the living, and is hid from the ſoules of the heauen?

22 Deſtruction and death ſay, Wee haue heard the ſame thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderſtandeth the way there- of, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For hee beholdeth the endes of the world, and ſeech all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the weight of the winds, and to weigh the waters by meſure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thun- ders, 27 Then did he ſee it, and counted it: he prepared it and alſo conſidered it.

a His purpoſe is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers ſecrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wiſdom of God.

b There is no- thing but it is compaſſed with in certain limits, and hath an end, but Gods wiſe- dome.

c Meaning, him that dwelleth thereby.

d Which a man cannot wade thorow, e That is, corne, and vnderneath is brimſtone, or ſole, which eaſily conceiveth fire.

f He alludeh to the mines and ſe- crets of nature which are vnder the earth, where into neither ſoules nor beaſts can enter.

g After that he hath delivered wiſdome of God in the ſecrets of nature, he deſcri- beth his power.

h Though Gods power and wiſe- dome may bee vnderſtood in earthly things, yet his heavenly wiſdome cannot be attained vnto.

i It is too high a thing for man to attain: vnto in this world.

k It can neither be bought for gold nor preci- ous ſtones, nor is onely the gift of God.

l Which is thought to be a kind of preci- ous ſtone.

m Meaning, that there is no new rall meanes, whereby man may attaine to the heavenly wiſdome, which he meaneth by the ſoules that ſie hie: n He maketh God onely the authour of this wiſdome, and the giuer thereof.

Proverb. 1. 7.

o He declareth that man hath so much of this heavenly wisdom, as he sheweth by fearing God and departing from euill.

28 And vnto man he said, Behold, the heart of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Job complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7. 21 His authority, 12 iustice and equitie.

S Job proceeded and continued his payable, laying,

2 Oh that I were as I in times past, when God preferred me!

3 When his light shined vpon mine head; and when by his light I walked thorough the darkenesse.

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth, when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my paths with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, even to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the street.

8 The yong men saw me, and his chemeliches, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes stayed talk, and said their hand on their mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hild, and their tongue cleaued to the rooffe of their mouth.

11 And when the care heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gave witness to me.

12 For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 The blessing of him that was ready to perishe, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put on iustice, and it covered me, my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feet to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and plucked the pray out of his teeth.

18 When I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my rootes are spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renew toward me, and my bow shall be restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gave eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my words they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them.

23 And they wayped for mee, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

24 If I laughed on them, they believed it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.

† Ebr moneths before.

a When I felt his fauour.

b I was free from affliction.

c That is, seemed by euident tokens to be more present with me.

d By these similitudes he declareth the great prosperitie that he was in, so that he had none occasion to be such a sinner as they accused him.

e Being ashamed of their lightnes, and afraid of my graurie.

f Acknowledging my wisdom.

g All that heard me, praised me.

h Testifying, I did good iustice.

i Because his aduersaries did so much charge him with wickednes, he is compelled to render account of his life.

k That is, I did succour him that was in distresse, & so he had cause to praise me.

l I desired to do iustice, as other did to weare costly apparell.

m That is, at home in my bed without all trouble and vnquietnes.

n My felicitie doth increase.

o That is, was pleasant vnto them.

p As the dry ground thirsteth for the raine.

q That is, they thought it not to be a iest, or they thought not that I would condescend vnto them.

r They were afraid to offend me, and cause me to be angry.

25 I appointed out their way, as cherte, & dwelt as a king in the armie, and like him that romfoureth the mountaynes.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Job complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11. 21 because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

B At now they that are younger then I, mocke mee: yea, they whole fathers I haue refused to sit with the dogges of my flocks.

2 For whereto should the strength of their hand haue serued me, seeing age perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate and walke.

4 They cut vp nettles by the bushes, and the unripe rootes was their meate.

5 They were chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a thiefe.

6 Therefore they dwell in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rocks.

7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselves.

8 They were the children of foolles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their song, and I am their talke.

10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my cord and humbled mee, & they haue loosed the brydle before mee.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pish my feet, and haue trode on me as on the paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

14 They came as a great breach of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

15 Feare is turned vpon mee: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.

16 Therefore my soule is now powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.

17 It pierceth my bones in the night, and my sinews take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the collar of my coat.

19 He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare mee, neither regardst mee, when I stand by.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, & art enemy vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest mee vp and causest mee to ride vpon the winde, and makest my a That is, mine estate is changed, and whereas before the ancient men were glad to doe me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me.

b Meaning, to be my shepherds, or to keepe my dogs.

c That is, their fathers died for famine before they came to age.

d Or, mallows.

e Job sheweth that these that mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked and lewde fellows, such as he here describeth.

f They make songs of me, and mocke at my misery.

g God hath taken from me the force, credit, and authority, wherewith I kept them in subiection.

h He said that the yong men when they saw him, hid themselves, as Chap. 29. 8. and now in his misery they were impatient and licentious.

i They need none to helpe them.

k By my calamitie they tooke an occasion against mee.

m Meaning sorrow.

n That is, God hath brought me into contempt.

o Hee speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caryed beside himselfe.

p Hee compareth his afflictions to a tempest or whilewinde.

q None can deliver me thence,
though they la-
me: at my death.
r In stead of comforting, they mocked at me.
s Not delighting thing, as not so much as in the use of the Sunne.

t Lamenting them that were in affliction, and to pittie them.

u I am like the wild beasts that desire most solitary places.
x With the heat of affliction.

23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the point appointed for all the living.
24 Doubtlesse none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction.
25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heavinesse for the poore?
26 Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light there came darkenesse.
27 My bowels did holle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.
28 I went mourning without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation, and cryed.
29 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.
30 My kinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heat.
31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organes into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

x Job reciteth the innocencie of his living, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

I made a covenant with mine eyes: why then should I thinke on a mayd?
2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Al-mightie from on high?
3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to the workers of ini-quities?
4 Dost thou not see behold my wayes, and tell all my steps?
5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceit, 6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine vprightnesse.
7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye,
or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands, 8 Let me low, and let another eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.
9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laid wait at the doore of my neighbour,
10 Let my wife grind vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her:
11 For this is a wickednesse, and iniquitie to be condemned:
12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destruction, and which shall roore out all mine increase.
13 If I did condemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my mayd when they did contend with me,
14 What then shall I doe when God standeth up? and when he shall visite mee, what shall I answer?
15 Where hath made me in the wombe, hath hee not made him? hath not hee alone fashioned me in the wombe?

16 If I restrained the poore of their delire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile, 17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof, 18 (For from my pouth he hath growen vp with me as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her.)
19 If I haue scene any perishe for want of clothing, or any poore without couering, 20 If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe,
21 If I haue lift vp my hand against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine earme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.
23 For Gods punishment was I fearefull vnto mee, and I could not be deliuered from his highnesse.
24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue sayd to the wedde of gold, I thou art my confidence,
25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,
26 If I did behold the Sunne, when it shined, or the Moone walking in her bright-nesse,
27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand, 28 (This also had been an iniquitie to bee condemned: for I had denied the God above.)
29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated mee, or was moued to ioy when euill came vpon him, 30 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne by wishing a curse vnto his soule.
31 Did not the men of my Tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his flesh? we cannot be satisfied.
32 The stranger did not lodge in the streets, but I opened my doores vnto him that went by the way.
33 If I haue hid my sinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosom, 34 Though I could haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did feare me: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore.
35 Oh, that I had some to heare me! behold my signe that the Almighty will wit-nesse for me: though mine aduersary should write a booke against me.
36 Would not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me?

ings, and goe vnto him as to a prince.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu reprooveth them of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

¶ These three men ceased to answer Job, because he had rebuked himselfe first.

2 Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Job, because hee justified himselfe more then God.

3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde an answer, and yet condemned Job.

4 (Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeres then he)

5 So when Elihu saw that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, answered and sayd, I am young in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shew you mine opinion.

7 For I sayd, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisdom.

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the almightie giueth understanding.

9 Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway understand iudgement.

10 Therefore I say, Heare me, and I will shew also mine opinion.

11 Behold, I did wait vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledg, whyles you sought out reasons.

12 Yea, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that reproveth Job, nor answered his words:

13 Left yee should say, Wee haue found wisdom: for God hath cast him downe, and no man.

14 Yet hath hee not directed his words to me, neither will I answer him by your words.

15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stood still, and answered no more)

17 Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me compelleth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottles that burst.

20 Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answer.

21 I will not now accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue titles, lest my Baker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

3 Elihu accuseth Job of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers meanes to instruct man, and to draw him from sinne. 19. 29 He afflicteth man, and suddenly delivereth him. 26 Man being delivered, giueth thanks to God.

¶ Wherefore, Job, I pray thee, heare my talke, & hearken vnto all my words.

2 Behold now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the purghenesse of mine heart, and my lips shall speake pure knowledg.

4 The Spirit of God hath made mee, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

7 Behold, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be deaue vpon thee.

8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes:

9 I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquity in me.

10 Loe, hee hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemy.

11 Hee hath put my feete into the stocks, and looketh narrowly vnto all my pathes.

12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why dost thou strue against him? for hee doeth not giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh once or twise, and one seeth it not.

15 In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, & they sleepe vpon their beds, 16 Then hee openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which hee had sealed.

17 That hee might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man, 18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

19 Hee is also stricken with sorrow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore, 20 So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meate.

21 His flesh faileth that it cannot bee seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.

23 If there be a messenger with him or a I confesse the power of God, and am one of his, therefore thou oughtest to heare me, b Because Iob had wished to dispute his cause with God, Chap. 16. 21. so that he might doe it without feare, Elihu saith he will reason in Gods stead, whom he needeth not to feare, because he is a man made of the same matter that he is, c I will not handle thee so roughly as these others haue done. d He repeateth Iobs wordes, whereby he protested his innocencie in diuers places, but specially in the 13. 16. and 30. chapters. e The cause of his iudgements is not alwaies declared to man. f Though God by sundry examples of his iudgements speake vnto man, yet the reason thereof is not knowne: yea, and though God should speake, yet hee is not understood.

g God saith he, speaketh commonly, either by visions to teach vs the cause of his iudgements, or els by afflictions, or by his messengers. h That is, determined to send vpon them. i Hee sheweth for what end God sendeth afflictions, to beate downe mans pride, and to turne from euill. k That is, his painefull and miserable life. l To them that shall bury him. m A man sent of God to declare his will.

n A singular man, and as one chosen out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: & wherein mans righteousness standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ and faith therein, o He sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercie toward sinners, when he causeth his word to be preached vnto them.

p That is, the minister shall by the preaching of the word pronounce vnto him the forgiveness of his finnes.

q He shall see Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring hereby, wherein standeth the true ioy of the faithfull: and that God will restore him to health of body, which is a token of his blessing. r God wil forgive his finnes, and accept him as iust. s That is, done wickedly. t But my sinne hath bene the cause of Gods wrath toward me. u God wil forgive the penitent sinner. x Meaning, oft times, euen as oft as a sinner doth repent. y If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it. z That is, to thee, thee wherein mans iustification consisteth.

an interpreter, one of a thousand * to declare vnto man his righteousness.

24 Then will he haue * mercie vpon him, and will say, * Desiuer him, that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then shall his flesh bee * as fresh as a childes, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 He shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for hee will render vnto man his * righteousness.

27 Hee looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and * peruerterd righteousness, and it did not profit * me, 28 * Hee will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 Lo, all these things will God worke * with thee: & thou shalt see a man, 30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to bee illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare mee: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there bee * matter, answere me, and speake: for I desire * to iustifie thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare mee: hold thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that hee called himselfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mighty. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

Mouer Elihu answered, and sayd, 2 Heare my wordes, yee * wise men, and hearken vnto mee, yee that haue knowledge.

3 For the care trieth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke * iudgement among vs, & let vs know among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath sayd, I am righteous, and God hath taken * away my iudgement.

6 Should I lie in my * right? my wound of the arrow is * grievous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh * scornfullnesse like water?

8 Which goeth in the * company of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath sayd, It * profiteth a man nothing, that he should * walke with God, a Which are esteemed wise of the world, b Let vs examine the matter vprightly.

c That is, hath afflicted me without measure.

d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?

e I am sorer punished, then my sinne deserueth.

f Which is compelled to receiue the reproch and scorn of many for his foolish words.

g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God, and submit himselfe to his iudgements. h Hee wretched Iobs words, who sayd that Gods children are oft times punished in this world, and the wicked goe free. i That is, iustly, as Gene. 5. 22.

10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, yee men of wisdom, God forbid that wickednesse should bee in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainly God will not doe wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whom * hath hee appointed ouer the earth beside himselfe, or who hath placed the whole world?

14 If * hee set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit * and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, * gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art * wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the person of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, * and the people shall bee troubled at midnight, * and they shall passe forth and take away the mighty without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he setteth all his goings.

22 There is no darknesse nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquity might be hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that he should * enter into iudgement with God.

24 Hee shall breake the mighty without * seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shall he declare their * works: hee shall turne the * night, and they shall bee destroyed.

26 Hee striketh them as wicked men in the places of the * secrets,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to * come vnto him, and hee hath heard the cry of the afflicted.

29 And when hee giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when hee hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the * hypocrite doeth right, and because the people are snared.

31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God * to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 * But if I see not, teach thou me, if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

33 Will hee performe the thing though * thee? for thou hast repproued * it, because ments,

tained his innocencie, it seemed that thou hast chosen, and not I: now speake what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tel me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

35 Ioh hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his wordes according to wis-dome.

36 I desire that Ioh may be^d tried, vnto the ende touching the answers for wicked men.

37 For he^e adderth rebellion vnto his sin:
he clapperth his hands among vs, and multiplierth his wordes against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlinesse profit, or vngodlinesse hurt God but man, 13 The wicked cry vnto God, and are not heard.

E Lihu spake moreouer, and sayd,
2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast sayde, I am^a more righteous then God?

3 For thou hast sayd, What profiteth it thee, and what auaileth it mee, to purge mee from my sinne?

4 Therefore wilt I answer thee, and thy b companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, & see, and behold the^c clouds which are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou^d against him, yea, when thy sinnes bee many what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiveth hee at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousness may profite the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed to crie, which crie out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none sayeth, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giueth vs more wis-dome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they cry because of the violence of the wicked, but^e he answereth not.

13 Surely God will not heare vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, a yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not blinded, nor called to count the evil with great extremitie.

16 Therefore Ioh^b openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplierth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God, & and his iustice 9 And wherefore he punisheth, 13 The properties of the wicked.

E Lihu also proceeded and sayd, 2 Suffer mee a little, and I will instruct thee: for I have yet to speake on Gods behalf.

3 I will fetch^a my knowledge as farre off, and will attribute righteousness vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my words shall not be false, and he that is^b perfect in knowledge, speakesh with thee.

5 Beholde, the mighty God casteth away none that is^c mighty and valiant of courage.

6 He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraueth not his^d eyes from the righteous, but they are with^e Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters, and tied with the cords of affliction,

9 Then will he shew them their^f worke and their sinnes, because they haue beene proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commaundeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeeres in pleasures.

12 But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perish without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites^h of heart increase the wrath: for theyⁱ call not when he bind-eth them.

14 Their soule dieth in^j youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the strait place into a broad place and not shut by beneath: and^k that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the^l iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and quitte maintaine all things.

18 For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? hee regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 Be not carefull in the night, how he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede: looke not to^p in-quittie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Behold, God exalteth by his power:
what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.

God, n God doth punish thee, lest thou shouldst forget God in thy wealth, and so perish. o Bee not thou curious in seeking the causes of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any. p And so murmure against God through impatience. q The works of God are so manifest, that a man may see them as farre off, and know God by the same. r Our infirmities hindereth vs so, that we cannot atc Meaning, the raines and thunders, d So that neither small raine nor great snow nor any thing els commeth without Gods appointment.

e By raines and thunders God causeth men to keepe themselves within their houses.

f In Hebrew it is called the scattering winde, because it driueth away the clouds, and purgeth the aire. g That is, frozen vp and dried. h Gather the vapours and moue to and fro to water the earth. i That is, the cloud that hath lightning in it. k Raine, cold, heate, tempests and such like are sent of God, either to punish man or to profit the earth, or to declare his fauour toward man, as Chap. 36. 31.

27 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine powreth downe by the vapour thereof.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 The bounty and providence of God, which extendeth euen to the yong ravens, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confesseth and humblyeth himselfe.

VVilt thou hunt the pray for the Lyon? or fill the appetite of the Lyon with helpes,

2 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the couert to lie in wait?

3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meat, when his birds cry vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate?

4 Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring forth young? or doest thou marke when the hindes doe calue?

5 Canst thou number the months that they fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?

6 They bow themselves: they bryse their young, and cast out their sorrowes.

7 Yet their young ware fat, and grow vp with corne: they goe forth and returne not vnto them.

8 Who hath set the wilde asse at liberty? or who hath loosed the bonds of the wilde asse?

9 It is I which haue made the wilderness his house, & the salt places his dwellings.

10 He deriderth the multitude of the city: he heareth not the cry of the druer.

11 Hee seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.

12 Will the Unicorn be tame? or will he tary by thy crib?

13 Canst thou binde the Unicorn with his hand to labour in the furrow? or will hee plow the valleys after thee?

14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him?

15 Wilt thou beleue him, he will bring home thy seed, and gather it vnto thy barn?

16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the peacocks? or wings and feathers vnto the ostrich?

17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them hote in the dust,

18 And forgetteth that the foote might scatter them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.

19 Hee sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he trauailed in vaine.

20 For God hath depriued him of wisdom, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding.

21 When time is, hee mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider.

22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength? or z For when God doeth not conuenience.

a After he had declared Gods workes in the heauens, he sheweth his maruelous providence in earth, euen toward the brute beasts. b Reade Psalm 147. 9.

c He chiefly maketh mention of wilde goates and hindes, because they bring forth their yong with most difficultie.

d That is, how long they goe with yong?

e They bring forth with great difficultie.

f That is, the barren ground where no good fruites grow.

g Is it possible to make the Unicorn tame? signifying, that if man cannot rule creatures, that it is much more vnpossible? he should appointe the wisdom of God, whereby he governeth all the world.

h They write that the ostrich couereth her egges in the sand and because the country is hote, and the Sun still keepeth them warme they are hatched.

m That is, given him courage? which is ment by neyng, and shaking his mane: for with his breath he couereth his necke. n He beateth with his hooffe. o He so riddeth the ground, that it seemeth nothing vnder him.

p That is when cold cometh, to fle into the warme countreyes.

q Is this the way for a him that will learne, to striue with God? which thing he reproceth in Iob. r Whereby he sheweth that he reprinted, and desired pardon for his faults.

couered his necke with neyng?

23 Hast thou made him afraid as the grasshopper? his strong neyng is fearfull.

24 He diggeth in the valley, and retycereth in his strength: he goeth forth to meete the harnessed man.

25 He mocketh at feare, & is not afraid, and runneth not backe from the sword, 26 Though the quier rattle against him, the glittering spear, and the shield.

27 He swalloweth the ground for fiercenelle and rage, and hee beleueth not that it is the noyle of the trumpet.

28 Hee layeth among the trumpets, & ha: he smelleth the battell a farre off, and the noyle of the captaiues, and the shouring.

29 Shall the hawke fle by thy wisdom, stretching out his wings toward the South?

30 Doth the eagle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on bie?

31 Shee abideth & remaineth in the rocke, even vpon the top of the rocke and the tower.

32 From thence shee piereth for meate, and her eyes behold a farre off.

33 His young ones also sucke by blood: and where the flaine are, there is he.

34 Wherefore the Lord spake vnto Iob, and said,

35 Is this to learne to striue with the Almighty? hee that reprooueth God, let him answer to it.

36 Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,

37 Behold, I am vile: what shall I answer thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth.

38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answer no more, yea twise, but I will proceede no further.

CHAP. XL.

2 How weak man power is, being compared to the workes of God: 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and governing of the great beasts.

A Gaine, the Lord answered Iob out of the whirlewind, and said,

2 Bird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, & declare thou vnto me.

3 Wilt thou disanul my iudgement, or wilt thou condemne me that thou mayest bee iustified.

4 Hast thou an arme like God? or dost thou thunder with a voyce like him.

5 Decke thy selfe now with basellie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beautie and glory.

6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proude, and abase him.

7 Look on euery one that is arrogant, and hating him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in the dust together, and binde their faces in a secret place.

9 Then wilt I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can save thee.

10 Behold now Behemoth, (whom I made with thee) which eateth grass as an oxe.

11 Behold now, his strength is in his loynes, and his force is in the nauill of his belly.

12 When hee taketh pleasure, his taste is like a Cedar: the sinewes of his bones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like stauies of hyasse, and his small bones like stauies of yron.

14 He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: hee that made him, will make his sword to approach vnto him.

15 Surely the mountains bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.

16 Lier he vnder the trees in the court of the reede and fennes?

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the river compasse him about?

18 Behold, hee spoylith the river, and hasteth not: hee trusteth that hee can draw vp Iordan into his mouth.

19 He taketh in with his eyes, & thrusteth his nose through whatsoener meeteth him.

20 Canst thou draw out Linathian with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?

21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose, canst thou pierce his lawes with an angle?

22 Will hee make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?

23 Will hee make a covenant with thee, & wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maids?

25 Shall the companions banquet with him? shall they diuise him among the merchants?

26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fish panier with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battell, and do no more so.

28 Behold, his hope is in vaine, for shall not one perishe euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnes of this monster Linathian, God sheweth his greatnesse, and his power, which nothing can resist.

None is so fierce that dare stirre him vp, who is he then that can stand before mee?

2 Who hath prevented me that I should make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

3 I will not keepe silence concerning his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

4 Who can discouer the face of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double bridle?

5 Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearfull round about.

6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed.

7 One is set to another, that no winde can come betwene them.

8 One is loyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundred.

9 His neckings make the light to shine, & his eyes are like the eyes of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his nostrils cometh out smoke, h He is one of the chiefe workes of God among the beasts.

i Though man dare not come neere him, yet God can kill him.

k He drinketh at leisure & feasteth no body.

l Meaning, the whale.

m Because hee seareth lest thou shouldst take him.

n To do thy businesse, and be at thy commandement?

o If thou once consider the danger, thou wilt not meddle with him.

p To wit, that trusteth to take him.

a If none dare stand against a whale which is but a creature, who is able to compare with God? Creator?

b Who hath taught n to accomplish my worke?

c The parts and members of the whale.

d That is, who dare pull off his skinne?

e Who dare put a bridle in his mouth?

f Who dare look in his mouth?

g That is, catteeth out flames of fire,

h Nothing is painefull or hard vnto him.

i His skin is so hard that he lieth with as great ease on the stones, as in the mire.
k Either he maketh the sea to seeme as it boiled by his wallowing, or else he spouteth water in such abundance, as it would seeme that the sea boyled.
l That is, a white froth and shining streame before him.
m He despiseth all other beasts and monsters, & is the proudest of all others.

as out of a boyling pot of caldion.

12 His wrath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth strength, and labour is relected before his face.

14 The members of his body are cloynd; they are strong in themselves, and cannot be moued.

15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether millstone.

16 The mighty are afraid of his maiesty, and for feare they faint in themselves.

17 When the word doeth touch him, hee will not rise vp, nor for the spear, dart nor habergeon.

18 He esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.

19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

20 The darts are counted as straw: and he laugheth at the shaking of the speare.

21 Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the mire.

22 He maketh the depth to^k boyle like a pot, and maketh y sea like a pot of syntment.

23 He maketh a path to^l shine after him: one would thinke y depths as an hoare head.

24 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.

25 He beholdeth^m all high things: he is a king ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 He prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him.

13 His childrens age and death.

a No thought so secret, but thou dost see it, nor any thing that thou thinkest, but thou canst bring it to passe.

c I confesse here in mine ignorance, and that I spake I wist not what.
d Hee sheweth that hee will be Gods scholler to learne of him.
e I knew thee only before by hearesay: but now thou hast caused me to seele what thou art to me; that I may resigne my selfe ouer vnto thee.

When Iob answered the Lord, and sayd,
2 I know that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no^a thought hid from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderful for me,^c and which I knew not.

4 Heare I beleeue thee, and I will speake: I will demand of thee, and^d declare thou vnto me.

of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also sayd vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, Whyrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of me the thing that isⁱ right, like my seruants Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I will accept him, lest I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had sayd vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 Then the Lord turned theⁱ captivity of Iob, when he prayed for his friends, also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as hee had before.

11 Then came vnto him all his brethren and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and eueny one an earring of gold.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for hee hadⁱ fourteene thousand sheepe, and fixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand hee asses.

13 Hee had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And hee called the name of one^m Jemimah, and the name of the secondⁿ Keziah, and the name of the third^o Kerenhapuch.

15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Iob an hundredth and fortie yeres, and saw his sonnes and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.

17 So Iob dyed, being olde and full of dayes.

f You tooke in hand an euill cause, in that you condemned him by his outward afflictions; & not comforted him with my mercies.
g Who had a good cause but handled it euill.
h When you haue reconciled your selues to him for the fautes that you haue committed against him, he shall pray for you, and I will heare him.
i He deliuered him out of the affliction, wherein he was.
k That is, all his kinned, reade Chap. 19. 13.
l Or, lambe, or money so marked.
m God made him twise so rich in cattell as he was afore, and gaue him as many children as hee had taken from him.
n That is, of long life, or beautiful as the day.
o As pleasant as Cassia, or sweet spice.
p That is, the horne of beautie.

The Psalmes of Dauid.

THE ARGUMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost, to be esteemed as a most precious treasure; wherein all things are contained that appertaine to true felicitie, as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge and heavenly wisdom are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and hie maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clearly. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bounty and approach neere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here may we haue a most liuely and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, & how to attaine to life euerslasting, here is Christ our onely Redeemer and Mediatour most evidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may find full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted, & oppressed,

*Or, prayes according to the Hebrewes: and were chiefly instituted to praise and give thanks to God for his benefits. They are called the psalmes or songs of Dauid, because the most part were made by him.

preſſe ſhall ſee wherein ſtandeth their comfort, and how they ought to praiſe God when he ſendeth them deliueraunce. The wicked and the perſecuters of the children of God ſhall ſee how the hand of God is euer againſt them: and though he ſuffer them to proſper for a while, yet he bridlethe them, in ſomuch as they cannot touch a haire of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their deſtruction is moſt miſerable. Briefly, here we may haue moſt preſent remedy againſt all temptations and troubles of minde and conſcience, ſo that being well practiſed herin, we may be aſſured againſt all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is laid vp for all them that loue the coming of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

P S A L. I.

Whether it was Eſdras, or any other that gathered the Pſalmes into a booke, it ſeemeth he did ſet this Pſalm firſt in manner of a preface, to exhort all godly men to ſtude and meditate the heavenly wiſedome. For the effect hereof ſu. 1 That they be bleſſed, which giue themſelves wholly all their liſe to the holy Scriptures: And that the wicked contemptors of God though they ſeeme for a while happy, yet at length ſhall come to miſerable deſtruction.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counſel of the wicked, nor ſtand in the way of ſinners, nor ſit in the ſeat of the ſcoornfull.

2 But his delight is in the Law of the Lord, and in his Law doth he meditate day and night.

3 For hee ſhall be like a tree planted by the riuer of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due ſeaſon: whole leafe ſhall not fade, ſo whatſoever he ſhall do, ſhall proſper.

4 The wicked are not ſo, but as the chaſſe, which the winde driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked ſhall not ſtand in the iudgement, nor ſinners in the aſſembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked ſhall periſh.

a When a man hath giuen once place to euill conſell, or to his owne concupiſcence, he beginneth to forget himſelfe in his ſinne, and to fall into contempt of God, which contempt is called the ſeat of the ſcorners. Deut. 6. 6. 10. 11. 8. prou. 6. 20. b In the holy Scriptures. Iſa. 1. 7. 8.

c Gods children are ſo moiſtened euer with his grace, that whatſoever cometh to them, tendeth to their ſaluation. d Though the wicked ſeeme to beate the ſwinge in this world, yet the Lord driueth them down that they ſhall not riſe nor ſtand in the company of the righteous. e But tremble when they feele Gods wrath. f Doth approve and proſper, like as not to know, is to reprove and reiect.

P S A L. II.

1 The Prophet David reioyeth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance it euen to the end of the world. 10 and therefore exhorteth kings and rulers, that they would humbly ſubmit themſelves vnder Gods yoke, becauſe it is in vaine to reſiſt God. Herein is figured Chriſts kingdom.

Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmur in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band themſelves, the princes are aſſembled together againſt the Lord, and againſt his Chriſt.

3 Let vs breake their bandes, and caſt their cords from vs.

4 But he that dwelleth in the heauen, ſhall laugh: the Lord ſhall haue them in deriſion.

5 Then ſhall he ſpeake vnto them in his wrath, and breake them in his ſore diſpleaſure, ſaying,

1 David driven forth of his kingdom, was greatly tormented in minde for his ſinnes againſt God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bold through his promiſes againſt the great railings and terrours of his enemies, yea againſt death it ſelfe, which he ſaw preſent before his eyes. 7 Finally he reioyeth for the good ſucceſſe that God gaue him, and all the Church.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast let mee at liberty, when I was in distresse: haue mercie vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O ye sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lies? Selah.

3 For he ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 Tremble, and sinne not: examine your own heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah.

5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, Who will shew vs any good? but the Lord lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate, and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay me downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou Lord, only makest me dwell in safetie.

P S A L. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries.

7 After being assured of prosperous successe, hee conceiveth comfort.

13 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shalbe partakers of the same mercies.

To him that excelleth vpon Neginoth.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Hear my words, O Lord: vnderstand my meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my cry, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct mee vnto thee, and I will wait.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth wickednesse, neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way as iust, therefore leade me out of the dangers of mine enemies.

plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their throte is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couet thou them: and let them that loue thy name reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt bless the righteous, and with fauour wilt compass him, as with a shield.

P S A L. VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had provoked Gods wrath and now felt not only his hard against him, but also conceived the horrors of death everlasting, hee desireth forgiveness.

6 Bewailing that if God tooke him away in his indignation, hee should lacke occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe, while hee was among men.

9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercy hee sharply rebuketh his enemies, which reioycd in his affliction.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the right tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale mee, for my bones are vexed.

3 My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord, how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue, who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed every night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

7 Mine eye is dimmed for despise, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

A Psalm of David.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world: which hath set thy glory above the heavens.

2 Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the avenger.

3 When I behold thine heavens, even the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordained,

4 What is man, say I, that thou art mindfull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou wilt test him?

5 For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glorie and worship.

6 Thou hast made him to have dominion on in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things under his feet:

7 All sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beasts of the field:

8 The foules of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth through the pathes of the seas.

9 O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world!

O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust, saue me from all that persecute me, and deliuer me:

2 Lest he deuoure my soule like a Lyon, and teare it in pieces, while there is none to helpe.

3 O Lord my God if I haue done this thing, if there bee any wickednesse in mine hands;

4 If I haue rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with me (yea, I haue deliue-red him that vered me without cause)

5 Then let the enemy persecute my soule and take stripe, let him tread my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah.

6 Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for mee according to the iudge-ment that thou hast appointed.

7 So shall the congregation of the people compass thee about: for their sakes therfore returne on high.

8 The Lord shall iudge the people: iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my righte-ousnesse, and according to mine innocencie, that is in me.

9 Let the malice of the wicked come to an end, but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.

10 My defence is in God, who preferreth the vpight in heart.

11 God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contendeth with God euery day.

12 Except hee turne, hee hath whet his sword: hee hath bent his bow and made it ready.

13 Hee hath also prepared him deadly weapons: hee will ordeine his arrowes for them that persecute me.

14 Behold, he shall traueill with wickednesse: for he hath conceived mischief, but he shall bring forth a lie.

15 He hath made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the pit that he made.

16 His mischief shall returne vpon his owne head, and his cruelty shall fall vpon his owne pate.

righteousnesse, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most High.

PSAL. X.

1 ^a Hee complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, and all kindes of wrong, which worldly men vs, as signing the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting apart all feare and reuerence towards God, thinke they may doe all things without controuling. 15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate euils, 16 and at length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

a So soone as we enter into affliction, we thinke God should help vs, but that is not alwayes his due time.

b The wicked man reioyceth in his owne lust: he boasteth when he hath that he would: he braggeth of his wit and wealth, and bleisseth himselfe, and thus blasphemeth the Lord.

|| Or, snuffeth at.
 || Or, not be moued, because he was neuer in euill.

c The euill shall not touch me, Isa. 28. 15. or els he speaketh thus, because he neuer felt euill.

d He sheweth that the wicked haue many meanes to hide their cruelty, and therefore ought more to be feared e By the hypocritie of them that haue authoritie, the poore are deuoured.

f He calleth to God for helpe, because wickednes is so far ouergrown, that God must now helpe, or auer. g Therefore thou must needs punish this their blasphemy.

Why standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in ^a due time, even in affliction?

2 The wicked with pride doth persecute the poore: let them bee taken in the craftes that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath ^b made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the courteous bleisseth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord.

4 The wicked is so proud, that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwayes, There is no God.

5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are high aboue his sight: therefore he despieth he all his enemies.

6 He saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, ^c nor be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of curling and deceit and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie.

8 Hee lyeth in wait in the villages: in the secret places doth hee murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in wait secretly, even as a lion in his denne: hee lyeth in wait to spoyle the poore: hee doth spoyle the poore, when hee draweth him into his net.

10 Hee croucherh and boweth: therefore heapes of the ^c poore doe fall by his might.

11 Hee hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, hee hideth away his face, and will neuer see.

12 Arise, O Lord God: lift vp thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Therefore doth the wicked contemne God: he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

14 Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine hands, the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: search his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde none.

16 The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed footst of his land.

17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou best thine care to them.

18 To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man cause to feare no more.

h To iudge betweene the right and the wrong.
 i For thou hast utterly destroyed him.
 k The hypocrites or such as liue not after Gods Law, shall be destroyed.
 l God helpeth when mans helpe ceaseth.
 || Or, destroy no more man vpon the earth.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalm containeth two parts: In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of temptations bee sustained, and in how great anguish of minde hee was when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyceth that God sent him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice as well in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

In the Lord put I my trust: how say wee then to my soule, ^a flee to your mountaine as a bird?

2 For loe, the wicked bend their bow, and make ready their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoote at them, which are vpright in heart.

3 For the ^b foundations are cast downe: what hath the ^c righteous done?

4 The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lords throne is in the heauen: his eyes will consider: his eye lids will trie the children of men.

5 The Lord will trie the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.

6 Vpon the wicked he shall raise snares, fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is ^c the portion of their cup.

7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnesse: his countenance doeth behold the iust.

dome and Gomorra. f Which they shall drinke euen to the dregs, Ezek. 23. 34.

PSAL. XII.

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting himselfe and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, he commendeth the constant verity that God obserueth in keeping his promise.

To him that excelleth vpon the right tune. A Psalm of David.

Helpe Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.

2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, ^b flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart.

3 The Lord cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:

a This is the wicked counsell of his enemies to him & his companions, to drine him from the hope of Gods promise.
 b All hope of succour is taken away.
 c Yet am I innocent, and my cause good.
 d Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God will execute iudgement from heauen.
 e As in the destruction of Sodome and Gomorra.

a Which dare defend the truth, and shew mercy to the oppressed.
 b He meaneth the flatterers of the court, which hurt him more with their tongues then with their weapons.

e They thinke themselves able to perswade whatsoeuer they take in hand. d The Lord is moued with the complaints of his, & deliuereth in the end from all dangers. e Because the Lords word and promise is true & vncchangeable, he will performe it, and preserue the poore from this wicked generation. f That is, thine, though he were but one man. g For they suppress the godly, and maintaine the wicked.

4 Which haue said, With our tongue will wee praise: our lips are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs? 5 How for the oppression of the needie, and for the lightes of the poore, I wil vp, saith the Lord, and will set at libertie him, whom the wicked hath snared. 6 The words of the Lord are pure words, as the silver, tried in a fornace of earth, fined asuen fold. 7 Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preserue him from this generation for euer. 8 The wicked walk on euery side: when they are exalted, sit is a shame for the sonnes of men.

PSAL. XIII.

1 David as it were overcome with sundry and new afflictions, fleeth to god as his onely refuge, 3 and so at the length being encouraged through Gods promise, hee conceiue most sure confidence against the extreme horrors of death.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

a He declareth that his afflictions lasted a long time, and that his faith fainted not b Changing my purpose as the sicke man doeth his place. c Which might turne to Gods dishonour, if he did not defend his d The mercy of God is the cause of our saluation. e Both by the benedictions past, & by others to come.

H ow long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for euer? how long wilt thou hyde thy face from me? 2 How long shall I take counsel with in my selfe, hauing weariennes daily in mine heart? how long shall mine enemy be exalted aboue me? 3 Behold, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death: 4 Lest mine enemy say, I haue preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I lide. 5 But I trust in thy mercy: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing to the Lord, because hee hath dealt louingly with mee.

PSAL. XIII.

1 He describeth the peruerse nature of men, which were so grown to licentiousnes, that God was brought to utter contempt. 7 For the which thing although he was greatly grieved, yet being perswaded that God would send some present remedy, hee comforteth himselfe and others.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of David.

Psal. 53. a He sheweth that the cause of all wickednes is to forget God. b There is nothing but disorder and wickednesse among them. c David here maketh compassion betweene the faithfull and the reprobate: our Saint Paul speaketh the same of all men naturally, Rom 3. 10. d Where they thinke themselves most sure.

Thy: foole hath sayd in his heart, There is no God: They haue corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good. 2 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand and seeke God. 3 All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one. 4 Doe not all the workers of iniquitie know that they eate vp my people, as they eate bread? they call not vpon the Lord. 5 There they shall be taken with feare because God is in the generation of the iust.

6 Thou haue made a mocke at the counsel of the poore, because the Lord is his trust. 7 Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iacob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

Note that of this 14 Psalme, the 5. 6 and 7. verses which are put into the common Translation, and may seeme vnto some to be leste out in this, are not in the same Psalme in the Hebrew text; but are rather put in, more fully to expresse the maners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5. 140. and 10. Psalmes, the 59. of the Prophet Iaiiah, and the 36. Psalme, and are alleadged by S. Paul, and placed together in the third to the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalme teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Jewes for his peculiar people, and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing uprightly and godly, might wisnesse that they were his speciall and holy people.

A Psalme of David.

Lord, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shall rest in thine holy mountaine?

2 He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart.

3 Hee that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiveth a false report against his neighbour.

4 In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but hee honoureth them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his owne hindrance and changeth not.

5 Hee that giueth not his money vnto vniuste, nor taketh reward against the innocent: hee that doeth these things, shall neuer be moued.

a First God requirerth vprightnesse of life, next doing well to others, & thirdly truth & simplicity in our words. b He that flattereth not the vngodly in their wickednesse. c To the hindrance of his neighbour. d That is, shall not be cast forth of the Church as hypocrites.

PSAL. XVI.

1 David prayeth vnto God for succour, not for his workes, but for his faiths sake, 4 Protesting that he hateth all idolatrie, taking God onely for his comfort and felicitie, 8 Who suffereth him to lacke nothing.

A Psalme of David.

Preserue mee, O God: for in thee doe I trust.

2 O my soule thou hast said vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my well doing extendeth not to thee,

3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delight is in them.

4 The sorowes of them that offer to another God, shall be multiplied: their offerings of bloods will I not offer, neither make mention of their names with my lips.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalm is the first beginning of his gratulation and thanksgiving in the entering into his kingdom, wherein he extollet and praeseth most highly the marvellous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserved and defended him. 32 Also he setteth forth the image of Christs kingdom, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer & overcome by the vnspeakable power of his Father, though all the whole world should strive there against.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the words of this song (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and said,

I will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.

2 ^a The Lord is my rocke, and my fortress, and hee that deliuereth mee, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the hope also of my saluation, and my refuge.

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to be ^b praised: so that I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made mee afraid.

5 The sorowes of the graue haue compassed mee about: the snares of death overtook mee.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cried vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my cry did come before him, even into his eares.

7 ^c Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountains mooued and shooke, because he was angry.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and a ^d consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.

9 He bowed the heauens also and came downe, and ^e darkenesse was vnder his feete.

10 And hee rode vpon ^f Cherub, and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 Hee made darkenesse his ^g secret place, and his pavilion round about him, even darknesse of waters, and clouds of the ayre.

12 At the brightnesse of his presence his clouds passed, haile stones and coales of fire.

13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the highest gaue ^h his voyce, haile stones and coales of fire.

14 Then hee sent out ⁱ his arrowes and scattered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

p The cause of Gods deliuerance is his onely fauour and loue to vs.

q Dauid was sure of his righteous cause and good behauiour toward Saul and his enemies, and therefore was assured of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

r For all his dangers hee exercised himselfe in the Law of God.

c He attributeth the beginning continuance and increase in wel doing onely to Gods fauour.

d David declareth that he did nothing besides his vocation, but was stirred up by Gods Spirit to execute his iudgements.

15 And the channels of waters were seene, and the foundations of the world were discovered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 He hath sent downe from aboue, and taken me: he hath drawen mee out of many waters.

17 He hath deliuered me from my strong enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were too strong for me.

18 They preuented mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place, he deliuered me because he fauoured mee.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the purenesse of mine hands he recompensed me.

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his lawes were before me, and I did not cast away his commandments from me.

23 I was vp-right also with him, & haue kept me from my wickednesse.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness, & according to the purenesse of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the godly thou wilt shew thy selfe godly: with the vp-right man thou wilt shew thy selfe vp-right.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenesse.

29 For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vn-corrupt: the word of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mighty saue our God?

32 God girdeth mee with strength, and maketh my way vp-right.

33 He maketh my feete like hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bow of brass is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen mee the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed mee, and thy loving kindnesse hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feet.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: them that rose against me, thou hast subued vnder me.

40 And thou hast giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cried, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made mee the head of the heathen: a people, whom I haue not knowne, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey mee: the stranger shall bee in subiection to mee.

45 Strangers shall shynke away, and feare in their priue chambers.

46 Let the Lord lue, and blessed bee my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 It is God that giueth mee power to avenge me, & subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set me vp from them that rose against me: thou hast deliuered me from the cruel man.

49 Therefore I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his King, and sheweth mercie to his anointed, euen to Dauid, and to his seed for euer.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, and also grieved with the cruell malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God most feruently to haue his sinnes forgiven, 7 Especially such as hee had committed in his youth. Hee beginneth euery verse according to the Hebrew letters, two or three excepted.

A Psalme of David.

Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I vp my soule.

2 O Lord, I trust in thee: let mee not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.

3 So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: but let them bee confounded, that transgresse without cause.

4 Shew mee thy wayes, O Lord, and teach mee thy pathes.

5 Lead me forth in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for mee.

7 Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou mee, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will hee teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that bee meeke, will hee a guide in iudgement: and teach the humble his way.

10 All the pathes of the Lord are mercie and truth vnto such as keepe his covenant and his testimonies.

f That is, call them to repentance. g He will gouerne and comfort them that are truly humbled for their sinnes.

11 For thy names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.

12 What man is hee that feareth the Lord? him will he teach the way that he shall chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seede shall inherite the land.

14 The secret of the Lord is reueiled to them that feare him: & his covenant to giue them vnderstanding.

15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he will bring my feete out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto me, & haue mercy vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.

17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Looke vpon mine affliction and my trouble, and forgive all my sinnes.

19 Behold mine enemies, & enuenies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruell hatred.

20 Keepe my soule and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

21 Let mine vprightnes and equity pre-serue me: for my hope is in thee.

22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 David oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for ayde from God: and assured of his integritie toward Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defend his innocency. 6 Finally, he maketh mention of his sacrifice, which hee will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to bee in the company of the faithfull in the congregation of God, whence he was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open prayse and thanksgiving.

A Psalme of David.

IUDGE me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.

2 Purge me, O Lord, and try me: examine my reines, and mine heart.

3 For thy louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy truth.

4 I haue not haunted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the assembly of the ruff, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I wil wash mine hands in innocency, O Lord, and compass thyne altar,

7 That I may declare with the voyce of thanksgiving, & let forth all thy wonderous workes.

8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloody men:

PSAL. XXVII.

David maketh this Psalm being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayes and thanksgiving annexed: 6 Wherein wee may see the constant faith of David against the assaults of all his enemies:
7 And also the end wherefore he desireth to live and to be deliuered, only to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalm of Dauid.

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his saluation was surely laid vp in God, he feared not the tyranny of his enemies.
b That God will deliuer me, and giue me my faith the victory.
c The losse of cuntry, wife, and all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not praise thy Name in the mids of the congregation.
d David assured himselfe by the spirit of prophesie, that he should overcome his enemies, and serue God in his Tabernacle.
e He groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that hee is most willing to obey his commandement.
f He magnifieth Gods loue toward his, which farre passeth the most tender loue of parents toward their children.
g But either pac-ifie their wrath, or bridle their rage. h In this present life before die, as Isa. 58:11. i Hee exhorteth himselfe to depend on the word, seeing he neuer failed in his promises.

The Lord is my light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon mee to cate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an holie pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be raised against mee, I will trust in this.

4 One thing haue I desired of the Lord that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to behold the beautes of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his paviilion shall hee hide mee, and set mee vpon a rocke.

6 And now shall hee lift vp mine head about mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and prayse the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voice, O Lord, when I cry: haue mercy also vpon mee, and heare mee.

8 When thou saydest, Seeke yee my face: mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue mee not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto the lust of mine aduaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, and such as speake cruellly.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleeued to see the goodnesse of the Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and hee shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

PSAL. XXVIII.

Being in great feare and brauennesse of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, hee desireth to be rid of them, 4 and cryeth for vengeance against them: And at length assurcth himselfe that God hath heard his prayer, 9 Vnto whose nation hee commendeth all the faithfull.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Vnto thee, O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deafe toward mee, lest if thou answer mee not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp my hands toward thine holy Deale.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands, therefore breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength and my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my long will I prayse him.

8 The Lord is their strength, & he is the strength of the deliuerance of his anointed.

9 Save thy people, and blisse thine inheritance: feed them also, & exalt them for euer.

e Let them be viterly destroyed, as Malac. 1. 4. f Because he felt the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his prayes, g Meaning his souldiers, who were as meanes, by whom God declared his power.

PSAL. XXIX.

The Prophet exhorteth the Princes and rulers of the world (which for the most part thinke there is no God,) 3 at the least to feare him for the thunders, and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble, 4 And though thereby God threateneth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to his, and moueth them thereby to prayse his Name.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Giue vnto the Lord, ye sons of the might, glorie giue vnto the Lord glory & strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary.

3 The voice of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder,

PSAL. XXX.

1 When David was deliuered from great danger, he rendered thanks to God, exhorting others to doe the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull then severe and rigorous towards his children. 7 And also that the fall from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 This done he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God forever.

A Psalm of David.

I will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing praises vnto the Lord, yee his Saints, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his holinesse.

5 For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life, weeping may abide at euening, but ioy cometh in the morning.

6 And in my prosperitie I sayd, I shall neuer be moued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnesse haddest made my mountaine to stand strong: but thou diddest hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? shall the dust giue thanks vnto thee, or shall it declare thy trueth?

10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me: O Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded me with gladnesse.

12 Therfore shall my tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 David deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemies being ready to take him. 5 Then he affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally, he exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God, and to loue him, because he preserueth and strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

1 In thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousness.

2 Bow downe thine eare to mee: make haste to deliuer mee: bee vnto mee a strong rocke, and an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortresse: therefore for thy Names sake direct mee and guide me.

4 Draw mee out of the net, that they haue layd priuily for mee: for thou art my strength.

ente Dauid: against whom hee prayeth God to please and to avenge his cause, 8 that they may be taken in their nets and snares, which they laide for him, that his innocencie may be declared, 27 and that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce & praise the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruants, 28 And so he promisseth to speake forth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Leadethou my cause, O Lord, with them that strime with mee: fight thou against them that fight against me.

2 Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the spear, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them bee turned backe and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

6 Let their way be darke & slippery: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For without cause they haue hid the pit and there net for mee: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon him at vnawares, and let his net that hee hath laide priuily, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall bee ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

10 All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him that is too strong for him, yea, the poore, and him that is in miserie, from him that spoileth him!

11 Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded mee euill for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke, I humbled my soule with fasting: and my prayer was turned vpon my bolome.

14 I behaue my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

15 But in mine aduersity they reioyced, and gathered themselves together: the abjects assembled themselves against mee, and I knew not: they tare me and ceased not.

16 With the false scoffers at bankers, gnashing their teeth against me:

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this? deliuer my soule from the tumult, even my desolate soule from the Lyons.

18 So will I giue thee thanks in a great Congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, into despaire.

1 I prayed for them with inward affection, as I would haue done for my selfe: or, I declared mine affection, with bowing downe mine head. m When they saw me ready to slip, and as one that halted for infirmities. n With their railing word. o The word significeth cakes: meaning, that the proud courtiers at their daintie feasts, scoffs, raile, and conspire his death.

30 The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue wil talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

^g When thou hadst opened mine eares and heart, I was ready to obey thee, being assured that I was written in the booke of thine elect for this end. ^h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuary.

then

k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was vitally desirous of all counsell: yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to pray.

l He desireth that Gods mercy may contend for him against the rage of his enemies.

m Let the same shame & confusion light vpon them, which they intended to haue brought vpon mee.

n As the faithfull alwayes praise God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

a Not condemning him as accursed whom God doth visite, knowing that there are diuers causes why God layeth his hand vpon vs: yea, and afterward he reuolureth vs.

b When for sorrow and griefe of minde he cankeeth himselfe vpon his bed.

c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed, and sent him comfort.

d That is, cuse me, and cannot haue their cruell hate quenched, but with my shamefull death.

e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and braggeth thereof.

f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishment that God was become his mortall enemy.

g Then the haire of mine head: therefore mine heart hath filled me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer me: make haire, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy: let them be dauiden backward and put to rebuke that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them that seeke thee, reioyce, and bee glad in thee: and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway, "The Lord bee praised."

17 Though I be poore & needy, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

As the faithfull alwayes praise God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

P S A L. XLI.

1 David being grievously afflicted, blesteth them that put in his case, 9 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Ioh. 13. 18. After he feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13 Giveth most hearty thanks vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Blessed is hee that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserve him alime: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the bed of sorrow: thou hast turned all his bed in his sicknesse.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon mee: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies speake euill of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see mee, hee speaketh lies, but his heart heapeeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth he releeueth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against mee doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischief is light vpon him, and he that lieth, shall no more rise.

9 Yea, my familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eate of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercie vpon me, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them.

11 By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemy doeth not triumph against me.

12 And as for mee, thou vpholdest mee in mine integritie, and dost let me before thought by his sharpe punishment that God was become his mortall enemy. 1 Ebr, the man of my peace. 9 As David felt this falsehood, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13. 18. so shall his members continually prooue the same. h Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in true feare of God against all tentations.

thy face for ever.

13 Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel world without end. So be it, amen so be it.

k By this repetition he stirreth vp the faithfull to praise God.

P S A L. XLII.

1 The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutors, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in body from them, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned, 7 And last of all he sheweth that he was not so farre overcome with these sorrows and thoughts, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

As the hart bzaleteth for the riners of water, so panteth my soule after thee, O God.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God?

3 My teares haue bene my meate day and night, while they dayly say vnto mee, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembered these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led them into the house of God with the voice of singing, and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe my soule, and in quiet within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, because I remember thee from the land of Iordan, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.

7 One deepe calleth another deepe by the noyse of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord will graunt his longing kindnesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life.

9 I will say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? Why goest thou mourning, when the enemy oppresseth mee?

10 My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproach me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: hee is my present helpe, and my God.

I felt my selfe as overwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no end of our miserie, till God be pacified, and send remedie. h He assured himselfe of Gods help in time to come. i That is, I am most grievously tormented. k This repetition doeth declare that Dauid did not overcome at once: to teach vs to bee constant, so much as God will certainly deliuer his.

P S A L. XLIII.

1 He prayeth to be deliuered from them which conspire against him, that he might iustly praise God in his holy congregation.

b By these similitudes of thirst and panting, hee sheweth his fervent desire to serue God in his Temple.

c As others take pleasure in eating and drinking, so he was altogether giuen to weeping.

d That is, how I led the people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, and now seeing my contrary estate, I dis for sorrow.

e Though he sustained grievous assaults of the flesh to call him into despaine, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies, gaue him the victorie.

f That is, when I remember thee in this land of my banishment among the mountaines.

g Afflictions came so thick vpon me, that a He desireth God to vnder- take his cause a- gainst the ene- mies, but chiefly that he would restore him to the Tabernacle.

b That is, the cruell company of mine enemies.
c To wit, thy fa- uour, which ap- peareth by the performance of thy promises.
d He promisseth to offer a so- leme sacrifice of thanksgiuing in token of his great deliuerance. e Whereby he admonisheth the faithfull not to relent, but constantly to wait on the Lord, though their troubles belong and great.

I Adge me, O God, and defend my cause against the vnnierciful people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.
2 For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put mee away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth mee?
3 Send thy light and thy truth: let them lead me: let them bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.
4 Then will I goe vnto the Altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and glad- ness: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God.
5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe and my God.

P S A L. XLIII.

1 The faithfull remember the great merite of God toward his people. 9 After they complaine, because they seele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the con- nant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shew what grievous things they suffered. 23 Fi- nally, they pray vnto God not to contemne their affli- ction, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

Co him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

a This Psalme seemeth to haue bene made by some excellent Prophet for the vse of the people when the Church was in extreme miserie, either at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antio- chus, or in such like affliction.
b That is, the Canaanites.
c To wit, our fathers.
d Of Canaan.
e That is, our fathers.
f Gods free mer- cie and loue is the onely foun- taine and begin- ning of the Church, Deut. 32.
g Because thou art our King, therefore deliuer thy people from their miserie. h Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they apply that to themselves, which before they did attribute to their fathers. i As they confessed before, that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affli- ction came by his iust iudgement.

Vee haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the workes that thou hast done in their dayes, in the old time:
2 How thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, and planted them: how thou hast destroyed the people, and caused them to grow.
3 For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, be- cause thou diddest fauour them.
4 Thou art my King, O God: send help vnto Iakob.
5 Through thee haue wee thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy name haue we tro- den downe them that rose vp against vs.
6 For I doe not trust in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.
7 But thou hast saued vs from our ad- uersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.
8 Therefore will we praise God continu- ally, and will confesse thy name for euer. Selah.
9 But now thou art farre off, and putteth vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.
10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersary, and they which hate vs, spoylle for themselves.

11 Thou giuest vs as sheepe to bee ea- ten, and dost scatter vs among the nations.
12 Thou sellest thy people without gain, and dost not increase their price.
13 Thou makest vs a reproofe to our neighbours, a jest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.
14 Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and the nodding of the head a- mong the people.
15 My confusion is daily before me, and the shame of my face hath covered me.
16 For the voice of the slanderer and re- buker, for the enemy and auenger.
17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not forget thee, neither deale wee falsely concerning thy covenant.
18 Our heart is not turned backe: nei- ther our steps gone out of thy pathes.
19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe in- to the place of Dragons, and covered vs with the shadow of death.
20 If wee haue forgotten the name of our God, and holden vp our hands to a strange god, 21 Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.
22 Surely for thy sake are wee slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.
23 Up, why sleepest thou, O Lord, awake, be not farre off for euer.
24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our misery and our affliction?
25 For our soule is beaten downe in- to the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.
26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeems vs for thy mercies sake.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beau- tie, riches, and power are praised, and also his marriage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is blessed, 10 If that she can renounce her people, and the loss of her countrey, and giue her selfe wholly to her husband. Vnder the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdome of Christ, and his Church his Spouse now taken of the Gentiles, is described.

a This was a certaine tune or an instrument. b Of that perfite loue that ought to be betwene the husband and the wife. c Salomons beaurie and elo- quence to winne fauour with his people, and his power to over- come his enemies, is here described.

d He alludeth to them that ride in chariots in their triumphs, shewing that the quiet state of a kingdome standeth in truth, meeknesse and iustice, not in worldly pomp and vanity.
e Under this figure of this kingdome of iustice is set forth the everlasting kingdome of Christ.
f Hath established thy kingdome as the figure of Christ, which is the peace and ioy of the Church.
g In the which palace the people made thee ioyfull to see them giue thanks and reioyce for thee.
h Though he had many kings daughters among his wiues, yet he loued Pharaohs daughter best.
i Under the figure of Pharaohs daughter, he sheweth that the Church must cast off all carnall affections to obey Christ onely.
k He signifieth, that diuers of them that bee rich shall be benefactors to the church, albeit they giue not perfect obedience to the gospel. || Or, Zor. 1 There is nothing fained nor hypocriticall, but she is glorious both within & without: and howe it the Church hath not at all times this outward glory, the fault is to be imputed onely to their owne ingratitude. m They shall haue greater graces then their fathers. n He signified the great compasse of Christs kingdome, which shall be sufficient to enrich all his members. o This must onely be referred to Christ, and not to Solomon.

3 Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, & most mighty, to wit, thy worship and thy glory.
4 And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the word of truth and of meeknesse and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrows are sharpe to pierce the heart of the kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousness.

7 Thou louest righteousness, and hatest wickednes, because God euen thy God hath anoynted thee with the oyle of gladnesse above thy fellows.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and Cassia, when thou comest out of the purple palaces, where they haue made thee glad.

9 Kings daughters were among thine honourable wiues: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir.

10 Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people, and thy fathers house.

11 So shall the king haue pleasure in thy beauty: for hee is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyus, with the rich of the people that doe homage before thy face with presents.

13 The kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of brodered gold.

14 She shall be brought vnto the king in rayment of needle worke: the virgines that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee.

15 Gladness and gladnesse shall they bee brought, and shall enter into the kings palace.

16 Instead of thy fathers shall thy children bee: thou shalt make them princes throughout all the earth.

17 I will make thy name to be remembered through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee without end.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiving for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his army was driuen away, or some other like sudden and marvellous deliuerance by the mighty hand of God.
2 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefite, doth exhort the faithfull to giue themselves wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall bee safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his delight, to aswage the rage of the wicked, when they are most iust against themselues.

To him that excelleth vpon Alamoth. A song committed to the sonnes of Korah.
G D is our hope and strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found.

2 Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moued, and though the mountaines fall into the mids of the sea.

3 Though the waters thereof rage and be troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah.

4 Yet there is a River, whose streames shall make glad the cite of God: euen the Sanctuary of the Tabernacles of the most High.

5 God is in the mids of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall help it very early.

6 When the nations raged, and the kingdomes were moued, God hath humbled, and the earth melted.

7 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge. Selah.

8 Come, and behold the workes of the Lord, what desolations hee hath made in the earth.

9 Hee maketh warres to cease vnto the ends of the world: he breaketh the bow and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire.

10 Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth.

11 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge. Selah.

b He hath made the lewes, who were the keepers of Law & Prophets, schoolmasters to the Gentiles, that they should with gladnesse obey them.
c God hath chosen vs above all other nations to enioy a most glorious inheritance.
d He doth allude vnto the trumpets that were blown at solemne feasts, but he doth further signifie the triumph of Christ and his glorious ascension into the heauens.
e He requireth that vnderstanding be ioyned with singing, lest the Name of God be profaned with vaine crying.

¶ 4 8 GOD

Hee prayeth Gods highnesse, for that he joynech the great princes of the world (whom he calleth shields) to the fellowship of his Church.

8 God reigneth over the heathen: God sitteth upon his holy throne.
9 The princes of the people are gathered unto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong unto God: he is greatly to be exalted.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliverance of Ierusalem from the hand of many kings is mentioned, for the which thanks are given to God, and the state of that citie is praised, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defend them. The Psalm seemeth to be made in the time of Ahab, Josaphat, Asa, or Ezeciah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by foraine princes assaulted.

A song or Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised in the City of our God, even upon his holy mountaine.

2 Mount Zion lying Northward is faire in situation: it is the top of the whole earth, and the city of the great King.

3 In the palaces thereof God is known for a refuge.

4 For loe, the kings were gathered and went together.

5 When they saw it, they marvelled: they were astonished, and suddenly they were driven backe.

6 Feare came there upon them, and sorrow, as upon a woman in travail.

7 As with an East winde thou breakest the ships of Tarshish, so weier they destroyed.

8 As we haue heard, so haue we seene in the city of the Lord of hosts, in the city of our God: God will stablish it for ever. Selah.

9 We waite for thy louing kindnesse, O God, in the mids of thy Temple.

10 O God, according unto thy Name, so is thy praise unto the world's end: thy right hand is full of righteousness.

11 Let mount Zion reioyce, & the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements.

12 Compasse about Zion, and goe round about it, and tell the towers thereof.

13 Marke well the wall thereof: behold her towers, that you may tell your posterity.

14 For this God is our God for ever and ever: he shall be our guide unto the death.

The enemies were afraid at the sight of the citie.

That is of Cilicia, or of the sea called Mediterranean, h To wit, of our fathers, so haue we pruned: or, God hath performed his promise. i In all places where thy Name shall be heard of, men shall praise thee, when they heare of thy marvellous works. k Let Ierusalem and the cities of Iudea reioyce for thy iust iudgements against thine enemies. l For in this outward defence and strength, Gods blessings did also appeare, but the chiefe is to be referred to Gods fauour and secret defence, who neuer leaueh his.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 Care: this, all ye people: give ear, all ye that dwell in the world,

2 As well low as he, both rich and poore,

3 My mouth shall speak of wisdom, and the meditation of my heart is of knowledge.

8 (So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for ever)

9 That he may live still for ever, and not see the graue.

11 Yet they thinke their houses, and their habitations shall continue for ever, even from generation to generation, and call their lands by their names.

12 But man shall not continue in honour: he is like the beasts that die.

13 This their way increaseth their foolishnesse: yet their posteritie delight in their talk. Selah.

14 Like sheepe they lie in graue: death deuoureth them, and the righteous shall haue domination over them in the morning: for their brauties shall consume, when they shall goe from their house to graue.

15 But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for he will receiue me. Selah.

16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased.

with outward ceremonies only, without the heart, and especially the Jewes were of this opinion, because of their figures and ceremonies of the Law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient. 21 Therefore the Prophet doth reprove this grosse error, and pronounceth the Name of God to be blasphemed, where holiness is set in ceremonies. 23 For he declareth the worship of God to be spiritual, whereof are two principal parts, invocation and thanksgiving.

a Who was either the author, or a chiefe singer, to whom it was committed. b To pleade against his dissembling people, before heaven and earth. c Because God had chosen it to have his Name there called upon, and also his image shined there in the doctrine of the Law. d As when God gave his Law in mount Sinai, he appeared terrible with thunder and tempest, so will he appeare terrible to take account for the keeping thereof. e As witnesses against the hypocrites. f God in respect of his elect, calleth the whole body holy, saints, and his people. g Which should know that sacrifices are scales of the covenant betweene God and his people, and not for religion therein. h For I passe not for sacrifices except the true use be there, which is to confirme your faith in my promises. i Though hee did delight in sacrifice, yet had he no need of mans help thereunto. k Though mans life for the infirmity thereof hath neede of food, yet Gods whose life quickeneth all the world, hath no neede of such meanes. l Shew thy selfe mindfull of Gods benefites by thanksgiving. m Why dost thou saine to be of my people, and talkest of my covenant, seeing thou art but an hypocrite? n And to hve according to my word. o He sheweth what are the fruits of them that coueneue Gods word.

A Psalm of Asaph.

The God of gods, even the Lord hath spoken and called the earth from the rising up of the sunne unto the going downe thereof.

2 Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beauty, hath God shined.

3 Our God that come and that not keepe silence: a fire shall deuoure before him, and a mighty tempest shall bee moued round about him.

4 He shall call the heauen above, and the earth to iudge his people.

5 Gather my enemies together vnto me, those that make a covenant with mee with sacrifice.

6 And the heauens shall declare his righteousness: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah.

7 Heare, O my people, and I will speake: heare, O Israel, and I will testifie vnto thee: for I am God, even thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that haue not bin continually before me.

9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goats out of thy folds.

10 For all the beasts of the forest are mine, and the beasts on a thousand mountaines.

11 I know all the fowles on the mountaines: and the wilde beasts of the field are mine.

12 If I be hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine, and all that therein is.

13 Will I eate the flesh of bulles? or drinke the blood of goats?

14 Offer vnto God praise, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High.

15 And call vpon mee in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.

16 But vnto y wicked said God, What hast thou to doe to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldst take my covenant in thy mouth?

19 Thou giuest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgettest deceit.

20 Thou sittest, & speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers sonne.

21 These things hast thou done, & I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reprove thee, and I set them in order before thee.

22 Consider this, yet that forgett God, lest I teare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliuer you.

23 He that offered praise, shall glorifie mee: and to him that disposeth his way a right, will I shew the saluation of God.

1 When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offences, hee did not only acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquity, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posterity. 7 Therefore first he desired God to forgive his sinnes, 10 And to renew in him his holy Spirit, 13 With promise, that hee will not be vniuersall of those great graces. 18 Finally, fearing lest God would punish the whole Church for his fault, hee requieth that hee would rather increase his graces toward the same.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

Have mercy vpon me, O God, according to thy loving kindnes: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.

2 Wash mee thoroughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne.

3 For I know mine iniquities, and my sinne is euil before me:

4 Against thee, against thee only haue I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudgest.

5 Behold, I was borne in iniquity, and in sinne hath my mother conceived me.

6 Beholde, thou louest truth in the inward affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisdom in the secret of mine heart.

7 Purge me with hyssope, and I shall be cleane: wash mee, and I shall be whiter then snow.

1 David describeth the arrogant tyrannie of his aduersary Doeg, who by false surmises caused Ahimelech with the rest of the Priests to be slaine. 5 David prophesieth his destruction, 6 And encourageth the faithfull to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries. 9 And finally he rendreth thanks to God for his deliverance. In this Psalm he sheweth forth the kingdom of Antichrist.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came and shewed Saul, and said to him, David is come to the house of Ahimelech.

1 David being in the desert of Ziph, where the inhabitants did betray him, and at length in the same case with Saul, 2 Calleth most earnestly unto God, with full confidence that he will performe his promise, and take his cause in hand: 5 Also that he will shew his glory in the heavens & the earth against his cruell enemies: 9 Therefore doth he render laude and praise.

a This was either the beginning of a certaine song, or the words which David uttered, when he stayed his affliction, 1 Sam. 24. 4. b Or, dwell most safely.

b He compareth the afflictions, which God layeth vpon his children, to a storme that commeth and goeth, c Who leaueth not his workes begun vnperfect, d He would rather deliuer me by a miracle, then that I should be ouercome.

* When he fled from Saul in the cave.

H Aue mercie vpon me, O God, haue mercie vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee, and in the shadow of thy wings will I trust, till these afflictions ouerpaste.

2 I will call vnto the most high God, even to the God, that performeth his promise toward me.

3 Hee will send from heauen, and saue mee from the reproofe of him that would swallow me. Selah. God will send his mercie and his trueth.

4 My soule is among lions: I lie among the children of men that are set on fire: whole teeth are speeres and arrowes, and their tongue a sharpe sword.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 They haue laid a net for my steps: in my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the mids of it. Selah.

Strengthened euen to my soule.

3 I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

4 I am weary of crying: my throat is dry: mine eyes faile, whiles I wait for my God.

5 They that hate mee without a cause, are more then the haire of mine head, they that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies falsely, are mightie, so that I refused that which I tooke not.

6 O God, thou knowest my foolishnesse, and my faults are not hid from thee.

7 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for mee: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

8 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe:
shame hath couered my face.

9 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an alien vnto my mothers sonnes.

10 For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

11 I wept, and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.

12 I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.

13 They that late in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.

14 But Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercy: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluation.

15 Deliver me out of the myre, that I sinke not: let mee be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters.

16 Let not the water flood drowne mee, neither let the deepe swallow mee vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

17 Heare mee, O Lord, for thy louing kindnesse is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

18 And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste, and heare me.

19 Draw nether vnto my soule, & redeeme it: deliuer me, because of mine enemies.

20 Thou hast known my reproofe, and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine inuerteries are before thee.

21 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heavinesse, and I looked for some to haue pity on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

22 For they gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gaue me vinegar to drinke.

23 Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine.

24 Let their eyes be blinded, that they see not: and make their loynes alway to tremble.

25 Bowe out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

26 Let their habitation be void, and let none dwell in their tents.

27 For they persecute him, whom thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorrow of them whom thou hast wounded.

28 Lay iniquity vpon their iniquity, and let them not come into thy righteousness.

29 Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them bee written with the righteous.

30 When I am poore and in heavinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

inherit it: and they that loue his Name, shall dwell therein.

b He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to stay: for at his time he will heare vs.

c He was assured that the more they rag'd, the nearer they were to destruction, and he the nearer to his deliuerance. d Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others in their misery, lest the same fall on our owne neckes. e Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he groundeth on experience, and boldly seeketh vnto him for succour, Co him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, to put in remembrance.

O God, haste thee to deliuer me: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.

2 Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them bee turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

3 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their shame, which said, Aha, aha.

4 But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praised.

5 Now I am poore and needy: O God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarrying.

1 Hee prayeth in faith, established by the word of promise, 5 and confirmed by the worke of God from his youth, 10 Hee complaineth of the crueltie of his enemies, 17 and desireth God to continue his graces toward him, 22 promising to be mindfull and thankfull for the same.

Is^a thee, O Lord, I trust: let me neuer be ashamed.

2 Rescue me and deliuer me in thy righteousnesse: incline thine eare vnto me, and saue me.

3 Bet thou my strong rocke, whereunto I may alway resort: thou hast giuen commandement to saue me: for thou art my rock, and my fortress.

4 Deliuer me, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked: out of the hand of the cruell and cruell man.

5 For thou art mine hope, O Lord God, even my trust from my youth.

6 Upon thee haue I bene stayed from the wombe: thou art hee that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shall be alwayes of thee.

Psal. 31. 1.

a He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he will deliuer him from his aduersaries.

b By declaring thy selfe true of promise.

c Thou hast infinite meanes, and all creatures are at thy commandement: therefore shew some signe whereby I shall be deliuered.

d That is, from Absalom, Achitophel, and that conspiracie.

e He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefits, who did not onely prelerue him in his mothers belly, but tooke him thence, and euer since hath preferred him.

f All the world wondereth at me because of my miseries, as well they in authority, as the common people: yet being assured of thy fauour, I remained steadfast: g Thou that didst help me in my youth when I had more strength, help me now so much the more in mine old age and weakness. h Thus the wicked both blaspheme God, & triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsaken them, if he suffer them to fall into their hands. i In calling him his God, he putteth backe the false reports of the aduersaries, that said, God had forsaken him, that are against my soule: let them be covered with reproofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt.

14 But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more.

15 My mouth shall dayly rehearse thy righteousnesse, and thy saluation: for I know not the number.

16 I will goe forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousnesse, euen of thine on ly.

17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth, euen vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wondrous workes, 18 Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and gray head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, and thy power to all them that shall come.

19 And thy righteousnesse, O God, I will exalt on hit: for thou hast done great things: O God, who is like vnto thee?

20 Which hath shewed me great troubles and aduersities: but thou wilt retorne and reuente mee, and wilt come againe, and take me vp from the depth of the earth.

21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and retorne and comfort me.

22 Therefore will I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O holy one of Israel.

23 My lips will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule which thou hast deliuered.

24 My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousnesse daily: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame that seeke mine hurt.

PSAL. LXXII.

1 He prayeth for the prosperous estate of the kingdom of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ: 4 vnder whom shall be righteousness, peace, and felicitie, 10 vnto whom all kings and nations shall doe homage, 17 whose Name and power shall endure for euer, and in whom all nations shall be blessed.

A Psalm of Salomon.

Give thy iudgements vnto the King, O God, and thy righteousnesse to the Kings of some.

2 Then shall hee iudge thy people in righteousnesse, and thy poore with equity.

3 The mountaynes and the hilles shall bring peace to the people by iustice.

4 He shall iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needy, and shall subdue the oppressour.

5 They shall feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.

reigneth, euen the places most barren shall bee enriched with thy blessings. e Hee sheweth wherefore the sword is committed to Kings: to wit, to defend the innocent, and suppress the wicked. f The people shall embrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a King that ruleth according to thy word.

k Because thy benefits towards me are innumerable, I cannot but continually meditate and rehearse them. l I will remaine steadfast, being vpholden with the power of God.

m He desireth that as he hath begun, he would to continue his benefits, that his liberalitie may haue perfect praise.

n Thy iust performance of thy promise.

o His faith breakeeth thorow all tentations, and by this exclamation hee praiseth the power of God.

b Endue the King with the spirit of wisdom and iustice, that hee reigne not as doe the worldly tyrants.

c To wit, to his posteritie.

d When iustice reigneth, euen the places most barren shall bee enriched with thy blessings. e Hee sheweth wherefore the sword is committed to Kings: to wit, to defend the innocent, and suppress the wicked. f The people shall embrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a King that ruleth according to thy word.

g As this is true in all godly kings, so is it chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heavenly dew maketh his Church ever to flourish.

h That is, from the red sea, to the sea called yriacum, and from Euphrates forward: meaning, that Christ's kingdome should be large and universal.

i Of Cilicia and of all other countreys beyond the sea, which he meaneth by the yles.

k That is, of Arabia that rich countrey, where of sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia.

l Though tyrants passe not to shed blood, yet this godly king shall preferue his subjects from all kind of wrong.

m God will both prosper his life, and also make, the people most willing to obey him.

n Vnder such a King shall be most great plenty both of fruit, and also of the increase of mankind. o They shall pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doth prosper them for his sake. p He confesseth that except God miraculously preferue his people, that neither the King nor the kingdome can continue. q Concerning his sonne Salomon.

6 Hee shall come downe like the raine vpon the sowne grass, and as the yowers that water the earth.

7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall be so long as the moone endureth.

8 His dominion shall be also from sea to sea, and from the river vnto the ends of the land.

9 They that dwell in the wilderness, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall lick the dust.

10 The kings of Tarshish and of the yles shall bring presents: the kings of Sheba and Seba shall bring gifts.

11 Pea, all kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.

12 For he shall deliuer the poore when he cryeth: the needy also and him that hath no helper.

13 He shall be mercifull to the poore and needy, and shall preferue the soules of the poore.

14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceit, and violence, and deare that their blood be in his sight.

15 Pea, he shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the gold of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and daily blesse him.

16 An handfull of corne shall bee sowne in the earth, even in the top of the mountaines, and the fruit thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the citie like the grass of the earth.

17 His Name shall be for ever: his Name shall endure as long as the Sunne: all nations shall blesse him, and be blessed in him.

18 Blessed be the Lord God, even the God of Israel, which onely doeth wonderous things.

19 And blessed be his glorious Name for ever: and let all the earth bee filled with his glory. So be it, even so be it.

HERE END THE prayers of David the sonne of Iſſai.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example, that neither the worldly prosperitie of the ungodly, 14 Nor yet the affliction of the good, ought to discourage Gods children, but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers providence, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 Forasmuch as the wicked vanishe away, 24 And the godly enter into life everlasting. 28 In hope whereof hee resigneth himselfe into Gods hands.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

YET God is good to Israel: even to the pure in heart.

2 As for me, my feet were almost gone: my steps had wel neere slipped.

a As it were betwene hope and despair he brasth forth into this affection, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly indeed, and not hypocrites.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are no bands in their death, but they are lusty and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

6 Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and crucitie couereth them as a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out for fatnes: they haue more then heart can wish.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.

9 They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh thowow the earth.

10 Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they say, How doeth God know it: or is there knowledge in the most High?

12 Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increaſe in riches.

13 Certainly I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For daily haue I bene punished, and chastened euery morning.

15 If I say, I will iudge thus, behold, the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me, 17 Untill I went into the Sanctuaries of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slippery places, & castest them down into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished, and horribly consumed, 20 As a dreame when one awaketh: O Lord, when thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines:

22 So foolishly was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide mee by thy counsell, and afterward rectifie mee to glory.

25 Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh faileth, and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer.

27 For so, they that withdrow themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee.

28 My flesh faileth, and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer.

29 For so, they that withdrow themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee.

30 My flesh faileth, and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for euer.

31 For so, they that withdrow themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee.

b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure, and are not drawen to death like prisoners, that is, by sickness, which is deaths messenger.

c They glory in their pride, as some doe in their chains: and in cruelty, as some doe in apparel. d They blaspheme God and feare not his power, and raile vpon men because they esteeme themselves above all others.

e Not only the reprobate, but also the people of God often times fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are overwhelmed with sorrow, thinking that God considereth not aright the state of the godly.

f Thus the flesh moueth even the godly to dispute with God touching their poore estate, and the prosperity of the wicked.

g If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy providence, seeing thou dispoſest all things most wisely, and h Vntill I entered into thy schoole and learned by thy word and holy Spirit, that thou orderest all things most wisely and iustly.

i By thy fearful iudgement, k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heavenly felicitie, wee contemne all their vaine pompe.

l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth hee declare himselfe a beast.

m By faith I was assured that thy providence did watch alwayes ouer me to preferue me.

n Hee sought neither helpe nor comfort of any ſane of God onely. o Hee teacheth vs to denie our selves to haue God our whole ſufficiencie, and onely contentment.

p That is for ſake thee to ſeeke others.

q Though altho the world shrinke from God, yet he promiſeth to truſt in him, and to magnifie his workes.

28 As for mee, it is good for me to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my truſt in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

5 Then I considered the dayes of old, and the yeeres of ancient time.

6 I called to remembrance my song in the night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirit searched diligently.

d Of thankgiuing which I was accustomed to sing in my prosperitie. e Both the causes why I was chastened, and when my sorowes should haue an end.

7 Will the Lord absent himselfe for euer? and will he shew no more fauour?

8 Is his mercy cleane gone for euer? doeth his promise faile for euermore?

9 Hath God forgotten to bee mercifull? hath hee hie vp his tender mercies in displeasure? Selah.

10 And I said: This is my death: yet I remembered the yeeres of the right hand of the most High.

11 I remembered the works of the Lord: certainly I remembred thy wonders of old.

12 I did also meditate all thy workes: and did deuile of thine actes, saying,

13 Thy way, O God, is in the Sanctuary: who is so great a God as our God?

14 Thou art the God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people.

15 Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, even the sonnes of Iacob and Ioseph. Selah.

16 The waters saw thee, O God: the waters saw thee, and were afraid: yea, the depths trembled.

17 The cloudes powred out water: the heauens gaue a sound: yea, thine arrowes went abroad.

18 The voyce of thy thunder was round about: the lightnings lightened the world: the earth trembled and shooke.

19 Thy way is in the sea, and thy pathes in the great waters, and thy footstaps are not known.

20 Thou diddest leade thy people like sheepe by the hand of Moyses and Aaron.

when hee delivered the Israelites thorow the red sea. i That is, thundred and lightened. m For when thou hadst brought over thy people, the water returned to her course, and the enemies that thought to haue followed them, could not passe over, Exodus 14.28,29.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 He sheweth how God of his mercy chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 reproching the stubborn rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not onely vnderstand, 11 That God of his free mercy made his Covenant with their ancestors, 17 but also seeing them so malicious and peruerse, might bee ashamed, and so turne wholly to God. In this Psalm the holy Ghost hath comprehended as it were the summe of all Gods benefitts, to the intent the ignorant and grosse people might see in few words the effect of the whole historie of the Bible.

d By the testimony and Law, he meaneth the Law written, which they were commanded to teach their children, Deut. 6. 7. e He sheweth wherein the children should be like their fathers, that is, in maintaining Gods pure religion. f Hee sheweth wherein the vse of this doctrine standeth, in faith, in the meditation of Gods benefits, and in obedience. g Though these fathers were the seed of Abraham and the chosen people, yet hee sheweth by their rebellion, prouocation, fullness and hypocrisie, that the children ought not to follow their examples. h By Ephraim he meaneth also the rest of the tribes, because they were most in number: whose punishment declareth that they were vnfaithfull to God, and by their multitude and authoritie had corrupt all others. i He proueth that not onely the posterity, but also their forefathers were wicked and rebellious to God. Exod. 14. 21. Exod. 14. 24. Exod. 17. 6. num. 20. 11. psal. 105. 41. 1. Cor. 10. 4. wis. 11. 4. k Their wicked malice could be overcome by no benefits, which were great and many. l Then to require more then is necessary, and to leparate Gods power from his will, is to tempt God. Num. 11. 1. m Thus when we giue place vnto sinne, wee are moued to doubt of Gods power, except he will a wayes be ready to serue our lust. Exod. 17. 6. num. 20. 11. psal. 105. 41. 1. Cor. 10. 4. Num. 11. 1. n That is, in his fatherly prouidence, whereby hee careth for his, and prouideth sufficiently. o So that they had that, which was necessary and sufficient: but their lust made them to couet that which they knew God had denied them. 1. Ioh. 6. 31. 1. Cor. 10. 3.

5 How he established a testimony in Iacob, and ordained a law in Israel, which hee commanded our fathers, that they should teach their children:
6 That the posteritie might know it, and the children which should be born, should stand vp, and declare it to their children:
7 That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the works of God, but keepe his commandments:
8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.
9 The children of Ephraim being armed, and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell.
10 They kept not the covenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law.
11 And forgot his acts, and his wonderful works that he had shewed them.
12 He did marvellous things in the sight of their fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.
13 He diuided the sea, and led them thorough: he made also the waters to stand as an heap.
14 In the day time also hee led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.
15 He clave the rocks in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.
16 He brought floods also out of the stony rocks, so that hee made the waters to descend like the riuers.
17 Yet they sinned still against him, and prouoked the highest in the wilderness.
18 And tempted God in their hearts, in requiring meat for their lust.
19 They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?
20 Behold, he smote the rocks, that the water gushed out, and the streames outflowed: can hee giue bread also, or prepare flesh for his people?
21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angry, and the fire was kindled in Iacob, and also wrath came vpon Israel.
22 Because they beleued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.
23 Yet hee had commanded the cloudes above, and had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.
25 Man did eate the bread of Angels: he lent them meat enough.

26 He caused the East winde to passe in the heauen, & through his power he brought in the South winde.
27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered fowle as the fowle of the sea.
28 And hee made it fall in the midstes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.
29 So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.
30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meat was yet in their mouths.
31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.
32 For all this they sinned still, and beleued not his wonderous works.
33 Therefore their dayes did be consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily.
34 And when hee slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.
35 And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most high God their Redemer.
36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.
37 For their heart was not upright with him: neither were they faithfull in his covenant.
38 Yet he being mercifull forgave their iniquitie, & destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.
39 For hee remembered that they were flesh: yea, a wind that passeth, and cometh not againe.
40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wilderness: and grieve him in the desert?
41 Yea, they returned & tempted God, and limited the Holy one of Israel.
42 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy.
43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan.
44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods that they could not drinke.
45 Hee sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, & frogs which destroyed them.
46 Hee gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grasshopper.
47 Hee destroyed their vines with haille, and their wilde figtrees with the haille stone.
48 Hee gaue their cattell also to the haille, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.
49 He cast vpon them the fiercenes of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euill angels.
50 He made a way to his anger: he spared

God vsed the means of the winde to teach them, that all elements were at his commandment, and that no distance of place could let his working. q. Such is the nature of concupiscence, that the more it hath, the more it lusteth. r Though other were not spared, yet chiefly they suffered, which trusted in their strength against God. s Thus sinne by continuance maketh men insensible, so that by no plagues they can be amended. t Such was their hypocrisie, that they sought vnto God for feare of punishment, though in their heart they loued him not. u Whatsoever cometh not from the pure fountaine of the heart, is hypocrisie. x Because hee would euer haue some remnant of a Church to praise his Name in earth, he suffered not their sinnes to overcome his mercy. y That is, they tempted him oft times. z As they all doe that measure the power of God by their capacitie. a The forgetfulness of Gods benefits, is the root of rebellion and all vice. b This word signifieth a confused mixture of flies and venomous wormes. Some take it for all sorts of serpents: some for all wilde beasts. c Hee repeateth not here all the miracles that God did in Egypt, but certaine, which might be sufficient to conuince the people of malice and ingratitude. d So called either of the effect, that is, of punishing the wicked, or else because they were wicked spirits, whom God permitted to vex men.

a This Psalme was made as a prayer, for to desire God to be mercifull to the ten tribes, b Moue their hearts that they may returne to worship God aright, that is, in the place where thou hast appointed,

c Ioyne thy whole people & all thy tribes together againe.

d The faithfull feare Gods anger when they perceiue that their prayers are not forthwith heard, e Our neighbors haue continuall strife and warre against vs, f Because that repentance only commeth of God, they must instantly and oft times cal to God for it, as a meane whereby they shall be saued.

g Seeing that of thy mercy thou hast made vs a most deare possession to thee, & we through our finnes are made open for wilde beasts to deuour vs, declare againe thy loue & finish the worke that thou hast begun.

h To wit, Ephraim, & Benjamin and Manasse.

i That is, as well they that hate our religion, as they that hate our persons.

Hear, O thou Sheepeheard of Israel, hearken that leadest Ioseph like sheepe: shew thy highnesse, thou that sittest betwene the Cherubims.

2 Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasse stire vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs.

3 Turne vs againe O God, and cause thy face to shine, that we may be saued.

4 O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou bee angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou hast fed them with the bread of tears, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure.

6 Thou hast made vs as a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselves.

7 Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madest roome for it, and diddest cause it to take roote, and it filled the land.

10 The mountaines were couered with the shadow of it: and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 Shee stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the River.

12 Why hast thou ben broken downe her hedges, so that all they, which passe by the way, haue plucked her?

13 The wilde boze out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beasts of the field haue eaten it vp.

14 Returne wee beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen and behold and visite this vine, 15 And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the yong vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe.

16 It is burnt with fire, and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thine hand bee vpon the man of thy right hand, and vpon the sonne of man, whom thou madest strong for thine owne selfe.

18 So wil not we go backe from thee, O Lord: as we shall call vpon thy name.

19 Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

1 The people of Israel pray vnto the Lord to deliver them from their enemies both at home and farre off, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9 And they desire that all such wicked people may, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the storme tempest of Gods wrath. 18 That they may know that the Lord is most high vpon the earth.

A Song or Psalm committed to Asaph.

a This Psalm seemeth to haue bene composed, as a forme of prayer against dangers that the Church was in, in the dayes of Iehoshaphat. b Hee calleth them Gods enemies, which are enemies to his Church. c The elect of God are his secret ones: for he hideth them in the secret of his tabernacle, and preferreth them from all dangers. d They were not content to take the Church as prisoner, but sought utterly to destroy it. e By all secret means.

f They thought to haue turned thy counsell, wherein the perpetuall of the Church was established.

g Or, Zor. The wickednes of the Ammonites and Moabites is described, in that they prouoked these other nations to fight against the Israelites their brethren. h By these examples they were confirmed that God would not suffer his people to be utterly destroyed, Iudg. 7. 21. & 4. 13. i Troden vnder feete as myre. Iudg. 7. 25. and 8. 21. k That is, Iudea: for where his Church is, there dwelleth hee among them. l Because the reprobate could by no means be amended, he prayeth that they may utterly be destroyed, be vnstable, and led with all windes.

Keepe not thou silence, O God: be not still, and cease not, O God.

2 For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee, haue lifted up the head.

3 They haue taken crafty counsel against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come, and let vs cut them off from being a nation, & let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together, in heart, and haue made a league against thee:

6 The tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab, and the Agarims:

7 Orbal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistims with the inhabitants of Cyprus:

8 Assur also is toynd with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot. Selah.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I cry vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou Lord, art good & mercifull, a David persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, leauing the same to the Church, as a monument how to seeke redresse against their miseries, b I am not enemie to them, but pitie them, though they be cruell toward me, c Which was a sure token that he beleeueth that God would deliuer him, d He doeth confesse that God is good & mercifull, but onely mercifull to poore sinners, and of great kindenesse vnto all them that call vpon thee.

6 Give eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and hearken vnto the voice of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can do like thy workes.

9 All nations, whom thou hast made, shall come, and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great, and doest wondrous things: thou art God alone.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for ever.

13 For great is thy mercy toward me, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proud are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men have sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pittifull God and mercifull, slow to anger, and great in kindenesse and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the soule of thine handmaid.

17 Shew a token of thy goodness toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

O Lord God of my salvation, I crye day and night before thee.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my cry.

3 For my soule is filled with evils, and my life draweth nere to the graue.

4 I am counted among them that goe downe into the pit, and am as a man without strength:

5 Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whom thou rememberest no more, and they are cut off from thine hand.

6 Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darknesse, and in the deepe.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed mee with all thy waues. Selah.

8 Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me, and made mee to be abhorred of them: I am shut up, and cannot get forth.

1 With many words doeth the Propheet praise the goodness of God, 23 for his Testament and covenant that he had made betwene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid. 38 Then doeth hee complain of the great ruine & desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that to the outward appearing the promise was broken. 46 Finally hee prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortness of man's life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promises.

A Psalm to give instruction, of Ethan the Ezrabite.

1 Willing the mercies of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy truth from generation to generation.

2 For I haue said, Mercy shall be set vp for euer: thy truth shall thou establish in the very heauens.

3 I haue made a covenant with my chosen: I haue sworn to Dauid my seruant, 4 Thy seede will I establish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the heauens shall praise thy wondrous works: yea, thy truth in the Congregation of the Saints.

6 For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the Saints, and to be reuerenced about all that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hosts, who so like vnto thee, which art a mighty Lord, and thy truth is about thee?

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: * Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

13 Thou hast a mighty arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 Righteousnes and equitie are the sta-

Angels. h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestie and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set himselfe against God? i For as he deliuered the Church by the red sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will hee eftsoune deliuer it, when the dangers bee great. k Tabor is a mountaine Westward from Ierusalem, and Hermon Eastward: so the Propheet signifyeth that all parts and places of the world shall obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church. l For hereby he iudgeth the world, and sheweth himselfe a mercifull Father, and faithfull protectour vnto his,

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause thee to despair of Gods fauour, yet the manifold examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they saw none occasion. b As hee that surely beleueed in heart. c As thine inuincible heauen is not subject to any alteration and change: so shall the truth of thy promise be vchangeable. d The Propheet sheweth what was the promise of God, whereon he grounded his faith: e The Angels shall praise thy power and faithfulness in deliuering thy Church. f That is, in the heauens. g Meaning, the walke not in my iudgements :

31 If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandments :

with the rod, & their iniquitie with strokes.

33 Yet my loving kindness will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my truth.

34 My covenant will I not breake, nor after the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 I haue sware once by my holinesse, that I will not faile David, saying.

36 His seed shall endure for euermore, and his throne shall be as the sunne before me.

37 He shall be established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithful witness in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast rejected and abhorred, thou hast bene angry with thine anointed.

39 Thou hast broken the covenant of thy servant, and prophaned his crowne, calling it on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken down all his walls :
thou hast laid his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that got by the way, spoile him :
he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set by the right hand of his

E Thou wilt strengthen them with all power, and blesse them with all felicitie. h Though the faithfull seeme to wither and be cut down by the wicked: yet they shall grow againe, & flourish in the Church of God, as the Cedars doe in mount Lebanon. i The children of God shall haue power aboue nature, and their age shall bring forth most fresh fruites, 10 But thou shalt exalt mine home, like the Unicorne, and I shall bee anointed with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise up against mee.

12 The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a Cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as bee planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courts of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruit in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing.

15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

16 Who will rise up with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?

1 Hee praiseth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beatech downe all people which lift them up against his Maiesie, 5 and prouoketh to consider his promises.

a As God by his power and wisdom hath made and governeth the world: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers. b Wherein thou fittest and governest the world. c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters. d Besides Gods power and wisdom in creating, and governing, his great mercy also appeareth in that hee hath given his people his word and covenant.

The Lord reigneth, and is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall be established that it cannot be mooued.

2 Thy throne is established of old: thou art from euerlasting.

3 The floodes haue lifted up, O Lord: the floodes haue lifted up their voyce: the floods lift up their waues.

4 The waues of the Sea are marvellous through the noyse of many waters, yet the Lord on high is more mightie.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holines becommeth thine house, O Lord, for ever.

Lord God the auenger, O God, the auenger, shew thy selfe clearly.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the world, and render a reward to the proud.

3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?

4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themselves.

5 They will smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse.

7 Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iacob regard it.

8 Understand ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 Yet that planted the ear, shall hee not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall hee not see?

10 O hee that chastiseth the nations, shall hee not correct? hee that teacheth man knowledge, shall hee not know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law, 13 That thou mayst giue him rest from the dates of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not forsake his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpriight in heart shall follow after it.

16 Who will rise up with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Lord had not holpen mee, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I said, My foote slideth, thy mercy, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath thy throne of iniquitie fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a law?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

7 Give vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: give vnto the Lord glory and power.

8 Give vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring an offering, and enter into his courts.

9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shall be stable, and not moue, and hee shall iudge the people in righteousness.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

12 Let the field be ioyfull and all that is in it: let all the trees of the wood then reioyce.

1 He commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 and prouoketh them to magnifie the same, and to serue the Lord, 6 following the example of the ancient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon Go^d, were heard in their prayers.

a David confideth what manner of King he would be when God should place him in the throne, promising openly, that he would be mercifull and iust.

A Psalm of David.

I will sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

2 I will doe wisely in the perfect way: till thou comest to me: I will walke in the vprightnesse of mine heart in the mids of mine house.

3 I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.

4 A froward heart shall depart from me: I will know none euill.

5 Him that proudly slandereth his neighbour will I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and high heart, I cannot suffer.

6 Mine eyes shalbe vnto the faithfull of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serue me.

7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lies, shall not remaine in my sight.

s. 7. beholdeth in this glasse, how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.

d If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible but the whole world should be destroyed.

e If God provide for the very beasts, much more will he extend his prouident care to man.

f There is no part of the world so barren where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From f clouds, h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely provide necessary things for him, as herbs and other meate: but also things to reioyce, & comfort him, as wine and oyle, or ointments.

i As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, months and yeeres.

k That is, by his counsell either far or nere, it noteth summer, winter & other seasons.

l That is, they onely finde meate according to Gods prouidence who careth euen for the brute beasts.

m To wit, when the day springeth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannie and fiercenesse of beasts.

n Hee confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.

o God is a most nourishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their daily food.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his charer, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which maketh the spirits his ministers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou couerest it with the deepe, as with a garment: the waters would stand about the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voice of thy thunder they flee away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleys descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bound which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 Hee sendeth the springs into the valleys, which run betwene the mountaines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the beasts of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these springs shall the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruit of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of man, that hee may bring forth bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, & oyle to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted,

17 That the birds may make their nests there: the stork dwelleth in the firre trees:

18 The high mountaines are for the goats: the rocks are a refuge for the conies.

19 He appointed the moone for certaine seasons: the Sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest creepe forth.

21 The lions roare after their pray, and seeke their meat at God.

22 When the Sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their denes.

23 Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the euening.

24 O Lord, how manifold are thy workes, in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There goe the ships, yea that Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 All these waite vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them food in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die, and returne to their dust:

30 Again, if thou send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 Glorie be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 Hee looketh on the earth, and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will praise my God while I liue.

34 Let my words be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners bee consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there bee no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord, Praise ye the Lord.

1 The people dispersed vnder Antiochus doe magnifie the goodness of God among the iust and repentans: 4 desiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods mercifull visitation. 8 And after the manifold mercies of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed, 47 They doe pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the intent they may praise the Name of the God of Israel.

¶ Praise ye the Lord, because hee is good, for his mercie endureth for ever.

2 Who can expresse the noble acts of the Lord, or shew forth all his praise?

3 Blessed are they that keep iudgement, and doe righteously at all times.

5 That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, and reioyce in the joy of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, & done wickedly.

7 Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembered they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the sea, euen at the red sea.

8 Nevertheless, hee saved them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowne.

9 And he rebuked the red sea, and it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wilderness.

10 And hee saved them from the aduersaries hand, & deliuered them from the hande of the enemy.

12 Then beleued they his words, and sang praise vnto him.

k He sheweth that all idolaters renounce God to be their glory, when in stead of him they worship any creature, much more wood, stone, metal, or calves. l If Moses by his intercession had not obtained Gods favour against their rebellions. m That is Canaan, which was as it were an earnest penie of the heavenly inheritance. n That is, he sware, sometime also it meaneth to punish. o Which was the idol of the Moabites. p Sacrifices offered to the dead idoles. q Signifying, that whosoever man inuenteth of himselfe to serue God by, is detestable and prouoketh his anger. r When all other neglected Gods glory, he in his zeale killed the adulterers, and prevented Gods wrath. Numb. 25. 12. f 7 his act declare his lively faith and for his faiths sake was accepted. Numb. 20. 13. p 55. 8. t I so notable a Prophet of God escape not punishment, though others prouoked him to sin, how much more shall they be subiect to Gods iudgement, which cause Gods children to sinne? u He sheweth how monstrous a thing idolatrie is, which can win vs to things abhorring to nature, whereas Gods word cannot obtain most small things, x Then true chastitie is to cleave wholly and onely vnto God.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.
19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.
21 They forgate God their Saviour, which had done great things in Egypt.
22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red Sea.
23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chalen stood in breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.
24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, and beleued not his word.
25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not vnto the voice of the Lord.
26 Therefore hee lifted vp his hand against them, to destroy them in the wilderness.
27 And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreys.
28 They toynded themselves also vnto Baal-peor, and did eat the offerings of the dead.
29 Thus they prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.
30 But Phinias stood by, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.
31 And it was imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for euer.
32 They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes.
33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnaduisedly with his lips.
34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them.
35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes.
36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils.
38 And shed innocent blood, even the blood of their sonnes, & of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they stayned with their owne workes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: & they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a time did hee deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he saw when they were in affliction, and he heard their cry.
45 And hee remembered his covenant toward them, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies.
46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.

PSAL. CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, & gathered vnto him to give thanks for this mercifull providence of God governing all things at his good pleasure, 20 finding good and evil, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him, 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their mouths stopped.

Praise the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.
2 Let them which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shew how hee hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour.
3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the East and from the West, from the North, and from the South.
4 When they wandered in the desert, and wilderness out of the way, and found no city to dwell in.
5 Both hungry and thirstie, their soule fainted in them.
6 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.
7 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a city of habitation.
8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.
9 For hee satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungry soule with goodnesse.
10 They that dwell in darkenesse and in the shadow of death, being bound in misery and yron.
11 Because they rebelled against the words of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most high.
12 When hee humbled their heart with heauinesse, then they fell downe, and there was no helper.
13 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee deliuered them from their distresse.

y The Prophet sheweth that neither by menaces nor promises we can come to God except wee be altogether newly reformed, & that his mercy ouercome and hide our malice. z Not that God is changeable in himselfe, but that then he seemeth to vs to repent when he altereth his punishment, and forgiveth vs.

a This notable sentence was in the beginning vnto the foot or tenour of the song, which was ofentimes repeated. b As this was true in the Iewes so is there none of Gods elect, that feele not his helpe in their necessity. c Or, from the sea meaning the red sea, which is on the South part of the land. d Hee sheweth that there is no hope affliction so grievous, out of the which God will not deliuer his, & also exhorteth them that are deliuered, to be mindfull of so great a benefite. e Then the true way to obey God, is to follow his expresse commandement: also hereby all are exhorted to defend into themselves, forasmuch as none are punished, but for their sinnes. e He sheweth that the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is, because we can be brought vnto him by none other means.

F When there seemeth to mans iudgement no recovery, but all things are brought to despaire, then God chiefly sheweth his mighty power.

G They that haue no feare of God, by his sharp rods are brought to call vpon him, & so finde mercy.

H By healing them he declareth his good will toward them.

I Meaning, their diseales, which had almost brought them to the grave and corruption, K Praise & confession of Gods benefits are the true sacrifices of the godly.

L He sheweth by the sea, what care God hath ouer man, for in that that he deliuereth them from the great dangers of the sea, he deliuereth them, as it were from a thousand deaths.

M Their feare and danger is so great.

N When their arte and meanes faile them, they are compelled to confesse that onely Gods prouidence doth preserue them.

O Though before every drop seemed to fight one against another, yet at his commandment they are as still, as though they were frozen.

P This great benefit ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places, and assemblies. ¶ Or, saluific. ¶ For the love that he beareth to his Church, hee changeth the order of nature for their commoditie. ¶ Continuall increase and yearly. ¶ As God by his prouidence doeth exalt men, so doeth he also humble them by afflictions to know themselves.

14 He brought them out of darkness, and out of the shadow of death, and brake their bands asunder.

15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull works before the sonnes of men.

16 For he hath broken the gates of brass, and burst the barres of yron asunder.

17 Fools by reason of their transgression, & because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soule abhorreth all meat, and they are brought to deaths doore.

19 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee deliuereth them from their distresse.

20 Hee sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their graues.

21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull works before the sonnes of men.

22 And let them offer sacrifices of praise, and declare his works with reioycing.

23 They that goe downe to the sea in ships, and occupie by great waters, 24 They see the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For hee commandeth and raiseth the storme winde, and it lifteth vp the waves thereof.

26 They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble.

27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their cunnings is gone.

28 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waves thereof are still.

30 When they are quieted they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the haue where they would be.

31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull works before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them extoll him in the Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders.

33 Hee turneth the floods into a wilderness, and the springs of waters into drynesse, 34 And a fruitful land into barrennesse, for the wickednes of them that dwel therein.

35 Again he turneth the wilderness into pooles of water, and the dry land into water springs.

36 And there hee placeth the hungry, and they build a cite to dwell in,

37 And sowe the fields, and plant vineyards which bring forth fruitfull increase.

38 For hee blesteth them, and they multiply exceedingly, and be diminished not their cattell.

39 Again men are diminished, & brought low by oppression, riuill, and sorrow.

40 Hee goeth to contempt vpon princes, and cauleth them to eere in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet hee raiseth vp the poore out of misery, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe.

42 The righteous shall see it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise, that he may observe these things: for they shall understand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

e For their wickednesse and tyrannie he cauleth the people and subiects to contempte them. u They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shall reioyce to see Gods iudgements against the wicked & vngodly.

P S A L. CVIII.

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalms: the first, the seven and fiftieth and the sixtieth. The matter beere contained in, 1 That David gaue himselfe with heart and voyce to praise the Lord, 7 And assured himselfe of the promise of God concerning his kingdom ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Who though he seeme to forsake vs for a time, yet hee alone will in the end cast downe our enemies.

O God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I will sing and giue praise.

2 Awake viot and harpe: I will awake early.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great about the heauens, and thy truth vnto the clouds.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, above the brauns, and let thy glory bee vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloued may bee deliuered: helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

7 God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I will reioyce. I shall diuide the heathen, and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Stead shall be mine, and Manasse shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine head: Iudah is my law-giuer.

9 Moab shall be my washtow: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade me into the strong cite: who will bring me into Edom?

11 Wilt thou not thou O God, which haddest forsaken vs, and didst not goe forth, O God, with our armie?

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for hee shall tread downe our enemies.

As hee hath spoken to Samuel concerning mee, so will hee shew himselfe constant and holy in his promise, so that these nations following shall be subiect vnto mee. Psal. 60. 8. f From the sixt verse of this Psalme vnto the last, reade the exposition of the 60. Psalm, and fiftieth verse.

P S A L. CIX.

1 David being falsely accused by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him, and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them hee speaketh of Iudas the traitour vnto Iesus Christ, and of all: he like enemies of the children of God: 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may know the worke to bee of God. 30 Then doth hee promise to giue prayer vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

Hold not thy tongue, O God of my praise.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit are opened upon mee: they haue spoken to mee with a lying tongue.

3 They compassed mee about also with words of hatred, and fought against mee without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer otin, and let the aduersary stand at his right hand.

7 When he shall bee iudged, let him bee condemned, and let his prayer bee turned into sinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his charge.

9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children bee vagabonds, and begge and seeke bread, coming out of their places destroyed.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that hee hath, and let the stranger spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him, neither let there be any to shew mercie vpon his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posteritie be destroyed, and in the generation following let their name bee put out.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother bee done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memorie from the earth.

16 Because he remembred not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted, to slay him.

17 As he loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he shall be alway girded.

20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with mee according to thy name: blessed mer me, (for thy mercy is good.)

22 Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the grasshopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnesse.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon mee, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: saue me according to thy mercy.

27 And they shall know, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and bee confounded, but thy seruants shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselves with their confusion, as with a cloake.

30 I will giue thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would condemne his soule.

the Congregation. r Hereby he sheweth that he had not to doe with them that were of little power, but with the iudges and princes of the world.

PSAL. CX.

1 David prophesiech of the power and euerslasting kingdom: e giuen to Christ, 4 And of his Priesthood, which should put an end to the Priesthood of Levi.

¶ A Psalm of David.

The Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy footstool.

2 The Lord shall send the rod of thy power out of Zion: bee thou ruler in the mides of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling: thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy mouth shall bee as the morning dew.

4 The Lord sware, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the order of Melchisedek.

5 The Lord that is at thy right hand, shall wound Kings in the day of his wrath.

6 He shall be Iudge among the beathen: hee shall fill all with dead bodies, and smite the head ouer great countreys.

7 Hee shall drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore, shall he lift vp his head.

be assembled in thy Church, whose increase shall be so abundant and wonderfull, as the drops of the dew. d As Melchisedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest: so the effect cannot bee accomplished in any King, saue onely in Christ, Heb. 7. 26. e No power shall bee able to resist him. f Vnder this similitude of a captaine, that is so greedy to destroy his enemies, that he wil not scarce drink by the way, he sheweth how God will destroy his enemies.

PSAL. CXL.

1 Hee giueth thanks to the Lord for his mercifull workes toward his Church, 10 And declareth wherein true wisdom and right knowledge consisteth.

¶ Praise

a Though all the world condemn me, yet thou wilt approve mine innocencie, and that is a sufficient praise to me. b To declare that I had none other refuge but thee, in whom my conscience was at rest. c Whether it were Doeg, or Saul, or some familiar friend that had betrayed him, he prayeth not of private affection, but moued by Gods Spirit, that God would take vengeance vpon him. d As to thee, O God, all things turne to their profit: so to the reprobate, even those things that are good, turne to their damnation. e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, Actes 1. 20. f He declareth that the curse of God lieth vpon the extortioners: who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iust iudgement deprived of all. g Thus punisheth the Lord to, the third and fourth generation of the wickednesse of the parents in their wicked children. h Hee sheweth that God accustometh to plague them after a strange sort, that shew themselves cruell toward others. i Thus giueth the Lord to every man the thing wherein hee delighteth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lust, and reprobate mindes. k For being destitute of mans helpe, he fully trusteth in the Lord, that he would deliuer him. l As thou art named mercifull, gracious, and long suffering, so shew thy selfe in effect.

m Meaning, that he hath no stay nor assurance in this world. n For hunger that came of sorrow, hee was leane, and his natural moisture failed him. o The more grievous that Satan assailed him, the more earnest and instant was he in prayer. p They shall gaine nothing by cursing me. q Not onely in confessing is secretly in my selfe, but also in declaring it before all a The Prophet declareth that he will praise God both privately and openly, and that from the heart, as he that consecrateth himself wholly and onely unto God.

b He sheweth that Gods works are a sufficient cause wherefore we should praise him, but chiefly his benefits toward his church.

c God hath giuen to his people all that was necessary for them, and will doe still euen for his covenants sake: and in this sense the Hebrew word is taken, Prou. 30. 8. and 31. 15. || Or, pray, and sende. d As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doth he declare himselfe iust and true in the governing of the same. e They onely are wise that feare God, and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word. f To wit, his commandements, as verse 7.

Praise the Lord.

I will praise the Lord with my whole heart in the assembly and Congregation of the iust.

2 The works of the Lord are great, and ought to be sought out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousness endureth for ever.

4 He hath made his wonderful works to be had in remembrance: the Lord is merciful and full of compassion.

5 Hee hath giuen a portion vnto them that feare him: hee will euer be mindfull of his covenant.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes, in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The workes of his hands are truth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

8 They are established for euer and euer, and are done in truth and equitie.

9 He sent redemption vnto his people: he hath commanded his covenant for euer holy and fearefull is his Name.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord: all they that obserue them haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

P S A L. CXII.

1 He praiseth the felicitie of them that feare God, 10 And condemneth the cursed state of the contempters of God.

Praise ye the Lord.

a He meaneth that reuerent feare which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delight only in the word of God.

b The godly shall haue abundance & contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.

c The faithful in all their aduersities know that all shall goe well with them: for God will be mercifull and iust.

d He sheweth what is the fruit of mercy: to lend freely & not for gaine, and so to measure his doings, y he may be able to help where need requireth, and not to bestow all on himselfe.

e The godly pinch not nigardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power is able.

f His power and prosperous estate,

Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord, and delighteth greatly in his commandments.

2 His seed shall be mighty vpon earth, the generation of the righteous shall be blessed.

3 Riches & treasures shall be in his house, and his righteousness endureth for euer.

4 Into the darknesses he is merciful and full of compassion, on and righteous.

5 A good man is merciful and lendeth, and will measure his affaires by iudgement.

6 Surely he shall neuer be moued: but the righteous shall be had in everlasting remembrance.

7 He will not be afraid of euill closings: for his heart is fixed, and beleueth in the Lord.

8 His heart is stablished: therefore he will not feare, until he see his desire vpon his enemies.

9 He hath distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousness remaineth for euer: his home shall be exalted with glory.

10 The wicked shall see it and bee angry: he shall gnash with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

gry: he shall gnash with his teeth, and consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

P S A L. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord for his providence, 7 in that that contrary to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

Praise ye the Lord.

Praise, O ye seruants of the Lord, the Name of the Lord.

2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord, from henceforth and for euer.

3 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high above all nations, and his glory above the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high?

6 Who abaileth himselfe to behold things in the heauen and in the earth.

7 Hee raiseth the needy out of the dust: and lifteth vp the poore out of the dung.

8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a family, and a toyfull mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

Should not earnestly extoll his Name? c By preferring the poore to high honour, and giuing the barren children, he sheweth that God worketh not onely in his Church by ordinary meanes, but also by miracles.

P S A L. CXIIII.

1 How the Israelites were deliuered forth of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles that God wrought at that time: Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercy toward his Church, who when the course of nature faileth preserveth his miraculously.

When Israel went out of Egypt, and the house of Iacob from the barbarous people,

2 Iudah was his sanctification, and Israel his dominion.

3 The sea saw it and fled: Jordan was turned backe.

4 The mountaines leaped like rams, and the hills as lambs.

5 What ailed thee, O sea, that thou fleddest? O Jordan, why wast thou turned backe?

6 Per mountaines, why leapedst thou like rams, and ye hills as lambs?

7 The earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iacob.

P S A L. CXV.

1 A prayer of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants, against whom they desire that God would succour them, 9 trusting most constantly that God will preserve them in this their need, seeing that hee hath adopted and receined them to his seruice, 18 Promising finally that they will not bee vngrateful of so great great a benefite, if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

a Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his name, Isa. 48. 11. therefore they ground their prayer vpon this promise. b When the wicked see that God accomplisheth not his promise, as they imagine, they think there is no god. c No impediments can let his worke, but he vseth euen the impediments to serue his will. d Seeing that neither the matter nor the forme can commend the idoles, it followeth that there is nothing why they should be esteemed. e He sheweth what great vanitie it is to aske helpe of them, which not onely haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense and reason. f As much without sense, as out of sense, as g For they were appointed by God, as instructors and teachers of faith and religion for others to follow. h That is, he will continue his graces toward his people. i And therefore doeth still gouerne and continue all things therein. k And they declare enough his sufficiencie, so that the world serueth him nothing, but to shewe his fatherly care toward men. l Though the dead set forth Gods glory, yet hee meaneth heere, that they praise him not in his Church and Congregation.

Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glory, for thy louing mercie, and for thy truerhs sake.

2 Wherefore that the heathen say, Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in heauen: hee doeth whatsoeuer hee will.

4 Their idoles are silver and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

5 They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

6 They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

7 They haue hands and touch not: they haue feet and walke not, neither make they a sound with their throte.

8 They that make them are like vnto them: so are all they that trust in them.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: for he is thy helpe and thy shield.

10 O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: for hee is their helpe and their shield.

11 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for hee is their helper and their shield.

12 The Lord hath bene mindfull of vs: he will blesse, he will blesse the house of Israel, he will blesse the house of Aaron.

13 We will blesse them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

14 The Lord will increase his graces toward you, euen toward you and toward your children.

15 Pee are blessed of the Lord, which made the heauen and the earth.

16 The heauens, euen the heauens are the Lords: but hee hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

17 The dead praise not the Lord, neither any that goe downe into the place of silence.

18 But wee will praise the Lord from henceforth and for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

P S A L. CXVI.

1 David being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, perceiving the great and inestimable love of God toward him, magnifieth such great mercies, 13 and protesteth that he will bee thankfull for the same.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.

16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruant, I am thy seruant, and the sonne of thine handmaid: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

1 David reioyceth in the name of the faithfull, that God hath accomplished his promise, and placed his arke in Zion.

5 For the which he giueth thanks, 8 and prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

A Song of degrees, or Psalm of David.

I Reioyced, when they said to mee, Wee will goe into the house of the Lord.

2 Our feet shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.

3 Ierusalem is builded as a citie that is compact together in it selfe:

4 Whereunto the Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord goe by, according to the testimony to Israel, to praise the Name of the Lord.

5 For there are thrones set for iudgment, euen the thrones of the house of David.

6 Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.

7 Peace be within thy walles, and prosperitie within thy palaces.

8 For my brethren and neighbors sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie.

9 Because of the house of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

10 Gods Couenant shall come and pray there.

e In whole house God placed the throne of Iustice, and made it a figure of Christes kingdome.

f The fauour of God prosper thee both within and without.

g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

P S A L. CXXIII.

1 A prayer of the faithfull, which were afflicted ei- ther in Babylon, or vnder Antiochus by the wicked worldlings and contemptors of God.

A Song of degrees.

I Lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens.

2 Behold, as the eyes of seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a mayden vnto the hand of her mistress: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God, vntill he haue mercy vpon vs.

3 He compareth the condition of the godly to seruants that are destitute of all helpe, assuring, that when all other helps faile, God is euer at hand, & like himselfe.

4 Hee sheweth that the faithfull ought only to looke for helpe at God, 7 who onely doeth main- taine, preserve, and prosper his Church.

5 For the which he giueth thanks, 8 and prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

6 Hee declareth what he meaneth by Meshech, & Kedar: to wit, the Israelites which had degenerated from their godly fathers, and hated and contended against the faithfull.

7 Hee sheweth that there is nothing so sharp to pearce, nor so hot to let on fire as a slanderous tongue.

b He declareth that when the faithfull are so full, that they can no more endure the oppressions and scorning of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungry desires they call for it.

3 Haue mercy vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercy vpon vs: for we haue suffered too much contempt.
4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulness of the proud.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 The people of God escaping a great perill, doe acknowledge themselves to be deliuered, not by their own force, but by the power of God. 4 They declare the greatness of the perill, 6 and praise the Name of God.
A long of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

a Hee sheweth that God was ready to helpe at need, and that there was none other way to be saued, but by his onely meane.
b So vnablen were we to resist.
c He vseth most proper similitudes to expresse the great danger that the Church was in, & out of the which God miraculously deliuered them. d against the faithfull,

I If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,
2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,
3 They had then swallowed vs vp quick, when their wrath was kindled against vs:
4 Then the waters had drowned vs: and the streame had gone ouer our soule:
5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.
6 Praised bee the Lord, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.
7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the snare of the fowlers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered.
8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily imagined to destroy them.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 He describeth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions, 4 and desireth their wealth, 5 and the destruction of the wicked.

A long of degrees.

a Though the world be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God shall stand sure, and be defended by Gods providence.
b Though God suffer his to bee vnder the crosse, lest they should imbrace wickednesse, yet this crosse shall not so rest vpon them, that it should driue them from hope. c He desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites, and such as haue no zeale of the truth.

They that truit in the Lord, shall bee as mount Zion, which cannot be remoued, but remaineth for euer.
2 As the mountaines are about Ierusalem: so is the Lord about his people from henceforth, and for euer.
3 For the rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednesse.
4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that bee good, and true in their hearts.
5 But these that tume aside by their crooked wayes, them shall the Lord lead with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shall be vpon Israel.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 This Psalm was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull, after the fuentie yeeres captiuitie foretold by Ieremy, Chap. 25. 12. and 29. 10.

A long of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefore tooke away all excuse of ingratitude.

When the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that dreame.

2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with joy: then said they among the heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lord, bring againe our captiuitie, as the riuers in the South.

They that sowe in teares, shall reape in joy.

6 They went weeping, and caried precious seed: but they shall returne with joy, and bring their sheaues.

d It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to run in the wilderness and barren places. e That is, seed which was scarce and deare: meaning, that they which trusted in gods promise to returne, had their desire.

PSAL. CXXVII.

1 Hee sheweth that the whole estate of the world, both domestick and politick standeth by Gods meere providence and blessing: 3 And that to haue children well nurtured, is a speciall grace and gift of God.

A long of degrees, or Psalme of Salomon.

Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vaine that build it: except the Lord keepe the citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.

2 It is in vaine for you to rise early, and to lie downe late and eate the bread of sorrow: but hee will surely giue rest to his beloued.

3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lord, and the fruit of the wombe his reward.

4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the strong man: so are the children of pouer.

5 Blessed is the man, that hath his quiver full of them: for they shall not be ashamed, when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

griefe of mind. e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest. f That is, indured with strength and vertues from God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, and not the number. g Such children shall be able to stop their aduersaries mouthes, when their godly life is maliciously accused before Iudges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednesse appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

A long of degrees.

Blessed is every one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his wayes.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine hands, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall bee well with thee.

3 Thy wife shall be as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, & thy children like the olive plants round about thy table.

4 For surely thus shall the man be blessed that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion shall blisse thee, b He sheweth how the godly ought to reioyce when God gathereth his Church, or deliuereth it.

c If the infidels confesse Gods wonderfull work, the faithfull can neuer shew themselves sufficiently thankfull.

a God approueth not our life, except it be reformed according to his word.
b The world esteemeth them happy, which liue in wealth and idleness, but the holy Ghost approueth them best, that liue of the meane profite of their labours.
c Because Gods fauor appeareth in none outward thing more then in increase of children, he promisseth to enrich the faithfull with this gift.
g Because of the spirituall blessing which God hath made to his Church, these temporall things shall be granted.

e For except God blessed his Church publickly, this priuate blessing were nothing.

and thou shalt see the wealth of • Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.

6 Pea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

P S A L. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted: 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall be deliuered, 6 and the enemies for all their glorious form, shall suddenly be destroyed.

¶ A song of degrees.

a The Church now afflicted ought to remember how her condition hath euer bene such from the beginning to be molested most grievously by the wicked: yet in time it hath euer bene deliuered. b Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his as oxen out of the plow.

They haue oft times afflicted mee from my youth (may • Israel now say.)

2 They haue oftentimes afflicted mee from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrows.

4 But the righteous Lord hath cut the cords of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shall be all ashamed and turned backward.

6 They shall be as the grasse on the house toppes, which withereth afore it cometh forth:

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the gleaner his lap.

8 Neither they which goe by, say, The blessing of the Lord bee vpon you, or, Bless you in the name of the Lord.

c The enemies that lift themselves most hie, and as it were, approach neere to the sunne, are consumed with the heat of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie. d That is, the wicked shall perish, and none shall passe for them.

P S A L. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries doe cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes and flee vnto Gods mercy.

¶ A song of degrees.

a Being in great distresse & sorrow. b He declareth y we cannot be iust before God but by forgiveness of sinnes. c Because of nature thou art mercifull therefore the faithfull reuerence thee. d He sheweth to whom the mercy of God doth appertaine: to Israel, that is, to the Church and not to the reprobate.

Of the deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heare my voice: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straitly markest iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand?

4 But mercy is with thee, that thou mayest be feared.

5 I haue waited on the Lord, my soule hath waited, & I haue trusted in his word.

6 My soule waiteth on the Lord more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel wait on the Lord: for with the Lord is • mercede, and with him is great redemption.

8 And hee shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

P S A L. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and greedie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie and modestie before God, and teacheth all men what they shall doe.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

a He setteth forth his great humilitie as an example to all rulers and gouernours. b Which pisse the measure & limits of his vocation.

Lord, mine heart is not haucie, neither are mine eyes loftie, neither haue I walked in great matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe like one weaned from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is • weaned.

c He was void of ambition and wicked desires.

3 Let Israel waite on the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

P S A L. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull grounding on Gods promise made vnto Dauid, desire that hee would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie and the building of the Temple, so pray there as was foretold. Dent. 17. 5.

¶ A song of degrees.

Lord remember Dauid with all his affliction.

2 Who swaue vnto the Lord, and bowed vnto the mighty God of Iacob, saying,

3 I will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet, or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber,

5 Untill I find out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mighty God of Iacob.

6 Lo, we heard of it in • Ephraim, and found it in the fields of the forest.

7 Wee will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footstool.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou and the arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed with righteousness, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy • seruants Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anointed.

11 The Lord hath sworne in truth vnto Dauid, and he will not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruit of thy body will I sit vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my covenant, and my Testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for euer.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and isured to dwell in it, saying, 14 This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a • delight therein.

15 I will surely blisse her victuals, and will satissie her poore with bread, 16 And will clothe her priests with • salvation, and her Saints shall shout for joy.

17 There will I make the • house of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anointed.

18 His enemies will I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

lem, because that after ward his Arke should remoue to none other place. f Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the Priests, and in the people. g As thou first madest promise to Dauid, so continue it to his posterity, that whatsoever they shall aske for their people, it may be granted. h Because this cannot bee accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that the promise was spirituall. i Meaning, for his owne sake, and not for the plentifulnesse of the place: for he promiseth to blisse it, declaring before, that it was barren. k That is, with my protection, whereby they shall bee safe. l Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promiseth to restore it.

P S A L. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalme containeth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the seruants of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

Behold, how good and how comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euery one together, a That is, with how great difficultie he came to the kingdome, and with how great zeale and care he went about to build thy Temple. b Because the chiefe charge of the king was to set forth Gods glory, he neweth, that he could take no rest, neither would go about any worldly thing, were it neuer so necessary, before he had executed his office.

c That is, the Arke, which was a signe of Gods preience. d The common bruite was, that the Arke should remaine in Ephraim: that is, in Beth-lehem a plentiful place: but after, we perceived that thou wouldst place it in Ierusalem, which was barren as a Forrest, and compassed about onely with hills.

e That is, Ierusalem.

What God did for Israel.

a Because the greatest part were against Dauid, though some fauoured him, yet when he was established king, at length they ioyned altogether like brethren, and therefore he sheweth by these similitudes the commo-ditie of brotherly loue. b The ointment was a figure of the graces, which come from Christ the head vnto his Church. c By Hermon and Zion hee meaneth the plentiful countrey about Ierusalem. d Where there is such concord.

2 It is like to the precious ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Arons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments:

3 And as the dew of Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the blessing, and life for euer.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

a He exhorteth the Leuites, watching in the Temple, to praise the Lord.

a A song of degrees.

Behold, praise ye the Lord, all ye seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stand in the house of the Lord.

2 Lift up your hands to the Sanctuarie, and praise the Lord.

3 The Lord that hath made heauen and earth, bleste thee out of Zion.

a Ye that are Leuites and chiefly appointed to this office. b For their charge was not onely to keep the Temple, but to pray there, and to giue God thanks. c And therefore hath all power, bleste thee with his fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vsed to praise the Lord, and bleste the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull, of what state soeuer they be, to praise God for his marvellous workes, 12 and especially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hath declared his maiestie, 15 to the confusion of all idolaters, and their idoles.

a Praise ye the Lord.

Praise the name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him.

2 Praise that stand in the house of the Lord, and in the courts of the house of our God.

3 Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his name: for it is a comely thing.

4 For the Lord hath chosen Iacob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that did hee in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the depths.

7 Hee bringeth vp the cloudes from the endes of the earth, and maketh the lightnings with the raine: he draweth forth the wind out of his treasures.

8 Hee smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.

9 He hath sent tokens and wonders into the mids of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.

10 Hee smote many nations, and slew mighty kings:

11 As Sihon king of the Amozites, and Og king of Basan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:

12 And gaue their land for an inheritance, a Yee Leuites that are in his Sanctuary. b Meaning, the people: for the people and Leuites had their course, which were places of the Temple-separate. c That is, hath freely loued the posterity of Abraham. d He ioyneth Gods power with his will, to the intent that wee should not separate them: and hereby he willett Gods power on his power, which he confirmeth by examples. Ier. 10. 13.

tance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people.

13 Thy name, O Lord endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord will iudge his people, and be pacified toward his seruants.

15 The idoles of the heathen are siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

17 They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth.

18 They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

19 Praise the Lord ye house of Israel: praise the Lord, ye house of Aaron.

20 Praise the Lord ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praise the Lord.

21 Praised be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

a A most earnest exhortation to giue thanks vnto God for the creation and gouernance of all things, which standeth in confessing that he giueth vs all of his meere liberalltie.

Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.

2 Praise ye the God of gods: for his mercy endureth for euer.

3 Praise ye the Lord of lordes: for his mercy endureth for euer.

4 Which only doeth great wonders: for his mercy endureth for euer.

5 Which by his wisdom made the heauens: for his mercy endureth for euer.

6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his mercy endureth for euer.

7 Which made great lights: for his mercy endureth for euer.

8 As the Sunne to rule the day: for his mercy endureth for euer.

9 The moone and starres to gouerne the night: for his mercy endureth for euer.

10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne: (for his mercy endureth for euer.)

11 And brought out Israel from among them: (for his mercy endureth for euer.)

12 With a mightie hand and stretched out arme: for his mercy endureth for euer.

13 Which diuided the red Sea in two parts: for his mercy endureth for euer.

14 And made Israel to passe thozow the mides of it: for his mercie endureth for euer.

15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his host in the red Sea: for his mercy endureth for euer.

16 Which led his people thozow the wilderness: for his mercy endureth for euer.

17 Which smote great Kings: for his mercy endureth for euer.

18 And slew mighty kings: for his mercie endureth for euer.

19 And slew the King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer.

20 And slew the King of the Canaanites: for his mercie endureth for euer.

21 And slew the King of the Hittites: for his mercie endureth for euer.

22 And slew the King of the Iugos: for his mercie endureth for euer.

23 And slew the King of the Amorites: for his mercie endureth for euer.

24 And slew the King of the Canaanites: for his mercie endureth for euer.

25 And slew the King of the Hittites: for his mercie endureth for euer.

That is, gouerne & defend his people. By shewing what punishment God appointeth for the heathen idolaters, he warneth his people to beware the like offence, seeing that idoles haue neither power nor life: and that their deliuerance came not by idoles, but by the mightie power of God, reade Psalm. 115. ver. 4.

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefits binde vs to thanksgiving: but chiefly his mercy which is principally declared towards his Church. b This was a common kinde of thanksgiving, which the whole people vsed, when they had receiue any benefit of God, as 2. Chro. 7. 6 and 20. 21. meaning, that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers, but also continued the same to their posteritie. c Gods mercifull providence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies. d In doing such a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could do. e Where for the space of forty yeres he shewed infinite and most strange wonders. f Declaring thereby that no power nor authoritie was so deare vnto him, as the loue of his Church.

g In our greatest affliction & tribulation, when we looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour. h Seeing God prouideth euen for the beasts: much more hath he care ouer his. i Seeing that all ages haue had most plain testimonies of Gods benefites.

19 As when king of the Amayites: for his mercie endureth for euer:
20 And Oge king of Basan: for his mercie endureth for euer:
21 And gave their land for an heritage: for his mercie endureth for euer:
22 Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercie endureth for euer.
23 Which remembred vs in our base estate: for his mercie endureth for euer:
24 And hath rescued vs from our oppressours: for his mercie endureth for euer.
25 Which giueth food to all flesh: for his mercie endureth for euer.
26 Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercie endureth for euer.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, lined in great anguish and sorrow of heart: the which grieue the Caldeans did so little pity, 3 that they rather increased the same daily with taunts, reproches and blasphemies against God, 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them, 8 and moued by the spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

a That is, we abode a long time: and albeit the country was pleasant, yet could it not stay our teares, nor turne vs from the true seruice of our God, b To wit of that country, c The Babylonians spake thus in mocking vs, as though by our silence we should signifie that we hoped no more in God, d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefs, yet the common sorrow of the Church is most grievous vnto them, and is such as they cannot but remember and lament, e The decay of Gods religion in their conuery was so grievous, that no ioy could make them glad, except it were restored, f According as Ezekiel, 15. 13. and Ier. 49. 7. verse prophesied: & Obadiah ver. 10. sheweth that the Edomites, which came of Esau conspired with the Babylonians against their brethren and kinsfolke, g When thou diddest visite Ierusalem, h He alludeth to Esaias prophesie, chap. 13 & 16. verse promising good successe to Cyrus and Darius, whom ambition moued to fight against Babylon: but God vsed them as his rods to punish his enemies.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace, 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirit that he may spend the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

A Psalme of David.

Hear my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: and haue mee in thy trueth, and in thy righteousnesse.

2 And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy sight shall none that liueth be iustified.

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soule, hee hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath layd me in the darkenesse, as they that haue bene dead long agoe.

4 And my spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine heart within mee was amazed.

5 Yet doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretch forth mine hands vnto thee my soule desireth after thee, as the thiristie land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from mee, else I a That is, as thou hast promised to be faithful in thy promise to all that trust in thee, b That is, according to thy free goodnes where-by thou defendest thine, c Hee knew that his afflictions were Gods messengers to call him to repentance for his finnes, though toward his enemies hee was innocent, and that in Gods sight all men are sinners. d He acknowledged that God is the onely and true Physician to heale him: and that he is able to raise him to life, though he were dead long agoe and turned to ashes. e So that onely by faith and by the grace of Gods Spirit hee was vpholden. f To wit, thy great benefits of old, and the manifold examples of thy fauour toward thine, shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, for in thee is my trust: shew me the way that I should walke in, for I life vpon my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuere me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for I hid me with thee.

10 Teach me to doe thy will: for thou art my God: let thy good spirit lead me vnto the land of righteousnesse.

11 Quickene me, O Lord, for thy names sake, and for thy righteousnesse bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie flap mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy seruant.

That both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will commeth by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his word, giueth vnderstanding by his Spirit, and frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him. 1 That is, iustly and aright, for so foule as we decline from Gods will, we fall into errour. m Which shalbe a signe of thy Fatherly kindnesse toward me. n Resigning my selfe wholly vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection, PSAL. CXLI.

1 He praiseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome restored, and for his victories obtained, 5 demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praises, 15 and declareth wherein the felicity of any people consisteth.

A Psalme of David.

Blessed bee the Lord my strength, which teacheth my hands to fight, and my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnesse and my fortress, my tower and my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou regardst him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 What is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow that vanissheth.

5 Bow thine heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touch the mountaines, and they shall smoke.

6 Cast forth the lightning, and scatter them, shoot out thine arrowes and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer mee, and take me out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers,

8 Whole mouth talketh vanity: and their right hand is a right hand of falsehood.

Though wicked things be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa. 45. 1. forasmuch as he vseth them to execute his iudgements: yet Dauid because of Gods promise, and they that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set forth Gods glory.

P S A L. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisdom, power, justice, and providence of God upon all his creatures, 2 But specially upon his Church, which he gathereth together after their dispersion, 19 Declaring his word and iudgements so unto them, as he hath done to none other people.

a He sheweth wherein wrought to exercise our selues continually, and to take our pastime: to wit, in praising God.

b Because the Lord is the founder of his Church, it cannot be destroyed, though the members thereof be dispersed, and seeme as it were for a time to be cut off.

c With affliction, or sorrow for sinne.

d Though it seeme to man incredible, yet God should assemble his Church, being so dispersed: yet nothing can be too hard to him, that can number & name all the starres.

e For the more high that the wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the end.

f He sheweth by the examples of Gods mightie power, goodnes and wisdom, that wee can neuer want most iust occasion to praise God. g For their crying is as it were a confession of their need, which cannot be relieved but by God only: then if God shew him selfe mindefull of the most contemptible soules, can he suffer them to die with famine, whom hee hath assured of life everlasting? h Though to use lawfull meanes is both profitable and pleasurable, yet to put our trust in them, is to defraud God of his honour. i He doth not onely furnish his Church with all things necessarie, but preferueth also the same, and maketh it strong against all outward force, j Ebi sat. k His secret working in all creatures is as a commandment to keepethem in order, and to giue them moouing and force. l For immediately & without resisting, all things obey him.

Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing unto our God: for it is a pleasant thing and praise is comely.

2 The Lord doth build up Jerusalem, and gathereth together the dispersed of Israel.

3 Hee healeth those that are broken in heart, and bindeth up their sores.

4 He counteth the number of the stars, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisdom is infinite.

6 The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the ground.

7 Sing unto the Lord with praise: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God,

8 Which couereth the heauen with clouds, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to grow vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beastes their foode, and to yong rauens that cry.

10 He hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man.

11 But the Lord delighteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

12 Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem: praise thy God, O Zion.

13 For hee hath made the barres of thy gates strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, and salettieth thee with the floure of wheate.

15 He sendeth forth his commandement vpon earth, and his word runneth very swiftly.

16 He giueth snow like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his ice like morsels: who can abide the cold thereof?

18 Hee sendeth his word and melteth them: he causeth his wind to blow, and the waters flow.

19 Hee sheweth his word vnto Jacob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they known his iudgements. Praise ye the Lord.

he hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure. n The cause of this difference is Gods free mercie, which hath elected his in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust iudgement, whereby hee hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

P S A L. CXLVIII.

1 Hee promoueth all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen and earth, and all places, 14 Specially his Church for the power that hee hath giuen to the same after that hee had shewn them & ioynd them vnto him.

Praise ye the Lord.

Praise ye the Lord from the heauen: praise ye him in the high places:

2 Praise ye him, all ye his Angels: praise him all his armie.

3 Praise ye him, sunne and moone: praise ye him all bright starres.

4 Praise ye him, heauens of heauens, and waters that be aboute the heauens.

5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for hee commanded, and they were created.

6 And hee hath established them for ever and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe.

7 Praise ye the Lord from the earth, yee dragons and all depths:

8 Fire and haille, snow and vapours, stormie wind, which execute his word:

9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruitfull trees and cedars:

10 Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and feathered fowles:

11 Kings of the earth and all people, princes, and all iudges of the world.

12 Yong men, and maidens, also old men and children:

13 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his praise aboute the earth and the heauens.

14 For hee hath exalted the home of his people, which is a praise for all his Saints, euen for the children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

P S A L. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lord for his victorie and conquest, that hee giueth his Saints against all man's power.

Praise ye the Lord.

Sing vnto the Lord a new song: let his praise be heard in the Congregation of Saints.

a Because they are members of the same bodie, he setteth them before our eyes, which are most willing hereunto, and by their prompt obedience teach vs to doe our dutie. b In that Gods glorie shineth in these insensible creatures, this chaire beaurie is as a continuall praying of God. c Not that there are diuers heauens: but because of the spheres & of the situation of the fixed starres and planets, hee comprehendeth by this word the whole heauen. d That is, the raine which is in the middle regia For his rare & manifold benefites bestowed on his Church, b In that that they were preferred before all other nations, it was as a new creation, and therefore, Psal. 95. 7. they were called the sheepe of Gods hands, c For God as hee is the Creatour of the soule and body, so will hee that both two serue him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto him as to their most lawfull King. d He alludeth to that continuall rest and quietnesse, which they should haue, if they would suffer God to rule them. e This is chiefly accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate iniuries. f Not onely the people, but the kings that were their enemies, should be destroyed. g Hereby God bindeth the hands and minds of all his to enterprise no further then he appointeth.

The Prouerbes of Salomon.

THE ARGUMENT.

The wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly conteine doctrine, and partly manners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a Preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewel to the Church of those three thousand parables mentioned, 1. Kings 4. 32. and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 Wee may not consent to the intisyngs of sinners. 20 Wisdom complayneth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

TH E Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel.

2 To know wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand the words of knowledge,

3 To receiue instruction to doe wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the simple sharpenesse of wit, and to the child knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 By liuing iustly, and rendring to every man that which apperteineth vnto him. e To such as haue not discretion to rule themselves. f As he sheweth these parables concerning the effect of religion as touching manners and doctrine, doe appertaine to the simple people: so doth he declare, that the same are also necessarie for them that are wise and learned.

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisdom and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be to thee a comely ornament vnto thine head, & as chaines for thy necke.

10 My sonne, if sinners doe intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, wee will lay waite for blood, and lie in wait for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallow them by a line like a graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 We shall fill all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle:

Psal 111. 10. Eccles. 1. 16.

g He speaketh this in the Name of God, which is the vniuersall Father of all creatures, or in the Name of the Father of the Church: who is as a father. h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods word.

† Ebr. Increase of grace. i To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God. k Hee speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of all crafty practises which tend to the detriment of our neighbour. l As the graue is neuer satiate, so the avarice of the wicked and their crueltie hath none ende.

m He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue every one part of the spoyle of the innocent.

n That is, haue nothing at all to do with them.

o He sheweth that there is no cause. o moue these wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice & cruelty.

p Whereby he concludeth that the couetous man is a murderer.

q This wisdom is the eternall word of God, r So that none can pretend ignorance.

f Wisdom re- prooueth three kinds of men: the foolish or simple, which erre of ignorance, and the mockers, that cannot suffer to be taught, & the foolies which are drowned in worldly lusts & hate the knowledge of godliness.

t This is spoken according to our capacity, signifying that the wicked which mocke and iest at Gods word, shall haue the iust reward of their mocking. u That is, your destruction, which thing you feared. x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne griefe. y Shewing that without faith and obedience we cannot call vpon God aright. z They shall feele what commodity their wicked life shall giue them. a That is, the prosperity and sensualitie wherein they delight.

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one^m purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their^m path.

16 For their feet run to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly as without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that haue wing:

18 So they lay wait for blood, and lie in p^mulpy for^m their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: he would take away the life of the owners thereof.

20 Wisdom crieth without: she uttereth her voyce in the^m streetes,

21 She calleth in the hie street, among the prease in the entringes of the gates, and uttereth her words in the citie, saying,

22 O ye^m foolish, how long will yee loue foolishnes: and the counsell take their pleasure in scorn^ming: and the foolies hate knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my mind vnto you, and make you understand my words.)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard:

25 But yee haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction:

26 I will also^m laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare commeth:

27 When^m your feare commeth like sudden desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirlewind: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon mee, but I will not answere: they shall seeke me earlly, but they shall not^m finde me,

29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord:

30 They would none of my counsell, but despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the^m fruite of their owne way, and bee filled with their owne deuises.

32 For^m ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperity of foolies destroyeth them.

33 But hee that obeyeth mee, shall dwell safely, and bee quiet from feare of euill.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisdom exhorteth to obey her, 5 She teacheth the feare of God, 6 She is giuen of God, 10 Shee preferreth from wickednesse.

M^m y sonne, if thou wilt receiue my words, Mand^m hide my commandements within thee,

2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, and encline^m thine heart to vnderstanding,

3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, and criest for vnderstanding:

4 If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for^m treasures,

5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, and find the^m knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding.

7 Well preferreth^m y^m state of the righteous, he is a shield to them that walke vprightly,

8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and hee preferreth the way of his iainrs.)

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousness, and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.

10 When wisdom entreth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy soule,

4 So shalt thou find fauour & good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 Trust in the Lord w all thine heart, and leaue not vnto thine owne wisdom.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 Bee not wise in thine owne eyes; but feare the Lord and depart from euill.

8 So health shall be vnto thy nauell, and marrow vnto thy bones.

9 Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first frutes of thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes bee filled with abundance, and thy presses shall be burst with new wine.

11 Thy sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father doeth the child in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandize thereof is better then the merchandize of silver, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of daies is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are waies of pleasure, and all her paths prosperity.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed is hee that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisdom hath laid the foundation of the earth, & hath established the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, & the clouds drop downe the dew.

21 By sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom and counsell.

22 So they shall bee life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foot shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not bee afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserue thy foot from taking.

27 Which hold not the good from the owners thereof, though there bee power in thine hand to doe it.

29 Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doeth dwell without feare by thee.

30 Striue not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 Bee not enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesteth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornfull hee scorneth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shall inherit glory: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Wisdom and her fruites ought to be searched.

14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God, the heart, eyes, and course of life, must be guided.

Ha Care, O yee children, the instruction of a father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my Law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When he taught me, & said vnto me, Let thine heart hold fast my words: keepe my commandments, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisdom, get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forlake her not, & she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preserue thee.

7 Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom therefore: and about all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, & she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, shee shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 Heare, my sonne, and receiue my words, & the yeres of thy life shall be many.

11 I haue taught thee in the way of wisdom, and led thee in the pathes of righteousness.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, & leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auid it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that shineth more and more vnto the perfect day.

c Meaning, Dauid his father, d He sheweth that we must first begin at Gods word, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last study, or else care not for him at all.

e Salomon declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation.

f Thou shalt walke at libertie without offence, g Meaning, that to doe euill is more proper and naturall to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke, h Gotten by wicked meanes and cruel oppression, i Signifying, that the godly increase daily in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection, which is, when they shall be ioyned to their head in the heauens.

o Desire not to be like vnto him, p That is, his covenant & fatherly affection which is hid and secret from the world, q He will shew by his plagues that their scorn shall turn to their own destruction, as Chap. 1. 26, 19 The way of the wicked is as the darkness: they know not wherein they shall fall.

20 O My sonne, hearken vnto my words, incline thine eare to my sayings.
21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.
22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their flesh.
23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth life.
24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.
25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.
26 Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.
27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remouue thy foote from euill.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidden, 9 And prodigallie. 15 Hee willet a man to lue on his labours, and to helpe others. 18 To lue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their wickednesse.

M y sonne, hearken vnto my wisdom, and incline thine eare vnto my knowledge.

2 That thou mayest regard counsel, and thy lips obserue knowledge.

3 For the lips of a strange woman drop as an hony comb, and her mouth is more soft then oyle.

4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

5 Her feet goe downe to death, and her steps take hold on hell.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are moueable: thou canst not know them.

7 Heare yee me now therefore, O children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, & come not nere the doore of her house.

9 Lest thou giue thine honour vnto others, and thy peeres to the cruell:

10 Lest the stranger should be filled with thy strength, & thy labours be in the house of a stranger.

11 And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy body).

12 And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voice of them that taught mee, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the mids of the Congregation & assembly.

15 O Drinke the water of thy cistern, and of the riuers out of the mids of thine owne well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streets.

17 But let them be thine, even thine only, and not the strangers with thee.

h He teacheth vs sobrietie, exhorting vs to lue of our owne labours, and to be beneficial to the goodly that want.

i Distribute them not to the wicked and infidels, but reserve them for thy selfe, thy familie, and them that are of the household of faith.

18 Let thy fountain be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy youth:

19 Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant doe: let her breake forth teares at all times, and delight in her loue continually.

20 For why shouldest thou delight, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his paths.

22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cords of his owne sinne.

23 He shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great folly.

1 Instruction for sureties 6 The slothfull and sluggards stirred to worke. 22 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To flee adultery.

M y sonne, if thou be surety for thy neighbour, and hast stricken handes with the stranger,

2 Thou art snared with the words of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the words of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe, seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe and humble thy selfe, and sollicite thy friends.

4 Goe no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye lids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 Goe to the pismire, O sluggard: behold her wayes, and be wise.

7 For shee hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,

8 Prepareth her meate in the summer, and gathereth her foode in harvest.

9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard: when wilt thou arise out of thy sleep?

10 Yee a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe.

11 Therefore thy pouerty commeth as one that traualleth by the way, and thy necessity like an armed man.

12 The vnthriftie man and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth.

13 Hee maketh a signe with his eyes, hee signifieth with his feet: hee is instructed with his fingers.

14 Lewd things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shal be destroyed suddenly without recovery.

16 These sixe things doth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth seuen:

them vnthriftie, or the men of Belial and slanderous.

1 An exhortation to wisdom and to the word of God, 5 Which will preserve vs from the harlot, 6 Whose manners are described.

M^y sonne, keepe my words, and hide my commandments with thee.

2 Keepe my commandments, and thou shalt live, and mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes.

3 Bind them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister: & call vnderstanding by kinwoman.

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smooth in her words.

a. By this diuersitie of words he meaneth that nothing ought to be so deare vnto vs, as the word of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor mind any thing so much.

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, feele that he: swift in running to mischief.

19 A false witness that speaketh lies, and him that raiseth vp contention among his brethren.

20 O my sonne, keepe thy fathers commandment, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Bind them alway vpon thine heart, and tie them about thy necke.

22 It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the commandment is a lantern, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction are the way of life.

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beauty in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eyes.

26 For because of the whorish woman, a man is brought to a morsell of bread, & a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Can a man go vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbors wife, shall not be innocent, whosoever toucheth her.

30 When doe not despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satiate his soule, because hee is hungry.

31 But if he be found, he shall restore seven fold, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adultery with a woman, he is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 He shall find a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For iclouise is the rage of a man: therefore hee will not spare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee cannot beare the sight of any ranfome: neither will hee consent, though thou augment the gifts.

6 As I was in the window of mine house, I looked through my window,

7 And I saw among the tooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twilight in the evening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman, with an harlots behauiour, and subtil in heart.

11 (She is babbling and lowd: whose feete cannot abide in her house, 12 Now she is without, now in the streets, and litch in wait at every corner)

13 So she caught him and kissed him, and with an impudent face said vnto him, 14 I haue peace offerings: this day haue I payd my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meet thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, I carpers and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in dalliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off, 20 We haue taken with him a bag of silver, & will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips she enticed him.

22 And hee followed her straightwayes, as an ox that goeth to the slaughter, and as a foole to the stocks for correction.

23 Till a dart strike thorow his liver, as a bird halleth to the snare, not knowing that he is in danger.

24 Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her pathes.

26 For she hath caused many to fall down wounded, and the strong men are all slaine by her.

k He declareth hereby the diuinity and eternitie of this wisdom which he magnifieth and praiseth through this booke: meaning thereby the eternal Son of God Iesus Christ our Saviour whom S. Iohn calleth the word that was in the beginning, Ioh. 1.
l He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is meant by this word Wisdom, who was before all time, and ever present with the Father.

3 Shee cryeth besides the gates before the citie at the entry of the doores, 4 O men, I call vnto you, and vnto my boyce to the children of men.
5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and ye O fooles, be wise in heart.
6 Gue care for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shall teach things that be right.
7 For my mouth shall speake the truth, and my lips abhorre wickednesse.
8 All the words of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.
9 They are all plaine to him that will vnderstand, and streight to them that would find knowledge.
10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.
11 For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.
12 I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I find forth knowledge and counsels.
13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euill, as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I doe hate.
14 I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.
15 By me Kings reigne, and princes decree iustice.
16 By mee princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.
17 I loue them that loue me: and they that seeke me early, shall find me.
18 Riches and hono^r are with me: euen durable riches and righteousness.
19 My fruit is better then gold, euen then fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.
20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, and in the middes of the pathes of iudgement.
21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.
22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his workes of olde.
23 I was set by from euerlasting, from the beginning, and before the earth.
24 When there were no depthes, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.
25 Before the mountaines were setled: and before the hills, was I begotten.
26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.
27 When hee prepared the heauens, I was there, when hee set the compass vpon the deepe.
28 When hee established the cloudes aboue, when hee confirmed the fountaines of the deepe, 29 When hee gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters should not passe his commandement, when he appointed the foundations of the earth, 30 Then was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delight reioycing alway before him, 31 And tooke my solace in the compasse of his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto mee: for blessed are they that keepe my wayes.
33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, and giuing attendance at the postes of my doores.
34 For hee that findeth mee, findeth life, and shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.
35 But he that sinneth against me, hnereth his own soule: & al that hate me, loue death.
By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whom Wisdom tooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine Wisdom tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnspcakable treasures: and this is that solace & pastime wherof is here spoken.

2 Shee hath killed her vitailles, drawen her wine, and prepared her table.
3 Shee hath sent forth her maidens, and crieth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,
4 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom, shee saith,
5 Come, and eate of my meate, & drinke of the wine that I haue drawen.
6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, & ye shall liue: & walke in the way of vnderstanding.
7 He that reproboueth a scooner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.
8 Rebuke not a scooner, lest he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, and hee will loue thee.
9 Gue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and hee will increase in learning.
10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things is vnderstanding.
11 For thy dayes shall bee multiplied by mee, and the yeeres of thy life shall bee augmented.
12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for thy life, and if thou bee a scooner, thou alone shalt suffer.
the Sacrament, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, which is the Church.
g For the wicked will contemne him, and labour to defame him.
h Meaning, them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs & swine: or he speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but hee sheweth their malice, and their small hope of profite.
i Hee sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to know the will of God in his word, which is meant by holy things.
k Thou shalt haue the chiefe profit and commoditie thereof.

m Some reader a chief worker: signifying that this wisdom, euen Christ Iesus was equal with God his Father, and created, pre-serueth, and still worketh with him, as Ioh. 5. 17 n Whereby is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisdom of God.
o By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whom Wisdom tooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine Wisdom tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnspcakable treasures: and this is that solace & pastime wherof is here spoken.
Christ hath prepared him a Church.
b That is, many chiefe stayes and principall parts of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors, and Doctors.
c He compareth wisdom with great princes that keepe open house for all that come.
d Meaning, true preachers, which are not infected with mans wisdom.
e Hee that knoweth his owne ignorance, and is void of malice.
f By the meate and drinke, is meant the word of God, and the ministrati- on of 1 By the foolish woman, some vnderstand the wicked preachers, who counterfaite the word of God, as appeareth, verse 16. which were the words of the true preachers, as ver. 4. but their doctrine is but as stollen waters: meaning that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to the flesh then the word of God: and therefore they themselves boast thereof.

13 A foolish woman is troublesome: she is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.
14 But she lieth at the doore of her house, on a seat in the high places of the citie.
15 To call them that passe by thy way, that goe right on their way, saying,
16 Who is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdom she saith alſo, 17 Stollen waters are sweete, and his bread is pleasant.
18 But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, and that her gheists are in the depth of hell.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter and all that follow vnto the thirtieth the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which hee calleth parables, to follow vertue, and flee vice: and sheweth also what profit cometh of wisdom, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnesse.

THE PARABLES OF SOLOMON.

A wise sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.

2 The treasures of a wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousnesse deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord will not furnish the soule of the righteous: but hee calleth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 Hee that gathereth in summer, is the sonne of wisdom: but hee that sleeperth in harvest, is the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memoriall of the iust shall be blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rot.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talke shall be beaten.

9 Hee that walketh vprightly, walketh holily: but he that peruertereth his wayes, shall be knowne.

10 Hee that winketh with the eye, worketh sorrow, and hee that is foolish in talke shall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses.

13 In the lipps of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdom is found, and a rod shall bee for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom.

14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his strong citie, but the feare of the needy is their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that despiseth it, shall perish.

18 The righteous shall escape out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his stead.

19 An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be delivered by knowledge.

20 In the prosperitie of the righteous the title way of life: but hee that refuseth correction goeth out of the way.

21 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

22 In many words there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refrainerh his lips, is wise.

23 The tongue of the iust man is as silver filuer: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

24 The lips of the righteous doe feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdom.

25 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doeth adde no sorrowes with it.

26 It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

27 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will grant the desire of the righteous.

28 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerslasting foundation.

29 As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthfull to them that send him.

30 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the peccers of the wicked shall be diminished.

31 The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

32 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall bee for the workers of iniquitie.

33 The righteous shall neuer bee remoued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

34 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitful in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

35 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speakeeth froward things.

CHAP. XI.

False balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfit weight pleaseth him.

2 When priue commeth, then commeth shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them but the frowardnesse of the transgressors shall destroy them.

4 Riches auaille not in the day of wrath: but righteousnesse deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousnesse of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.

6 The righteousnesse of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednesse.

7 When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his stead.

9 An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be delivered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the title

i For they speak truth and edifie many by exhortations, admonition and counsel.
k Meaning, that al worldly things bring care, and sorrow, whereas they that seele the blessings of God, haue none.

l He is but a trouble & griefe to him that setteth him about any businesse.
m The time of their prosperitie shall be short because of their great fall though they seeme to liue long.
n They enioy in this life by faith and hope, their euerslasting life.

a Vnder this word he condemneth all false weights, measures and deceit.
b When man forgetteth himselfe, and thinketh to be exalted aboue his vocation, then God bringeth him to confusion.
Ezek. 7. 19.
eclus. 5. 1.

a That is, wickedly gotten.

b But though he suffer the iust to wait for a time, yet he will send him comfort in due season.

ff Or, deceitfull.

c When their wickednesse shall be discovered, they shall be as dumbe, and not know what to say.

d Shall be vile and abhorred both of God and man contrary to their owne expectation, which thinke to make their name immortal.

† Ebr. lips.

† Or, surely.

e He that beareth a faire countenance, & imagineth mischief in his heart, as Chap. 6. 13.

g That is, God will find him out to punish him.

h And so maketh him bold to doe euill, whereas pouertie bridleth the poore from many euill things.

e The countrey is blessed, where there are godly men, and they ought to reioyce when the wicked are taken away.

|| Or, prosperitie. f Will not make light report of others.

g Where God giueth store of men of wisdom and counsell.

h Whose consideration hee knoweth not.

i Hee that doeth not without iudgement and consideration of the circumstances, put himselfe in danger, as Chap. 6. 1.

|| Or, modestie. k Is both good to himselfe and others.

|| Or, neighbour. l Though they make neuer so many friends, or thinke themselves neuer so sure, yet they shall not escape.

|| Or, of uncomely behaviour. m They can looke for nothing but Gods vengeance.

n Meaning them that giue liberally, whom God blesseth.

o That is, the niggard.

† For, the soule of blessing shall be made fit.

p That prouideth for the vse of them that are in need.

q The covetous men that spare their riches to the hinderance of their families, shall be deprived thereof miserably.

r For though the wicked bee rich, yet they are but slaves to the godly, which are the true possessors of the gifts of God. † That is, bringeth them to the knowledge of God. ‡ Shall be punished as be deserueth, 1. Pet. 4. 18.

c The countrey is blessed, where there are godly men, and they ought to reioyce when the wicked are taken away.

11 By the blessing of the righteous, the city is raised: but it is subverted by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is despised of wisdom: but a man of understanding will keepe silence.

13 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth a secret: but he that is of a faithful heart, concealeth a matter.

14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellors are, there is health.

15 He shall be sore vexed, that is surety for a stranger, and hee that hateth suretiship, is free.

16 A gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong men attaine riches.

17 He that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but hee that troubleth his owne selfe, is cruell.

18 The wicked woorketh a deceitfull woork: but he that soweth righteousness, shall receive a sure reward.

19 A righteousness leadech to life, so hee that followeth enill, seeketh his owne death.

20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are upright in their way, are his delight.

21 Though hand ioyne in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape.

22 As a scowle of gold in a swines snout: so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion.

23 The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation.

24 There is that scattereth, and is more increased: but he that gathereth more, then is right, surely commeth to poverty.

25 Hee that is liberall person shall have plenty: and he that watereth, shall also have raine.

26 Hee that withholdeth the come, the people will curse him: but blessing shall be upon the head of him that selleth corne.

27 Hee that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a leafe.

29 Hee that troubleth his owne house, shall inherit the wind, and the fool shall be a servant to the wise in heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise.

31 Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: how much more the wicked and the sinner?

2 A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations will be condemned.

3 A man cannot be established by wickednesse: but the roote of the righteous shall not be moued.

4 A virtuous woman is the crowne of her husband: but shee that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the just are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.

6 The talking of the wicked is to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will deliver them.

7 God overthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

8 A man shall be commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shall be despised.

9 Hee that is despised, and is his owne servant, is better then hee that boasteth himselfe, and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell.

11 He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but hee that followeth the idle, is destitute of understanding.

12 The wicked destroyeth the net of euils: but the roote of the righteous giueth fruit.

13 The enill man is snared by the wickednesse of his lips, but the iust shall come out of aduersitie.

14 A man shall be satiate with good things by the fruit of his mouth, and the recompense of a mans hands shall God giue unto him.

15 The way of a foole is right in his owne eyes: but hee that heareth counsell, is wise.

16 A foole in a day shall be known by his anger: but hee that conereth shame, is wise.

17 Hee that speaketh truth, will shew righteousness: but a false witness vlieth deceit.

18 There is that speaketh words like the prickings of a sword: but the tongue of wise men is health.

19 The lippe of truth shall be stable for euer: but a lying tongue varieth incontinently.

20 Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine euill, but to the counsellors of peace shall be loy.

21 There shall none iniquity come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euill.

22 The lying lips are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truly, are his delight.

23 A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fool publisheth foolishnes.

24 The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle shall be vnder tribute.

25 Heauinesse in the heart of man doeth bring it downe: but a good word reioyceth it.

a They are so grounded in the fauour of God, that their roote shall prosper continually. † Ebr. strong, of painfull.

b As their conscience is upright, so shall they be able to speake for themselves against their accusers. c The poore man that is contemned, and yet liueth of his owne trauaile.

will deceiue them.

27 The deceitfull man roaseth not that he tooke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.

28 Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that path-way there is no death.

CHAP. XIII.

A Wise sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scorner will heare no rebuke.

2 A man shall eate good things by the fruit of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shall suffer violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but he that openeth his lips, destruction shall be to him.

4 The sluggard lusteth, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plenty.

5 A righteous man hateth lying words:
but the wicked causeth slander and shame.

6 Righteousnesse preferreth the vpright of life: but wickednesse ouerthroweth the sinner.

7 There is that maketh himselfe rich, and hath nothing, and that maketh himselfe poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man will giue his riches for the van-some of his life: but the poore cannot heare the reproch.

9 The light of the righteous reioyeth:
but the candle of the wicked shall be put out.

10 Onely by pride doeth man make contention: but with the well aduised is wise-dome.

11 The riches of vanity shall diminish:
but hee that gathereth with the hand, shall increase them.

12 The hope that is deferred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, it is as a tree of life.

13 He that despiseth the word, he shall be despoted: but he that feareth the commandment, he shall be rewarded.

14 The instruction of a wise man is as the will spring of life, to turne away from the snarcs of death.

15 Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16 Every wise man will worke by knowledge: but a foole will spread abroad folly.

17 A wicked messenger falleth into euill: but a faithfull ambassadour is preseruation.

18 Pouertie and shame is to him that refuseth instruction: but hee that regardeth correction, shall be honoured.

19 A desire accomplished delighteth the soule: but it is an abomination to foolles to depart from euill.

20 He that walketh with the wise, shall be wise: but a companion of foolles shall be afflicted.

21 Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto
the righteous God will recompense good.

22 The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: and the riches of the sinner is laid vp for the iust.

23 Much food is in the field of the poore:
but the field is destroyed without discretion.

24 Hee that spareth his rod, hateth his sonne: but he that longeth him, chasteneth him betime.

25 The righteous eateth to the contentation of his mind: but the belly of the wicked shall want.

CHAP. XIII.

A Wise woman buildeth her house: but the foolish destroyeth it with her owne hands.

2 Hee that walketh in his righteousness, feareth the Lord: but he that is lewde in his wayes, despiseth him.

3 In the mouth of the foolish is the rod of pride: but the lipps of the wise preserve them.

4 Where none open are, there the cribbe is empty: but much increase cometh by the strength of the ore.

5 A faithfull witnesse will not lie: but a falle record will speake lies.

6 A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderstand.

7 Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceivest not in him the lips of knowledge.

8 The wisdom of the prudent is to vnder-stand his way: but the foolishnesse of the fooles is deceit.

9 The foole maketh a mocke of sinne:
but among the righteous there is fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the bitterness of his soule, and the stranger shall not meddle with his toy.

11 The house of the wicked shall bee destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall flourish.

12 There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are the wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is sorrow-full, and the ende of that mirth is beautinesse.

14 The heart that declineth, shall be satiate with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him.

15 The foolish will beleue euery thing:
but the prudent will consider his steps.

16 A wise man feareth, & departeth from euill: but a foole rageth, and is careless.

17 He that is halfe to anger, committeth folly, and a busse body is hated.

18 The foolish doe in herse folly: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euill shall bow before the good,
& the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friends of the rich are many.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour:
but hee that hath mercy on the poore is blessed.

22 Doe not they erre that imagine euill:
but to them that thinke on good things, shall be mercy and truth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the taske of the lips bringeth onely want.

and the folly of fooler is foolishness.

25 A faithfull witness delivereth soules: but a deceiver speaketh lies.

26 In the feare of the Lord is an assured strength, and his children shall haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord is as a wellspring of life to auoid the snares of death.

28 In the multitude of the people is the honour of a king, and for the want of people commeth the destruction of the prince.

29 He that is slow to wrath, is of great wisdom: but he that is of an haughty mind, exalteth folly.

30 A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but enue is the rotting of the bones.

31 He that oppelleth the poore, reproo- ueth him that made him: but hee honoureth him that hath mercie on the poore.

32 The wicked shall be cast away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Wisdom relecth in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is knowen in the mids of fooler.

34 Iustice exalteth a nation, but sinne is a shame to the people.

35 The pleasure of a king is in a wise ser- uant: but his wrath shall be toward him that is lewd.

CHAP. XV.

A soft answer putteth away wrath: but agriuous words stirre vp anger.

2 The tongue of the wise vbleth know- ledge aright: but the mouth of fooler bab- bleth out foolishnesse.

3 The eyes of the Lord in every place be- hold the euill and the good.

4 A wholesome tongue is as a tree of life: but the frowardnesse thereof is the breaking of the minde.

5 A fooler despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The house of the righteous hath much treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is trouble.

7 The lips of the wise doe spread abroad knowledge: but the heart of the foolish doth not so.

8 The sacrifice of the wicked is abomi- nation vnto the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomi- nation vnto the Lord: but hee loueth him that followeth righteousness.

10 Instruction is euill to him that forsak- eth the way, and he that hateth correction, shall die.

11 Hell and destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the sonnes of men?

12 A scorner loueth not him that rebu- keth him, neither will he goe vnto the wise.

13 A toyfull heart maketh a cheerefull countenance: but by the sorrow of the heart the mind is heauie.

14 The heart of him that hath vnderstan- ding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the fooler is fed with foolishnesse.

15 All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continuall feast.

16 Better is little with the feare of the Lord, then great treasure & trouble therewith

17 Better is a dinner of greene herbes where loue is, then a stalled ore, and barred therewith.

18 An angry man stirreth by strife: but he that is slow to wrath, appealeth strife.

19 The way of a slothfull man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righte- ous is plaine.

20 A wise sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother.

21 Foolishnesse is toy to him that is desti- tute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnder- standing walketh vprightly.

22 Without counsell thoughts come to nought: but in the multitude of counsel- lers there is stedfastnesse.

23 A toy commeth to a man by the answer of his mouth: and how good is a word in due season?

24 The way of life is on high to the pri- dent, to auoid from hell beneath.

25 The Lord wil destroy the house of the proud men: but hee will stablish the borders of the widow.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are abo- mination to the Lord: but the pure haue pleasant words.

27 Hee that is greedy of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth gifts, shall liue.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answer: but the wicked mans mouth bab- bleth euill things.

29 The Lord is far off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, & a good name maketh the bones far.

11 A true weight and ballance are of the Lord: all the weights of the bagge are his worke.
12 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickednesse: for the throne is established by iustice.
13 Righteous lippes are the delight of kings, and the king loueth him that speaketh right things.
14 The wrath of a king is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.
15 In the light of the kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloude of the latter raine.
16 How much better is it to get wisdom then gold? and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer.
17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and hee keepeth his soule that keepeth his way.
18 Wide goeth before destruction, and an high riind before the fall.
19 Better is it to be of humble mind with the lowly, then to diuide the spoiles with the proud.
20 Hee that is wise in his businesse shall find good: and hee that trusteth in the Lord he is blessed.
21 The wise in heart shall bee called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lippes shall increase doctrine.
22 Understanding is a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of foolles is folly.
23 The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, & adueth doctrine to his lips.
24 False wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnesse to the soule, & health to the bones.
25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death.
26 The person that traualleth, traualleth for himselfe: for his mouth f craueth it of him.
27 A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lips is like burning fire.
28 A froward person soweth strife: and a tale teller maketh diuision among princes.
29 A wicked man deceiuet his neighbour, and leaueh him into the way that is not good.
30 Hee shutteth his eyes to deuilse wickednesse: hee mouerh his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.
31 Age is a crowne of glory, when it is found in the way of righteousnesse.
32 Hee that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and hee that rulerh his owne minde, is better then hee that winneth a citie.
33 The lot is cast into the lapp: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

Better is a dumb foole, if peace be with it, then an house full of sacrifices with strife.

2 A discreet seruant shall haue rule ouer a lewd sonne, and hee shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.
3 As is the fining pot for siluer, and the furnace for gold, so the Lord tryeth the hearts.
4 The wicked giueth heed to false lips, and a liar hearkeneth to the naughty tongue.
5 He that mocketh the poore, reprocherh him that made him: and he that reioyceth at destruction, shall not be unpunished.
6 Childrens children are the crowne of the Elders: and the glory of the children are their fathers.
7 High talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince.
8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth whithersoener it turneth.
9 Hee that couereth a transgression, sekerh loue: but he that repeateh a matter separateth the prince.
10 A reproofe entreceth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole.
11 A seditious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell messenger shall be sent against him.
12 It is better for a man to creepe a heare robbed of her wheeles, then a foole in his folly.
13 He that rewardeth euil for good, euill shall not depart from his house.
14 The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters: therefore of the contention be medleth with, leaue off.
15 He that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemnerh the iust, euen they both are abominations to the Lord.
16 Therefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath none heart.
17 A friend loneth at all times: and a brother is home for aduersity.
18 A man destitute of vnderstanding, toucheth the hand, and becommeth surety for his neighbour.
19 Hee loneth transgression that loneth strife: and he that cracteth his gate, seeketh destruction.
20 The froward heart findeth no good: and hee that hath a naughty tongue, shall fall into euill.
21 He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorow, and the father of a foole can haue no toy.
22 A ioyfull heart caueth good health: but a sorrowfull minde drieth the bones.
23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosome to wrest the wayes of iudgement.
24 Wisdom is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world.
25 A foolish sonne is a griefe vnto his father, and a heauinesse to her that bare him.

24 A man that hath friends, ought to shew himselfe friendly: for a friend is nearer than a brother.

FOR the desire thereof hee will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all wisdom.

2 A foole hath no delight in understanding, but that his heart may be discovered.

3 When the wicked cometh, then cometh contempt, and with the vile man reproch.

4 The words of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the well-spring of wisdom is like a flowing riuer.

5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

6 A fooles lips come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

7 A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

8 The words of a talebearer are as flattering, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

9 He also that is slothfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

10 The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted.

11 The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an high wall in his imagination.

12 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty, and before glory goeth lowliness.

13 Hee that answereth a matter before he heare it, it is folly and shame vnto him.

14 The spirit of a man will sustaine his infirmities: but a wounded spirit, who can beare it?

15 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the eare of the wise seeketh learning.

16 A mans gift enlargeth him, and lea- deth him before great men.

17 Hee that is first in his owne cause, is first: then cometh his neighbour, and maketh enquire of him.

18 The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mighty.

19 A brother offended is harder to winne than a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

20 With the fruit of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.

found, which are more ready to doe pleasure than hee that is more bound by duty.

CHAP. XIX.

BETTER is the poore that walketh in his uprightness, then he that abuseth his lips, and is a foole.

2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that hasteth with his feet, sinneth.

3 The foolishnesse of a man peruertereth his way, and his heart fretteth against the Lord.

4 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

5 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and hee that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

6 Many reuerence the face of the prince, and every man is friend to him that giueth gifts.

7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: how much more will his friends depart farre from him: though he be instant with words, yet they will not.

8 He that possesseth understanding, loveth his owne soule, and keepeth wisdom to find goodnesse.

9 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

10 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer Princes.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger: and his glory is to passe by an offence.

12 The Kings wrath is like the roaring of a Lion: but his fauour is like the dew vpon the grasse.

13 A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping.

22 Say not thou, ^h I will recompense e- uill: but wait vpon the Lord, and hee shall saue thee.

23 Diuers weights are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good.

24 The steppes of man are ruled by the Lord: how can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

25 It is a destruction for a man to se- uoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to enquire.

26 A wise King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the ⁱ wherle to turne ouer them.

27 The ^j light of the Lord is the breath of man, and searcheth all the bowels of the belly.

28 Mercie and tructh preferue the King: for his throne shall be established with mercy.

of God is riches, and glory, and life.

5 Thornes and snares are in the way of the forward: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them.

6 Teach a child in the trade of his way, and when hee is olde, hee shall not depart from it.

7 The rich ruleth the poore, and the bo-rower is seruant to the man that lendeth.

8 Hee that lowereth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the rodde of his anger shall falle.

9 * He that hath a good eye, hee shall be blessed: for hee giueth of his bread vnto the poore.

10 Cast out the scooner, and strife shall goe out: so contention and reproch shall cease.

11 Hee that loueth purenesse of heart for the grace of his lips, the king shall bee his friend.

12 The eyes of the Lord preferue knowtransgressor.

13 The slothfull man saith, I A Lyon is shall fall therein.

15 Foolishnesse is bound in the heart of it away from him.

16 He that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giueth vnto the rich, shall surely come to povertie.

17 Encine thine eare, and heare the words of the wise, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge.

18 For it shall bee pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy belly, and if they be directed together in thy lips.

19 That thy confidence may be in the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede.

20 Haue not I written vnto thee three times in counsels and knowledge,

21 That I might shew thee the assurance of the words of trueth to answer the words of trueth to them that lend to thee?

22 Robbe not the poore because he is poore, neither oppresse the afflicted in iudgment.

23 For the Lord will defend their cause and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them.

24 Make no friendship with an angry man, neither goe with the furious man:

25 Lest thou learne his wates, and receiue destruction to thy soule.

26 Be not thou of them that touch the hand, nor among them that are suretie for debts.

27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why can-st thou that he should take thy bed from under thee?

28 Thou shalt not remouue the ancient

5 Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing: for riches taketh her to her wings as an eagle, and flieth into the heauen.

6 Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an euill eye, neither desire his dainty meates.

7 For as though hee thought it in his heart, so will hee say vnto thee, Eate, and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

8 Thou shalt vomite thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweet words.

9 Speake not in the eares of a foole: for he will despise the wisdom of thy words.

10 Remove not the ancient boundes, and enter not into the fields of the fatherlesse.

30 Euen to them that tary long at the wine, to them that go, and seeke mirt wine.

31 Looks not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

32 In the end thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

33 Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewde things.

34 And thou shalt be as one that sleepeeth in the midst of the sea, and as hee that sleepeeth in the top of the mast.

35 They haue stricken mee, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten mee, but I knew not, when I awoke: therefore will I seeke it yet still.

CHAP. XXIII.

Be not thou enuious against euill me, neither desire to be with them.

2 For their heart imagineth destruction, and their lips speake mischief.

3 Through wisdom is an house builded: and with understanding it is established.

4 And by knowledge shall the chambers bee filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding increaseth his strength.

6 For with counsell thou shalt enterpriue thy war, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsell, is health.

7 Wisdom is high to a foole: therefore he cannot open his mouth in the gate.

8 Hee that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an author of wickednesse.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men.

10 If thou be faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

11 Deliuer them that are drawen to death: and wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine?

12 If thou say, Behold, we knew not of it: he that pondereth the hearts, doeth not see vnderstand it: and hee that keepeth thy soule, knoweth hee it not: will not hee also recompence euery man according to his workes?

13 My sonne, eate hony, for it is good, and the honycombe, for it is sweete vnto thy mouth:

14 So shall the knowledge of wisdom be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it, and there shall be an end, and thine hope shall not bee cut off.

CHAP. XXVIII

a Because their owne conscience accuseth them,
b The state of the common weale is oftentimes changed.

The wicked flee when none pursueth,
but the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of understanding and knowledge, a realme likewise endureth long.

3 A poore man, if he oppresse the poore, is like a raging raine, that leaueth no foode.

4 They that forsake the Law, praise the wicked: but they that keepe the Lawe, set themselves against them.

5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudge-ment: but they that seeke the Lord, vnder-stand all things.

6 Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then he that peruerterh his wayes, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the Law, is a child of understanding: but he that feedeth the gluto-tions, shameth his father.

8 Hee that increaseth his riches by vsury and interest, gathereth them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

9 Hee that turneth away his care from hearing the Lawe, euen his prayer shall bee abominable.

10 Hee that causeth the righteous to goe astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his own conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can try him.

12 When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried.

13 Hee that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but hee that confesseth, and forsake-th them, shall haue mercy.

14 Blessed is the man, that feareth al-way: but hee that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

15 As a roaring Lyon, and an hungry Beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressor: but hee that hateth couetousnesse, shall prolong his dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, and they shall not stay him.

18 He that walketh vprightly, shall be saued: but hee that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall.

19 He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but hee that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouerty.

20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and he that maketh haste to bee rich, shall not be innocent.

21 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man will transgresse for a peece of bread.

22 A man with a wicked eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not that pouerty shall come vpon him.

23 Hee that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.

24 Hee that robbeth his father and mother, and saith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

25 He that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be safe.

26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisdom, shall be deliuered.

27 Hee that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but hee that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curles.

28 When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselves: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

CHAP. XXIX.

When that hardeneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shall suddenly bee destroyed, and cannot be cured.

2 When the righteous are in authori-tie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: but hee that feedeth harlots, wa-steth his substance.

4 A king by iudgement mainteineth the countray: but a man receiuing gifts, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornefull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

9 If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpright, but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his mind: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterwarde.

12 A prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

13 The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.

14 A king that iudgeth the poore in truth, his throne shall be established for euer.

15 The rodde and correction giue wise-dome: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne, and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule.

18 Where there is no vision, the people decay: but hee that keepeth the Lawe, is blessed.

13 There is a generation, whose eyes are quittie.

yea, for foure it cannot sustaine it selfe:

22 For a servant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate,

23 For the hatefull woman when shee is re to her mistresse.

make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The grasshopper hath no king, yet goe

29 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going:

30 A lion which is strong among beasts, and turneth not at the sight of any:

31 A lustie grayhound, and a goate, and a ¶ Ecclesiastes, or the Preacher.

THE ARGUMENT.

Salomon, as a Preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceptible vanities of this world, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the Sunne but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which see their felicity either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicity consisteth in that that he is vnited with God, and shall enjoy his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this world are full of vanities, and of none endurance. 13 All mans wisdom is but folly, and griefe.

The words of the Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.

2 Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his trauell, which he suffereth vnder the sunne?

4 One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for ever.

a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assemblith the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to passe their life in this transitory world.

b He condemneth the opinions of all men, that see felicity in any thing but in God alone, seeing that in this world all things are as vanitie & nothing. c Salomon doth not condemne mans labor or diligence, but sheweth that there is no full contention in any thing vnder the heaven, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitory. d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, even to the last day, which is yet subiect to corruption.

5 The Sunne riseth, and the Sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place where he riseth.

6 The wind goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the wind goeth round about, and returneth by his circuits.

7 All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers go into the place whence they returne and goe.

8 All things are full of labour: man cannot utter it: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 What is it that hath been? that that shalbe: and what is it that hath been done? that which shalbe done: and there is no new thing vnder the Sunne.

10 Is there anything, wherof one may uers into the sea againe. g He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue been in times past, so come they to passe againe.

e By the Sunne, wind and riuers,

he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest hath an end, and therefore there can be no felicity in this world.

lay,

h He prouoeth that if any could haue attained to felicity in this world by labour and studie, he chiefly should haue obtained it, because he had gifts and aides of God thereunto aboue all other.

i Man of nature hath a desire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sin, to humble man, and to teach him to depend onely vpon God.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe otherwile then they doe: neither can he number the faults that are committed, much lesse remedie them. l That is, vaine things which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience. m Wisdome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and mind: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his mind neuer fully content; therefore in this world is no true felicity.

say, Behold this, it is new: It hath been already in the olde time that was before vs.

11 There is no memory of the former, neither shall there bee a remembrance of the latter that shall be, with them that shall come after.

12 ¶ I the Preacher haue been King ouer Israel in Ierusalem.

13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search and find out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this soze trauel hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the Sunne: and behold, all is vanity and vocation of the spirit.

15 That which is crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth, can not be numbred.

16 I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdom all them that haue been before mee in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to know wisdom and knowledge, madnes and foolishnesse: I knew also that this is a vocation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

1 That is, vaine things which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience. m Wisdome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and mind: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his mind neuer fully content; therefore in this world is no true felicity.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanny. 15 The wife and the foole haue both one end touching the bodily death.

I said in mine heart, Goe to now, I will prouoe thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanny.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I sought in mine heart to giue my selfe to wine, & to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take hold of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enjoy vnder the Sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I haue made my great works: I haue built me houses: I haue planted mee vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens & forchards, and planted in them trees of all fruit.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maydes, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beecies and sheepe aboue all that were before mee in Ierusalem.

so the children borne in their seruitude, were masters.

8 I haue gathered vnto mee also siluer, and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and Princes: I haue prouided mee men singers and women singers, and the delights of the sonnes of men: as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was great and increased aboue all that were before mee in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.

10 And whatsoeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withheld not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauell.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vannie and vocation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the Sunne.

12 ¶ And I turned to behold wisdom and madnesse, and folly: (for who is the man that shall come after the King in things which men now haue done?)

13 Then I saw that there is profite in wisdom more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.

14 For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenesse: yet I know also that the same condition falleth to them all.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befallerh vnto mee, as it befallerh to the foole: why therefore doe I then labour to bee more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanny.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole: for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dieth the wiseman, as doeth the foole?

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne is grievous vnto me: for all is vannie, and vocation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the Sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall bee after mee.

19 And who knoweth whether hee shall bee wise or foolish: yet shall hee haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the Sunne. This also is vannie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the Sunne.

21 For there is a man whose trauell is in wisdom, and in knowledge, and in equity: yet to a man that hath not trauailed herein, shall he giue his portion: this also is vannie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart wherein he hath trauailed vnder the Sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorrowes, and ken no paine therefore, and whom he knew not whether he were a wife man or a foole, d That is, whatsoever men take pleasure in.

e Which were the most beautiful of them that were taken in warre, as Iudg. 5.

f Some vnderstand by these words, no women, but instruments of musick. g For all this God did not take his gift of wisdom from me.

h This was the fruit of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vannie in the next verse.

i I be thought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisdom, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnesse. || Or, compare with the King.

Prou. 17. 24. i He foreseeth things, which the foole cannot for lacke of wisdom.

k For both die and are forgotten, as verse 16, or they both alike haue prosperity or aduersity.

l Meaning, in this world.

m He wondreth that men forget a wife man being dead, as soone as they doe a foole, n That I might seeke the true felicity which is in God.

his trauaile grieve: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profit to man, but that he eate and drinke, and delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eate, and who could haile to outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom, and knowledge, and toy: but to the sinner he giueth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

3 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes: first to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetuall: next to teach vs not to be grieved if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither inioy them so long as we would wish.

places declare that we should do althings with sobriety, and in the feare of God, forasmuch as he giueth not his gifts to intent that they should be abused.

e That is, man shall neuer bee able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shall come to passe.

f God only causeth that which is past to returne.

TD all things there is an appointed time, and a time to every purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sow: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profit hath he that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men to humble them thereby.

11 He hath made every thing beautifull in his time: also hee hath set the world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.

12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.

13 And also that every man eateth and drinke, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour: this is the gift of God.

14 I know that whatsoever God shall doe, it shall bee for ever: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath bene? that is now: and that that shall bee, hath now bene: for God requireth that which is past.

16 And moreover, I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice, where was iniquitie.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for every purpose and for every worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts, are euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man above the beast: for all is vanitie.

20 All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vprward, and the spirit of the beast descend downwarde to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

faith we easily know the diuersitie, as verse 21. k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleueth herein. l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24. and 3. 12, 13, and 5. 13, and 8. 15. he declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God revealed by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIIL

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessary. 13 A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an old king that is a foole.

SD I turned, and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the Sunne, and behold, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and loe, the strength is of the hand of them that oppress them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I praised the dead which now are dead, above the liuing which are yet aliue.

3 And I count him better then them both which hath not yet bene: for hee hath not seene the euil worke which are wrought vnder the Sunne.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and all perfection of workes, that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.

5 The foole foldeth his hands, and eateth by his owne flesh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Again I returned, and saw vanitie vnder the Sunne.

8 There is one alone: and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauaile, neither can his eye bee satisfied with riches: neither doeth hee thinke, for whom doe I trauaile, and defraud my soule.

g Meaning, with God, howeuer man neglect his duty.

h And made them pure in their first creation.

i Man is not able by his reason and iudgement to put difference betweene man & beast, as touching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any other.

j Man is not able by his reason and iudgement to put difference betweene man & beast, as touching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any other.

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleueth herein.

l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2. 24. and 3. 12, 13, and 5. 13, and 8. 15. he declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God revealed by his Spirit.

m Hee maketh here another discourse with himselfe concerning the tyranny of them that oppress the poore.

n Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.

o He speaketh according to the iudgement of the flesh, which cannot abide to seele or see troubles.

p The more perfect that the work is, the more it is enuied of the wicked.

q For idleness he is compelled to destroy himselfe.

f Forasmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himselfe nor others, he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie, to the intent they may be profitable one to another, and that their things may increase.

g By this prouerbe he declarerh how necessary it is, that men should liue in societie.

h That is, from a poore and base estate, or out of trouble, and prison, as Ioseph did. Gen. 41. 14.

i Meaning, that is borne a King. k Which follow and flatter the kings sonne, or him that shall succeed, to enter into credit with them in hope of gaine. l They neuer cease by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedie desires, they thinke themselves abused, as other haue bene in time past, and so care no more for him. m That is, with what affection thou comest to heare the word of God. n Meaning of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters.

9 The conetous can neuer haue enough. 11 The labourers sleepe u sweet. 14 Man when hee dieth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented minde is the gift of God.

a Either in vow ing or in praying: meaning, that we should vse all reuerence to Godward.

b He heareth thee not for thy many words sake or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith, and seruent mind.

c He speaketh of vows, which are approued by Gods word, and serue to his glory

d Cause not thy selfe to sinne by vowing rashly: as they do which make a vowe to liue vnmarried and such like. e That is, before Gods messenger, when he shall examinethy doing: as though thy ignorance should be a iust excuse.

soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile.

9 Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for hee fallerh, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heat: but to one how should there be heat?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefold is coarde is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise child, then an old and foolish king, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the prison hee commeth forth to reigne: when as hee that is bozne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, with the second child, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is no ende of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heede to thy foot when thou entrest into the House of God, and bee more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of foolles: for they know not that they doe euill.

workes of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities, are also many words: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seeest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, bee not astonished at the matter: for hee that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is owner all: the King also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and hee that loueth riches, shall bee without the fruite thereof: this also is vanitie.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that trauailerh, is sweete, whether hee eate little or much: but the societie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sicknesse that I haue scene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches referred to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perith by euill trauaile, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 As hee came forth of his mothers belly, hee shall returne naked to goe as hee came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sicknesse, that in all points as hee came, so shall hee goe, and what profit hath hee that hee hath trauailed for the winde?

16 Also all his dayes hee eateth in darkness with much griefe, and in his sorow and anger.

17 Behold then what I haue scene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauailerh vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely he wil not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

1 The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

There is an euill, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this

f Meaning, that God wil redresse these things, and therefore wee must depend vpon him.

g The seruantes of the earth are to bee preferred aboue all things which appertaine to this life.

h Kings & princes cannot maintain their estate without tillage, which thing commendeth the excellencie of tillage.

p He wil take no great thought for the pains that he hath endured in times past, this is an euill sicknesse.

3 If a man beget an hundred children, and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres bee multiplied, and his soule bee not satisfied with good things, and hee bee not buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For he commeth into vanitie, & goeth into darknesse: and his name shalbe couered with darknesse.

5 Also he hath not seene the Sonne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if hee had liued a thousand yeeres twice told, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lutes: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene? the name therof is now named: and it is knownen that it is man: and he cannot strue with him that is stronger then he.

To be content with that which God hath giuen, is better then to follow the desires that neuer can be satisfied. h Meaning God, who will make him to feele that he is mortall.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoid the contrary.

1 Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auaileth it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is good for man in the life, and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadow? For who can shew vnto man what shall bee after him vnder the sunne?

3 A good name is better then a good oymntment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the mourning shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noise of the thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man madde: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proud in spirit. f He noteth their lightnesse which enripe a thing, and suddenly leaue it off againe.

is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Bee not thou of an hasty spirit to bee angry: for anger resteth in the holme of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wisdome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the Sonne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wisdom, and in the shadow of silver: but the excellency of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessors thereof.

15 Behold the work of God: for who can make straight that which hee hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth bee of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider, God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should finde nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Bee not thou iust ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouer wise: wherfore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Bee not thou wicked ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherfore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet withdraw not thine hand from that: for hee that feareth God shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisdome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine heart also to all the wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I prooued by wisdom: I thought, I will bee wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may it bee? and it is a profound deepnesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to know, and to inquire, and to search wisdom, and reason, and to know the wickednesse of folly, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

28 And I find more bitter then death, the woman whose heart is as nets and snares, and her hands as bands: hee that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shalbe taken by her.

29 Behold, saith the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not clusion found.

g Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans sinnes.

there with, shewing that both are the gifts of God, but that wisdom is far more excellent, and may be without riches.

2 I aduertise thee to take heede to the mouth of the king, and to the word of the oath of God.

3 Waste not to goe fourth of his sight:
stand not in an euill thing: for hee will doe whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the word of the king is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 Hee that keepeth the commandment, shall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall knowe the time and iudge-ment.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the misery of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shalbe:
for who can tell him when it shal be?

8 Man is not lord over the spirit to retaine the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessors thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnder the Sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the city where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall bee well with them that feare the Lord, & doe reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because hee feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie which is done vpon the earth, that there bee righteous men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praysed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the Sunne, save to eate and to drinke, and to reioyce: For this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applyed mine heart to know wisdom, and to behold the businesse that is done on earth: that neither day nor night

the eyes of man take sleepe,

17 When I behelde the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot find it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot find it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whom God looueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wisdom excelleth strength.

I haue surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, hee that soweth, as hee that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the Sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the formes of men is full of euill, and madnesse is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that they go to the dead.

4 Surely whosoever is toynd to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dogge, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shal die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, and their enuy is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the Sunne.

7 Goe, eat thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the Sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy travaille wherein thou labourst vnder the Sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither work nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wis-dome in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the Sun-ne, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance commeth to them all.

12 For neither doth man know his time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisdom vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little city and few men in it, and a great king came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and he deliuered the city by his wisdom: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise are more heard in quietnesse, then the cry of him that ruleth among foolcs.

18 Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinne destroyeth much good.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisdom. 11 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish kings and drunken princes: 17 And of good kings and princes.

Dead flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the oymment of the Apothecary: so doeth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glory.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a fool is at his left hand.

3 And also when the fool goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he is reuelled vnto all that he is a fool.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentleness pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill chat I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folly is set in great excellencie, and the rich set in the low place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 Hee that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it: he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Hee that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yon be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, hee must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing, is wisdom.

11 If the serpent bite, when hee is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a fool deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madness.

14 For the fool multiplieth wordes, saying, I haue knowen what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the city.

16 Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a childe, and thy princes care in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes care in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By slothfulness the roofof the house goeth to decay: and by the idleness of the hands, the house droppeth the roow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but silver answereth to all.

20 Curse not the king, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the soule of the heauen shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberal to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods providence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanity. 9 God will iudge all.

Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the clouds be full, they will poure forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall towards the South, or towards the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that obserueth the wind, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the clouds, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe grow in the wombe of her that is with childe, so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sow thy seede, and in the evening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of darkness, because they are many, all that cometh is vanitie.

9 Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth, and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill to depart from thy flesh: for childehood and youth are vanity.

God would not call them to an account. i To wit, anger, and enuie. k Meaning, carnall lusts, whereunto youth is giuen.

¶ An excellent Song which was Salomons.

THE ARGVMENT.

In this song Salomon by most sweet & comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon & King of peace, and the faithfull soule of his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprehension, so that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefits wherewith he doth enrich her of his pure bounty and grace without any of her desertings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to bee more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talks and mysticall communication of the spirituall loue betwene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

Kiss him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the saour of thy good oymments thy name is as an ointment poured out: therefore the virgins loue thee.

3 Draw me: wee will runne after thee: the King hath brought mee into his chambers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous doe loue thee.

a This is spoken in the person of the Church, or of the faithfull soule inflamed with the desire of Christ whom she loueth.
b The feeling of thy great benefits.
c They that are pure in heart and conuersation.
d The faithfull confesse that they cannot come to Christ, except they be drawn.
e Meaning the secret ioy that is not known to the world.

4 I am blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tents of Kedar, and as the curtains of Salomon.

5 Regard ye me not because I am blacke: for the sunne hath looked upon me. The lonnes of my mother were angry against me: they made mee the keeper of the vines: but I kept not mine owne vine.

6 Shew mee, O thou, whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I bee as thee that turneth aside to the flockes of thy companions.

p Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them that are ignorant, to goe to the pastors to learne.

q For thy spiritual beautie and excellencie, there was no wordly treasure to be compared vnto thee.

r The Church reioyceth that she is admitted to the company of Christ.

s He shall be most deare vnto me. t Christ accepteth his Church, and commendeth her beautie.

u That is, the heart of the faithfull wherein Christ dwelleth by his spirit.

7 If thou know not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocke, and feed thy kids by the tents of the shepherds.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of hories in the characts of Pharaoh.

9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

10 Wee will make thee borders of golde with studs of silver.

11 Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.

12 My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betwene my breasts.

13 My welbeloued is as a cluiter of Camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.

14 My loue, behold, thou art faire: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the dones.

15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is Greene.

16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

CHAP. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadow of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is comforted to the dore. 15 And she enuoyes to the foxes.

a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other things.

b The spoule testifieth her great desire toward her husband, but her strength faileth her, and therefore she desireth to be comforted, and felt.

c Christ charge them which haue to do in the Church, as it were by a solemn oath that they trouble not the quietnesse thereof.

d This is spoken of Christ, who tooke vpon him our nature to come to helpe his Church.

e Forasmuch his diuinitie was hid vnder the cloke of our flesh f So that we can not haue full knowledge of him in this life.

g That is, sinne and error is driuen backe by the coming of Christ, which is here described by the spring time, when all things flourish.

I Am the rose of the field, and the lillie of the valleys.

2 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters.

3 Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadow had I delight and satte downe: and his fruit was sweet vnto my mouth.

4 Wee brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.

5 Stay mee with flagons, and comfort mee with apples: for I am sicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doth embrace me.

7 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roses and by the hinds of the field, that yee stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill he please.

8 It is the voyce of my welbeloued: behold, he cometh leaping by the mountains, and skipping by the hilles.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a young hart: loe, hee standeth behind our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the grates.

10 My welbeloued spake and said vnto mee, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For behold, winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The figge tree hath brought forth her yong figges: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a saunter: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My dore, that art in the holes of the rocks, in the secret places of the staires, shew me thy sight, let mee heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweet, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the fores, the little fores, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lillies.

17 Untill the day breake, and the shadows flee away: returne my welbeloued, and bee like a roe, or a young hart vpon the mountaines of Berher.

k The Church desireth Christ to be most readie to helpe her in all dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wilderness.

I Am my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the citie, by the streets and by the open places, and will seeke him that my soule loveth: I sought him, but I found him not.

3 The watchmen that went about the citie, found me: to whom I said, Haue you seene him whom my soule loveth?

4 When I had past a litle from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conceiued me.

5 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roses and by the hinds of the field, that yee stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill he please.

6 Who is shee that cometh vp out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the merchant?

7 Behold his bed which is Salomons: three score strong men are round about it, of the balliant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, every one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by a night.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

10 Wee made the pillars thereof of silver, and the pauement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paved with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

11 Come forth yee daughters of Zion, and behold the King Salomon with the crowne wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

l Christ become man was crowned by the loue of God with the glorious crowne of his diuinitie.

3 His left hand shall be vnder mine head and his right hand shall embrace me.

4 I charge you, D daughters of Ierusalem, that you stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill he please.

5 Who is this that cometh by out of the wilderness, leaning vpon her welbeloued? I raised thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceived thee: there shee conceived that bare thee.

6 Set me as a scale on thine heart, and as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: ielousie is cruel as the graue: the coales thereof are fiery coales, and a vehement flame.

7 Much water cannot quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: If a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it.

8 We haue a little sister, and shee hath no breasts: what shall wee doe for our sister when she shall be spoken for?

9 If she be a wall, wee will build vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a doore, wee will keepe her in with boards of Cedar.

10 I am a wall, and my breasts are as towers: then was I in his eyes, as one that findeth peace.

11 Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: he gaue the vineyard vnto keepers: euery one brought for the fruit thereof a thousand pieces of silver.

12 But my vineyard which is mine, is before me, to thee, D Salomon, appertaineth a thousand pieces of silver, and two hundredeth to them that keepe the fruit thereof.

13 O thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it.

14 O my welbeloued, flee away, and be like vnto the Roe, or to the yong Hart vpon the mountaines of spices.

THE ARGUMENT.

God according to his promise, Deut. 18, 15 that he would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the vtilitie and profit profit of those to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law, they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First, to the doctrine contained briefly in the two tables: secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the covenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearly entreated it then Moses, and set forth more luely Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he saw that the disease of the people required. He declareth also many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office and his kingdom. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, & their vnion with the Iewes, which are as most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his Sermons which he preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the manner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine daies that the people might the better marke it, as Iai. 8. 1. and Habac. 2. 2.) the Priests tooke it downe and referred it among the registers: and so by Gods prouidence these booke were preferred as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, he was of the kings stocke (for Amos his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres, from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in law he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets this one thing among others is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come, as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secret counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

2 Isaiah reprobeth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbornnesse, that neither for benefits nor punishment would amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 Hee prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem. 25 And of the restitution thereof.

Vislon of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he saw, concerning Iudah and Ierusalem in the dayes of: Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Iudah.

2 Hear, O heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath sayd, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me.

3 The Lord knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters cribbe, but Israel hath not known: my people hath not vnderstood.

4 Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the Holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backward.

5 Wherefore should ye bee smitten any more? for yee shall away more and more: the a That is, a reuelation, or prophecy, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared himselfe to his seruants in old time, as Num. 12. 6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1. Sam. 9. 9.

b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah & Ierusalem, but not onely: for in this booke are prophecies concerning other nations also. c Called also Azariah. 2. King. 15. 1. of these kings, read 2. king. from Chap. 14. vnto Chap. 21. and 2. Chro from Chap. 25. vnto Chap. 33. d Because men were obstinate and insensible, he collecteth to the dumbe creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods word, as Deut. 32. 1. e He declareth his great mercy toward the Iewes, for as much as he chose them above all other nations to be his people & children, as Deut. 10. 15. f The most brut and dull beasts do more acknowledge their duty toward their master, then my people do toward me, of whom they haue receiued benefits without comparison g They were not only wicked, as were their fathers, but vicerly corrupt, and by their euil example infected others. h That is, him that sanctifieth Israel.

What auaieth it to seeke to amend you by punishment, seeing the more I correct you, the more ye rebell?

whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is beaute.

6 From the sole of the foot vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds and swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire, strangers deuoure your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the wilderness of strangers.

8 And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie.

9 Except the Lord of hostes had reserved vnto vs, euen a small remnant, wee should haue bene as Sodom, and should haue bene like vnto Gomorrah.

10 Hear the word of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Lawe of our God, O people of Gomorrah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord? I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goats.

12 When yee come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13 Bringing no more oblations in vain: incense is an abomination vnto mee: I cannot suffer your new moones, nor Sabbathes, nor solenne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solenne assemblies.

14 Ye that for your vices deserued all to be destroyed as they of Sodom, saue that God of his mercy reserved a little number, Lam. 3. 22

f Although God commaunded these sacrifices for a time, as aydes and exercises of their faith: yet because the people had not faith nor repentance, God detesteth them, Psal. 51. 13. Iere. 6. 10. Amos 5. 22.

Mich. 6. 7. Without faith and repentance.

k By naming the chiefest part of the body he signifies that there was no part of the whole body of the Iewes free from his rods.

l Every part of the body, as well the least as the chiefest was plagued.

m Their plagues were so grievous that they were incurable, & yet they would not repent.

n Meaning, of them that dwell faire off, which because they lookes for no advantage of that that remaineth, destroy all before them.

o That is, Ierusalem.

p Because that he will euer haue a Church to call vpon his Name.

q That is, all destroyed.

u Your sacrifices offered in the new moones, and feasts: he condemneth hereby hypocrites, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and they themselves are void of faith and mercy. x He sheweth that where men be given to avarice, deceite, cruelty and extortion, which is meant by blood, there God will shew his anger, and not accept them, though they seeme neuer so holy, as Chap. 59. 3. y By this outward washing, he meaneth the spiritwall: exhorting the Iewes to repent and amend their liues. z This kinde of reasoning by the second table, the Scriptures vse in many places against the hypocrites, who pretend most holiness and religion in words, but when their charity and loue toward their brethren should appeare, they declare that they haue neither faith nor religion. a To knowe if I doe accuse you without cause. b Left sinners should pre end any rigour on Gods part, he onely willet them to be pure in heart, and he will forgine all their finnes, were they neuer so many or great. c Hee sheweth that whatsoeuer aduersitie man endureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulity and disobedience. d That is Ierusalem, which had promised fidelity vnto me, as a wife to her husband. e Given to couetousnes and extortion, which hee signified before by blood, verse 15. f Whatsoeuer was pure in thee before, is now corrupt, though thou haue an outward shew. g That is, they maintaine the wicked and the extortioners, and not onely doe not punish them, but are themselves such. h When God will shew himselfe mercifull to his Church he calleth himselfe. The holy One of Israel: but when he hath to doe with his enemies, he is called Mighty, as against whom no power is able to resist. i I will take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Iewes, and so satisfie my desire by punishing them: Which thing yet he doth with a grieue, because of his covenant. k Left the faithfull among them should be overcome with this threatening he addeeth this consolation. l It is onely the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing he doeth because of his promise, made concerning the saluation of his Church. m By iustice is meant Gods faithfull promise, which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church.

14 My soule hateth your new moones and your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me, I am weary to beare them. 15 And when you shall stretch out your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: and though yee make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hands are full of blood. 16 Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill. 17 Learne to doe well: seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse, and defend the widow. 18 Come now, and let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins were as crimson, they shall be made white as snow: though they were red like scarlet, they shall be as wooll. 19 If ye consent and obey, yee shall eate the good things of the land. 20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, yee shall be deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. 21 How is the faithfull city become an harlot? It was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murderers. 22 Thy silver is become dross: thy wine is mist with water. 23 Thy princes are rebellious and companions of thieves: euery one loueth gifts, and followeth after rewards, they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widows cause come before them. 24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hosts, the mighty one of Israel, Ah, I will case me of mine aduersaries, and auenge mee of mine enemies. 25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne one thy drosse, till it be pure, and take away all thy rime. 26 And I will restore thy iudges as at the first: and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousness, and a faithfull city. 27 Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice.

28 And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners, shall bee together: and they that forsake the Lord shall be consumed. 29 For they shall be confounded for the oakes, which yee haue desired, and yee shall be ashamed of the gardens, that yee haue chosen. 30 For yee shall be as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water. 31 And the strong shall be as tow, and the maker thereof as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

your confidence, shall be consumed as easily as a piece of tow.

CHAP. II.

2 The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

The word that Iaiab the sonne of Amoz saith vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

2 It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and shall be craied about the hills, and all nations shall flow vnto it.

3 And many people shall goe a say, Come and let vs goe vnto the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iakob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the Law that goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

4 And hee shall iudge among the nations, and rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into sithes: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

5 O house of Iakob, come yee, and let vs walke in the light of the Lord.

6 Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iakob, because they are full of the East maners, and are sojourners as the Philistines, and abound with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of silver and gold: and there was none end of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charrets were infinite.

8 Their land also was full of idoles: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, when the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, and from thence went through all the world. g The Lord which is Christ, shall haue all power given him. h That they may acknowledge their finnes, and turne to him. i Hee sheweth the fruit of the peace, which the Gospel should bring, to wit, that men should doe good one to another, whereas before they were enemies. k Hee speaketh not against the vse of weapons and lawfull warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godly shall be affected one toward another: which peace and loue doeth beginne and grow in this life, but shall be perfected, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus. l Seeing the Gentiles will be so ready, make you haste, and shew them the way to worship God. m The Prophet seeing the small hope that the Iewes would conuert, complaineth to God, as though hee had viterly forsaken them for their finnes. n Full of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the East parts. o They altogether giue themselves to the fashions of other nations. p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatry, next their couetousnesse, and thirdly, their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

n The wicked shall not be partakers of Gods promise, Psal. 93. 9. o That is, the trees, & pleasant places where ye commit idolatry, which was forbidden, Deut. 16. 21. p The false god, wherein ye put your confidence, shall be consumed as easily as a piece of tow.

Micha. 4. 2. a The decrees and ordinance of God, touching the restauration of the Church, which is chiefly meant of the time of Christ. b In an euident place to be seene and discerned. c When the kingdome of Christ shall be enlarged by the preaching of the doctrine. Here also is declared the zeale of the children of God when they are called. d Alluding to mount Zion, where the visible Church then was. Micha. 4. 2. e Meaning, the whole doctrine of Saluation. f This was accomplished q Hee noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitions.

r Thus the Prophet spake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and that hee might feare them with Gods iudgement, f Meaning, as soone as God shall begin to execute his iudgements, t By high trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud, and loftie, and think themselves most strong in this world u Hee condemneth their vaine confidence which they had in strong holdes and in their rich merchandise, which brought in vaine pleasures, wherewith mens mindes became effeminate. Hose. 10. 8, Luke 23. 30, reuel 6. 16. and 9. 6.

x They shall cast them into most vile and filthy places when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them, y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped he is dead, and consider that y. u haue to doe with God.

which their owne fingers haue made. 9 And a man bowed himselfe, and a man humbled himselfe: therefore spare them not.

10 Enter into the rocks, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie.

11 The he look of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proud and haury, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shall be made low.

13 Euen vpon all the Cedars of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the oaks of Bashan,

14 And vpon all the high mountaines, and vpon all the hills that are lifted vp,

15 And vpon euery high tower, and vpon euery strong wall,

16 And vpon all the ships of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the haughtinesse of men shall be brought lowe, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will be vterly destroy.

19 Then they shall goe into the holes of the rocks, and into the caues of the earth from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselves to worship them) to the moultes, and to the backes, 21 To goe into the holes of the rocks, and into the toppes of the ragged rocks, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is hee to be esteemed?

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wise men, and giue them foolish princes. 14 The comensurancie of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperitie, hee sheweth that they should be taken from them.

b The temporall gouernour and the minister.

c By these hee meaneth that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, and wherein they had any occasion to vaunt themselves.

d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners, knowledge and strength, e For lacke of good regiment and order,

Far away from Ierusalem and from Iudah, the stay, and the strength: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,

2 The strong man, and the man of war, the iudge and the prophet, the prudent and the aged,

3 The captaine of fifty, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoint children to be their princes, and babes shall rule over them.

5 The people shall be oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

6 When euery one shall take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothed: thou shalt bee our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand.

7 In that day hee shall sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, & Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The trial of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as soone, they hide them not. Alas bee vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselves.

10 Say ye, Surely it shall be well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes.

11 Alas be to the wicked, it shall be euill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be giuen him.

12 Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth vp to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people and the princes thereof: for yee haue eaten vp the vineparde: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses.

15 What haue yee to doe, that yee beate my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes?

16 The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and mincing as they goe, and making a tinkling with their feete, 17 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discover their secret parts.

18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers and the calles, and the round tters,

19 The sweet balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, and the slops and the head-bands, and the tablets, and the earerings,

21 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The costly apparell and the busses, and the wimples and the crisping pines,

23 And the glasses, and the fine linnen, preferred it according to their dutie. m That is, yee shew all cruelty against them. n Hee meaneth the people, because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue themselves to all wantonnesse, and dissolucion. o Which declared their pride. p As a signe that they were not chaste. q Which shewed their wantonnesse. r They delighted then in slippers that did creake, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

f He sheweth that this plague shall be so horrible, that contrary to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none should be found able or willing to be their gouernour.

g Feare shall rather cause him to forswear himselfe, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him.

h When God shall examine their deedes, wherupon they now set an impudent face, he shall find the worke of their impietie in their forehead.

i Be yee that are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles.

k Because the wicked people were more addicted to their princes, then to the commandments of God, he sheweth that hee would giue them such princes, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate.

l Meaning, that the rulers and gouernours had destroyed his Church, and not meanth the people, because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue themselves to all wantonnesse, and dissolucion. o Which declared their pride. p As a signe that they were not chaste. q Which shewed their wantonnesse. r They delighted then in slippers that did creake, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

f In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnesse and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.

t Meaning, that

God will not onely punish the women, but their husbands, which haue suffered this dissolutenesse, & also the common wealth, which hath not remedied it.

and the hoods, and the saunnes.

24 And in stead of sweete saunour there shall be stinke, and in stead of a girle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the haire, baldnes, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in stead of beauty.

25 Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she being desolate shall sit vpon the ground.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

a When God shall execute this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they, contrary to womanly shamefastnesse, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselves vnto any condition.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentifull toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Cha. 45. 8. Some by the bud of the Lord, meane Christ.

e He alludeth to the booke of life, whereof reade Exod. 32. 32. meauing Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euermlasting.

f That is, the cruelty extortion, avarice and all wickednesse.

g When things shall be redressed that were amisse.

h He alludeth to the pillar of cloud, Exod 13. 21. meanning, that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place.

i The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image and tokens of his grace shine in them.

k God promisseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

6 And a couerting shall be for a shadow in the day for the heat, & a place of refuge, and a covert for the storme, and for the raine.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the Vine, hee describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

a The Prophet by this song doth set before the peoples eyes their ingratitude, and Gods mercy.

b That is, to God. Ier. 2. 21. matth. 21. 33.

c Meaning, that he had planted his Church in a place most plentifull and abundant.

NOW will I sing to my beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyard, my beloued had a vineyard in a very fruitful hill,

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, and hee built a towne in the midst thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought forth wilde grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem, and men of Judah, Iudge, I pray you, betwene me and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard, that I haue not done vnto it: why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but byers, and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for iudgement, but behold oppression: for righteousness, but behold a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that sayne house to house, and lay field to field, till there bee no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the midst of the earth.

9 This is in mine eares, saith the Lord of hosts, Surely many houses shall bee desolate, euen great, and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeeld one bath, and the seed of an homer shall yeeld an ephah.

11 Woe vnto them that rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe, and viol, timbrell, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof is men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore hee hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pompe, and hee that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shall be humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shall be exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

their rioting & excessive pleasures: but vnto all meane to prouoke to the same. r They regard not the provident care of God ouer them, nor for what end he hath created them. s That is, shall certainly goe: for so the Prophets vse to speake, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already. t Because they would not obey the word of God. u Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction, it shall neuer be satiate.

kk 4 17 Then

d He spared no diligence nor cost.

e In the seventh verse he declareth what they were.

f He maketh them iudges in their owne cause, forasmuch as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.

g I will take no more care for it: meaning that he would take from them his word and ministers, and all other comforts, and send them contrary plagues.

x God comforteth the poore Lambes of his Church, which had been strangers in other countreys, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, whereof they had been deprived by the fat and cruell tyrants.
y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sinne.
z Hee sheweth what are words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgments, 2. Pet. 3. 4.
a Which are not ashamed of sin, nor care for honesty, but are grown to a desperate impiety.
b Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition.
c Which are neuer weary but shew their strength, & brag in gluttony and drunkenesse.
d Both they and their posterity, so that nothing shall be left.
e He sheweth that God had so fore punished this people, that she dumbe creatures, if they had been so plagued, would haue been more sensible, & therefore his plagues must continue till they begin to feele them.
f Hee will make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, & to fight vnder his standard.
g They shall be prompt and lusty to execute Gods vengeance.
h The enemy shall haue none impediment.
i Whereby is declared the cruelty of the enemy.
k The Iewes shall find no succour.
l In the land of Iudah.

17 Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the strangers shall eat the desolate places of the fat.

18 Wo vnto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and sin, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke that we may see it: and let the counsell of the Holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that wee may know it.

20 Wo vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darknes for light: and light for darknes, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for soure.

21 Wo vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Wo vnto them that are mighty to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which multiplie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame, so their root shall be as rottenesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the Holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his hand vpon them, & hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were torne in the mids of the streetes, & for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And hee will lift vp a signe vnto the nations afarre, & will hiss vnto them from the end of the earth: and behold, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shoes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooues shall be thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and hee shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall roare and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, behold darknesse, and sorrow, and the light shall be darkned in their skie.

31 And in that day they shall roare vpon them as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, behold darknesse, and sorrow, and the light shall be darkned in their skie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiestie. 9 Hee sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant returned.

In the yere of the death of King Uzziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine hee covered his face, and with twaine hee covered his feete, and with twaine hee did as hee.

3 And one cried to another, & said, Holy holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheakes moued at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seen the King, and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto mee with an hote coale in his hand which hee had taken from the Altar with the tongs.

7 And hee touched my mouth, and sayd, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy sinne shall be purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send mee.

9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people, He shall heare indeed, but he shall not vnderstand: yet shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fatte, make their eares heauy, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, & vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, how long? And hee answered, Untill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be utterly desolate.

12 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

14 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

15 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

16 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

17 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

d They were Angels, so called because they were of a fiery colour, to signifye that they were burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fire, to execute his will.
e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightness of Gods glory.
f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightness of God in them.
g Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.
h This oft repetition signifieth that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselves in praising God, to teach vs, that in all our liues wee should giue our selues to the continuall prayse of God.
i His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to prayse him.
k Which things were to confirme the Prophet that it was not the voice of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindness that should come vpon the Iewes.
l Hee speaketh this for two causes: the one, because hee that was a mortall creature, and therefore had more neede to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other because the more neere that man approacheth to God, the more death hee know his owne sinne and corruption.
m Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out.
n This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till hee haue purged vs.
o Whereby is declared, that for malice of man, God will not immediatly take away his word, but hee will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they wil not learne thereby to obey his will, and be saved: hereby he exhortheth the ministers to doe their duetie, and answereth to the wicked murderers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened.
p As hee was moued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was revealed to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophesie, that ten kings should come before their captivity, as were from Vzziah to Zekiah. r For the fewness they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after flourish as a tree, which in winter loseth his leaues, and seemeth to be dead, yet in summer is fresh and Greene.

13 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and shall returne, and shall be eaten vp as an chine^o or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jerusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

AND in the dayes of Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham the sonne of Azziah King of Iudah, Rezin the King of Aram came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, to Jerusalem to fight against it, but he could not overcome it.

2 And it was told the house of David, saying, Aram is ioynd with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

3 Then said the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz (thou and Shearaiashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduit of the upper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him, Take heede, and be still, feare not, neither be faint hearted for the two tailles of these smoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a king in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of Tabeal.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be:

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within five and threescore yeere Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 The head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord.

13 Then hee sayd, Heare you now, O house of David, is it a small thing for you to grieve men, that yet will also grieve my God?

14 For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shall be destroyed, and thou preserved. k Not to beleue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the ayde and helpe of our infirmity, is to rebell against him. l You thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye conuene Gods messengers: but is is God against whome you bend your selues.

14 Therefore the Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name Immanuel.

15 Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, & to chuse the good.

16 For afore the child shall haue knowledge to chuse the euill, & to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her kings.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the king of Asshur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hittle for the flie that is at the uttermost part of the flouds of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the land of Asshur, 19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and vpon all thorny places, and vpon all bushie places.

20 In that day shall the Lord haue with a razor that is hired, euen by them beyond the river, by the king of Asshur, the head and the baire of the feete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong cow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the abundance of milke that they shall giue, he shall eat butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day euery place wherin shall be a thousand vines, shall be at a thousand pieces of silver: so it shall be for the byers and for the thornes.

24 Which arrowes and with bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be byers and thornes.

25 But on all the mountains which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of byers and thornes: but they shall bee for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

f Signifying that no place shall be free from them. g That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small. u He that before had a great number of cattell, shall bee content with one Cow and two sheepe.

Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none but him, that is both God and man.

n Meaning, that Christ is not only God, but man also, because he shall be nourished as other men vntill the age of discretion.

4 For before the child shal haue knowledge to crie, My father and my mother, hee shal take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Asshur.

5 And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Now therefore behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of the Riuer mighty and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glory, and he shal come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes,

8 And shal breake into Iudah, and shal overflowe and passe through, and shal come by to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shal fill the breadth of thy land, D^r Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O yee people, and ye shal be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shal be broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shal be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shalbe brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shal it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to me in talking of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say yee not, A confederacie to all them to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare you their feare, nor bee afraid of them.

13 Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,

14 And he shal be as a Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

20 To the Law, and to the testimony, if they speake not according to this word: it is because there is no light in them.

21 Then hee that is afflicted and famished, shal goe to and fro in it: and when he shal be hungry, he shal euen fret himselfe, and curse his king and his gods, and shal looke vppward.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles, 6 A prophetic of Christ.

24 The destruction of the temple tribis for their pride and contempt of God.

Y^e Et the darknesse shal not be according to the affliction that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Sebulum, and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when hee was more grievous by the way of the sea beyond Iordan in Galilee of the Gentiles.

2 The people that walked in darknes, haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadowe of death, vpon them hath the light shined.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruett, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoyle.

4 For the yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.

d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of that thing, which should come to passe threescor yeeeres after, as though it were now done.

e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.

f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, Marth. 4. 15, 16.

g Their number was greater when they went into captiuitie, then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne, Hag. 2. 10.

h Thou gauest them perfect ioy, by deliuering of them, and by destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruell bondage, as thou didst deliuer them by Gideon from the Midianites, Iudg. 7. 22.

i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his church, which he hath deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but specially by comming of Christ, of whom he prophesieth in the next verse.
 k The author of eternitie, and by whom the Church and every member thereof shall be preserved for ever, and haue immortall life.
 l His singular loue and care for his elect.
 m This is another prophesie against them of Samaria, which were mockers, and contemners of Gods promises and menaces.
 n We were but weake, when the enemy ouercame vs, but we will make our selues so strong, that we will neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatenings.
 o Rezin king of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assailed by the Philistines.
 p Wickednes, as a bellows kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

with noise: and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a childers boine, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and hee shall call his Name Wonderfull, Counsellor, The mighty God, The euermlasting Father, The prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none end: hee shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & vpon his kingdom, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice from henceforth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 The Lord hath sent a word into Ierusalem, and it hath lighted vpon Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The bricke are fallen, but wee will build it with better stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Neuerthelesse, the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of Rezin against him, and toyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before, and the Philistines behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head & taile, branch and rutch in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for every one is an hypocrite and wicked, and every mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the hyters and the thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meat of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and hee shall eat on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: eury one shall eate the flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

2 Of wicked lawmakers. 3 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saved.

W Deuote them that decree wicked decrees, and write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their praye, and that they may spoile the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from farre: to whom will ye flee for help: and where will ye leaue your glory?

4 Without me eury one shall fall among them that are bound, & they shall fall downe among the flaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 O Assyur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feet like the mire in the street.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy, and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For hee saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as Ercemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria, 11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visit the fruit of the poud heart of the king of Assyur, and his glorious and proud lookes, 13 Because hee said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoiled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a vallant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people: and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall they not be ashamed, and blush in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill, g Seeing that I haue ouercome, as well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands? h When hee hath sufficiently chastised his people (for hee beginneth at his owne house) then will hee burne the rods.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hosts send among his fat men leannes, and vnder his glory hee shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall bee as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a floure, and it shall burne and deuour his thornes, and his briars in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule and flesh: and he shall be as the fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may tell them.

20 And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iacob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon the Lord, the Holy one of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iacob, vnto the mighty God.

25 But yet a very little time, & the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hosts shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Dreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt:

27 And at that day shall his burden bee taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing.

28 He is come to Astar, he is passed into Migron: at Bithmah shall hee lay vp his armour.

31 Madmenah is remooued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

32 Yet there is a time that hee will stay at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hosts shall cut off the bough with feare, and they of 1 Christ borne of the roote of Iſhai, 2 His virtues and kingdomes. 6 The fruites of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 At there shall come a rod fourth of the stocke of Iſhai, and a graffe shall grow out of his rootes.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for hee shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reprove by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousness shall he iudge the poore, and with equity shall he reprove for the mecke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shall he slay the wicked.

5 And Justice shall bee the girdle of his loynes, and faithfullnes the girdle of his reines.

6 The Wolfe also shall dwell with the Lambe, and the Leopard shall lie with the Kidde, and the Calfe and the Lion, and the fat beast together, and a little child shall lead them.

7 And the Cow and the Beare shall feed: their young ones shall lie together: and the Lion shall eate straw like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the Aspe, & the weaned childe shall put his hand vpon the Cockatrice helle.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holinesse: for the earth shall bee full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day the roote of Iſhai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious.

11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand againe the second time to possesse the remnant of his people (which shall be left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinar, and of Hamath, and of the vles of the sea.

The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 He shall goe up to the Temple, and to Dibon to his places to weep: for Archo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: upon all their heads shall be baldnes, and every beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they be girded with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes every one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall cry, and Elealeh: their voice shall be heard unto Jahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab shall howle: the soule of every one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine heart shall cry for Moab: his fugitives shall see unto Zoar, as an heifer of three yere old: for they shall go up with weeping by the mounting up of Luhith: and by the way of Bozraim they shall raise up a cry of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shall be dried: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbs consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what every man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof unto Eglaïm, and the shrieking thereof unto Beer Elim.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more upon Dimon, even lions: upon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

Send ye a lambe to the ruler of the world from the rocke of the wilderness unto the mountaine of the daughter of Zion.

2 For it shall be as a bird that flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be as the fozzards of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsell, execute judgement: make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: betray not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee, Moab: be thou their covert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall end, the destroyer shall be consumed, and the oppressor shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercie shall the throne be prepared, and he shall sit upon it in steadfastnesse, in the Tabernacle of David, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and halting iustice.

6 Wee have heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) even his pride and his arrogancy, and his indignation, but his eyes shall not be se.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle unto Moab: every one shall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall ye mourne, yet they shall be stricken.

8 For the vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen have broken the principall vines thereof: they are come unto Jaazer: they wandered in the wilderness: her goodly branches stretched out themselves, and went over the sea.

9 Therefore will I weep with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, of Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because upon thy summer fruits, and upon thy harvest a shouting is fallen.

10 And gladnesse is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field: and in the vineyards shall be no singing nor shouting for joy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I have caused the rejoycing to cease.

11 Therefore, my bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareseth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be weary of his high places, then shall hee come to his temple to pray, but he shall not prevaille.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeres, as the yerces of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

n They shall use all means to seek helpe of their idoles, and all in vaine, for Chemosh their great god shall not be able to helpe them.
o He appointed a certaine time to punish the enemies in.
p Who will observe lustily the time, for the which he is hired, and serve no longer, but will ever long for it.

A prophesie of the destruction of Damascus, and Ephraim. 7 Calamities mooveth to repentance.

The burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of Aror shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flocks: for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraid.

3 The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glory of the children of Israel.

saith the Lord of hosts.

4 And in that day the glory of ¹Jaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnesse of his flesh shall be made leane.

5 And it shall be as when the harvest man gathereth the shee, and reapereth the eares with his arme, and hee shall bee as hee that gathereth the eares in the valley of ²Rephaim.

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorow.

12 Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sound like the noyse of mighty waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noyse of many waters, but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the wind, and as a rowling thing before the whirlwind.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the world, dwellers in the earth, shall see when he sitteth vpon a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpe, ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord sayd vnto mee, I will rest, and behold in my tabernacle, as the heat drying vpon the rathe, and as a cloude of dew in the heat of harvest.

5 For afore the harvest, when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes.

6 They shall be left together vnto the fowles of the mountaines, and to the beasts of the earth: for the fowle shall summer vpon it, and every beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians, 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

The burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, cite against cite, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the Spirit of Egypt shall faile in the middes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sojourners, and at them that haue spirits of diuinations, & at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lordes, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hosts.

e He sheweth that the sea and Nilus their great river, whereby they thought themselves most sure, should not be able to defend them from his anger, but that he would send the Assyrians among them, that should keep them vnder as slaves.

f For Nilus ran into the sea by seven streames, as though they were so many rivers.

g The Ebrew word is mouth, whereby they mean the spring out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth.

h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a country by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other things, whereby countreys are enriched.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the river shall be dried up and wasted.

6 And the rivers shall goe farre away: the rivers of defence shall bee emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flags shall bee cut downe.

7 The grasse in the river and at the head of the rivers, and all that groweth by the river, shall wither, and be diuyn away, and be no more.

8 The ffishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the river, shall lament, and they that tyed their net vpon the waters, shall be weakened.

9 Moreover, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sorts, shall be confounded, and they that weare nets.

10 For their nets shall bee broken, and all they that make pond, shall be heauy in heart.

11 Surely the princes of Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say yet vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wise: I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The Princes of Zoan are become fooles: the Princes of Noph are deceived, they haue deceived Egypt, even the corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit of errors: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomit.

15 Neither shall there bee any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the tail, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt bee like vnto women: for it shall bee afraid and feare because of the mouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shal keeth ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall be a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shall bee afraid thereof, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which hee hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall five citiees in the land of Egypt I speake the language of Canaan, and shall sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shall bee called the citie of destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord bee in the middes of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shall be for a signe and for a witness vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry vnto the Lord, because of the oppressours, and hee shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shall be knowne of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be entreated of them, and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

24 In that day shall Israel bee the third with Egypt and Asshur, even a blessing in the mids of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall blisse it, saying, Blessed bee my people Egypt, and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of I. Isaiah the sonne of Amos, saying, Doe, & loose the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shoe from thy foot. And hee did so, walking naked, and barefoot.

3 And the Lord said, Like as my scrumt I. Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoot these yeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the king of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and old men, naked and barefoot, with their buttocks vncovered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.

Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountains, and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophets which were alwayes there, whom they named Seers.

b Hee speaketh to Ierusalem.

c Which wast went to be full of people and ioy.

d But for hunger.

e And led into captiuitie.

f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour.

g He sheweth what is the due of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, and specially of the ministers.

h That is, the shour of the enemies whom God had appointed to p In stead of repentance ye were joyfull and made great cheare, contemning the admonitions of the Prophets, saying, Let vs eate and drinke: for our Prophets say, that we shall die to morrow.

q Because the Hebrews word doeth also signifye one that doeth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke, that this wicked man did nourish secret friendship with the Assyrians and Egyptians, to betray the Church, and to provide for himselfe against all dangers: in the meane season he packt craftily, and gate of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to the highest.
r Meaning, that he was a stranger and came vp of nothing.
s Whereas he thought to make his name immortal by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among the Assyrians.
t Signifying, that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to the shame of those Princes, by whom they are preferred.
u To bee steward againe, out of the which office hee had bene put by the craft of Shebna.
x I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernment of the kings house.
y I will establish him and confirme him in his office: of this phrase, read Ezra 9.9.
z Meaning, that both small and great that shall come of Eliakim, shall haue praise and glory by this faithful officer.
a He meaneth Shebna, who in mans judgement should neuer haue fallen.

drinking wine, & eating and drinking: for to morrow we shall die.
14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hostes, Surely this iniquitie shall not bee purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.
15 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Go ye, and say to the treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to do here? and whom hast thou here? that thou shouldst heere beise thee out a sepulchre, as hee that beareth out his sepulchre in an high place, or that grauerh an habitation for himselfe in a rocke?
17 Behold, the Lord will cary thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee.
18 Hee will surely roll and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charres of thy glory shall be the shame of thy Lords house.
19 And I will bring thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.
20 And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Ithiah, 21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and hee shall bee a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudab.
22 And the key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so he shall open and no man shall shut: and hee shall shut and no man shall open.
23 And I will fasten him as a nail in a sure place, and hee shall bee for ever the throne of glory to his fathers house.
24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers house, euen of the prophets and posteritie, all small vessels from the vessels of the cups, euen to all the instruments of musick.
25 In that day saith the Lord of hostes, shall the nail, that is fastened in the sure place, depart and shall bee broken, and fall, and the burden that was vpon it, shall be cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. XLIIII.

A prophetic against Tyrus. 17 A promise that it shall be restored.

a Read Chap. 13. 1.
b Ye of Cilicia, that come thither for merchandise.
c Tyrus is destroyed by Nebuchad-nezzar,

the land of Chittim: it is reuealed vnto them.
2 Bee still, ye that dwell in the yles: the merchants of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue replenished thee.
3 The seed of Atlas growing by the abundance of waters, and the barrett of the reuer was her reuenues, and she was a mart of the nations.
4 Be ashamed thou Zidon: for the sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not trauelled nor brought forth children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.
5 When the same cometh to the Egyptians they shall bee loy concerning the ruine of Tyrus.
6 Go ye ouer to Carthage: howe, yet that dwell in the yles.
7 Is not this that your glorious cities her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne feet shall leade her a farre off to be a iourner.
8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that crownet men) whose merchants are princes, whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?
9 The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to stame the pride of all glory, & to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.
10 Walle thou now thy land like a flood, to the daughter of Carthage: there is no more strength.
11 Hee stretched out his hand vpon the sea: heooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof.
12 And hee said, Thou shalt no more reioyce, when thou art oppressed: O virgin daughter of Zidon, rise vp, got ouer vnto Chittim, yet there thou shalt haue no rest.
13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wilderness: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces thereof, and he brought it to ruine.
14 Howe, ye ships of Carthage: for your strength is destroyed.
15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten leuentie yeeres (according to the yeeres of one king) at the end of leuentie yeeres, shall Tyrus sing as an harlot.
16 Take an harpe, and goe about the city: (thou harlot that hast bin forgotten) make sweet melody, sing moe songs that thou mayest be remembered.
17 And at the end of leuentie yeeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, and shee shall returne to her wages, and shall commit fornication by the Prophets meaner, that seeing the Caldeans were able to overcome the Assyrians which were to great a nation, much more shall these two nations of Caldea and Assyria be able to overthrow Tyrus.
1 That is, Tyrus, by whom yee are enriched, Tyrus shall be destroyed leuentie yeeres, which he calleth the reigne of one King, or a mans age.
u holle all craft and subtiltie to entise men againe to her.
x She shall labour by all meanes to recouer her first credit, as an harlot, when she is long forgotten, seeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers.
y Though she ha bene chastised of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her old wicked practices, and for gaine shall giue her selfe to all mens lusts like an harlot.

with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.
 18 Per her occupying and her wages shall be holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be laid vp nor kept in store, but her merchandise shall be for them that dwell before the Lord, to eat sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.
 19 He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthy gaine, vnto the true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIII.

An prophesie of the curse of God for the finnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserved shall praise the Lord.

a This Prophecy is as a conclusion of that which hath bene threatened: o the lewes and other nations, from the 13. Chapter, & therefore by the earth he meaneth those lands, which were before named.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applyed to them which were not of Aarons familie, and so signifieth also a man of dignitie as 2. Sam. 8. 18. & 10. 25. 1. chron. 18. 17. and by these words, the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shall be neither religion, order, nor policy.

c That is, rendereth not her fruit for the saine of the people whom the earth deceived of their nouriture, because they deceived God of his honour.

d Written in the Law, as Leuit. 16. 14. deut. 28. 16.

thus the Prophet vsed to apply particularly the menaces and promises, which are generall in the Law, e With heate and drought or else, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath.

f Which as it was without order, so now should it be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.

g Because they did not vse Gods benefits aright, the pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning.

h He comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolation the Lord will assemble his Church, which shall praise his Name, as Chap. 10. 33.

Behold the Lord maketh the earth empty, and he maketh it waste: hee turneth it upside downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like priest and like seruant, like master, like maide, like milke, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsury.

3 The earth shall be cleane emptied, and utterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth & faileth away: the world is feeble and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth also deceiveth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euertlasting covenant.

6 Therefore hath the curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Therefore the inhabitants of the land are burned up, and few men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that wine of merry heart, do mourn.

8 The mirth of ragbets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of vanity is broken downe: every house is shut up, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streets: all ioy is darkened: the mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is shutt with destruction.

13 Surely thus shall it be in the mids of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an olive tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift up their voyce: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea.

15 Therefore praise ye the Lord in the valleys, even the name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the uttermost part of the earth we haue heard praises, even glory to the Lord: Iust: and I sayd, My leannelle, my leannelle, who is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, the transgressors haue grievously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are by on thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that fleeth from the noyle of the feare, shall fall into the pit, and he that cometh by out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake.

19 The earth is utterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolved: the earth is mooued exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shall be remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heavy vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 And in that day shall the Lord visit the hoste aboue that is on hie, even the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shall be gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be visited.

23 Then the Moone shall be abashed, and the Sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall be before his ancient men.

will visite him with his rods. o Not with his rods, as ver. 21. but shall be comforted. p When God shall restore his Church, the glory thereof shall so shine, and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the Sunne and the Moone shall be darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiving to God in that that hee sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked, and maintaining the Godly.

O Lord, thou art my God: I will exalte thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable truth.

2 For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie a ruine: even the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, even a strength to the needie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heate: for the blast haue bin thine enemies, c That is, a place whereas all vagabonds may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace. d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

i From the utmost coasts of the world, where the Gospel shall be preached, as verse 16.

k Meaning, ro God, who will publish his Gospel through all the world.

l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies and domesticall,

Some reade, my secret, my secret, that is, it was revealed to the Prophet, that the good should be preferred, and the wicked destroyed.

m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should beouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.

n There is no power so high or mighty, but God

Thus the Prophet giueth thanks to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church which before were his enemies.

b Not onely of Ierusalem, but all of these other cities, which c That is, a place whereas all vagabonds may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace.

d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

e e The rage of the wicked is furious till God breake the force thereof.

f Meaning, that as the heat is abated by the raine, so shall God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

g As a cloude shadoweth from the heat of the Sunne, so shall God assuage the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.

h To wit, in Zion, whereby hee meaneth his Church, which should vnder Christ be assembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banquet, as Matthe. 22. 2.

i Meaning, that ignorance and blindness, whereby we are kept back from Christ.

k Hee will take away all occasions of sorrow, and fill his with perfect ioy, Reuel. 7. 17. and 21. 4. l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church. m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah. 1. Chron. 2. 49. and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48. 2. Which seemeth to haue bin a plentiful place of come, Chap. 10. 31.

e of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heat in a dry place: he will bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heat in the shadow of a cloud.

6 And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines fined and purified.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine the couering that couereth all people, and the battell that is spread vpon all nations.

8 Hee will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will hee take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Lord, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he will saue vs. This is the Lord, wee haue waited for him: we will reioyce and bee ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shall be threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in Madmenah.

11 And hee shall stretch out his hand in the mids of them (as hee that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall hee bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walls shall hee bring downe, and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen to the dust.

k Hee will take away all occasions of sorrow, and fill his with perfect ioy, Reuel. 7. 17. and 21. 4. l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church. m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah. 1. Chron. 2. 49. and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48. 2. Which seemeth to haue bin a plentiful place of come, Chap. 10. 31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

a This song was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

b Gods protection and defence shall be sufficient for vs.

c He assureth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem. d Thou hast decreed so, and thy purpose cannot be changed. e There is no power for him, that can let God, when he will deliuer his.

2 Open ye the gates, that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth, may enter in.

3 By an assured purpose wilt thou preserve perfect peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For hee will bring downe them that dwell on high: the high citie he will abate: euen vnto the ground will hee cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the poore, and the steppes of the needy.

7 The way of the iust is righteousness: thou wilt make equall the righteous pathes of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne righteousness.

10 Let mercy be shewed to the wicked, yet he will not learne righteousness, in the land of vprightnesse will hee doe wickedly, and will not behold the maiesty of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not beholde thine high hand: but they shall see it, and be confounded with the scale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but wee will remember thee only, and thy name.

14 The dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorrow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceived, we haue borne in paine, as though wee should haue brought forth winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

19 Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing pee that dwell in dust: for thy dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For loe, the Lord cometh out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the

and men without religion were not destroyed. t He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them, that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should most certainly rise to glory: the contrary should come to the wicked, as verse 14. u As herbes dead in winter flourish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they feele the dew of Gods grace. x He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to wait vpon Gods worke.

f God will set the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked.

g We haue constantly abode in the aduersities, wherewith thou hast afflicted vs.

h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.

i The wicked though God shew them euident signes of his grace, shall neuer the better.

k Through enuy and indignation against thy people.

l The fire and vengeance, wherewith thou dost destroy thine enemies.

m The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy word.

n Meaning, that the reprobate euen in this life shall haue the beginning of euertlasting death.

o To wit, the company of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.

p That is, the faithfull by thy rods were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.

q To wit, in extreme sorrow.

r Our sorrowes haue none end, neither did we enioy the comfort that we looked for.

t The wicked He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them, that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should most certainly rise to glory: the contrary should come to the wicked, as verse 14. u As herbes dead in winter flourish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they feele the dew of Gods grace. x He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to wait vpon Gods worke.

3 The earth ſhall vomite, and caſt out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may cry for vengeance againſt the wicked.

earth ſhall diſcloſe her blood, and ſhall no more hide her ſtaine.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophetic againſt the kingdom of Satan, 2 and of the ſoy of the Church for their deliuerance.

a At the time appointed.
b That is, by his mightie power, & by his word.
c He propheſieth here of the deſtruction of Satan & his kingdom vnder the name of Leuiathan, Aſhur, and Egypt.

d Meaning, of the beſt wine which this vineyard, that is, the Church ſhould bring forth as moſt agreeable to the Lord.
e Therefore he will deſtroy the kingdom of Satan, becauſe he loueth his Church for his owne mercies ſake, and cannot be angry with it, but wiſeth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infants, whom hee meaneth by dryers and thornes.

f He maruileth that Iſrael will not come by gentleneſſe, except God make them to feele his rods, & ſo bring them vnto him.
g Though I afflict and diminiſh my people for a time, yet ſhall the roote ſpring againe and bring forth in great abundance.

h He ſheweth that God puniſheth his in mercie, and his enemies in iuſtice.
i That is, thou wilt not deſtroy the roote of my Church, though the branches thereof ſeeme to periſh by the ſharpe winde of affliction.
k He ſheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof deſtroyed.
l Notwithſtanding his fauour that he will ſhew them after: yet Ieruſalem ſhall be deſtroyed, and graſſe for cattell ſhall grow in it.
m God ſhall not haue need of mightie enemies: for the very women ſhall doe it to their great ſhame.
n Hee ſhall deſtroy all from ſuphates to Nilus: for ſome fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue eſcaped.

1 In that day ſhall the Lord with his ſore and great and mightie ſword ſlaue Leuiathan, that pearcing ſerpent, euen Leuiathan that crooked ſerpent, and hee ſhall ſlay the dragon that is in the ſea.

2 In that day ſing of the vineyard of red wine.

3 The Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: leſt any aſſaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Auger is not in mee: who would ſet the thiers and the thornes againſt me in battell? I would goe thorow them, I would burne them together.

5 Will hee feele my ſtrength, that he may make peace with me, and be at one with mee?

6 Hereafter, Iacob ſhall take roote: Iſrael ſhall flouriſh and grow, and the world ſhall be filled with fruit.

7 With hee ſmiten ſ him as hee ſmote thoſe that ſmote him: or is hee ſlaine according to the ſlaughter of them that were ſlaine by him?

8 In meaſure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the Eaſt winde.

9 By this therefore ſhall the iniquitie of Iacob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his ſinne: when he ſhall make all the ſtones of the altars, as chalke ſtones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not ſtand by.

10 Yet the defenced citie ſhall be deſolate, and the habitation ſhall be forſaken and left like a wildeſſe. There ſhall the calfe feed, and there ſhall hee lie, and conſume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are dry, they ſhall be broken: the women come and ſet them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderſtanding: therefore hee that made them, ſhall not haue compaſſion on them, and hee that formed them, ſhall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day ſhall the Lord reſſeſſe from the channell of the Riuier vnto the riuier of Egypt, and yet ſhall hee gathered the roote ſpring againe and bring forth in great abundance.

g He ſheweth that God puniſheth his in mercie, and his enemies in iuſtice.
h That is, thou wilt not deſtroy the roote of my Church, though the branches thereof ſeeme to periſh by the ſharpe winde of affliction.
i He ſheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof deſtroyed.
k Notwithſtanding his fauour that he will ſhew them after: yet Ieruſalem ſhall be deſtroyed, and graſſe for cattell ſhall grow in it.
l God ſhall not haue need of mightie enemies: for the very women ſhall doe it to their great ſhame.
m Hee ſhall deſtroy all from ſuphates to Nilus: for ſome fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue eſcaped.

one by one, O children of Iſrael.

13 In that day alſo ſhall the great trumpet be blown, and they ſhall come, which periſhed in the land of Aſſhur: and they that were chaſed into the land of Egypt, and they ſhall worſhip the Lord in the holy mount at Ieruſalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkenneſſe of Iſrael. 9 The vntowardneſſe of them that ſhould learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

W De to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie ſhall be a fading ſloure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that bee fat, and are overcome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mightie and ſtrong hoſte, like a tempeſt of baile, and a whirlewinde that overthroweth, like a tempeſt of mightie waters that overflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They ſhall be troden under foot, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie ſhall be a fading ſloure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that bee fat, and as the baſtic fruit afore ſummer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, ſeeeth it, while it is in his hand hee eateth it.

5 In that day ſhall the Lord of hoſtes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the reſidue of his people:

6 And for a ſpirit of iudgement to him that ſitteth in iudgement, and for ſtrength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But they haue erred becauſe of wine, and are out of the way by ſtrong drinke: the Priſt and the prophet haue erred by ſtrong drinke, they are ſwallowed vp with wine: they haue gone aſtray through ſtrong drinke: they fall in viſion: they ſtumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthie vomiting: no place is leane.

9 Whom ſhall hee teach knowledge? and whom ſhall hee make to vnderſtand the things that hee heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawne from the breaſts.

10 For precept muſt be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a ſtammering tongue, and with a ſtrange language ſhall hee ſpeake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom he ſaid, This is the owne gates. g Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were alſoget corrupt in life and doctrine, which is here ment by drunkenneſſe and vomiting. h For there was none that was able to vnderſtand any good doctrine, but were fooliſh, and as vnmeet as young babes. i They muſt haue one thing oft times ſaid, k Let one teach what he can, yet they ſhall no more vnderſtand him, then if he ſpoke in a ſtrange language. l That is, the Prophet whom God ſhould ſend. m This is the doctrine whereupon ye ought to ſtand and reſt.

n In the time of Cyrus by whom they ſhould be deliuered: but this was chiefly accompliſhed vnder Chriſt.

a Meaning, the proud kingdom of the Iſraelites, which were drunken with worldly proſperitie.

b Becauſe the Iſraelites, for the moſt part dwelt in plentifull valleys, hee meaneth hereby the valley of them that had abundance of worldly proſperitie, and were as it were crowned therewith, as with gaylands.

c He ſeemeth to mean the Aſſyrians, by whom the ten tribes were carried away.

d Which is not of long continuance, but is ſoone ripe, and ſitteth euen.

e Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their truſt in any worldly proſperitie, but made God their glory, ſhall be preſerued.

f He will give counſell to the gouernour, and ſtrength to the captaine, to ſubdue the enemies in at their n Shew to them that are weary and have need of rest, what is the true rest.

o Because they will not receive the word of God when it is offered, it cometh of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before, Chap. 6. 9.

p They thought they had shifts to auoyde Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished, q Though the Prophets condemned their idols and vaine trust of falshood and vanitie, yet the wicked thought in themselves that they would trust in these things.

r That is, Christ by whom all the building must be tryed, and vp-holden, Psal. 118. 22. Mat. 21. 43. act. 4. 11. rom. 9. 33. 1. pet. 2. 6. f He shall be quiet, and seeke none other remedies, but be content with Christ.

t In the restitution of his Church, iudgement and iustice shall reigne.

u Gods corrections and affliction.

x Affliction shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselves. y Terror and destruction shall make you to learne that which exhortations and gentleness could not bring you vnto. z Your affliction shall be so fore that you are not able to endure it. a When David ouercame the Philistines, 2 Sam. 5. 20. 1 Chron. 14. 11. b Where Ioshua discomfited five Kings of the Amorites, Iosh. 10. 12. c As the plowman hath his appointed time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for hee punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sort and some after another, so that his chosen seed is beaten, and tryed, but not broken, as are the wicked.

rest: a giue rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the word of the Lord, be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little, that they may goe and fall backward, and be broken and be shamed and be taken.

14 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye scornful men that rule this people, which is at Jerusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a^r covenant with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for wee haue made^r falshood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are wee hid,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a^r tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that beleueth, shall not make halfe.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and^r righteousness to the ballance, and the^r baile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflow^r the secret place.

18 And your covenant with death shall be disannulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through every morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely^r feare to make you to understand the hearing.

20 For the deed is^r strait that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrow that one cannot wrap himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount^r Perazim: he shall be worthy as in the valley^r of Sibon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

22 Now therefore be no mockers, least your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hosts a consumption, euen determined vpon the whol^r earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce, hearken ye, and heare my speech.

24 Dorch the plowman plow all the day, to sow: doth he open and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When he hath made it^r plaine, will hee not then sow the seedes, and sow cummin, and cast in wheat by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

26 For his God doth instruct him to haue discretion, and doth teach him.

27 For sitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele bee turned about vpon the cummin: but the sitches are bearen out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread come when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart tread make a noyle, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also cometh from the Lord of hosts, which is wonderfull in counsaile, and excellent in works.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophesie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of man.

A^r altar, altar of the citie that Dauid^r A^r well in: as hee said vnto per: b let them

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shall be heauines and sorow, and it shall be vnto me like^r an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou bee humbled, and shalt speake out of the^r ground, and thy speech shall be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of dubitation, and thy walking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreover, the multitude of thy^r strangers shall be like small dust: and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hosts with thunder and shaking and a great noyle, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the^r multitude of all the nations that fight against y altar, shall be as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the war against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, hee eateth: and when hee awaketh his soule is empty: or like as a thirsty man dreameth, and lo, he is drinkeing, and when hee awaketh, behold, he is faint and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations bee that fight against mount Zion.

9^r Stay your selues and wonder: they are blinde, and make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they are gger, but not by strong drinke.

a The Hebrew word Ariel signifies the lion of God and signifies the altar, because the altar seemed to deuoure the sacrifice that was offered to God, as Ezek. 43. 16. b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.

c Your citie shall be full of blood, as an altar whereon they sacrifice.

d Thy speech shall be no more so lofty, but abased and low, as the very charmers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voice can scarce be heard.

C H A P. XXX.

1 He reproveth the lawes which in their aduersitie used their owne counsels, 2 And sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 Dismissing the Prophets, 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shal come upon them:
18 But offereth mercie to the repentant.

Spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes:
the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath be covered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee.
Then shall he say, I can not: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is given vnto him that cannot reade, saying, Reade this,
I pray thee. And he shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord saith, Because this people ^k come neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their^l feare toward me was taught by the precept of men,

14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a maruailous worke in this people, euen a maruailous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall^m perishe, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them thatⁿ seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darknesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Pour turning of deuiſes shall it not be esteemed^o as the potters clay: for shall the worke say of him that made it, Wee made mee not: or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, Wee had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shall bee^p turned into Carmel: and Carmel shall be counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darknesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue toy againe, and the pooze men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shall cease, and the scornefull shall be confounded: and all that ha-ked to iniquitie shall be cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the word, and tooke him in a snare which re-proued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iacob, euen hee that redemed Abraham, Iacob shall not now bee confounded, neither now shall his face bee pale.

23 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine handes, in the mids of him they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iacob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit,^r shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured shall learne doctrine.

WDe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and^b couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall bee your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt, your confusion.

4 For his^c princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadors came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall bee all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shall bee a shame and also a reproch.

6 The^d burden of the beasties of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and old lyon, the viper, and fiery flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cried vnto^e her, Their strength^f is to sit still.

8 Now goe, and write^g it before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may be for the^h last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would notⁱ heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not, and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophetic^k errors.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because ye haue cast off this word, and trust in^l violence and wickednesse, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment,

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters potte, which is broken without pittie, and in the bea-king thereof is not founde^m a sheerd to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water of God, but delighted to be flattered and led in error:

 x By these diuers maners of speech he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shall be so great that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.
 y When the Church shall be restored, the glory thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnesse of the Sunne: for by the Sunne and Moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shall be the glory of the children of God in the kingdom of Christ.
 z This threatening is against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemies of the people of God, ter out of the pit.

15 For thus said the Lord God, the holy One of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be laud: in quietnes and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue said, No, but we will flee away vpon horses. Therefore shall ye flee. Wee will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swift.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of five shall pee flee, till pee be left as a shippe mast vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beacon vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord wait, that hee may haue mercie vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: hee will certainly haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when he heareth thee, he will answer thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a voyde behind thee, saying, This is the way walke yee in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall pollute the couering of the images of silver, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous clorb, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then shall he giue raine vnto thy seed, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat, and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oren also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shoule, and with the fanne.

25 And vpon every high mountaine, and vpon every hie hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towres shall fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the Moone shall be as the light of the Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen fold, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, the Name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie, his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his Spirit is as a river that ouerfloweth vnto the necke: it diuideth a-sunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of vanity, and there shall be a bridle to caule them to erre in the lawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a long vnto you as in the night, when a solemn feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as hee that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mighty One of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall caule his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme, with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Alhur be destroyed, which smote with the rodde.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall cleane fall, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harps, and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight against it.

33 For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a river of brimstone, doeth kinde it.

34 So that their estate or degree cannot exempt the wicked. By these figuratiue speeches hee declareth the condition of the wicked after this life.

CHAP. XXXI.

Hee curseth them that forsake God, and seek for the helpe of men.

W De vnto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charrets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they are strong: but they looke not vnto the holy One of Israel, nor seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is wisest: therefore he will bring euill, and not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanity.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirit: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and he that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto mee, As the lyon or Lyons whiche roareth vpon his pray, against whome if a multitude of shepheards be called, hee will not be afraid at their voyce, neither will he humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall ¹ The condicions of good rulers and officers described by the government of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

^a This prophesie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Christ, and therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

^b By iudgement and iustice is meant an upright gouernement both in policie and religion.

^c Where men are weary with traouailing for lacke of water.

^d He promisseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods word, and vnderstanding, and zeale of the same contrary to the threatnings against the wicked. hap 6. 9. and 29. 10.

^e Vice shall no more be called vertue nor vertue esteemed by power and riches. ^f Hee propheseth of such calamities to come that they will not spare the women and children, and therefore willet them take heed and provide.

Behold, ^a a King shall reigne in iustice, and the Princes shall rule in iudgement.

² And that man shall bee as an hiding place from the wind, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drye place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in a weary land.

³ The eyes of the ^d seeing shall not bee shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

⁴ And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

⁵ A niggard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

⁶ But the niggard will speake of niggardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make empty the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirsty to faile.

⁷ For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuileth wicked counsels, to vndo the poore with lying words, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

⁸ But the liberal man will deuote of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie.

⁹ Rise vp, ye women, that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye carelesse daughters:

¹⁰ Ye women that are carelesse, shall bee in feare: about a yeere in dayes: ^a for the vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come no more.

¹¹ Ye women that are at ease, be astonied: feare, ye carelesse women: put off the clothes: make bare, and gird sackcloth vpon the loynes.

¹² Men shall lament for the ⁱ treats, euen for the pleasant fields, and for the fruitfull vine.

¹³ Upon the land of my people shall grow thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioy in the cite of reioycing.

¹⁴ Because the palace shall bee forsaken, and the ^h noyse of the cite shall bee left: the towre and fortreffe shall be demnes for cure, and the delight of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes.

¹⁶ And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull field.

¹⁷ And the worke of iustice shall be peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer.

¹⁸ And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

¹⁹ When it shallerth, it shall fall on the forest, and the ^m cite shall be set in the low place.

The destruction of them by whom God hath punished his Church.

WDe to thee that ^a spoylest, and wast ^b Meaning, the not spoiled: and dost wickedly, enemies of the Church, as were when thou shalt ^c cease to spoyle, thou the Caldeans, shalt be spoiled: when thou shalt make an ^d Affrians: but chiefly of Saneherib, but not only. ^b When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power, and that which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shall be giuen to others, as Amos 5. 11.

c The Chaldeans shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes and Persians shall doe the same to the Caldeans. d He declareth hereby what is the chief refuge of the faithfull when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God. e Which helpedst our fathers to loone as they called vpon thee. f That is, the Assyrians fled before the army of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians. g When thou, O Lord, diddest lift vp thine arme to punish thine enemies. h Ye that as caterpillars destroyed with your number the whole world, shall have no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans, but shall be gathered on an heape and destroyed. i Meaning, the Medes and Persians against the Caldeans. k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah. l Sent from Saneherib. m Whom they of Ierusalem sent to intreat of peace. n These are the wordes of the Ambassadors, when they returne from Saneherib. o Which was a plentiful countrey, meaning, that Saneherib would destroy all. p To helpe and deliver my Church. q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but hee sheweth that their enterprise shall be in vaine, and that the fire which they had kindled for others, should consume them. r His vengeance shall be so great, that all the world shall talke thereof. s Which doe not beleene the wordes of the Prophet. and the assurance of their deliuerance. t Meaning, that God will be a sure defence to all them that liue according to his word.

2 ^d Lord haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: bee thou, which wast their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3 At the noise of the tumult, the people fled: at thine exalting, the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of caterpillars: and he shall goe against him like the leaping of grasshoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on high, he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6 And there shall bee stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall be his treasure.

7 Beholde, their messengers shall cry without, and the ambassadors of peace shall weepe bitterly.

8 The paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth, hee hath broken the couenant: hee hath contemned the cities: hee regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and bewen downe: Sharon is like a wilderness, and Balsan is shaken and Cermel.

10 Now will I arise, saith the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

11 I see shall conceale chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall be as the burning of linc, and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Where are ye that are farre off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, know my power.

14 The sinners in Zion are afraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the everlasting burnings?

15 Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill.

16 He shall dwell on high: his defence shall bee the munitions of rockes: bread shall be giuen him, and his waters shall be sure.

17 Thine eyes shall see the King in his glory: thy shall beholde the land farre off.

18 Thine heart shall meditate feare, where is the Scribe? where is the receiver? where is hee that counted the towers?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speech, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue, that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Look vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that cannot be remooued, and the stakes thereof can neuer bee taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mighty Lord will bee vnto vs, as a place of floods and broad riuers, wherby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our Lawgiuer: the Lord is our king, he will saue vs.

23 Thy coards are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the sail: then shall the pray bee diuided for a great spoyle: yea, the lame shall take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein shall haue their iniquitie forgiven.

3 He sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

Come neere, yee nations and heare, and hearken ye people: let the earth heare, and all that is therein, the world and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hath destroyed them, and deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their staine shall be cast out, and their stinke shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountains shall bee melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoste of heauen shall be dissolved, and the heauens shall be folded like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leaf: shallerh from the Aline, and as it shallerh from the figge tree.

1 Saneherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

Ndw^a in the^b fourteenth yeere of King Vzekiah, Saneherib king of Assur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudab, and tooke them.

2 And the king of Assur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Vzekiah, with a great hoste, and hee stood by the conduit of the vpper poole: in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the Church to bee afflicted, but at length would send deliverance.

b When he had abolished superstition and idolatrie, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith, and patience.

c For he was now restored to his office, as Iſaiah had prophesied, Chap. 32. 20. d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in Kings house, when he was driven to send this wicked man in such a weightie matter. e Saneheribs chiefe captaine. f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, faithfully charging him, y he put his trust in his wit & eloquence, whereas his only confidence was in the Lord. g Sarcan laboured to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another, to wit, from trust in the Egyptians whose power was weak and would deceive them, to yeld himselfe to the Assyrians, & so not to hope for any helpe of God. h Or, turne backe. i He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Saneheribs least captaines. j Thus the wicked to deceive vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord, but we must try the spirits, whether they be of God or no. k They were a fraid left by his words he should have stirred the people against the king, and also pretended to grow to some appointment with him. l Eur, the water of their feet. m The Hebrew word signifieth blessing: whereby this wicked captain would have persuaded the people, that their condition should bee better vnder Saneherib, then vnder Hezekiah.

sonne of Bilkiab the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellour, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And Rabshakeh sayde vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus sayeth the great King, the King of Assur, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, Surely I have eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Lo, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say vnto me, Wee trust in the Lord our God: Is not that hee whose high places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and sayd to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Pee shall worship before this Altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Assur, and I will giue thee two thousand bayles, if thou bee able on thy part to let riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come by without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto mee, Goe by against this land and destroy it.

11 Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants, in the Aramites language (for wee vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Jewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent mee to thy master, and to thee, to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall, that they may eat their owne dung, and drinke their owne piss with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood and cried with a loud voyce in the Jewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Assur.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliver vs: this cite shall not be given ouer into the hand of the king of Assur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Assur, Make appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eat of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne fig tree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well.

17 Till I come & bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, 18 Let Hezekiah deceive you, saying, The Lord will deliver vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Assur?

19 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the Kings commandment was, saying, Answer him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Bilkiab the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellour, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

punisheth cities for sinne. n Not that they did not shew by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had now rent their clothes, but they knew it was in vaine to vse long reasoning with this insidell, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Iſaiah, who promiſeth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Saneherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The army of Saneherib is slaine of the Angel, 38 and he himselfe of his owne finnes.

AND when the king Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And hee sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellour, with the Elders of the Priestes clothed in sackcloth, vnto Iſaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amos.

3 And they sayd vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemy: for the children are come to the breach, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assur his master hath sent to raille on the liuing God, and to reproach him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou by thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Bee not afraid of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Assur haue blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him, declare by effect that he hath heard it: For when God deserveth to puniſh, it seemeth to the flesh, that hee knoweth not the sinne, or heareth not the cause. e Declaring that the ministers office doth not onely stand in comforting by the word, but also in praying for the people.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Asshur sighing against Libnah: for he had heard that hee was departed from Lachish.

9 ¶ Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, hee is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 ¶ Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceive thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the king of Asshur.

11 ¶ Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 ¶ Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Sozan, and Haran, and Receph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 ¶ There is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it, and hee went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare, open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 ¶ Truth it is, O Lord, that the kings of Asshur haue destroyed all lands, and their country.

19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of mens hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 ¶ Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto mee concerning Saneherib King of Asshur, 22 ¶ This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him. The virgin, the daughter of Zion hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: the daughter of Ierusalem hath taken her head at thee.

23 ¶ Whom hast thou railled on, and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted vp thine eyes on high? euen against the Holy one of Israel.

24 ¶ By thy seruants hast thou railled on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my chariots, I am come vp to the toppe of the mountaine, to the sides of Libanon, and will cut downe the high cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heightes of his toppe, and to the foyrest of his fruitfull places.

25 ¶ I haue digged, and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

26 ¶ Hast thou not heard how I haue of old time made it, and haue formed it long ago? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heaps, as citie defenced, 27 ¶ Whole inhabitants haue small potter, and are afraid and confounded: they are like the grasle of the field and greene herbe, or grasle on the house tops, or corne blasted afore it be growen.

28 ¶ But I knowe thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy comming in, and thy fury against me.

29 ¶ Because thou ragest against mee, and thy tumult is come vp into mine eares, therefore will I put mine hook in thy nostrils, and my bit in thy lippes, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.

30 And this shall be a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yere such as groweth of it selfe: and the second yere such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yere sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.

31 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take root downward, and beare fruit upward.

32 ¶ For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hosts shall doe this.

33 ¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning the king of Asshur, Hee shall not enter into this citie, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with a shield, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.

35 ¶ For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for my seruants Dauids sake.

36 ¶ ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord went out, & smote in the campe of Asshur an hundred fourescore and foure thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

q He boasteth of his policy, in that that he can find meanes to nourish his army: and of his power in that that his army is so great, that it is able to dry vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters which the Jewes had closed in.

r Signifying, that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserve it, and therefore he saith that he formed it of old, euen in his eternall counsell, which cannot be changed.

b For his heart was touched with feare of Gods iudgment, seeing he had appointed him to die so quickly after his deliuerance from so great calamities, as one vnworthy to remaine in that estate, and also foreseeing the great change in the Church, forasmuch as he left no sonne to reigne after him: for as yet Manasse was not born.

& when he reigned, we see what a tyrant he was.

c He doeth not onely promise to prolong his life, but to giue him rest and quietnesse from the Assyrians, who might haue renewed their amie to reuenge their former dishonour.

d For Hezekiah had asked for the confirmation of his faith a signe as verse 22. and 2. King. 20. 8. whereunto he was moued by the singular motion of Gods spirit. e Reade 2. King. 20. 10. f He left this song of his lamentation and thanksgiving to all posteritie, as a monument of his owne infirmities and thankfull heart for Gods benefite as David did, Psal. 51. g At what time it was told mee, that I should die. h I shall no more praise the Lord heere in this Temple among the faithfull: thus God suffereth his dearest children to want his consolation for a time, that his grace afterward may the more appeare when they feelee their owne weaknesse.

A Bout * that * time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet IIsaiah sonne of Amos came vnto him, and saide vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord, About this house in an order, for thou shalt die, and not liue.

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed vnto the Lord,

3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 Then came the word of the Lord to IIsaiah, saying,

5 Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus sayeth the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fiftene yeeres.

6 And I wil deliuer thee out of the hand of the king of Asshur, and this citie: for I wil defend this citie.

7 And * this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath spoken,

10 I said in the scutting off of my dayes, I shall go to the gates of the graue: I am distressed of the residue of my yeeres.

11 I said, I shall not see the Lord, even the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remooued from me like a shepherds tent: I haue cut off like a weauer my life: hee will cut mee off from the bright: from day to night thou wilt make an end of me.

13 I reckoned to the morning: but hee brake all my bones like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane or a swallowe, so did I chatter: I did mourne as a dove: mine eyes were life vpon high, O Lord, it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

15 What shall I say? * for hee hath said it to me, and hee hath done it: I shall walke feebly all my yeeres in the bitterness of my soule.

16 O Lord, I to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the lite of my spirit shall bee knowne, that thou causedst me to sleepe, and hast giuen life to me.

17 Beholde, for * felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my * sinnes behind thy backe.

18 For * the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy truth.

19 But the liuing, the liuing hee shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the * children shall declare thy truth.

20 The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore wee will sing my Song all the dayes of our life in the house of the Lord.

3 Then came Iſaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and sayd vnto him, What sayde these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto mee, from Babel.

4 Then said he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Iſaiah said to Hezekiah, Where are the word of the Lord of hosts.

6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layd vp in store vntill this day, shall be carried to Babel: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.

7 And of thy sonnes, that shall proceed out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunaches in the palace of the king of Babel.

8 Then said Hezekiah to Iſaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he said, Yet let there bee peace and trueth in my dayes.

2 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The coming of Iohn Baptift. 18 The Prophet reproveth the idolaters, and them that trust not in the Lord.

a This is a consolation for the Church assuring them that they shall be neuer destitute of Prophets, whereby he exhorteeth the true ministers of God that then were, and those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of body and soule. b The time of her affliction. c Meaning, sufficient, as Chap. 61. 7. and full correction, or double grace, whereas shee deserved double punishment. d To wit, of the Prophets. e That is, in Babylon and other places where they were kept in captiuitie and misery. f Meaning, Cyrus and Darius, which should deliuer Gods people out of captiuitie, and make them a ready way to Ierusalem: and this was fully accomplished, when Iohn the Baptift brought tidings of Iesus Christs coming, who was their deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan, Matth. 3. 3. g Whatsoever may let or hinder this deliuerance, shall be removed.

Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God say.

2 Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and cry vnto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for shee hath receiued of the Lords hand double for all her sinnes.

3 A voyce cryeth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make straight in the desert a path for our God.

4 Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be straight, and the rough places plaine.

5 And the glory of the Lord shall be reuealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

6 A voyce said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grasse, and all the grace thereof is as the flower of the field.

7 The grasse withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for euer.

9 O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the high mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it up, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold your God.

10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and his arme shall rule for him: behold his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

11 Hee shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: hee shall gather the lambs with his arme, and carry them in his bosome, and shall guide them with a yong.

12 Who hath measured the waters in his fist? and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed the mountains in a weight, and the hills in a balance?

13 Who hath instructed the Spirit of the Lord? or was his counsellor, or taught him?

14 Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him, and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as the drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the ballance: beholde, hee taketh away the yles as a little dust.

16 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offering.

25 To whom now will ye liken me, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names: by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iakob, and speakest, O Israel, My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euermolting God, the Lord hath created the ends of the earth: he neither fainteth, nor is weary: there is no searching of his vnderstanding.

29 But hee giveth strength vnto him that fainteth, & vnto him that hath no strength, he increaseth power.

30 Euen the yong men shall faint, and be weary, and the yong men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lord shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the eagles: they shall run, and not be weary, and they shall walke and not faint.

They that trust in their owne vertue, and doe not acknowledge that all cometh of God.

2 Gods mercy in cōfusing his people. 6 Their idolatry. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

a God as though he pleaded his cause with all nations, requireth silence, that he may be heard in his right.

b That is, gather all their power and supports.

c Who called Abraham (who was the paterne of Gods iustice in deliuering his Church) from the idolatry of the Caldeans to goe to and fro at his commandement and placed him in the land of Canaan?

Kepe silence before me, O Ilands, and let the people renew their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp iustice from the East, and called him to his foot? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bow.

3 He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his secte.

4 Who hath wrought and done it? hee that calleth the generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the first, and with the last I am the same.

7 So the workman comforted the founder, and he that smote with the hammer, him that smote by coule, saying, It is ready for the fodering, and he fastened it with nailles that it should not be moued.

8 But thou, Israel, art my seruant, and thou Iakob, whom I haue cholen, the seed of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the ends of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue cholen thee, and not call thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: bee not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, & helpe thee, & will susteine thee with the right hand of my iustice.

11 Beholde, all they that prouoke thee shall be ashamed and confounded: they shall be as nothing, and they that strue with thee shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them, and shalt not find them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou woman Iakob, and ye men of Israel: I will helpe thee, sayth the Lord, and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I wil make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountaines, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlewind shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the Holy one of Israel.

17 When the poore and the needie seeke water, & there is none, (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them:)

18 I wil open riuers in the toppes of the hils, and fountaines in the midst of the valleys: I wil make the wilderness as a poole of water, and the wasteland as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the shittah tree, and the myrre tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness the firre tree, the elme and the bore tree together.

q That is, hath appointed, and determined that it shall so come to passe.

r He biddeth the idolaters to proue their religion, and to bring forth their idoles that they may be tryed whether they know all things, and can doe all things: which if they cannot doe, he concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.

s So that a man cannot make an idole, but he must doe that, which God desireth and abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuises, & forsaketh the Lords.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ: 6 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

a, That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhood is called here servant. The Prophets vse to make mention of Christ after that they have declared any great promise, because he is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him, as to a most faithfull steward. Some read so. I will establish him, to wit, in his office, by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit. c Hee onely is acceptable vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meane of reconciliation. Mat. 12. 18. eph. 1. 4. d Hee shall declare himselfe gouernour of the Gentiles, and call them by his word, and rule them by his Spirit. e His coming shall not be with pompe, and noise, as earthly princes.

20 Therefore let them see and know, and let them consider and vnderstand together, that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel hath created it.

21 Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons: sayeth the King of Iacob.

22 Let them bring them forth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that we may consider them, and know the latter end of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea, doe good or doe euil, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

24 Behold, yee are of no v. lue, and your making is of nought: man hath chosen an abomination by them.

25 I haue raised vp from the North, and he shall come: from the East sunne shall he call vpon my Name, and shall come vpon princes as vpon clay, & as the potter treadeth mire vnder the foot.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning that wee may know: or before time, that we may say, He is righteous: Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your words.

27 I am the first that sayeth to Zion, Beholde, beholde them: and I will giue to Ierusalem one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when I beheld, there was none, and when I enquired of them, there was no counsellour, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

3 A bruised reed shall he not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall he not quench: hee shall bring iudgement in truth.

4 Hee shall not faile nor bee discouraged till he haue: let iudgement in the earth: and the ples shall wait for his law.

5 Thus sayeth God the Lord, (he that created the heauens & spread them abroad: hee that stretched forth the earth, and the budde thereof: he that giveth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein.)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in righteously, and will holde thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a covenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles.

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blinde, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkenesse, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory will I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images.

9 Behold, the former things are come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth: ye that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the ples and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp their voice, the towne that Redar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rockes sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the plands.

13 The Lord shall goe forth as a giant: hee shall stirre up his courage like a man of warre, he shall shout and cry, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue been still and refrained my selfe: now will I cry like an strauailing woman: I will despoile and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines and hills, and dry vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and will dry vp the pooles.

16 And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not, and lead them by pathes that they haue not knownen: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall bee greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods.

18 Heare, ye deafe: and yee blinde, regard that ye may see.

22 But this people is robbed and spoiled, and shall be all shamed in dungeons, and they shall be hid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoyle, and none shall lay, a Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iacob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his waies, neither be obedient vnto his Lawe:

25 Therefore he hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and hee knew not, and it burned him by, yet hee considered not.

CHAP. XLIII.

x The Lord comforteth his people. Hee promisseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

a After these threatnings, he promisseth deliuerance to his Church, because he hath regenerate them, adopted them, and called them. b When thou seest dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefit and the loue of thy God, and it shall encourage thee. c By water and fire he meaneth all kinds of troubles and perils. d I turned Saneheribs power against these countreys, and made them to suffer by affliction which thou shouldst haue done, and so were as the payment of thy ranfome. Chap 37. 9. e I will not spare any man rather than thou shouldst perish: for God more esteemeth one of his faithfull, then all the wicked in the world. f He prophesieth of their deliuerance from the captiuitie of Babylon, and so of the calling of the vniuersall Church, alluding to that which is written Deu. 30. 3. g Meaning, that he could not be vnkindful of them, except he would neglect his own name and glory.

But now thus saith the Lord, that created thee, O Iacob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, b Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, Thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the waters, I will bee with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not bee burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the Holy one of Israel, thy Saviour: I gaue Egypt for thy ranfome, Ethiopia & Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honorable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue a man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Every one shall be called by my name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

8 I wil bring forth the blind people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this & shew vs former thinges: let them bring forth their witnessnes, that they may bee iustified: but let them heare, and say, It is truth.

10 You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleue me, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before mee there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I euen I am the Lord, and beside mee there is no Saviour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God.

13 Pea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it?

14 Thus saith the Lord our Redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Caldians are in the ships.

15 I am the Lord your Holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.

16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters.

17 When hee bringeth out the chariot and horse, the army and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towne.

18 Remember ye not the former thinges, neither regard the thinges of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will euen make a way in the desert, and floods in the wilderness.

20 The wilde beastes shall honour mee, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wilderness to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed: for my selfe: they shall shew forth my praise.

22 And thou hast not called vpon mee, O Iacob, but thou hast wearied mee, O Israel.

23 Thou hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured mee with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense.

Whereby he sheweth that his mercies were the onely cause of their deliuerance, forasmuch as they had deserued the contrary. z Meaning, in true faith and obedience.

25 I, euen I am hee that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy finnes.

26 But mee in remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou mayest be iustified.

27 Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I haue prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuary, and haue made Iakob a curse, and Israel a reproch.

CHAP. XLIIII.

5 The Lord promisseth comfort, and that hee will assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlinesse of idolaters.

YEt now heare, O Iakob my seruant, and Israel whom I haue chosen.

a He created and choicethee from the beginning of his owne mercy, and before thou couldest merit any thing. b Whom God accepteth as righteous: or which haddest occasion thereunto because of the Law, and of thine holy vocation.

c Because man of himselfe is as the dry and barren land, hee promisseth to moisten him with the waters of his holy Spirit, Joel 2. 28. Ioh. 7. 38. ad. 2. 17.

d That is, thy children and posterity shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from nrisse, and their delectable things shall no more be glorious.

2 Thus saith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe: he will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, whom I haue chosen.

3 For I will poure water vpon the thirstie, and floods vpon the dry ground: I will poure my Spirit vpon thy seed, and my blessing vpon thy buds.

4 And they shall grow as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shall say, I am the Lords: another shall be called by the name of Iakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus layeth the Lord, the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hostes: I am the first, and I am the last, and without me there is no God.

7 And who is like mee, that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before mee, since I appointed the ancient people: and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither bee afraid: haue not I told thee of old, and haue declared it: you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside mee, & that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are baddeliuance from nrisse, and their delectable things shall no more be glorious.

10 This diuersitie of speech he meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shall be holy, and receive the true religion of God, as Psal. 87. 5. f I am alwayes like my selfe, that is mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as Chap. 41. 4. & 48. 12. reuel. 17. 12. 2. 13. g And appoint them that shall deliuer the Church h That he declare vnto mee how I ought to proceed herein. i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because hee preferred them to all other in his eternall election. k Meaning their idoles. l Reade Chap. 43. 10. em Whosoever they bestow vpon their idoles, to make them to thing profit: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not nor know: therefore they shall bee confounded.

10 Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, al that are of the fellowship thereof, shall bee confounded: for the workmen themselves are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand by, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coales, and fashioneth it with hammer, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: hee drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: hee fashioneth it with a red threed, he planeth it, and he putteth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man, that it may remaine in an house.

14 He will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it, and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god and worshippeth it: hee maketh it an idole, and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof enen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he roasteth the roste and is satisfied: also hee warmeth himselfe and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof hee maketh a god euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and sayth, Deliuer me: for thou art my God.

18 They haue not knownen, nor vnderstood: for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And nor yet considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coales thereof: I haue roasted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bow to the rocke of a tree?

20 He feedeth of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceived him, that hee cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

idolaters, which forget their owne necessities to set forth their deuotion towards their idoles. t To place it in some Temple.

u He setteth forth the obstinacy and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a God of the other, as the Papistes make their cake God, & the rest of their idoles. x That is, hee either maketh a table or trenchers. y The Prophet giueth here an answer to all them that wonder how it is possible that any should be so blind to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts. z Ebr. turneth.

He is abused as one that would eate ashes, thinking to satiate his hunger.

e He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliverance, then when he brought them out of Egypt through the sea.

f To assure them of their deliverance, he nameth the person by whom it should be, more then a hundreth yeere before he was borne.

21 Remember these (O Iakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 Reioyce yee heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shewe, ye lower parts of the earth: brast forth into praiises, yee mountaines, O forest, and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, and will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the tokens of the sootflayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backward, & make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 I will confirme the word of his seruant, and performe the counsel of his messengers, saying to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall be built up, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 I will saith to the deepe, Be drye, and I will dry vp thy floods.

28 I will saith to Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my desire: saying also to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built up, and to the Temple, thy foundation shall be surely laid.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliverance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

a To assure the Iewes of their deliverance against the great tentations that they should abide he nameth the person and the meanes, b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliverer, God called him his anointed for a time, but after an other sort then he called David.

c To guide him in the deliverance of my people.

d I will take away all impediments and lets.

e Not that Cyrus did know God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine peculiar knowledge, as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was com-elled to deliuer Gods people.

f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse.

Thus saith the Lord vnto Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I haue holden to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of Kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will goe before thee and make the crooked straight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darkenesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iakob my seruants sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not known me.

5 I am the Lord, and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I am girded thee though thou hast not known me.

6 That they may know from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none besides mee, I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the light and create darknesse: I make peace, and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things.

8 Yee heauens lend the dewe from a boue, and let the clouds drop downe rightrouinesse: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue created him.

9 Alloe bee vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potterd with the potterds of the earth: shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, I haue none hands?

10 Alloe vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the Holy one of Israel, and his maker, Alke me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine handes: command yon me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I whole handes haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie.

13 I haue raised him vp in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, & he shall let goe my captiues not for a price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the merchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabaeans men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chains: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verely thou O God, hidest thy selfe, O God the Saviour of Israel.

16 All they shall be ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall be saved in the Lord, with an euertlasting saluation: yee shall not bee ashamed nor confounded world without ende.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen: God himselfe that formed the earth, s Whereas before they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee, and thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ.

t Hereby he exhorteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliverance bee deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed.

I haue giuen thee strength, power, and authoritie.

h I sent peace and war, prosperitie and aqueritie, as Amos 3. 6.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: draw neere together, ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath tolde it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? & there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Saviour: there is none beside me.

22 Look vnto me, and ye shall be saued: all the ends of the earth shall be saued: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworn by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in right coulesse, and shall not returne: That every knee shall bow vnto mee, and every tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely hee shall say, In the Lord haue I right coulesse and strength: hee shall come vnto him, and all that prouoke him, shall be ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glory in the Lord.

Meaning, the faithfull shall feele and confesse this.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles, 3 He calleth the lawes to the consideration of his workes.

Behold is bowed downe: Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a weary burden.

2 They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not ridde them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare ye me, O house of Iacob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of mee, from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto old age, I the same enen I will beare you: vntil the hoare haire: I haue made you, I will also beare you, and I will cary you, and I will deliuer you.

5 To whom will ye make me like, or make me equal, or compare mee, that I should be like him?

a These were the chiefe idoles of Babylon.

b Because they were of gold and silver, the Medes and Persians caried them away.

c The beasts that caried the idoles feldowne vnder their burden.

d He derideth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.

e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God, for they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut. 32. 11. f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserve you for euer. g The people of God, seeing their own calamitie, and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of the enemies: therefore he describeth the original of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men, shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation, is but to proue them vile, Baruch. 6. 35.

6 They draw gold out of the bagge, and weigh siluer in the ballance, and here a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow downe and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they cary him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remooue from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be a hamed: bring it againe to mind, O you transgressors.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of old, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a bird from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre, as I haue spoken so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will do it.

12 Heare mee, ye stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

13 I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarre: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon and the causes wherefore.

Come downe and sit in the dust, O virgin, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones, and grinde meale: loose their locks, make bare the feet: vncouer the legges, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy fitchinnesse shall be discovered, and thy shame shall be seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a man.

4 Our Redeemer the Lord of hostes is his name, the holy one of Israel.

5 Sit still, and get thee into darknesse: O daughter of the Chaldeans, for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kingdoms.

6 I was wrath with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest shew them no mercy, but thou diddest lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saidst, I shall be a Lady for euer, so that thou diddest not let thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, shee saith in her heart, I am and none else: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children, and widowhood, they shall come vpon thee.

h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that hee punished the Israelites, because he would utterly cast them off, and therefore in stead of pining their miserie, thou diddest increase it.

h Become wife, meaning, that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.

i That is Cyrus, which shall come as swift as a bird, and fight against Babylon, which I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.

l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise.

m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promise of God, Rom. 3. 3.

a Which hath liued in wealth and wantonnes and hast not yet bene ouercome by any enemy.

for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.

d The things wherein she leeteth her greatest pride, shall be made vile, euen from the head to the foote.

e I will vse no humanitie nor pitie toward thee.

f The Israelites shall confesse, that the Lord doeth this for his Churches sake.

g For very shame, and hide thy selfe.

h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that hee punished the Israelites, because he would utterly cast them off, and therefore in stead of pining their miserie, thou diddest increase it.

i So that thy punishment shall be so great as is possible to be imagined.
 k Thou diddest thinke that thine own wisdom, & policie would haue saved thee.
 l Hee derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing but in God, condemning also such vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude y people, & to bring them from depending onely on God.
 m They shall vtterly perish, and no part of them remaine.
 n They shall flee euery one to that place which hee thought by his speculations to be most sure: but what shall deceive them, thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy inuinations, & for the great abundance of thine enchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast said, None seeth mee. Thy wisdom & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, yet thou be aware.

12 Stand now among thine enchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whome thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profit, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starr-gazers, and Prognosticators stand by, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall bee as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their own liues from the power of the flame: there shall bee no coales to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee with whom thou hast wearied thee, even thy merchants from thy youth: euery one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrite of the Iewes is reprooued. 11 The Lord alone will bee worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

a Hee detesteth their hy, orisies which vaunted themelues to be Israelites, and were not so indeed.
 b Meaning, the fountaine and stocke.
 c They make a shew, as though they would haue none other God.
 d Hee sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing forasmuch as he had performed whatsoever hee had promised.
 e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubburnnes and impudencie might haue bene ouercome.
 f How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon.
 g Will yee not acknowledge this my benefite, and declare it vnto others?

Hear ye this, O house of Iacob, which are called by the name of Israel, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousness.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and say themselves vpon the God of Israel, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

3 I haue declared the former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow braile.

5 Therefore I haue declared to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idle hath done them, and my earnest image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not yet declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, euery now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of old, and euery before this thou heardest them not,

8 How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon. g Will yee not acknowledge this my benefite, and declare it vnto others?

lest thou shouldest say, Behold, I knewe them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde, for I knew that thou wouldest grievously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressor from the wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praise will I reframe it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue sined thee, but not as a flatterer: I haue chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my Name bee polluted? surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Heare mee, O Iacob, and Israel my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath layd the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens, when I call them, they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his arme shall be against the Caldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him, I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto mee: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy Redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee to profit, and leade thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousness as the waves of the Sea.

19 Thy seed also had bene as the sand, and the fruit of thy body like the grauel thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off, nor destroyed before me.

20 Goe ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Caldeans, with a voyce of ioy: till and declare this: shew it fourth to the end of the earth: say yee, The Lord hath redeemed his servant Iacob.

21 And they were not thirstrie: hee led them through the wilderness: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for hee claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

h Shewing that mans arrogancy is the cause why God doeth not declare all things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdom.
 i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt, for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.
 k As it was my free mercy that I did chuse thee: so is it my free mercy that must saue thee.
 l For I had respect to thy weaknes & infirmities, for in sinfulness, there is some purenesse, but in vs there is nothing but dross.
 m Iooke thee out of the furnace where thou shouldest haue bene consumed.

 t Thus the Prophet speaketh for himselfe, and to assure them of these things.
 u What things shall doe thee good.
 x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel.
 y After that hee hath forewarned them of their capitiuitie, and of the cause thereof, hee sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance.
 z He sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliuer them as he did their fathers out of Egypt.
 a Thus he speaketh, that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 21.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleue, and will deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

a This is spoken in the person of Christ, to assure the faithful that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should bee performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psal. 2. 7.

c By the sword and shaft, he signifieth the vertue and efficacy of Christes doctrine.

d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: This chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

e By Israel, is meant Christ, and all the bodie of the faithful, as the members and their head.

f Thus Christ, in his members complaineth that his labour and preaching tooke none effect: & yet he is contented that his doings are approved of God.

g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God will approue my ministry. h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 43. 6. actes 13. 47. luke 2. 32 i Meaning the Iewes, whom tyrants kept in bondage. k The benefite of their deliuerance shall bee so great, that great and small shall acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it. l Thus hee speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercy toward it, 2. Cor. 6. 2. m Meaning Christ alone. n Signifying, that before Christ renew the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion and disorder. o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death. p Being in Christs protection, they shall be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies. q Meaning, that there should bee nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

Hear ye me, O ples, and hearken ye people from farre. The Lord hath called mee from the womb, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a cholen shaft, and hid me in his quiter,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine, and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord that formed mee from the wombe to bee his seruant, that I may bring Iakob againe to him (though Israel bee not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength.)

6 And hee said, It is a small thing that thou shouldest bee my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest bee my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the Redeemer of Israel, and his Holy One to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and arise, and Princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithful: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath cholen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserve thee, and will giue thee for a covenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou mayest say to the persons, See forth: and to them that are in darknesse, Shew your selues: they shall feed in the wayes, and their pastures shall bee in all the tops of the hills.

10 They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thirste, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne, for he that hath compassion on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my pathes shall be exalted.

12 Behold, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O heavens: and bee full of earth: brast forth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child, & not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe: though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine hands: thy walles are erie in my sight.

17 Thy builders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee walke, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together and come to thee: As I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and gird thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did denoure thee, shall be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for mee, giue place to mee that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten mee these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer: to and fro: and who hath nourished them: behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift vp mine hand to the Gentiles, and set up my stander to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes, and thy daughters shall bee carried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings shall bee thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall bee thy nurles: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke by the dust of thy feet: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not bee ashamed that wait for mee.

24 Shall the pray bee taken from the mighty: or the iust captiue deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, Euen the captiue of the mighty shall bee taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children.

26 And will feede them that spoile thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall bee drunken with their owne blood, as with him all honour. d Hee maketh this as an obiection, as though the Caldeans were strong and had them in iust possession. e This is the answer to their obiection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them. f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7. 23. 2. Chron. 30. 22. Chap. 19. 2.

r Meaning, the South country, so that Christ shall deliuer his from all the parts of the world.

s Reade Chap. 44. 23.

y I haue a continuall care to build thee vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.

z Hee sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the word of God, and governed by his Spirit.

a He sheweth that Christ will not onely gather this great number of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.

b Meaning, that Kings shall bee conuerted to the Gospel, and bestow their power and authoritie for the preservation of the Church.

c Being ioynred with the Church, they shall humble themselves to Christ their head, and giue

Sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy redeemer, the Right one of Jacob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Lewes forsaken for a time. 2 Tet the power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience and victory.

a Meaning, I he had not forsaken her but through her owne occasion, as Hof. 2. 2. b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shew none. c Signifying, that he sold them not for any debt or poverty but that they sold themselves to sinnes to buy their owne lusts and pleasures. d He came by his Prophets and Ministers, but they would not beleue their doctrine and conuersion. e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of old, when I dried vp the red sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iordan? f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10. 21. g The Prophet doeth represent here the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministry of Gods word.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and misery. i As they that are taught and made meeke by him. k I did not shrink from God for any persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for no other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, and also what is their comfort. l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey aight Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen. m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light and consolation which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorrow and not be comforted.

Thus saith the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off: or who is the creditor to whom I sold you? Behold, for your iniquities are pfect, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Therefore came I, and there was no man: I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I dry vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotte for want of water, and die for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknesse, and make a sacke their covering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen mee a tongue of the learned, that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is weary: hee will raise mee vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious: neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with mee? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersary? let him come neere to mee.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe mee: who is hee that can condemne mee? loe, they shall waie old as a garment: the moth shall eat them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruants: hee that walketh in darkenesse, and hath no light, let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that yee haue kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorrow.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 2 Not to feare men. 3 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

Heare mee, yee that follow after righteousness, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewn, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sara that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: hee shall comfort all her desolations, and hee shall make her desert like Eden, & her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: toy and gladnesse shall be found therein: ppayle, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken yee vnto mee, my people: and giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a Law shall proceed from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My righteousness is neere my saluation goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for mee, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath, for the heauens shall vanitie away like smoke, and the earth shall waie olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like manner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto mee, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law. Feare yee not the reproch of man, neither bee ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eat them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eat them like wooll: but my righteousness shall bee for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp, as in the old time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hath dried the sea, even the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with toy vnto Zion, and euertasting toy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtaine toy and gladnesse: and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am he that comfort you, who art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall bee made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and layde the foundations of the earth: and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue hasteneth to bee loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his head should fall.

a He comforteth the Church that they should not be discouraged for their small number.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueh his for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.

a After that he hath declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to y Church because it should feelee the fruit of the same, and calleth her barren, because that in the captiuitie she was as a widow without hope to haue any children. b The Church in this her affliction & captiuitie shall bring forth moe children then when she was at liberty: or this may be spoken by admiration considering y great number that should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childhood, and therefore this was accomplished when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel,

3 He is despised and reiected of men: hee is a man full of sorowes, and hath experience of infirmities, wee hid as it were our faces from him: hee was despised, and wee esteemed him not.

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and carried our sorowes: yet wee did iudge him as a plagued: and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But hee was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray, we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath lats upon him the iniquity of vs all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted yet did he not open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumbe, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 Hee was taken out from prison, and from iudgement: and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord woulde breake him, and make him subiect to infirmities: when he shall make his soule an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shall see of the trouble of his soule, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruants iustifie many: for hee shall biare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoile with the strong, because he hath powred out his soule vnto death, & hee was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

wife, sayeth the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtaynes of thine habitation: spare not, stretch out thy coards, and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the vniuersal cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not bee ashamed, neither shalt thou bee confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widowhood any more.

5 For hee that made thee, is thine husband, (whose name is the Lord of hostes) and thy Redeemer the Holy one of Israel: shall bee called the God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a young wife when thou wast refused, saith the Lord.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with everlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy Redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the waters of Noah: for as I haue swoyne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I swoyne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remoue, and the hills shall fall downe: but my mercy shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with sapphires.

12 And I will make thy windowes of emeralds, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In rightcoulnesse shalt thou be established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without mee: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruantes, can doe nothing but to faare as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, hee needes gouerne and guide them.

1 An exhortation to come to Chriſt. 8 Gods counſels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

a Chriſt by propoſing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined works, and the Epicures which are full with their worldly luſtes, and ſo thiſt not after theſe waters. b Signifying, that Gods benefits cannot be bought for money. c By waters, wine, milke and bread he meaneth all things neceſſary to the ſpiritual life, as theſe are neceſſary to this corporall life. d Here prooueth their ingratitude which reſuſe thoſe things that God offereth willingly, and in the meanetime ſpare neither coſt nor labour to obtaine thoſe which are nothing profitable. e You ſhal be fed abundantly. f The ſame covenant which through my mercie I ratified and confirmed to Dauid, that ſhould be eternal. 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 11. 12. 13. 14. 15. 16. 17. 18. 19. 20. 21. 22. 23. 24. 25. 26. 27. 28. 29. 30. 31. 32. 33. 34. 35. 36. 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42. 43. 44. 45. 46. 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52. 53. 54. 55. 56. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 64. 65. 66. 67. 68. 69. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 80. 81. 82. 83. 84. 85. 86. 87. 88. 89. 90. 91. 92. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98. 99. 100.

H D, every one that thiſteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no ſiluer, come, buy, and eate: come, I ſay, buy wine and milke without ſiluer and without money.

2 Wherefore doe ye lay out ſiluer and not for bread? and your labour without being ſatiſfied: hearken diligently vnto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your ſoule delight in ſatneſſe.

3 Encloſe your eares, & come vnto mee: heare, and your ſoule ſhall liue, and I will make an euerlaſting Covenant with you, euen the ſure mercies of Dauid.

4 Beholde, I gaue him for a witneſſe to the people, for a prince and a maſter vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou ſhalt call a nation that thou knoweſt not, and a nation that knew not thee, ſhall runne vnto thee, becauſe of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Iſrael: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while hee may be found, call vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked forſake his wayes, and the vnrigheteous his own imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he will haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgive.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, ſaith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, ſo are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts about your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the ſnow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue ſeed to the ſower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So ſhall my word be, that goeth out of my mouth: It ſhall not returne vnto mee voyde, but it ſhall accompliſh that which I will, and it ſhall proſper in the thing whereto I ſent it.

12 Therefore ye ſhall goe out with ioy, and be led forth with peace: the mountaines and the hills ſhall breake forth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the ficlde ſhall clap their hands.

13 For thornes, there ſhall grow ſirre trees: for nettles ſhall grow the myrtle tree, and it ſhall be to the Lord for a name, and for an euerlaſting ſigne that ſhall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iuſtice. 10 Agaiſt ſhepherds that deuoure their flocke.

I Thus ſaith the Lord, Keepe iudgement and doe iuſtice: for my ſaluation is at hand to come, and my righteouſneſſe to be revealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the ſonne of man which layeth holde on it: he that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the ſonne of the ſtranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, ſpeake and ſay, The Lord hath ſurely ſeparate mee from his people: neither let the Eunuch ſay, Behold, I am dry tree.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord vnto the Eunuchs that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuſe the thing that pleaſeth mee, and take hold of my covenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine Houſe and within my walles, a place and a name, better then of the ſonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlaſting name, that ſhall not be put out.

6 Alſo the ſtrangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to ſerue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his ſeruants: every one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and embraceth my covenant,

7 Them will I bring alſo to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine Houſe of prayer: their burnt offerings and their ſacrifices ſhall bee accepted vpon mine altar: for mine houſe ſhall be called an houſe of prayer for all people.

8 The Lord God ſaith, which gathereth the ſcattered of Iſrael, Yet will I gather to them, thoſe that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye beaſts of the field come to deuoure, euen all ye beaſts of the foreſt.

10 Their watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot barke: they lie and ſleepe and delight in ſleeping.

11 And theſe greedy dogs can neuer haue enough: and theſe ſhepherds cannot underſtand: for they all looke to their owne way, every one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpoſe.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our ſelues with ſtrong drinke, and to morrow ſhall be as this day, and much more abundant.

liely and acceptable ſacrifice h Not onely for the Iewes, but for all others, Math. 21. 13. i Meaning the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Affyrians, &c. j hus he ſpeaketh to ſeare the hypocrites, and to aſſure the faithfull, that when this commeth, they may know it was told them before. k Hee ſheweth that this affliction ſhal come through the fault of the gouernors, prophets, and paſtors, whoſe ignorance, negligence, auarice, and obſtinacie prouoked Gods wrath againſt them. l We are well yet, and to morrow ſhall be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations, which were made them in the Name of God.

To ſet forth his glory. p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he wil neuer forſake his Church.

a God ſheweth what he requireth of them after that hee hath deliuered them, to wit, the works of charity, whereby true faith is declared.

b Which I will declare toward you, and powre into your hearts by my Spirit.

c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth the whole ſeruite of God and true religion.

d Let none think himſelfe vnmeet to receiue the graces of the Lord: for y Lord will take away all impediments, &c.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 And their vaine confidence.

a From the plague that is at hand, and also because God will punish the wicked.

b The soule of the righteous shall be in ioy, and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.

c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people, derided Gods word and his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithful and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of forerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

d Reade Levit. 18. 21. 2. king. 23. 10.

e Meaning, every place was polluted with their idolatry, or every faire stone that they found, they made an idole of it.

f In the sacrifices which you offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God. g To wit, thine altars in an open place like an impudent harlot, that careth not for the sight of her husband. h In stead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the posts and doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6. 9. and 27. 1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatry in every place. i That is, didst increase thine idolatry more and more. k Thou diddest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by gifts & presents, to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians, and more and more didst torment thy selfe. l Although thou sawest all thy labours to bee in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault, and leaue off. m Hee derideth their vnpromisable diligence which thought to haue made all sure, and yet were deceived. n Broken promise with mee. o Meaning that the wicked abuse Gods lenity, and grow to further wickednesse. p That is, thy naughtinesse, idolatry, and impieties, which the wicked call Gods seruice, thus he derideth their obstinacie.

1 The righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man understandeth that the righteous is taken away from the world to come.

2 Peace shall come: they that rest in their beds, every one that walketh before him.

3 But you^e witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer, and of the whore.

4 On whom haue ye tested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, & a false seede,

5 Inflamed with idols vnder every green tree: and sacrificing the children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks?

6 Thy portion is in the smooth stones of the river: they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delight in these?

7 Thou hast made thy bed vpon a very high mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behinde the doores also and postes hast thou set by thy remembrance: for thou hast discomered thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest by, and diddest enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betwene thee and them, and loudest their bed in every place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest to the kings with oyle, and didst increase thine oynments, and send thy messengers farre off, and didst humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifold iournies, yet saydest thou not, There is no hope: thou hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieved.

11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast lyed vnto mee, & hast not remembered mee, neither set thy minde thereon: is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time: therefore thou fearest not mee.

12 I wil declare thy righteounesse and thy workes, and they shall not profit thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together, deliuer thee: but the wind shall take them all way: vanity shall pull them away: but he that trusteth in me, shall inherite the land, and shall possesse mine holy mountaine.

14 And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take out the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he, that is high and excellent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose name is the holy One, I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to reuiue the spirit of the humble, & to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contend for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17 For his wicked conetousnesse I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid mee and was angry, yet hee went away, & turned after the way of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his wayes, & will^e heale him: I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I create the fruite of the lippes to be peace: peace vnto them that are farre off, and to them that are neere, sayth the Lord: for I will heale him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can not rest, whose waters call by mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace, sayth my God, to the wicked.

science doth euer torment them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest, reade Chap. 48. 23.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The workes of the hypocrites. 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

Cry aloud, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, & to the house of Iacob their finnes.

2 Yet they^e seeke mee dayly, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,

3 Therefore haue wee fasted, and thou seest it not: we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold in the day of your fast you wil seeke your wil, and require all your debts.

4 Behold, ye fast to strife and debate, and to limite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shal not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bowe downe his head as a bulrush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes: wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting that I haue chosen, that ye shal not fight, nor contend, nor oppress, your fasting and prayer shall not be heard, chosen, q Meaning the Assyrians and other, whose helpe they looked for.

r God shall say to Darius and Cyrus, f I will not vie my power against fraileman, whose life is but a blast.

t That is, for the vices and faults of the people, which is meant hereby courteousnesse.

u Though they were oblitinate, yet did I not withdraw my mercy from them.

x That is, I frame the speech and wordes of my messengers which shall bring peace.

y As well to him that is in captiuitie, as to him that remaineth at home.

z Their euil conscience

a The Lord thus speaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vie all diligence and serueritie to rebuke the hypocrites.

b They wil seeme to worship me, and haue outward holinesse.

c Hee seeth forth the malice and disdain of the hypocrites, which grudge against God if their workes bee not accepted,

d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrites by the second table, and by their duetie toward their neighbour, that they haue neig For in him thou feelt thy selfe as in a glasse.

h That is, the prosperous estate wherewith God will bleste thee.

i The testimony of thy goodnesse shall appeare before God & man, k Whereby is meant all manner of iniurie.

l That is, haue compassion on their miseries,
m Thine aduersity shalbe turned into prosperity.

n Signifying, that of the Iewes should come such as should build againe the ruines of Ierusalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is meant of the spirituall Ierusalem, whose builders were the Apostles.
o If thou refrainest thy selfe from thy wicked workes.

cholen, to looke the hands of wickednesse, to take off the heauy burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him, and hide not thy selfe from a thine owne sick,

8 Then shall thy light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall growe speedily: thy righteousness shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer: thou shalt cry, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou poure out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenesse, and thy darkenesse shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall bee of thee, that shall build the olde waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repayer of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, & shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, 14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the high places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

2 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities.
13 The confession of finnes. 16 God alone will preserve his Church, though all men faile.

Behold, the Lords hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his eare heavy, that it cannot heare.

2 But your iniquities haue separated between you and your God, and your finnes haue hid his face from you, that hee will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity: your lippes haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquity.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for truely: they trust in vanity, and speake vaine things: they conceiue unchaste, and bring forth iniquity.

5 They hatch cockatrice egges, and weane the spiders webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trod vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shall bee no garment, neither shall they cover themselves with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of cruelty is in their hands.

7 Their feete run to euil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation & destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equiry in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we wait for light, but loe, it is darknesse: for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitary places, as dead men.

11 Wee roare all like i beares, and mourne like doves: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our finnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of cruelty and rebellion, conceiuing and uttering out of the heart false matters.

14 Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth afarre off: for truely is fallen in the streete, and equiry cannot enter.

15 Peace, truth, faith, and he that refrained from euil, maketh himselfe a praye: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when hee saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer himselfe. Therefore his arme did plane it, and his righteousness hee did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousness, as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke:

18 As to make recompense, as to requite the fury of the aduersaries with a recompense of his enemies: he will fully repay the Islands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemy that come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquity in Iacob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my Couenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit shall be vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not de-from sinne and Satan belongeth to none but to the children of God whom he iustificieth. u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the Spirit. he ioyneth the one with the other, and promisseth to giue them both to his Church for ever.

f That is, Gods vengeance to punish our enemies.

g Gods protection to defend vs.

h We are altogether destitute of counsell, and can finde no end of our miseries.

i We expresse our sorrowes by outward signes, some more, some lesse.

k This confession is general to the Church to obtaine remission of finnes, and the Prophets did not exempt themselves from the same.

l To wit, against our neighbours.

m There is neither iustice nor vprightnesse among men.

n The wicked will destroy him.

o Meaning, to doe iustice, and to remedie the things that were so farre out of order.

p That is, his Church, or his arme did helpe it selfe, and did not seeke ayde of any other.

q Signifying, that God hath all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church, and to punish their enemies.

r To wit, your enemies which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.

s He sheweth that there shalbe great affliction in the Church, but God will euer deliuer his, Wherby he declareth that the true deliurance part out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seed, nor out of the mouth of the seed of thy seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for ever.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall have abundance, though they suffer for a time.

A Rise, O Ierusalem, bee bright, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For behold, darknesse shall couer the earth, and grosse darknesse the people, but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall be nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall be astonished and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall bee conuerred vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The multitude of camels shall conuer the multitude of the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring gold and incense, and shew forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of Redar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Macbatoth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to bee accepted vpon mine altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these that sit like a cloude, and as the doves to their windowes?

9 Surely theples shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their silver and their golde with them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought.

a The time of thy prosperity and felicity: whereas speaking of Babylon, he commanded her to goe downe, Chap. 47. 1.

b Signifying, that all men are in darknesse, till God giue them the light of his spirit, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church.

c Meaning, that Iudea should be as the morning starre, and that the Gentiles should receiue light of her.

d An infinite number from all countreyes, as Chap. 49. 18.

e For ioy: as the heart is drawn in for sorrow.

f Meaning, that every one shall honour the Lord with that where-with he is able: Signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except we offer our selues to serue his glory, and all that we haue.

g That is, the Arabians, that haue great abundance of cattel. h Because the altar was a figure of Christ, Heb. 13. 10. hee sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him which is not offered to him by this altar, who was both the offering and the altar it selfe. i Shewing what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale. k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends and setters forth of the Church. l Meaning, Cyrus and his succelors, but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuered by his Gospel.

12 For the nation and the kingdom, that will not serue thee, shall perish, and those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

13 The glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the cisme and the bore tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorifie the place of my feete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall cal thee, The city of the Lord, Zion the holy one of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast bin forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a toy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breasts of Kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Saviour, and thy Redeemer, the Mighty one of Iacob.

17 For grass shall I bring golde, and for yron will I bring silver, and for wood brasie, and for stones yron. I will also make thy goernement peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction, within thy borders: but thou shalt call saluation thy walles, and praise thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more Sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the Moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shall be thine euertlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine euertlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorrow shall be ended.

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous, they shall possesse the land for ever, the graffe of my planting, shall bee the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a strong nation: a little one shall become as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

cease, and that Christ shall be all in all, as Reuel. 2. 1, 21. 22. and 23. 5 u The children of the Church. x Meaning, that the Church should be miraculously multiplied.

The Spirit of the Lord God is vpon me, therefore hath the Lord anointed me: he hath sent me to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to bind up the broken hearted, to preach liberty to the captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison.

2 To preach the acceptable yere of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne, as it pleaseth him to distribute. b To them that are heuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes. c Which are in the bondage of sinne. d The time when it pleased God to shew his good fauor to man, which S. 4 And they shall builde the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaire the Cities that were desolate and waste thorow many generations.

5 And the strangers shall stand and feed your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But pee shall be named the Priests of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: pee shall eat the riches of the Gentiles, and shall bee exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receiue double, and for confusion they shall reioyce in their portion: for in their land they shall possesse the double: euerlasting ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement, and hate robbery: for burnt offering, and I will direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And their seed shall be knowne among the Gentiles, and their buddeas among the people. All that see them shall know them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.

10 I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall bee ioyfull in my God: for hee hath clothed mee with the garments of saluation, and covered mee with the robe of righteousness: hee hath decked mee like a bridegrome, and as a bride tyeth her selfe with her iewels.

For Zions sake I will not holde my tongue, and for Ierusalens sake I will not rest, vntill the righteousness thereof breake forth as the light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 Therefore is thine apparell red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepresse?

3 I haue troden the winepresse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe City of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, and vnder the title of Circumcision, and the kinred of Abraham, claimed to themselves the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psal. 137. 7. b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and saith, Yee see now performed in deed the vengeance which my Prophets threatned, c Another question to the which the Lord answereth.

I will!

d Shewing that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profit and deliuerance of his Church.

e God sheweth that he hath no need of mans helpe for the deliuerance of his, and though men refuse to doe their dutie through negligence and ingratitude, yet hee himselfe wil deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies, reade Chap. 59. 16. f I will so assist them, and make them so giddy, that they shall not know which way to goe.

g The Prophet speaketh this to moue the people to remember Gods benefits in times past, that they may be confirmed in their troubles, h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should be holy, and not deceive mine expectation.

i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne. k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence: and this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of saluation.

l That is, the people of Israel being afflicted called to remembrance Gods benefits, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past. m Meaning, Moses. n Meaning, in Moses, that he might well gouerne the people: some referre this giuing of the spirit to the people. o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is led to his pasture. p Having declared Gods benefits shewed to their forefathers, hee turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue the same graces toward them. q Thy great affection which thou barest toward vs. r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church. s Though Abraham would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our father.

I will tread them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yeere of my redemption is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, & I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will remember the mercies of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For hee saith, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so he was their Saviour.

9 In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercy hee redeemed them, and hee bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled, and hee rebeld his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then hee remembered the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the sea with the shepherde of his sheepe? where is hee that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, & guiding the water before them, to make himselfe an everlasting Name.

13 He led them throughe the deepe as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord ganeth them rest: so didst thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 I Looked downe from heauen, and beheld, from the dwelling place of thine holynesse, and of thy glory. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from mee.

16 Doubtes thou art our father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our Redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy lawes? Returne for thy spirit from vs by thy mercies sake, and for thy lawes of thine integrity.

18 The people of thine holynesse haue possessed it but a little while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuary.

19 We haue bin as they, our whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy name was not called.

u Meaning, for the Covenants sake made to Abraham, Isaac and Iacob his seruants. x That is, in respect of the promise which is perpetuall: albeit they had now possessed the land of Canaan a thousand and foure hundred yeeres: and thus they lament to moue God rather to remember his Covenant, then to punish their sinnes.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people.

6 Mans righteousness is like a filthy cloth.

O that thou wouldest breake the brauens, and come downe, & that the mountaynes might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaynes melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him: that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meet him, that reioyced in thee, and didst slay: they remen had thee in thy wates: be hold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be saued.

6 But we haue all bene as an uncleane thing, and all our righteousness is as filthy clouts, and we all doe fade like a leaf, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angry, O Lord, above measure, neither remember iniquity for euer: for, we beseech thee, be hold, we are all thy people.

g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs. h Wee are iustly punished a brought into captivity, because wee haue prouoked thee to anger, and though wee would excuse our selues, yet our righteousness is as filthy clouts, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman. i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iudgement thou mayest vterly destroy vs, as the potter may his p yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adve to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth, when God do not immediately send succour.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then hee remembered the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the sea with the shepheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, & guiding the water before them, to make himselfe an everlasting Name.

13 He led them throughe the deepe as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord ganeth them rest: so didst thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 Looke downe from heauen, and behold, from the dwelling place of thine holynesse, and of thy glory. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are reuained from mee.

16 Doubtes thou art our father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our Redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our way thy holy heart from thy lawes? Returne for thy spirit from vobys wauers sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance, whom we were gouerned, and for our ingratitude diddest deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiscence, and dust punishe sinne by sinne according to thy iust iudgement.

18 The people of thine holynesse haue possessed it but a litle while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuaries vs vp to our owne concupiscence, and dust punishe sinne by sinne according to thy iust iudgement.

19 We haue bin as they, our whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy name was not called.

Meaning, for the Couenants sake made to Abraham, Isaac and Iacob his seruants. x That is, in respect of the promise which is perpetuall: albeit they had now possessed the land of Canaan a thousand and foure hundred yeeres: and thus they lament to moue God rather to remember his Couenant, then to punish their sinnes.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people.

6 Mans righteousness is like a filthy cloth.

O that thou wouldest breake the heauens, and come downe, & that the mountains might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burneth, as the fire caused the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him: that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meet him, that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remen bared thee in thy waies: be hold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be saued.

6 But we haue all bene as an vncleane thing, and all our righteousness is as filthy clouts, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stireth vp himselfe to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angry, O Lord, above measure, neither remember iniquity for euer: for we beseech thee, be hold, we are all thy people.

Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs. h Wee are iustly punished & brought into captivity, because wee haue prouoked thee to anger, and though wee would excuse our selues, yet our righteousness is as filthy clouts, as before thee as vile clouts, or, (as some read) like the mensurous clothes of a woman. i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iudgement thou mayest viterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pott, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adve to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth, when God do not immediately send succour.

Which were dedicated to thy service, and to call upon thy Name.

m Wherein we reioyced and worshipped thee.

n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glory? though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

10 ¹ Thine holy cities he wasteth: Zion is a wilderness, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuary and of our glory, ^m where our fathers praised thee, is burnt up with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou hold thy selfe still ^a at these things, O Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboute measure?

CHAP. LXV.

¹ The vocation of the Gentiles, and the reiection of the Iewes. ¹³ The ioy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

I haue bene sought of them that asked not: I was found of them that sought mee not: I sayd, Beholde mee, beholde mee, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue ^b spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne ^c imaginations:

3 A people that prouoked mee euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in ^d gardens, and burneth incense vpon ^e bricks.

4 Which remaine among the ^f graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eat ^g swines flesh, and the brach of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, ^h Stand apart, come not nere to me: for I am holier then thou: thele are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is ⁱ written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers shall bee ¹ together (sayeth the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed mee vpon the hills: therefore will I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

8 Thus sayeth the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a ^m blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seed out of Iacob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And ^a Sharon shall bee a sheepefold, and the valley of Achor shall bee a resting place for the cattell of my people that haue sought mee.

11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the ^o multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I ^p number you to the sword, and all you shall bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I spake and ye heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did count that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shall ^r eate, and ye shall bee hungry: behold, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thristie: behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shall be ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall crye for sorrow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And ye shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my ^s chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you, and call his seruants by ^t another name.

16 Ye that shall blesse in the ^u earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former ^v troubles are for rotten, and shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I will create ^w new heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not bee remembred nor come into mind.

18 But bee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Ierusalem as a reioycing, and her people as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall bee no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an old man that hath ^x not filled his dayes: for hee that shall be an hundred yeeres old, shall die as a yong man: but the sinner being ^y an hundred yeeres old, shall be accursed.

21 And they shall ^z build houses and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabit: they shall not plant, and another eat: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall enioy in old age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare, for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds

^x I will no more suffer my Church to bee desolate as in times past.

^y I will so alter and change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a new world.

^z Meaning, in this wonderful restoration of the Church there should be no weaknesse of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all should bee fresh and flourishing: and this is accomplished in the heavenly Ierusalem, when all sinners shall cease, and the teares shall be wiped away.

1 God dwelleth not in Temples made with hands, 3 Hee despiseth sacrifices done without mercy and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

Mat. 7. 48, 49.

a My maiestie is so great, that it filleth both heauen and earth, and therefore cannot be included in a Temple like an idol: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices.

b Seeing that both the Temple and the things therein with the sacrifices, were made and done by his appointment, he sheweth that he hath no need thereof, and that he can be without them, Psal. 50. 10.

c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiveth my doctrine with reuerence and feare.

d Because the Iewes thought themselves holy by offering of their sacrifices, and in the meane season had neither faith nor repentance, God sheweth that he doeth no lesse detest these ceremonies, then he doeth the sacrifices of the heathen, who offered men, dogs and swine to their idoles, which things were expressly forbidden in the Lawe. e I will discover their wickednes and hypocrisie, wherewith they thinke to blind mine eyes, o all the world. f He encourageth the faithfull by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites, & hated them that feared God. g The enemies shall shortly heare a more terrible voyce even fire and slaughter, seeing they would not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets which called them to repentance. h Meaning, that the restauration of the Church should be so sudden and contrary to all mens opinion, as when a woman is deliuered before shee looke for it, and that without paine in trauell,

Thus saith the Lord, *The ^aheauen is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is that house that yee will build unto me? and where is that place of my rest?

2 For all these things hath mine hand made, and all these things have bene, saith the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of ^c a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my words.

3 Hee that killeth a bullocke, as if hee slew a man: he that sacrificeth a heepe, as if he cut off a dogs neck: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: hee that remembereth incense, as if hee blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes: and their soules delighted in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I ^echuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answer: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things, which I would not.

5 Weare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at the ^fword, Pour brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but hee shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall be ashamed.

6 A voice soundeth from the citie, euen a voice from the Temple, the voice of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

7 Before ^hshee was traualled, shee brought forth: and before her paine came, shee was deliuered of a man child.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such a thing? Shall the earth bee brought forth in one ⁱday? or shall a nation be borne at once? for as soone as Zion was traualled, shee brought forth her children.

9 Shall I ^kcause to trauell, & not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth and shall be barren, saith the Lord.

10 Reioyce yee with Jerusalem, and bee glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for her, all ye that mourne for her.

11 That ye may sucke ^land bee satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that yee may milke out, and bee delighted with the brightness of her glory.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend ^mpeace ouer her like a flood, and the glory of the ⁿGentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be borne vpon her sides, and bee ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your ^pbones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall bee known among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 And behold, the Lord will come with fire, and his chariots like a whirlewinde, that hee may ^qrecompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sword all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctifie ^rthemselves, and purifie themselves in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating ^sswines flesh, and such abomination, euen the mouse shall be consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I will visit their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations and tongues, and they shall come, and see my ^tglory.

19 And I will set a ^usigne among them, and will send those that ^vescape of them, vnto the nations of ^wTarshish, ^xBul, and ^yLub, and to them that sit by the ^zbowe, to ^aEnbal, and ^bTauan, Isles as farre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glory, and ^cthey shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

Jeremiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Lawe, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelation of Prophecie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eigheteene yeeres vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were carryed away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboute forty yeeres, besides the time that hee prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people for their idolatry, couetousnesse, subtiltie, crueltie, excesses, rebellion and contempt of Gods word: and for the consolation of the Church, reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubborn and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next, how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods aule. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will hee euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to bee abolished, then will hee declare himselfe victorious in preferring his,

c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, Iothua, 21. 18. d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: for as much as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God. e Meaning, the nephewe of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, & therefore is not mentioned, no more is Iachin that reigned no longer, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto the carrying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fifth moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordered thee to bee a Prophet vnto the nations.

6 Then said I, Oh Lord God, behold, I cannot speake, for I am a childe.

7 But the Lord saide vnto me, Say not I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and what soeuer I command thee, shall thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand as Isa. 49. 1. Galat. 1. 15. h For Jeremiah did not onely prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites, and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the world, hee was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pittie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmities of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa. 6. 11, Exod. 3. 21 and 4. 1.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throw downe, to build and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Jeremia, what seest thou?
And I sayde, I see a ^m rod of an almond

12 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? and I said, I see a seething ^a pot look-

14 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Out of the North shall a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the famithe Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entering of the 8 The Priests said not, Where is the Lord: and they that should minister the Law knew mee not: the ⁱ pastours also offended against mee, and the Prophets pre-sophied in ^m Baal, and went after things that did not profit.

9 Wherefore I will yet ⁿ plead with you sayeth the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens children.

10 For go yee to the yles of ^o Chittim, and behold, and send vnto ^p Kedar and take diligent heed, and see whether there bee such things.

11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their ^q glory, for that which doeth not ^r profit.

12 O ye sheauens, be astonished at this: be afraide, and vtterly confounded saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue committed two culis: they haue forsaken me ^s the fountaine

^k As the Scribes which should haue expounded the Law to the people. l Meaning the princes and ministers: signifying, that all estates were corrupt. m That is, spake vaine things, & brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idole of the Moabites, are meant all idoles.

n Signifying that hee would not as hee might, straightway condemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed and repent. o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians. p Vnto Arabia q That is, God which is their glory, and who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reprooung the Iewes, that they were lesse diligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities. r Meaning, the idoles, which were their destruction, Psal.
106. 36. s Heweth that the sensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude & as it were, tremble for feare of Gods great iudge-ments against the same. t Signifying, that when men forsake Gods word which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God himselfe, and so fall to their owne deuotions and vaine confidence, and procure to themselves destruction, Ionah 2. 8. zech. 10. 2.

u Have I ordered them like servants, and not like dearly beloved children? Exod. 4. 22, therefore it is their fault: onely, if the enemy spoyle them.

x The Babylonians, Caldeans, and Assyrians, y Not one shall be left to dwell there.

z That is, the Egyptians: for there were two great cities in Egypt.

a Have grievously vexed thee at sundry times.

b Shewing that God would have still led them aright, if they would have followed him.

c To seeke helpe of man, as though God were not able enough to defend thee, which is to drinke of the puddles, and to leaue the fountaine, reade Isa. 31. 1.

d To wit, Euphrates.

e Meaning, that the wicked are insensible till the punishment for their sin waken them, as verif. 26. Isa. 3. 9.

f When I deliuered thee out of Egypt, Exod. 19. 8. Deu. 5. 17 Iosh. 24. 16. Ezra. 10. 12. Neh. 8. 6.

g Though thou vse all the purifications & ceremonies of the Law, thou canst not escape punishment, except thou turne to me by faith and repentance.

h Meaning, that hypocrites denie that they worship the idoles, but that they honour God in them, and therefore they call their doings Gods seruice.

i He compareth the idolaters to these beasts, because they neuer cease running to and fro: for both valleys and hills are full of their idolatry.

k Hee compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for the can neuer be tamed, nor yet warrid: for as she runneth, she can take her winde at euery occasion.

l That is, when she is with foale, and therefore the hunters wait their time: so though thou canst not bee turned backe now from thine idolatry, yet when thine iniquitie shall be at the full, God will meet with thee.

m Hereby hee warneth them that they should not goe into strange countreys to seeke helpe: for they should but spend their labour and hurt themselves, which is here meant by the barefoote and thirst, Isa. 57. 10.

of living waters, to dig them pits, euen broken pits, that can hold no water.

14 Is Israel a ^aseruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The ^x Lyons roared vpon him and pelted, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without ^y an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of ^z Joseph and Ephraim haue broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou provoked this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when hee ^b ledde thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of ^c Egypt: to drinke the water of Pilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur: to drinke the water of the ^d River?

19 Thine owne wickednesse shall ^e correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprooue thee: know therefore and behold, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hosts.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saydest, I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hills, and vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whose ^f plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto mee into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou wash thee with ^g sifter, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquity is marked before mee, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I ^h followed Baalim: behold thy wayes in the balley, & know what thou hast done: thou art like a swift ⁱ promedarte, that runnest by his wayes:

24 And as a wilde ^k asse, vnto the wilderness, that smuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not weary themselves: but will find her in her ^l moorh.

25 Keepe thou thy feet from ^m barenesse, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saydest desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

26 As the ⁿ chiefe is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets.

27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my ^o father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten mee: for they haue turned their backe vnto mee, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? Let them arise if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according ^p to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, ^q O Judah.

29 Therefore will ^r ye pleade with mee: yee all haue rebelled against mee, saith the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in baine, they receiued no correction: your ^s owne sword hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying Lyon.

31 O generation, take heede to the word of the Lord: haue I beene as a ^t wilderness vnto Israel? or a land of darkenesse? Wherefore sayeth my people then, Wee are lords, wee will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dost thou prepare thy way, to ^u seeke amitie: euen therefore will I teach thee that thy wayes are wickednesse.

34 Also in thy ^v wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am grieved, surely his wrath shall turne from mee: behold, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes: for thou shalt bee confounded of Egypt ^w as thou art confounded of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt goe forth from thence, and thine hands vpon ^x thine head, because the Lord hath relected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

n As a thiefe will not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deed, and ready to be punished: so they will not confesse their idolatrie till the plagues due to the same light vpon them.

o Meaning, that idolaters spoile God of his honour: and whereas he hath taught to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

p Thou thoughtest that thy gods of blockes and stones could haue holpen thee because they were many in number, and present in euery place: but now let vs see whether either the multitude, or their presence can deliuer thee from my plague, Chap. 11. 13.

q As though I did you iniurie in punishing you, seeing that your faults are so euident.

r That is, you haue killed your Prophets that exhorted you to repentance, s Zechariah, Isaiah, &c.

t But will trust in our owne power and policy.

u With strangers.

x The Prophets & the faithfull are slaine in euery corner of your country.

y For the Assyrians had taken away the remmetribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iudah, euen vnto Ierusalem, and the Egyptians slew Ioshah, and vexed the Iewes in sundry sorts.

f Haue I not given them abundance of all things? t But will trust in our owne power and policy. u With strangers. x The Prophets & the faithfull are slaine in euery corner of your country. y For the Assyrians had taken away the remmetribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iudah, euen vnto Ierusalem, and the Egyptians slew Ioshah, and vexed the Iewes in sundry sorts. z In signe of lamentation, as 2 Sam. 13. 19.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people to repentance. 14 He promisseth the restitution of his Church. 20 Hee reprooueth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

Thou ^a say, If a man put away his wife, and she goe from him, and become another mans, shall hee returne againe

b If he take such one to wife a-gaine.
c That is, with idoles, and with them whom thou hast put thy confidence in.
d And wilt not cast thee off, but receive thee according to my mercy.
e Which dwelleth in tents, and waiteth for them that passe by, to spoyle them.
f As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 28. 24.
g Thou wouldest neuer be ashamed of thine acts and repent: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not giue off, though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted.
h He sheweth that the wicked in their miseries will cry vnto God, & vnto ward prayer, as the godly doe, but because they turne not from their euill, they are not heard, Isa. 58. 3, 4.
i Meaning, the tentribes.
k And gaue her vnto the hands of the Assyrians.
l The Hebrew word may either signifie lightnes and wantonnes, or noise & bruit.
m Iudah sained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good Kings, but she was neuer truly touched or wholly reformed, as appeared when occasion was offered by any wicked prince.
n Israel hath not declared herselfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call her to repentance.
o Whereas the Israelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Assyrians, to whom he promiseth mercie, if they will repent.
p There was no way, which thou diddest not haue to seeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage.

gaine vnto her? shall not this land be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many ^c lores: yet ^e turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and beholde, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the wayes, as the ^a Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whores domes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue bene restrained, and the ^e latter raine came not, and thou hadst as whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Didst thou not stil cry vnto me, Thou art my Father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will he reuerse it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord said also vnto mee, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Hast thou seene what this rebellⁱ Israel hath done? for shee hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I sayed, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto mee: but shee returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saue.

8 When I saue, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I east ^a her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraid, but she went also, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the lightnes of her whores dome shee hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stockes.

10 Neuertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with ^m her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto mee, The rebellious Israel hath ⁱ iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Soe and cry these words toward ^o the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast ^p scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, saith the Lord.

14 O yee disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord: for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

15 And I will giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and understanding.

16 Moreover, when ye be increased, and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, sayth the Lord, they shall say no more, The ^q Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Jerusalem, The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the name of the Lord in Jerusalem: and thenceforth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the landes of the North, into the land that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I sayde, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant lande, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and sayde, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from mee?

20 But as a woman rebelled against her husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

21 A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerterd their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O yee disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly, the hope of the hills is but vaine, nor the multitude of the mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth, their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 Wee lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, wee and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

not themselves, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings, and desire forgiveness of the same, as Ezra 9. 7. Psal. 106. 6. Isa. 64. 6.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 Hee exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophesied for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, ^a returne vnto mee, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remooue.

2 And thou shalt ^b sweare, The Lord lieth, in truth, in iudgement, and in righteserue him by halves, as Hose. 7. 16. b Thou shalt deest the name of idoles, Psal. 16. 4. and shalt with reuerence sweare by the liuing God, when thine oath may aduance Gods glory, and profit others: and here by swearing, he meaneth the true religion of God, q This is to be vnderstood of the coming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shall cease.

r Meaning, the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Mat. 28. 20.

s Where they are now in captiuitie.

t The Hebrew word signifieth a friend or companion, and here may be taken for a husband, as it is vsed also, Hose.

3. 1.

u Signifying, that God whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them, who should leade the captiue, and make them to cry and lament.

trouneſſe, and the nations ſhall be bleſſed in him, and ſhall glory in him.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ieruſalem,

4 Breake vp your fallow ground, and low not among the thornes: be circumciſed to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, yee men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ieruſalem, leſt my wrath come foorth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, becauſe of the wickedneſſe of your inventions.

5 Declare in Iudah, and ſhew forth in Ieruſalem, and ſay, Blow the trumpet in the land: crie, and gather together and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelues, and let vs goe into ſtrong cities.

6 Set vp the ſtandard in Zion: prepare to flee, and ſay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great deſtruction.

7 The lion is come vp from his denne, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay the land waſte, and thy cities ſhall be deſtroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore gird you with ſackcloth:
lament and howle: for the ſierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, ſaith the Lord, the heart of the king ſhall periſh, and the heart of the Princes, and the Priests ſhall be aſto-niſhed, and the Prophets ſhall wonder.

10 Then ſayd I, Ah Lord God, ſurely thou haſt deceiued this people, and Ieruſalem, ſaying, Vee ſhall haue peace, and the ſword ſhall not come vnto the heart.

11 At that time ſhall it be ſaid to this people, and to Ieruſalem, A drie wind in the high places of the wildeſſe commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither to ſaue, nor to cleanſe.

12 A mighty winde ſhall come vnto mee from thoſe places, and now will I alſo giue ſentence vpon them.

13 Behold, hee ſhall come vp as the cloudes, and his chariots ſhall be as a tempeſt: his hoſtes are lighter then eagles, who vnto vs, for we are deſtroyed.

14 O Ieruſalem, waſh thine heart from wickedneſſe, that thou mayeſt be ſaued: how long ſhall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declarerth from Dan, and publiſherth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publiſh in Ieruſalem, Behold, the ſcoutes come from a farre country, and cry out a-gainſt the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compaſſed her about as the watchman of the field, becauſe it hath prouoked me to wrath, ſaith the Lord.

18 Thy wayes and thine inventions haue procured thee theſe things, ſuch is thy wic-kedneſſe: therefore it ſhall be bitter, therefore it ſhall pearce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: my heart is troubled within mee: I cannot bee ſtill: for my ſoule hath heard the ſound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Deſtruction vpon deſtruction is cry-ed, for the whole land is waſted: ſuddenly are my tents deſtroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long ſhall I ſee the ſtandard, and heare the ſound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is fooliſh: they haue not knowne me: they are fooliſh children, and haue none vnderſtanding: they are wiſe to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and void: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, and all the hills ſhook.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wildeſſe, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the preſence of the Lord, and by his ſierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord ſaid, The whole land ſhall be deſolate: yet will I not make a full end.

28 Therefore ſhall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue ſhall be darkened, becauſe
I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole cite ſhall flee, for the noiſe of the hoſemen and bowmen: they ſhall goe into thickets, and climb vp vpon the rocks:
euery cite ſhall be forſaken, and not a man dwelt therein.

30 And when thou ſhalt be deſtroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clotheſt thy ſelfe with ſcarlet, though thou deckeſt thee with ornament of gold, though thou painteſt thy face with colours: yet ſhalt thou trimme thy ſelfe in vaine: for thy ſoules will abhorre thee, and ſeek thee life.

31 For I haue heard a noyſe as of a woman tranſſing, or as one labouring of her firſt child, euen the voyces of the daughter of Zion that ſigheth and crotcheth out her hands: woe is me now: for my ſoule ſain-teth becauſe of the murderers.

yet doe they sweare falsely.

earth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not sorrowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction:
they haue made their faces harder then a come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shall be as winde, and the word is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.
14 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, Because ye speake such words, behold, I will put my words into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall bee as wood, and it shall deuoure them.
15 Lo, I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither understandest what they say.
16 Whose quiner is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong.
17 And they shall eate thine harvest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines and thy fig trees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou didst trust.

18 Nevertheless at those dayes, saith the Lord, I will not make a full end of you.

19 And when ye shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs?
then shalt thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken me, and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iacob, and publish it in Iudah, saying,

21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and without vnderstanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord: or wil pe not be afraid at my presence, which haue placed the land for the bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree, that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not p'uenale, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it.

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: he resisteth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the haruest.

25 For your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindered good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that say waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and ware rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudge-ment of the fatherlesse, yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule bee auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The prophets prophesie lies, and the priests rectifie gifts in their hands, and my people delight therein. What will ye then doe in the end thereof?

which God preferibeth. p Prophets which should warne you of the dangers which were at hand.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautiful and dainty woman.

3 The pastors with their flocks, shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feede in his place.

4 Prepare warre against her: arise and let vs goe vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the evening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hosts said,
Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Jerusalem: this cite must be vnticed: all oppression is in the midst of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice, & crueltie and ipople is continually heard in her before me with sorrow and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O Jerusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, They shall gather as a vine the residue of Israel:
turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish, that they may heare? Behold, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken, behold, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will pouere it out vpon the children in the street, and likewise vpon the assembly of the young men: for the husband shall euen bee taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their lands, and wines also shall bee turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnes, and from the prophet euen vnto the priest, they all deale falsely.

14 They haue healed all the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no, neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the flaine: when I all visit them they shall be cast downe saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes, and behold, and aske for the old way which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

17 Alas I see watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet:

but they sayd, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therefore, ye Gentiles, and thou congregation know, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heed vnto my words, nor to my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre country? your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbling blocks before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people commeth from the North country, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shield shall they bee waponed: they are cruell, and will haue no compassion: their voice roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 Alas haue heard their fame, and our hands are feeble: sorow is come vpon vs as the sorow of a woman in trauell.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy, and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation and bitter mounning as for thine only sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest know and trie their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitors, walking craftily: they are haille, and yron: they all are destroyers.

29 The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

service of the temple. 13 The evils that shall come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophets. 21 sacrifices doeth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

The words that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house and crye this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord,

3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

Chap. 26. 13.

a Beloeue not the talke of prophets, which say that for the Temple sake and the sacrifices there, the Lord wil preserue you, and so nourish you in your sinne, and vaine confidence.

b God sheweth on what condition he made his promise to this Temple: that they should be as holy people vnto him, as he would be a faithful God to them. c As theues hid in holes and donnes, thinke themselves safe: so when you are in my Temple, you thinke so be covered with the holines thereof, & that I cannot see your wickednesse, Matth. 23. 13.

d Because they depended so much on the Temple which was for his promise, that hee would be present, and defend them where the Arke was: he sendeth them to Gods iudgements against Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300. yeeres, and after was taken, the Priests slaine, and the people miserably discomfired, 1. Sam. 4. 11. chap. 26. 6.

e That is, I neuer ceased to warne you, as Isa. 65. 2. Prou. 1. 23. f He sheweth what is the onely remedy to redresse our faults: to suffer God to leade vs into the way, and to obey his calling, Isa. 66. 4. g I will lend you into captiuitie as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes. h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, he shewe h that the prayer of the godly can nothing auaille them, while they remaine in their obstinacy against God, and will not vse the meanes that he vseth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11. 14. and 14. 11. i That is, they sacrifice to the sun, Moone, and starres, which they called the Queene of heauen, Chap. 44. 17. 2. king. 23. 5.

4 Trust not in lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betwene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walk after other gods whom ye know not,

10 And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations:

11 Is this house become a denne of theues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But got yee now vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholue what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because yee haue done all these workes, saith the Lord (and I rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answere)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also ye trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither intreate mee: for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streets of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kinde the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke mee to anger, saith the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, & it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, But your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor encline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early euerie day, and sending them.

26 Per would they not heare me, nor encline their eare, but hardened their neck, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyces of the Lord their God, nor receiveth discipline: truth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath relected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue bulle the high place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their sonnes, and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come saith the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth, and there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the fowles of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah and from the streets of Ierusalem, the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bride k Showing that it was not his chiefe purpose and intent that they should offer sacrifices, but that they should regard, wherefore they were ordained: to wit, to beioyned to the word, as scales & confirmations of remission of sins in Christ: for without f word they were vaine and vnprofitable, l Which was about foueteene hundred yeeres, m Reade vers. 13 n Whereby hee sheweth that the Pastours ought not to leane their flocks in their obstinacie: for the Lord will vse the meanes of his seruants to make the wicked more faultie, and to proue his. o In signe of mourning, as Job 1. 20. CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Jews. 4 The Lord moveth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine, and the coucroutnesse of the Prophets and Priests.

AT that time sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem out of their graves.

2 And they shall spread them before the Sunne and the Moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue taught, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as dung upon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired rather than life, of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked family, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayth the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Jerusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion: they gaue themselves to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth in to the battell.

7 Euen the stork in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the Turtle, and the crane, and the swallow obserue the time of their coming: but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Law of the Lord is with vs: Lo, certainly in vaine made he it, the pen of the Scribes is in vaine.

9 The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wines vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: for euery one from the least euen to the greatest is giuen to coucroutnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsly.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Are they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the stine, when I shall visite them, they shall bee cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the fig tree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Why doe wee stay? assemble you selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs bee quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and beholde troubles.

16 The neyng of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole land trembled at the noyse of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie and those that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed: and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorrow, but mine heart is heauy in me.

19 Beholde, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her King in her? Why haue they provoked mee to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not holpen.

21 I am sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balm? at Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

in vaine q The Prophet speaketh this. r Meaning, that no mans helpe or meanes could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balm, Chap. 46 11. or els diuiding the vaine confidence of the people, who looked for helpe at their Priests, who should haue bene the Physicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hose. 6. 8.

2 Why that I had in the wilderness a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people and goe from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels,

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no courage for the truth upon the earth: for they proceed from euill to worse, and they haue not knownen me, saith the Lord,

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully.

i He speaketh in the person of the people, who when the enemy cometh, will runne about to hide themselves, and acknowledge that it is Gods hand, k That is, hath brought vs into extreme affliction, and thus they shall not attribute this plague to fortune, but to Gods iust iudgement, Chap. 9. 15 and 23. 15.

p He derideth the superstition of the women, which made an art of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.

q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgments: but when they thinke to be most sure, and most farre off, then are they soonest taken,

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and wil not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to doe trickely.

6 Their habitation is in the mids of dectures: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will melt them, and trie them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he saith he waiteth for him.

9 Shall I not visite them for these things? saith the Lord: shall not my soule be augmented on such a nation as this?

10 Upon the mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe through them: neither can men heare the voice of the flocke: both the founte of the aile, and beate are fled away, and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doeth the land perish, and to be burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passe through it?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voice, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubbornnesse of their own heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will seeke his people with wonne wood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue known, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come.

18 And let them make baste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eyelids gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, now are we destroyed, and utterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and preach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our windows, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streets.

22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carcases of men shall lie euen as the dung vpou the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glorie in his wisdom, nor the strong man glorie in his strength: neither the rich man glorie in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth and knoweth me: for I am the Lord which shew mercy, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visite all them which are circumsised, with the vncircumsised:

26 Egypt, and Iudah, and Edom, & the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the veriest corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vncircumsised, and all the house of Israel are vncircumsised in the heart.

He sheweth our saluation: his iudgment, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull. e Meaning both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, reade Chap. 4. 4.

CHAP. X.

1 The confusions of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weaknesse of idoles. 6 Of the power of God. 21 Their pastours are become brutish.

He reuealeth the word of the Lord that hee speaketh vnto you O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

3 For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the car-penter) with the axe.

4 And another decketh it with silver, and with gold: they fasten it with naitles and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaieth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdoms there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they doze, and are sleepe: for the flocke is a doctrine of vanity.

den, Deut. 12. 30. c The Prophets vse thus plainly and limply to set forth the vile absurdity of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isa. 44. 12. d Hee teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein hee sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15. 4. e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: therefore hee calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, Verse 15. and Hab. 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people.

f Forasmuch as none can saue himselfe by his owne labour or any worldly meanes, he sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioice in him, who onely can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1. 3. 1. 2. cor. 10. 17. f These three points are necessary to know a right: his mercie, wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgment, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull. e Meaning both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, reade Chap. 4. 4.

a God forbid, that he should deeth his people to giue credit or feare the confusions and conjunctions of stars & planets, which haue no power of themselves, but are governed by him, and their secret motion and influences are not known to man, & therefore there can be no certaine iudgement thereof, Deut. 18. 9. b Meaning, not onely in the observation of the starres, but their lawes and ceremonies, whereby they confirme their idolatry, which is forbidden, Deut. 12. 30. c The Prophets vse thus plainly and limply to set forth the vile absurdity of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isa. 44. 12. d Hee teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein hee sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15. 4. e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: therefore hee calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, Verse 15. and Hab. 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people.

f Whereas they found the best gold, hewing that they thought nothing too deare for their idols: some reade Oplur, as 1. King. 9. 28.

g This declareth that all that hath bin in this chapter spoken of idols, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, & now with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their own religion against idolaters, and how to answer them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatry, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Hebrew. h The more that man thinketh to do anything well by his own wisdom, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he proue himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these words portion & rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicity consisted in him alone, & therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes and succours, as of idols, &c. Deut. 32. 9. Psal. 116. 5. k The Prophet willett the Iewes to prepare themselves to this captivity, shewing that it was now at hand, that they should feele the things wherof he had told them. l It is my iust plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselves toward God. m Hee sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament, n The governours and ministers. o Reade Chap. 4. 15. p He speaketh this, because that Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made warre against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, he turned his power to goe against Ierusalem, Ezek. 21. 21, therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction, 9 Silver plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold from Cyprus, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blue like, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the living God, and an everlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth shall perish from the earth, and from under their heavens.)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heaven by his discretion.

13 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heaven, and hee causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

14 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge: every founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanity, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

17 Gather up thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time will I throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall find it so.

19 Woe is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

20 My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set up my curtains.

21 For the Pastours are become beasts and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none understanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the bruit is come, and a great commotion out of the North country to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a den of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know, that the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord correct me, but with iudgement, nor in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Pour out thy wrath upon the heathen that know thee not, and upon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten up Iacob, and deuoured him and consumed him, and haue made his habitacle on desolate.

Isaiah calleth in measure, Chap. 27. 8. measuring his rods by their infirmities, 1. Cor. 10. 13. for here by iudgement is meant not onely the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap. 30. 11. Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knownen and glorified by his mercy, that hee vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, hee prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79. 6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods covenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

The word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the words of this covenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

2 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed bee the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant,

4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron furnace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all the things, which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God.

5 That I may confirme the oath that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto me, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the words of this covenant and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Nevertheless they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but every one walked in the stubbornnes of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my covenant which I made with their fathers.

q Considering that God had reuealed vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7. 16. he onely prayeth, that he would punish them with mercy, which Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knownen and glorified by his mercy, that hee vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, hee prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79. 6.

a He calleth the Iews to the consideration of Gods mercies, who freely chose them, made a covenant of eternal felicitie with them, & how hee neuer performed it on his behalfe, & how they neuer shewed themselves rebellious & ingrate toward him, and brake it on their part, and so are subiect to the curse of the Law. 12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and cry vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, & according to the number of the streets of Ierusalem, haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a crye of prayer for them: for when they cry vnto mee in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my beloved cary in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reforesist.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene olive tree, faire and of goodly fruite: but with noyle and great tumult hee hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselves to provoke mee to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I know it, euen then thou shewdest mee their practices.

19 But I was like a lambe, or bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But, O Lord of hostes, that iudgeth righteously, and triest the reins & the heart, let mee see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, Prophecie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands.)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visit them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes & their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueileth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although hee confesse God to be righteous, 7 The Lewes are forsaken of the Lord, 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebellion fly transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken root: they grow, and bring forth fruite: thou art neere in their mouth, and far from their retires.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene mee, and cried my heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbs of euery field wither, for the wickednes of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed & the birds, because they sayd, We will not see our last end.

5 If thou hast run with the footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpon thee, but beleue thee not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearly beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me as a fish in the forefront: cried out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto me as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birds about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eat her?

10 Many pastors haue destroyed my vineyard, and troden my position vnder foote: of my pleasant position they haue made a desolate wilderness.

11 They haue layd it waste, and it being waste, mourneth vnto mee: and the whole land lyeth waste, because no man setteth flattered themselves as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselves in sin, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubburne rebellion against God. f Some thinke that God reprooued Ieremiah, in that hee would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were far vnable to dispute with God. Others by the footmen name them of Anathoth, and by the horsemen them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countrey men did. g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatnings and flatteries labour to put him to silence. h Euer ramping and raging against me and my Prophets. i In stead of bearing my liuely and wearing only my colours, they haue change and diuersity of colours of their idols and superstitions: therefore their enemies, as thick as the fowles of the ayre, shall come about them to destroy them. k He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by the captaines of Nebuchad nezzar, whom he calleth pastors.

The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man bee not able to giue a reason of all his acts.

b This question hath bene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked & enemies of God in prosperitie, & his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob 21. 7. psal. 37. 1. and 73. 3. Hab. 1. 3.

c They professe God in mouth, but deny him in heart, which is here meant by the reines, Isa. 29. 13. mat. 23. 8.

d The Ebrew word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperity, that afterward they should the more feele his heauie iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercy.

¹⁴ Thus saith the Lord against all mine enemies & neighbors, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherit. Behold, I will plucke them out of their land, and pluck out the house of Iudah from among them.

¹⁵ And after that I haue plucked them out, I will reuene, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.

¹⁶ And if they will learne the wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name (The Lord lieth), as they taught my people to sweare by Baal, then shall they be built in the mids of my people.

¹⁷ But if they will not obey, then will I utterly plucke up, and destroy that nation, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

¹ The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. ¹¹ Why Israel was reuenced to see the people of God, and why they were forsaken. ¹⁵ Hee exhorteth them to repentance.

Thus saith the Lord vnto mee, See, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

² So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

³ And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

⁴ Take the girdle that thou hast bought which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

⁵ So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

⁶ And after many dayes the Lord sayde vnto me, Arise, goe toward Perath and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

⁷ Then went I to Perath and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

⁸ Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

⁹ Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

¹⁰ This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, & walke after the stubbornnesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, & to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

¹¹ For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to mee the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, sayeth the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

¹³ Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the Kings that sit vpon the throne of David, & the Iudites and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

¹⁴ And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord. I will not spare, I will not pitty nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

¹⁵ Heare and giue eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

¹⁶ Give glory to the Lord your God, before he bring darkness, and ouer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and while ye looke for light, hee turne it into the shadow of death, and make it as darkness.

¹⁷ But if ye will not heare this, my soule shal weep in secret for your pride, and mine rie shall weep and droppe downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue.

¹⁸ Say vnto the King & to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe: for the crowne of your glory shal come downe from your heads.

¹⁹ The cities of the South shalbe shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shalbe caried away captiue: it shalbe wholly caried away captiue.

²⁰ Lift vp your eyes, and behold them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, euen thy beautiful flocke?

²¹ What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to bee captaiues and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

²² And if thou say in thine heart, Therefore come these things vpon me: for the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts, discovered, and thine heeles made bare.

²³ Can the blacke More change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to doe euill.

²⁴ Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South wind.

²⁵ This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lies.

²⁶ Therefore haue I also discovered thy skirts vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare.

2 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercy of the Lord. 10 The unfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

The word of the Lord that came unto Jeremiah, concerning the dearth.

2 Judah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they have bin brought to beautie vnto the ground, and the cry of Jerusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the wells, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and covered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and covered their heads.

5 Pea, the hind also calued in the field, forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drewe in their winde like dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lord, though our iniquities testify against vs, deale with vs according to thy name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tarry for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astounded, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou O Lord, art in the midst of vs, and thy name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not restrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they shall say, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, behold, the prophets say vnto them, Pe shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophetic lies in my name: I haue not sent them, neither did I commaund them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophetic vnto you a false vision, and diuination and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Concerning the Prophets that prophetic in my name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those Prophets bee consumed.

16 And the people to whome these Prophets doe prophetic, shall bee cast out in the streets of Jerusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to bury them, both they, and their wives, and their sonnes, & their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgin daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreover, the Prophet also and the Priest goe a wandering into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou utterly reiected Judah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? Wee looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our Fathers, for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy names sake cast not downe the rhyone of thy glory: remember and breake not thy covenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the banities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue thowes? is it not thou, O Lord our God: therefore we will wait vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, but threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto mee, I haue holies and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus sayth the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kinds, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogs to teare in pieces, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all kingdoms slaine. c The word signifieth to runne to and fro for feare and vnquietnesse of conscience as did Kain.

of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Jerusalem. 5 Who shall then haue pittie vpon thee, O Jerusalem? or who shall be sorie for thee, or who shall go to pray for thy peace? 6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am wearie with repenting. 7 And I will scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth: I haue waited, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes. 8 Their widowes are increased by me above the land of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assemblee of the young men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and speedily. 9 She that hath borne seven, hath been made wake, her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed her, whilst it was day: she hath been confounded and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord. 10 Alas is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a man that striveth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsury, yet euery one doth curse me. 11 The Lord said, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemies to entreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction. 12 Shall the yron breake the yron, and the brasie that cometh from the north? 13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoiled without gaine, & that for all thy sinnes, euen in all thy borders. 14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you. 15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visite me, and reuenge me of my persecutors: take mee not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke. 16 Thy words were found by me, and I did eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hostes. 17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation. 18 Why is mine heavinesse continuall: and my plague desperate and cannot be healed? why art thou vnto me as a yau, and as waters that faile? 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me, and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my word: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them. 20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee, and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord. 21 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hands of the tyrants. 22 To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced, Chap. 1. 18. and as here followeth, verse 20. x Conforme not thy selfe to their wickednesse, but let them follow thy godly example. y I will arme thee with an invincible strength and constancie, so that all the powers of the world shall not overcome thee.

CHAP. XVI. 2 The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marry, sheweth him what should bee the afflictions vpon Iudah. 3 The captiuitie of Babylon. 4 Their deliurancie. 5 The calling of the Gentiles. The word of the Lord came also vnto me, saying, 2 Thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place. 3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, & concerning their fathers that beget them in this land, 4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall be consumed by the sword & by famine, and their carcases shall be meat for the fowles of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth. 5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be mooued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy and compassion. 6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them. 7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother. 8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke. 9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride. 10 And when thou shalt shew this people all these words, and they shall say vnto thee, Therefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs: for what is our iniquitie? & what is our sinne that wee haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your Fathers haue forsaken mee, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them and worshipped them, and haue forsaken mee, and haue not kept my Law,

12 (* And yee haue done worse then your Fathers: for behold, you walke euery one after the stubbornnes of his wicked heart, and will not heare me.)

13 Therefore will I dilue you out of this land into a land that yee know not, neither you nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shewe you no grace.

14 Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come, that it shall no more bee said, The Lord liueth which brought by the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

15 But, The Lord liueth, that brought by the children of Israel from the land of the Assyrians, and from all the lands where he had scattered them, & I will bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many fishers, & they shall fish them, and after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine, & from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their waies: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie carions and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our Fathers haue inherited lies, & vanity, wherein there was no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Behold, therefore I will this once teach them: I will shew them mine hand and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

l Our Fathers were most vile idolaters, therefore it cometh only of Gods mercie, that he performeth his promise, and hath not utterly cast vs off.

1 They shall once againe feele my power, and mercie for their deliuerance, that they may learne to worship me.

1 The forwardnes of the Iewes, 3 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the hearts. 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

4 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shall be a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to leaue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for yee haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for euer.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh fleshy his arme, and with draweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For he shall be like the heath in the wilderness, & shall not see when any good cometh, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the river, & shall not feele when the heate cometh, but her lease shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drough, neither shall cease from beeing fruit.

9 The heart is deceitfull and wicked about all things, who can know it?

10 I the Lord search the heart, and try the reins, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, & shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if yee will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to goe through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not bee quenched.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Jeremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheel.

4 And the vessell that hee made of clay, was broken in the hand of the potter: so he returned and made it another vessell, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdom to plucke it vp, and to roote it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom to build it and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they said desperately, Surely, we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who haue heard such things: the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people haue forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to banitie, & their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetual derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and wagge his head,

17 I will scatter them with an East wind before the enemy: I will shew them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuice against Jeremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite

b When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doth contrary to that which he hath ordained in his secret counsell: but when he threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, the threatning,

(which euer containeth a taketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore deliuer by their children to famine, and let them droppe away by the force of the sword, and let their wiues bee robbed of their children, and bee widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their young men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the cry bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt heare an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against me: sende to death: forgive not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

He prophesieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

Thus said the Lord, God, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the priests.

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entry of the East gate: and thou shalt preach there the words, that I shall tell thee.

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem. Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoener heareth, his eares shall tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken mee, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knowne, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde.)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Copheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, & by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carcasses will I giue to be meate for the fowles of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

8 And I will make this city desolate, and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and hiss because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will feed them with the flesh of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and straitnes, together with their enemies, that seeke their liues shall hold them strate.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that goe with thee,

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Even so will I breake this people and this city, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Copheth, till there be no place to bury.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this city like Copheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the kings of Iudah, shall be defiled as the place of Copheth, because of all the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the host of heauen, and haue poured out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Jeremian from Copheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

Jeremian is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophesieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking-stock for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the Ieremians to preach the word.

When Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Jeremian prophesied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Jeremian the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashur brought Jeremian out of the stocks. Then said Jeremian vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but Vagor-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terror to thy selfe, and to all they friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall cary them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreover, I will deliuer all the substance of this city, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoile them, and take them away, and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt bee buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou hast prophesied lies.

e This visible signe was to confirme them touching the assurance of this plague which the Lord threatened by his Prophet.

f He noteth the great rage of the idolaters, which left no place free from their abominations, inso-much as they polluted their owne houses therewith, as we see yet among the Papists. g Read Deut. 32.8.

a Thus we see that the thing which neither the king, nor the princes, nor the people durst enterprise against the Prophet of God, this Priest as a chiefe instrument of Satan first attempted, reade Chap. 18. 18. || Or, seare round about.

k Meaning, that the fruit thereof might neuer come to profite.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I am deceived: thou art stronger then I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision daily.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his name, But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the railing of many, and feare on euery side. Declare, said they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for my halting, saying, It may bee that hee is deceived: so wee shall preuaile against him, and wee shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 But the Lord is with me like a mighty giant: therefore my persecuters shall bee ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shall be greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euellasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 But, O Lord of hosts, that triest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let mee see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for hee hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man bee as the cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noonetide.

17 Because hee hath not shamed mee, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue become my graue, or her wombe a perpetual conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorrow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

See prophesies that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the cite burned.

3 Then said Jeremian, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the wals, and I will assemble them into the middes of this cite.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, & with a mighty army, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this cite, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this city, from the pestilence, from the sword and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and hee shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither haue pittie nor compassion.

8 And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 He that abideth in this city, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a praye.

10 For I haue set my face against this cite, for euil, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 And say vnto the house of the king of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath goe out like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

13 Behold, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, and rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 And I will visit you according to the fruit of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about.

D King of Iudah, that sitteth vpon the throne of David, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, * Execute iudgement and * righteousness, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and verie not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the Kings sitting vpon the throne of David enter in by the gates of this house, * and ride vpon charrets, and vpon hories, both hee and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art * Gilead vnto mee, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great cite?

9 Then shall they answeare, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 Weepe not for the dead, and bee not moued for them, but weepe for him * that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native countrey.

11 For thus sayth the Lord, as touching * Shallum the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, who reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, hee shall not returne thither, 12 But he shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 Go vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrightheousnes, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he wil make himselfe large windowes, and dwelling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closeth thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eate and drinke and prosper, when hee executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee indged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, even to doe this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or Ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or Ah, his glory.

19 He shall be buried as an asse is buried, euen drawn and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 Goe vp to * Lebanon, and cry: shout in * Bathan, and cry by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saydest, I wil not heare, this hath bene thy manner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce.

22 The winde shall teed all thy pastozs, and thy louers shall goe into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednesse.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, how beaustifull shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauell?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carie thee away, and thy mother that bare thee into another countrey where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land, wherunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessel wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they carried away, hee and his seed, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus sayth the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seed that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of David, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

people. Ye haue scattered my flocke, & thrust them out, and haue not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your workes, saith the Lord.

3 And I wil gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had diuised them, and will bring them againe to their folds, and they shall grow and increase.

4 And I will set vp shepherds ouer them, which shall feede them, and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous Branch, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saued, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, The Lord our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But, The Lord lieth, which brought vp, and led the seed of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, and from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the prophets, all my bones shake, I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath overcome) for the presence of the Lord, and for his holy wordes.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet and the Priest doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shall be vnto them as slippery wayes in the darknes: they shall be diuised forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the peere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seen foolishnes in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the Prophets of Ierusalem filchinesse: they commit adulterie and walke in lies; they strengthen also the handes of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the Prophets, Beholde, I will feede them with wormwood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Weare not the wordes of the prophets that prophesie vnto you and teach you vanity: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye shall haue peace, and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord, that hee hath perceiued and heard his word: Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it plainly.

21 I haue not sent these Prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsell, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?

24 Can any hide himself in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophesie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? † Doe the prophets delight to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their fathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, & hee that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saith the Lord, and like an hammer that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steale my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweete tongues, and say, We say.

32 Behold, I wil come against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 The vision of the basket of figges, 5 signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captivity, 8 and that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

The Lord shewed mee, and behold, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away captive Iehoiakim the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workmen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou Ieremiah: And I said, Figs: the good figs very good, and the naughty very naughty, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figs, so wil I know them, that are caried away captiue of Iudah, to be good, whom I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I will see mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I will giue them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the naughty figges which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproch, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse in all places, where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the land that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophesieth that they shall be in captivity seventy yeeres: 12 And that after the seventy yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

The word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yere of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel:

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Josiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you: rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey.

5 They said, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inventions, and ye shall dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other Gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Nevertheless ye would not heare mee, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send, and take to me all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my words which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Jeremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations and great kings shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deedes, and according to the works of their owne hands.

16 And they shall drinke and be moued, and be mad, because of the sword that I will send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the kings thereof, and the Princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse as appeareth this day:

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, 28 These were people of Arabia, which came of Dedan the sonne of Abraham and Keturah. For there were two countreys so named, the one called plentiful, and the other barren, or desert.

29 For loe, I begin to plague the ^{city} where my Name is called vpon, and should you goe free: Ye shal not goe quit: for I will call for a sword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophesie thou against them all these words, and say vnto them, The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: he shall roare vpon his habitation, and crie aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The sound shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, & he will giue them that are wicked, to the sword, saith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlewinde shall be raised vpon from the coasts of the earth, 33 And the flame of the Lord shall be at that day from one end of the earth euen vnto the other end of the earth: they shall not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but shalbe as the dung vpon the ground.

34 Howle ye shepheards, and cry, and wallow your selues in the ashes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispercion, and ye shall faile like precious vessels.

every man from his euill way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If yee will not heare mee to walke in my lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the words of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vpe early, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this House like Shiloh, and will make this citie a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and sayd, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This house shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Jeremiah in the House of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the kings house into the House of the Lord, and satte downe in the entry of the new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priests and the Prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, This man is worthy to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Jeremiah vnto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophesie against this House, and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your wayes, and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that hee hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know ye for certaine, that if yee put mee to death, yee shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truneth the Lord hath sent mee vnto you to speake all these words in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 Then arose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morastite * prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a fildc, and Ierusalem shall bee an heape, and the mountaine of the che house shall be as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah King of Iudah and all Iudah put him to death? did hee not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that hee had pronounced against them? thus might wee procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Uriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kirjath-areem, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah.

21 Now when Jehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his wordes, the King sought to slay him. But when Uriah heard it, hee was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Jehoiakim the king sent men into Egypt, even Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they set Uriah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Jehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

As in the first, Hezekias example is to be followed, so in this other, Jehoiakims acte is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household. Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their fury, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your sojcerers, which say vnto you thus, Vntill not serue the king of Babel.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 I I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah, according to all these words, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Pee shall not serue the king of Babel: for they prophesse a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesse a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophesse vnto you.

16 Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the words of your Prophets that prophesse vnto you, saying, Behold the vessels of the house of the Lord shall now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophesse a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the king of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they be Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them create the Lord of hostes, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Jerusalem, goe not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bakes, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remain in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke not, when he caried away captiue Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Iudah from Jerusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Jerusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Jerusalem, 22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shall be vntill the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

And that same yeere, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake to me in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the Priests, and of the people, and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

3 Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords house, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Jeremiah said vnto the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord,

6 Euen the Prophet Jeremiah said, So be it: the Lord dooe, the Lord confirme the words which thou hast prophesied, to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue from Babel, into this place.

necke, and a brake it.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord, Even so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Jeremiah) saying, 13 Go, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the fildes also.

15 Then said the Prophet Jeremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the same yeere in the seventh moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Jeremiah writeth vnto them that were in captivity in Babylon. 10 He prophesieth their returne after seventy yeeres. 16 Hee prophesieth the destruction of the king and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets that seduce the people. 32 The death of Sennacherib is prophesied.

¶ Or, letter.

a For some died in the way.

b Meaning, Ieconiah's mother. Chap. 24. 1.

c To entreat of some equal conditions.

d To wit, the Lord, whose worke this was.

NOW these are the wordes of the booke that Jeremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders, which were carryed away captiues, and to the Priests and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had carryed away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel,

2 (After that Ieconiah the King, and the Queene, and the Eunuches, the Princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workmen and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem)

3 By the hande of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the sonne of Hil-kiah (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are carryed away captiues, whom I haue caused to be carryed away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, & plant you gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

6 Take you wines, and beget sonnes and daughters: and take wines for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yee may bee increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be carried away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that bee among you, decieve you, neither giue care to your dreams, which you dreame.

9 For they prophesie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, sayeth the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visit you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I haue thought toward you, saith the Lord, even the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shall yee crie vnto mee, and yee shall goe and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

13 And yee shall seeke mee, and finde mee, because you shall seeke mee with all your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be carryed away captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath called vs by his prophets in Babel,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the king, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Even thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will send vpon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figges, that cannot bee eaten, they are so naughty.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terrour to all kingdomes of the earth, and a curse, and astonishment, and an hissing, and a reproach among all the nations whither I haue cast them.

19 Because they haue not heard my wordes saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, rising by early, and sending them, but yee would not heare, saith the Lord:

20 ¶ Heare yet therefore the word of the Lord, all yee of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

The Prophet speaketh not this for the affliction that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest and quietnesse, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliverance which God had appointed most certaine: for hee not onely the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Isa. 14. 4.

f When your oppression shall be great, and your afflictions cause you to repent your disobedience, and also when the seuentie yeeres of your captiuitie shall be expired, 2. Chron. 36.

g As Ahab, Zedekiah, and Sennacherib.

h Whereby he assureth them that there shall be no hope of returning before the time appointed.

Chap. 24. 1, 2. k Reade Chap. 26. 6. l Reade Chap. 7. 13, and 25. 3. and 26. 5.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiab and of Zedekiah the sonne of Baaleiah, which prophesie lies vnto you in my name, Behold, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel burnt ^m in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed ⁿ billesny in Israel, and haue committed adultery with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I know it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.
